PREFACE

The research started in 1959 when the author was on an assignment in Boston and took with him some CHASE genealogical data that had been researched by Miss Rebecca L. Crittenden, a Reference Assistant in the Burton Historical Collection in the Detroit Public Library. She had been in Vermont and New England, had received Chase Family records from Vermont, and had traced the Chase ancestry to WILLIAM[1] CHASE of Roxbury and Yarmouth, Mass. The author, intending limited research, went to the Boston Public Library where, with it's great amount of genealogical material, he got "hooked" and spent most of his evenings and Saturday afternoons at the library throughout the five weeks of his stay there.

This KNIGHT, CHASE and ALLIED FAMILIES record is the outgrowth of the work that started in Boston and was originally intended to provide ancestral records of a more limited nature for family distribution. As the work progressed, with many interruptions, and the ancestor families expanded it became necessary to consider publication. This meant starting over again to more completely document the family data, with biographical information, for the general interest of anyone who could trace any of their ancestors to record herein.

The original format was retained, except that the KNIGHT genealogy was enlarged to include not only the original direct line ancestral KNIGHT families but, also, some other KNIGHT families descended from immigrant ancestor, ROBERT[1] KNIGHT of Marblehead and Manchester, Mass. to put them into publication for the benefit of their descendants.

Marblehead, Mass. families herein were descendants of John[2] Knight (Robert[1]). Their records were taken wholly from Marblehead Vital Records. These Vital Records may be found in the genealogical section of many libraries. The marriage records do not show parentage of the persons married. The matchings of man and wife to parents, from birth records, were carefully handled and are believed to be correct.

The Marblehead Vital Records cover years only to 1850. Families of persons living in 1850 may be incomplete as recorded herein.

John Chevalier came from the Island of Jersey about 1680. He married, lived in Portsmouth and Newington, N.H. and about 1705 he changed his family name from Chevalier to an English equivalent "Knight". The Knight descendants of John Chevalier are not covered in this genealogy. Some of them lived in Rochester and Farmington, N.H. at the same times as some of the Knights recorded herein, are completely unrelated.

John Knight, a son of John Chevalier, one of the organizers and one of the first town officers of Rochester, never lived in Rochester nor did any of his children or grandchildren.

William and Charles Knight, and their sister Susanna (Knight) Colebath, first appeared in Rochester records in 1776. They were great grandchildren of John Chevalier. They lived in that part of Rochester that was within the town of Farmington, N.H. when this town was organized in 1797. Sarah, Mary, William, Lois, and Rose Knight listed in Rochester church records in the 1780s and 1790s were the children of William Knight.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The genealogical records herein have been many years in the assembly and so many persons and other sources have made valuable contributions that it is appropriate to give them recognition.

Special recognition is given to:
Miss Bessie P. Knight of Minneapolis, Minn. and Whittier, Calif. who devoted much time to Knight and Worth research in New England in the 1920s and 1930s.
Miss Rebecca L. Crittenden of Detroit, Mich. whose extensive Chase research is stated in the Preface of this book.
Without their iniatives this author's interest in ancestral families would not have been inspired and this publication never started.
Also to:
Mr. Robert E. Knight of Mt. Clemens, Mich. for Knight family records.
Mr. C. Walter Knight of Belding, Mich. for Knight family records.
Mr. James P. Barringer of Ponchatoula, La., a Knight-Chase descendant, for records of families in his line of descent.

And recognition is given to the many others who provided data for their respective families, listed in order of record in this book:
Mr. Neil R. Knight of Grosse Pointe, Michigan.
Mrs. Laura L. (Sisson) (Knight) Schumacher of Bay City, Michigan.
Mrs. Helen M. (Knight) Lloyd of Boca Raton, Florida.
Mrs. Eunice M. (Knight) McFadden of Crown Point, Indiana.
Mr. Bruce E. Knight of Livonia, Michigan.
Mrs. Margaret J. (Knight) Husted of Rapid City, Michigan.
Mr. James W. Knight of Bastrop, Texas.
Mrs. Barbara E. (Knight) Dunn of Baltimore, Maryland.
Mrs. Gail C. (Knight) Hundley of Houston, Texas.
Mr. Richard R. Knight of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.
Mr. Merle S. Knight of Concord, California.
Rev. Theodore I. Hastings of Hale, Michigan.
Mrs. Barbara E. (Hastings) Semrau of Mt. Clemens, Michigan.
Mrs. Lori Ann (Collins) Knight of Westland, Michigan.
Also to the researchers who provided much valuable information in their respective areas:
Mrs. Charlotte Nicely of Dover, New Hampshire who provided extensive and invaluable Knight and related N.H. family data.
Mrs. Bertha B. Hanson of Bristol, Vermont for important Chase and Mitchell family data.
Mrs. Virginia A. Brown of Washington, New Jersey, for extensive Weller and Vanatta data in Warren Co., N.J.
Mrs. Claire Pettenger of Lafayette, New Jersey, for extensive Weller and Vanatta data in Sussex Co., N.J.
Mrs. Fontella Devey of Bountiful, Utah, for extensive Chase and Vanatta data from LDS Library records.

And appreciation is given for the courteous receptions, and access to records, by the Town Clerks in Bristol, Ferrisburgh, Lincoln, and Starksboro, Vermont.

LIBRARIES

Special recognition and appreciation is given to:
The Detroit Public Library, Burton Historical Collection, Detroit, Mich. for the hundreds of hours spent there in the research for a major portion of this book.
The Boston Public Library, Boston, Mass. where this book started, as stated in the Preface of this book.
Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints:
Genealogical Dept. Library, Salt Lake City, Utah, for Chase and Vermont records and for the excellent access thereto.
Stake Library, Bloomfield Hills, Mich. for their many films and Microfiche records.
The Mount Clemens Public Library, Mount Clemens, Mich. for both basic and supplemental genealogical books and for records of local area families.

And recognition to the following libraries which were visited for short periods. Each visit produced valuable data in regard to the objectives of search:
Essex Institute, James Duncan Phillips Library, Salem, Mass.
New York State Library, Albany, N.Y.
Connecticut State Library, Hartford, Conn.
Chicago Public Library, Chicago, Ill.
Newberry Library , Chicago, Ill.
Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.

REFERENCE MATERIAL

REFERENCES for each family line are shown at the end of the records for that family line. Some reference shown may contain information differing from that shown in another reference. Both references are listed. The questionable information was either resolved or omitted. The most useful source materials were:
New England Historical and Genealogical Registers.
Essex Institute Historical Collections.
Genealogical Dictionary of Maine and New Hampshire.
Savage's Genealogical Dictionary of New England.
Austin's Genealogical Dictionary of Rhode Island.
Wilbour's Little Compton Families.
The published Vital Records of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut towns.
The published genealogies of the families under study.

Any of the above, as applicable, together with the many other source records pertinent to the family under study, were checked to original records, particularly Vital Records, whenever possible. Some genealogical errors were found and the corrected data was used in this record.

KNIGHT, CHASE AND ALLIED FAMILIES

A "Family No." is given to each Family Line in this book for reference purposes, with No. 1 assigned to the Knights in SECTION I.

This book is divided into SECTIONS:

SECTION I is a Knight genealogy consisting of 103 Knight families with each head of family given a number from 1 to 103.

SECTIONS II to VIII provide records of the ancestry of the wives of those Knights in SECTION I who are in the direct line of descent from No. 1 - ROBERT[1] KNIGHT to and including No. 68 - ROBERT[8] KNIGHT. Biographical, historical and family data are also included. The following chart shows the SECTION No. in which are recorded the ancestors of the wives, and the Family Nos. included in the SECTION.

HUSBAND			WIFE
Family No.	Sect. I No.	Knight name	Sect. No.	Family Nos.	Her name
1	1	Robert[1]	I	1	Mary ----
		Their son:

1	60	Aldis[7]	VII	71-75	Mary[4] Weller
		Their son:
1	68	Robert[8]	VIII	76-77	Ruby[4] Whiting

For each Knight head of family listed in SECTION I, the number of his or her parent is shown in the ( ) that follows the name, such as:

68. ROBERT ELISHA[8] KNIGHT (60 Aldis[7], Robert[6], Edward[5], etc.)
60. ALDIS ROBERT[7] KNIGHT (51 Robert[6], Edward[5], Joshua[4], etc.)
51. ROBERT WORTH[6] KNIGHT (33 Edward[5], Joshua[4], Robert[3], etc.)

Names of ancestors of ROBERT[8] KNIGHT and his brothers, in all Sections of this book are usually but not always shown in CAPITAL letters.

This book is indexed by persons' names, in the back hereof, to assist you in finding the name that you are looking for.

DOUBLE DATING OF YEARS PRIOR TO 1752

The calendar in use by England and it's Colonies prior to 1752 was the Julian calendar authorized by Julius Caesar in 46 B.C. It is now usually referred to as the Old Style (O.S.) calendar. It differs from the New Style (N.S.) calendar put in use in 1752 principally in that New Years Day was on March 25th, an old Roman holiday. The calendar year was from March 25th to March 24th. March was generally called the first month and February the 12th month. There were some other differences but, as they will not become apparent to readers of this book, the rather complex explanations thereof are omitted.

In all years prior to 1752 the year dates recorded for events from January 1st to March 24th under the Old Style calendar then in effect would have been in the next following calendar year under the present day New Style calendar. For example, a date originally recorded as Feb. 15, 1716 O.S. becomes Feb. 15, 1717 N.S. It would be reported in this book as Feb. 15, 1716/7 to reflect both O.S. and N.S. years. For lack of clarity, some dates could not be double dated.

ABBREVIATIONS

The abbreviations in this book are mostly of such common usage that they are not explained here. As the book progressed the use of abbreviations diminished. Some herein that are less commonly known are:

± - plus or minus. In or about the year shown.

English money:
£ - pounds sterling; s. - shillings; d. - pence.

Probate:
pvd. - proved. Entered in Court records.
ment., ments. - mentioned in the will.
Adm., Admr., Admx. - admitted; Administrator, Administratrix.
Exec. - Executor or Executrix.

SECTION I - KNIGHT GENEALOGY

In May 1638 the "Bevis" of Hampton sailed from Southampton bound for New England. Robert Knight, carpenter, and John Knight, carpenter, were listed as passengers. Robert was listed as a servant to Richard Austin, tailor, of Bishopstock, Hampshire. John was listed as a servant to Mrs. Annis Littlefield of Tichfield, Hampshire who, with her six children, were coming to America to join her husband who had settled here two years previously. She was a sister of Richard Austin. The place of origin of Robert and John Knight, and the relationship to each other, are unknown but, by their associations and the fact of sailing from Southampton, they probably also were from that part of England. They probably were not servants. It was very customary at that time for single persons to come listed as servants of married persons, possibly because it facilitated permission for them to emigrate.

Research in depth has failed to find any record of Robert Knight in New England prior to 1644 when we find him in Marblehead, Mass., and records state that he removed there from Salem, Mass. indicating prior residence. It is believed that he is the one who came on the "Bevis" as stated by Pope in his "Pioneers of Massachusetts". No record of this John Knight was found in New England so it is probable that he died soon or returned to England.

The passenger list of the "Bevis" of Hampton is published in:
The New Eng. Hist. and Geneal. Register (NEHGR), V.14, p.336
The Founders of New England, by Samuel G. Drake
The Planters of the Commonwealth, by C. E. Banks

FIRST GENERATION

1. ROBERT[1] KNIGHT was b. ± 1614 in Eng., place unknown, but prob. in co. Hampshire, and was prob. he who came in the "Bevis" in 1638. He settled first in Salem, Mass. as he is recorded as having moved from there to Marblehead, Mass. in 1644. He had a wife named MARY, so he presumably married after arrival, but her further identity is unknown. They were one of the 44 families living in Marblehead when it was organized as a town on Mar 12, 1648/9. At a town meeting soon afterward it was claimed that the common lands would not furnish pasturage for more than 50 cows. It was deemed advisable to fix the rights of each family, estimating "1 horse as being equal to 2 cows, 2 yearlings as 1 cow, and 4 goats or sheep as 1 cow." In the division, Robert Knight was allotted 1/2 cow. He was a carpenter and is so mentioned several times in the records.

He owned various pieces of property in Marblehead:

He bought a lot from John Norman Sept 28, 1651 and built a house there before 1671. He sold this property to Edward Diamond Oct 22, 1691. This lot was in the Little Harbor area. The house built before 1671 has been remodeled and additions built onto it and was still standing and occupied in 1979. It is on a small street called "Gingerbread Hill". It has gray shingle siding and is across the street from a pond called "Black Joe's Pond". It is more currently known as the Dolliber-Hines house, named after later owners.

in 1652 he owned a lot at the end of the peninsula, facing the ocean with Ferry Lane in the rear. After he removed to Manchester in the 1680s he sold this property in two pieces to Richard Reith, six acres Sept 22, 1686 and the remainder, for £5,5s, Oct 20, 1687.

In 1673 he owned a house and lot, and had a water grist mill, on Ferry Lane near Dolliber's Cove. He sold this property to John Harris before 1693.

In 1682 he owned a lot inland from Dolliber's Cove and, afterward, either gave it or sold it to his son-in-law, John Hoile, of Marblehead, who built a house there in which he was living at the time of his death in 1706.

On June 8, 1659 he bought from Richard Russell four score acres at Kettle Cove in Manchester, Mass. and moved there some time after 1682.

He was in court at Salem many times as plaintiff, defendant, witness, etc. in civil cases, all recorded in "Essex County, Mass., Quarterly Courts, Records, and Files". It was from this source that most of the information was obtained to identify his family, their ages, etc:

He was in court Jan 1, 1644/5 for excessive drinking of sack (a sec or dry wine). This was the first documented record found of him in America. He repeated in court on similar charges in May 1645, Apr 1646, and Sept 1649.

In court Dec 1652. John Dawson was fined for abusing the body of Marie, daughter of Robert Knight of Marblehead, his master, in a foul manner. He was ordered to serve his master one year longer.

In court Jan 29, 1654/5, he offered to deliver a gun to the plaintiff in a court case as security for a judgment against a friend. The gun was described as an iron piece of ordnance of 7, 8, or 9 hundredweight.

In court June 30, 1668 he deposed, as a witness, that he was about 54 years of age. Other depositions of age in court at other dates consistently indicate that he was born ± 1614.

In court Nov 30, 1675, Robert Knight and Mary Knight, witnesses, both deposed that they were upwards of 50 years of age. This was the only record found giving the name, and only the first name, of Robert Knight's wife.

In court June 24, 1679, Robert Knight of Marblehead instituted suit vs. Samuel Leach for trespass by cutting and carrying away wood from Knight's farm at Kettle Cove in Manchester. Knight won and the defendant's appeal was heard in court Sept 30, 1679 with Onespherus Allen being brought into the case as an additional defendant. The case was finally appealed, on June 28, 1681, to the Court of Assistants in Boston but it was finally settled out of court before it came to trial there.

In the above suit, Charles, John and Robert Knight were witnesses, identified as the sons of Robert Knight, and deposed that they were 35, 19 and 16 years old,respectively. The depositions were repeated in the appeals. These were the only records found that identified John and Robert, Jr. as the sons of Robert, Sr., with their respective ages. Charles and Marie (Mary) are mentioned as the son and daughter of Robert Knight in Perley's "History of Salem, Massachusetts". Another daughter, Anna, the wife of John Hoile, is identified by inference as her husband is recorded as the son-in-law of Robert Knight.

In court June 26, 1666 for making a common highway impassable, by digging and making a trench (to set a mill), was ordered to make good the said way in one month or pay a fine.

He is recorded in court several other times, suing for pay due him for carpenter work, as a defendant for debt, as a witness, on jury duty, etc.

From Dorchester Town Records 1632-1687, p.134, we find: "11 of the (8) 1666. I, Robert Knight, of Marblehead, doe acknolige that I have receiv-ed Two Great Guns from the Selectmen of Dorchester for the Contry's use at Marblehead. /s/ Robert Knight", and "the 27 of the 8 Mo 1666, Received 3 Demiculverin shot on the Contry's account to be paid for by the town of Marblehead, one ladle, one sponge, two formers, the price thereof 7s. /s/ Robert Knight". A demiculverin is described as a gun of about 4½" bore to fire a 9 to 13 lb. shot. His interest in the defense of the town is further indicated by his ownership of the large gun offered as secur-ity in the court case of Jan 29, 1654/5.

The only public building in Marblehead served both as a church and town meeting house. As the population grew it was necessary to provide more seating. In March 1662 a contract was made by the town with Robert Knight and John Slater, carpenters, to build a gallery at the SW end of the meet-ing house "sufficient for 4 seats, with columns, and a board at the bot-tom to keep the dust from coming down, and to be arched sufficient to strengthen the house with stairs and other necessaries". For this they were to be paid £21 "in such necessaries as they should have occasion of", and if, when the work was ended, they had any of their pay to take up, the balance was to be paid in fish or mackeral at the current price.

He was chosen Selectman of the town of Marblehead in 1667 and 1668.

In March 1669 the town contracted with Robert Knight, Francis Collings, and Jeremiah Neal to build another gallery at the NE end of the meeting house similar to the gallery built in 1662, but with 5 seats, and for which they received £27. Robert Knight appears to have been the architect under whose direction the work was performed as his workmanship and skill re-ceived the praise of citizen and stanger alike and, on Mar 24, 1678/9, the town voted "that Robert Knight shall be clearly requited and discharged from paying his town rates (taxes) during his life for his workmanship done in the meeting house in building the gallery".

On May 3, 1680, he was authorized by the town to build a dam across a stream to overflow the ferry swamps for the benefit of his mill, and this right to continue during the town's pleasure.

In 1681 the town paid him 3s for "menting" the bell. This was the last record found of him in Marblehead.

He appears to have operated his mill until he sold it about 1682, and some time after that date he removed to his farm at Kettle Cove in Manches-ter where he is first of record Aug 13, 1686 when his name, also sons John and Robert, Jr. are on the rate (tax) list, which he also signed as Select-man or Committeeman. He and son Robert, Jr. were also on the rate list dated Mar 14, 1686/7 which he signed as Selectman. These were the last records found of him before he died.

He died in Manchester, Mass. about 1691. His will was proved Dec. 2, 1691. The will has been lost from Probate office files and its contents are unknown.

His children, b. in Salem and Marblehead:

(2) i. Charles, b. ± 1642; m. May 9, 1667, Sarah Lemon
(3) ii. Marie , b. ± 1644; m. May 28, 1667, John Cole
(4) iii. Anna , b. ± 1650; m. John Hoile
(5) iv. John , b. ± 1660; m. Oct 12, 1681, Mary Bartoll
(6) v. ROBERT , b. ± 1663; m. Feb 3, 1686/7, ABIGAIL WILSON

SECOND GENERATION

2. CHARLES[2] KNIGHT (1 Robert[1]) was b. ± 1642, prob. in Salem, Mass., and m. there, May 9, 1667, Sarah Lemon, the dau. of Robert and Mary (----) Lemon of Salem. He was a carpenter. In Nov. 1661 he deposed that he was about 21 years of age, and in Nov. 1679 he deposed in court that he was abput 35 years of age. He was one of the men from Salem who were pressed into military service on Dec. 1, 1675 during King Philip's War. He was wounded Dec 19, 1675 in a fight against the Indians at Mt. Hope in Rhode Island. He was still in service Feb. 29, 1675/6.

He was on the tax list in Salem in 1683, removed to Marblehead about 1685, being then called a mariner, and later moved to Manchester where he died in 1693. Adm. of his estate was granted to John Wilson Nov. 25, 1693. His estate included one-third of a farm willed to him by his father, Robert Knight, Sr. (Essex Co. Probate 15954). His wife survived him.

Their children, all b. in Salem:

i. Elizabeth, b. May 18, 1668
ii. Mary , b. Apr 7, 1670
iii. Sarah , b. Jul 22, 1673; m. Jul 15, 1701, Joseph Searle, son of Thomas Searle

3. MARIE or MARY[2] KNIGHT (1 Robert[1]) was b. ± 1644, prob. in Salem, Mass. Records show that her father moved from Salem to Marblehead in 1644 and that he had a daughter "Marie". She is found in the records both as Marie and Mary. She m. in Salem, May 28, 1667, John Cole, the son of Thomas and Ann (----) Cole of Salem. He was a cooper. She died ± 1675 in Salem and he m. (2), after 1675, Sarah Alsbee.

Their children (COLE), all b. in Salem:

i. John , b. May 18, 1668; d. Feb 5, 1736/7; m. Mary Eaton
ii. Thomas, b. Nov -, 1669; d. Nov. 1669
iii. Mary , b. Sep 1, 1671;
iv. Hannah, b. Dec 12, 1674;

4. ANNA[2] KNIGHT (1 Robert[1]) was b. ± 1650 in Marblehead, Mass. and m. prob. there, John Hoile (or Hoyle) of Marblehead. They lived on Property received from her father, located inland from Dolliber's Cove. John died in 1706.

Their children (HOILE), b. and m. in Marblehead:

i. Christian, b. Sep 16, 1669; m. Nov 9, 1699, Mark Moss
ii. John , b. Dec 3, 1671; m. Jan 15, 1721/2, Mary Oaks
iii. Samuel , b. Jan 15, 1677; m. Nov 16, 1699, Mary Fortune
iv. Martin , b. Nov 10, 1680; m. Feb 24, 1700/1, Dorcas Trevy
v. Joseph , b. Mar 15, 1683
vi. Mary , bpt. Nov 22, 1685; m. Dec 12, 1723, Peter Homan
vii. Anna , bpt. Jul 31, 1687 viii. Susanna , bpt. Feb 21, 1691/2; m. Oct 27, 1709, Andrew Tucker

5. JOHN[2] KNIGHT (1 Robert[1]) was b. ± 1660 in Marblehead and m. there, Oct 12, 1681, Mary Bartoll, dau. of William and Mary (----) Bartoll of Marblehead, where they lived until his death in 1700. She was granted Adm. of his estate Jun 26, 1700. She m. (2) Jul 14, 1700, Joseph Dod.

Their children, all b. in Marblehead:

(7) i. Mary , b. Mar 23, 1684; m. Nov 29, 1705, Samuel Carder
(8) ii. John , b. Dec 12, 1686; m. Dec 25, 1711, Jane Fortune

iii. William, bpt. Sep 22, 1689
iv. Alice , b. Sep 12, 1695
(9) v. Robert , (?) See note below; m. Sep 26, 1713, Deliverance Gale

Note: No record of birth or baptism was found for Robert. That he is the son of John[2] is unproven. Research discloses that he was not the son or grandson of William Knight of Lynn, nor of Philip Knight of Topsfield. He was not the son of either Charles[2] or ROBERT[2], the other sons of ROBERT[1]. It seems therefore that he must be the son of John[2] and, although unproven, is being so treated in this record.

6. ROBERT[2] KNIGHT (1 Robert[1]) was b. ± 1663 in Marblehead and moved with his parents to Manchester, Mass. some time after 1682. He m. at Ipswich, Mass., Feb 3, 1686/7, ABIGAIL WILSON, b. there Mar 20, 1666/7, the dau. of SHOREBORNE and ABIGAIL (OSGOOD) WILSON (See Fam. 2 - WILSON in Sec. II). He was a cooper. They lived first in Manchester where he was on the tax list Aug 13, 1686 and again on Mar 14, 1686/7, and where at a town meeting Mar 17, 1687/8 he was chosen constable. Some time later they removed to Ipswich where he bought a house and lot Jul 3, 1694. He sold this property Feb 16, 1704/5 which prob. marks the time when they removed to Berwick, Maine where she died, date unknown.

He m. (2) at Berwick, Aug 29, 1714, Susanna Lord, the widow of Abraham Lord. Her first husband owned 150 acres of land there. On Oct 7, 1718 ROBERT KNIGHT of Berwick, cooper, and Susanna, his wife, for consideration, subsistence and assistance from Grindall and ROBERT, sons, gave them all that messauge and tenements wherein they were then dwelling in Berwick, being formerly the estate of Abraham Lord, by estimation 150 acres to be divided in equal halves, after the decease of ROBERT and Susanna and not before. A dau., Abigail, to have household goods. (York Deeds Vol. IX). The Lord family contested this and final disposition was not found. The will of Nathan Lord dated Jul 6, 1733 mentions this property then occupied by ROBERT KNIGHT, Sr. (Maine Wills, p. 340).

On Nov 11, 1716 his wife, Susanna, was received into the First Church at Berwick. He was bpt. at Rochester, N.H., Apr 8, 1739 "when above 70 yrs. old" and on May 13, 1739 he was admitted to full communion at the Congregational Church there. His wife presumably was not living at that time. These are the last known records of him. He prob. was then living with his son ROBERT[3].

His children, all by ABIGAIL, his first wife:
(10) i. Grindall, b. prob. at Manch. ± 1688; m. at Ipsw. Aug 7, 1714, Mary Harris
ii. Joseph , b. at Ipsw. Feb. 27, 1690/1; m. int. at Wenham, Feb 7, 1712/3, Abiel Harrick. He d. before 1718, no issue (11) iii. ROBERT , b. at Ipsw. Jul 12, 1700; m. at Dover, N.H., ± 1728, ELIZABETH HEARD.
iv. Abigail , b. prob. at Berwick, living in 1718, no other record.

THIRD GENERATION

7. MARY[3] KNIGHT (5 John[2], Robert[1]) was b. in Marblehead Mar 23, 1684 and m. there, Nov 29, 1705, Samuel Carder.

Their children (CARDER), all b. and m. in Marblehead:

(14) iii. Mary , bpt. Nov 1, 1719 ; m. Sep 7, 1738, Moses Hooper (15) iv. William , bpt. Mar 4, 1721/2; m. Nov 20, 1744, Mary Chinn
v. Robert , bpt. Jul 4, 1725 ; possibly moved to Portland, Me.
(16) vi. Hannah , bpt. Jul 7, 1728 ; m. Feb 3, 1747, Richard Curtis

10. GRINDALL[3] KNIGHT (6 Robert[2], Robert[1]) was b., prob. at Manchester, Mass., ± 1688, and moved with his parents to Berwick, Me. about 1705. He m. (int.) at Ipswich, Aug 7, 1714, Mary Harris, b. at Ipswich July 19, 1694, the dau. of John and Mary (----) Harris. He was a weaver and also a farmer. They lived in Berwick, Me. where they were received into the First Church Oct. 15, 1721 and transferred to the Second Church (Upper Parish) there on Mar 23, 1755. He and his son John were members of John Hill's Company in Berwick Oct 22, 1740. Several land purchases are recorded in his name in York Deeds:
Dec 18, 1724, for £20, purchased 6 acres of meadow in Berwick from James Allen. (Book XI, Fol. 230)
Apr 15, 1725, for £7, purchased 2 acres of meadow in Berwick from Walter Allen. (Book XII, Fol. 41)
Sep 5, 1730, for £35, purchased 20 acres of land in Berwick from Joseph Chadbourn. (Book XIV, Fol. 29)
Dec 16, 1730, for £6, purchased 3 acres of lowland in Berwick from John Smith. (Book XIV, Fol. 69)
Dec 20, 1736, for £12, purchased 8 acres of land in Kittery, Me. from William Hutchins of Kittery. (Book XVIII, Fol. 246)
They died in Berwick. Their children, b. and m. in Berwick:
i. Mary, b. Mar 8, 1715/6; m. 1736, Ichabod Weymouth
(17) ii. John, bpt. Sep 16, 1721; m. Jun 2, 1748, Olive Hamilton

11. ROBERT[3] KNIGHT (6 Robert[2], Robert[1]) was b. at Ipswich, Mass. July 12, 1700 and moved with his parents to Berwick, Me. about 1705. He m. at Dover, N.H., ± 1728, ELIZABETH HEARD, b. there Feb 8, 1706/7, the dau. of TRISTRAM[2] and ABIGAIL (----) HEARD of Dover (See Fam. 5 - HEARD in Sec. III). They lived first in Dover. He bought 25 acres in Rochester, N.H. in 1731 and they moved there soon afterward.
In the N.H. Province, State and Town Papers we find his name among the Rochester residents who signed petitions to the Province of New Hampshire: 7.9 , p.722, Apr 29, 1736, asking support of the Gospel in Rochester.

V.13, p.333, March 1736/7, asking General Court to appt. Town Officers.
V.13, p.335, Aug 21, 1744, asking for a military guard.
V. 9, p.726, Mar 2, 1746/7, asking for soldiers to defend town from Indians.

Rochester is in Strafford Co., N.H. which was formed in 1771 and started to keep records in 1773. Deeds prior to 1773 are in Rockingham Co. files.

Deeds in Rockingham County files:

V.20, p.379: Tristram Heard of Dover, yeoman, for £14 paid by Robert Knight of Dover, cooper, 4 acres of land in Dover above a place called Scatterwit. Signed Mar 1, 1728/9 Recorded Nov 29, 1734

Left by bequest in Tristram's will (pvd 1734) to "our son" Joseph Knight who, since probation of Tristram's will, has also died. Signed Oct 24, 1765 Recorded Oct 30, 1765

Deeds in Strafford County files:

V.2, p.576: Robert Knight of Rochester, cooper, for £200 old tenor paid by Ebenezer Cole of Somersworth, 8 acres of land in Somersworth .... Signed Jun 2, 1762 by Robert and Elizabeth Knight, with marks.

V.4, p.198: Robert Knight, of Rochester, cooper, to my son, Joseph Knight of the same town, for £150, land in Rochester, 60 acres, the whole of a 1st Division lot #14, being the lot where I now live, on the road from the meeting house to Norway Plain mills. Signed Dec 1, 1768 Recorded Apr 7, 1782

(This was the last record found of Robert Knight)

From the above we learn that he was a cooper and also a farmer (husbandman), that his land purchases in Rochester totalled 60 acres, comprising the whole of a 1st Division lot #14 in Rochester.

The Congregational Church in Rochester was organized in 1737 and the first pastor settled there May 7, 1737. Robert and his wife, Elizabeth, were admitted to full communion there Apr 30, 1738 (V.7, N.H. Gen. Rec.) He died sometime after Dec 1, 1768. She probably died before him.

Their children, the first two b. in Dover, the others in Rochester:

i. William, bpt. in Dover Aug 18, 1729; died young
ii. Joseph , bpt. in Dover Jun 7, 1730: died ± 1735

vii. Betty , bpt. Feb 24, 1744/5; prob. m. Edmund Tibbetts of Rochester. A dau. Betty Knight Tibbetts bpt. Nov 10, 1776. Possibly more children.

NOTE: On Jun 25, 1738, Elizabeth Knight of Barrington was bpt. in Rochester and took communion. On Jun 28, 1738, three children, Abraham, Richard, and John Knight were bpt. at Barrington by the pastor of the Rochester church. It is the writer's opinion that Elizabeth was the wife, and that they were the children, of Richard Knight of Barrington who bought 50 acres, the half of a 100 acre lot #30, on the SW side of Barrington, in a deed signed Mar 22, 1737/8, acknowledged and recorded Mar 25, 1738 (Rockingham Co. Deeds, V.23, p.201). Richard was on a list of Poles and Estates (tax) of the Twp. of Barrington in 1742. No record was found of any other Knight living in Barrington. The identity of Richard is not known.

On Dec 1, 1768 he bought from his father, for £150, his father's homestead farm consisting of 60 acres of land in Rochester, the whole of a 1st Division lot #14, being on the road from the meeting house to Norway Plain Mills.

In N.H. Province, State and Town Papers we find him, an inhabitant of Rochester, a signer of petitions, et al.:

V.13, p.336: Feb 8, 1762, requesting that the town have a representative in the General Assembly.

V.13, p.337: 1770, Re: Dover bridge inconvenient to Rochester.

V.13, p.341: Aug 30, 1785, Re: Vessels carrying lumber.

V.11, p.544: Aug 30, 1786, requesting a lottery to build a bridge in Dover destroyed by flood. His sons Joshua and Hatevil also signed.

V.30, p.128: He signed the Declaration for Rochester, dated Oct 15, 1776, to oppose, with Arms, the hostile proceedings of the British fleets, and armies, against the United Colonies. His brother, Joshua, refused to sign the Declaration.

His wife, living in 1800 according to the U.S. Census, died before 1808, is not mentioned in his will dated Apr 9, 1808, proved Jan 20, 1818, and recorded in Strafford Co. Probate records, V.22, p.90. He left: "To my beloved son, Joshua, the use, improvement and income of the one-half of my homestead farm and likewise the use and improvement of the one-half of the buildings standing on same and the same privilege and benefit to his wife, Hannah, should she outlive him ....". Farming utensils and pew in Rochester meeting house, one cow or the value of one to my daughter, Susanna, within one year after my decease.

To my beloved son, Hatevil, all my interests on Norway Plains, so called, in said Rochester, whether real or personal, except one-half of my pew in the meeting house which is above disposed of.

To my beloved daughter, Susanna Stanton, all my household furniture, also one cow or the value of one, to be paid her or delivered to her two years after my decease, by my son Joshua.

To my grandson, James Knight, son of the above named Joshua Knight, the one-half of my household farm with half of the buildings thereon ..... at the decease of both of his parents.

Hatevil Knight, sole executor. /s/ Joseph Knight, by his mark.

His children, born in Rochester, N.H. (Town Records):

(30) i. Joshua , b. June 27, 1760; m. Hannah -----

21. JOSHUA[4] KNIGHT (11 Robert[3], Robert[2], Robert[1]) was bpt in Rochester, N.H., Jun 13, 1742. He m. ± 1764. OLIVE ROLLINS, b. in Newington, N.H. Oct 1, 1743, bpt there Oct 30, 1743, the dau of EDWARD and ELIZABETH (NUTTER) ROLLINS of Rochester (See Fam. 7 - ROLLINS in Sec. IV). They lived on a farm in that part of Rochester which, since 1798, is within the present town of Farmington, N.H.

In N.H. Province, State and Town Papers we find him, an inhabitant of Rochester in regard to the following:

V.13, p.336: He signed a petition dated Feb 8, 1762 requesting that the town have a representative in the General Assembly.

V.30, p.128: He refused to sign the Declaration for Rochester, dated Oct 15, 1776, requested by the Colony of N.H., in regard to the following:

In Congress, March 14, 1776

Resolved, that it be recommended to the several Assemblies, etc., of the United Colonies, immediately to cause all persons to be disarmed, within their respective Colonies, who are notoriously disaffected to the Cause of AMERICA, or who have not associated, and refuse to associate, to defend by ARMS, the United Colonies, against the hostile attempts of the British Fleets and Armies.

The following "Association Test" was issued by the Colony of New Hampshire, in Committee of Safety, April 12, 1776. to the various towns within the Colony:

"In order to carry the .... Resolve of the Honorable Continental Congress into execution, you are requested to desire all males above 21 years of age (lunatics, idiots and negroes excepted) to sign to the Declaration on this paper, and when so done, to make return hereof, together with the name or names of all who shall refuse to sign the same, to the General Assembly, or Committee of Safety of this Colony".

"In consequence of above, ... we do hereby solemnly engage, and promise, that we will, to the utmost of our Power, at the risk of our lives and fortunes, with ARMS, oppose the hostile proceedings of the British Fleets, and Armies, against the United Colonies".

Most of the men of Rochester signed the Declaration.

The town provided to the Colony, a list of those men who refused to sign the Declaration because of religion or conscience, but not disloyal, mostly Quakers.

The town provided to the Colony, a list of those men who refused to sign, but gave no reason. Joshua Knight was on this list. the consequence of his refusal to sign was not found. (Dated Oct. 15, 1776)

He died before Mar 19, 1778 (and after Oct 15, 1776) as he did not sign, with his wife, the deed for her sale to her brother of her share of the estate of her father, Edward Rollins (See Fam. 7 - ROLLINS in Sec. IV). She m. (2) Nov 4, 1779, Amos Place of Rochester. She died before 1804 as neither her name nor her rights are mentioned in the following deed which represents the only disposition of the property of Joshua Knight. No Probate record was found.

Strafford County Deeds, V.62, p.111:

Joseph Knight of Alton, husbandman, John Hanson of Alton and Susanna, his wife, in her right ..... for $100.00 paid by Robert Knight of Farmington, husbandman, and Edward Knight of Farmington, gentleman, ... quit claim to Robert Knight and Edward Knight as tenants in common and not as joint tenants ..... all claim, etc. we now or ever had in the estate of our honored father, Joshua Knight, late of Rochester, deceased. ..... half of a 2nd Division lot of land, No. 104, formerly of Rochester, now Farmington ..... and I, Lydia Knight, wife of the said Joseph Knight, relinquish dower. Signed this ___ day of ___, 1804. Only Joseph signed the deed. Acknowledged by Joseph Jan 22, 1807, recorded Sep 16, 1809.

The 2nd Division lots contained 240 acres so apparently Joshua had 120 acres. The deed mentions all of his children.

The children of JOSHUA and OLIVE, all b. in Rochester:

(32) i. Robert , b. Aug 7, 1765; m. Oct 14, 1792, Susanna Kimball

51. ROBERT WORTH[6] KNIGHT (33 Edward[5], Joshua[4], Robert[3,2,1]) was b. in Farmington, N.H. June 1, 1806 and moved with his parents to Starksboro, Vt. ± 1807. After their deaths he went to Gaines, Orleans Co., N.Y. and m. in 1828, Cloe Wage of Saratoga Co., N.Y. She died at Gaines in Aug 1834 and he m. (2), at the home of his brother, William, in nearby Holley, N.Y., Apr 14, 1835, LOIS ROSETTE CHASE, b. Dec 2, 1815 at Bristol, Addison Co., Vt., the dau of THURSTON[8] and MARIA (SCOTT) CHASE of Bristol, Vt. (See Fam. 21 - CHASE in Sec. VI).

Soon after their marriage he, in company with his brother, William, his brother-in-law Varnum Lufkin, and their wives who were all sisters, and children, left their homes and departed for Michigan Territory. They traveled by packet on the Erie Canal to Buffalo, N.Y., then by steamer to Detroit, Mich., and then walked to Mount Clemens, Mich. near which the Lufkins settled. William Knight soon continued westward with his family to settle at Bristol, Kenosha Co., Wisconsin.

Soon after their arrival in Michigan, in the fall of 1835, Robert bought a farm in Section 15, Chesterfield Twp., Macomb Co., Mich, built a log house with a shake roof and split basswood for a floor, with quilts for doors and windows, and thus began life in the new country. He sold this farm in 1839 and bought another farm of 80 acres nearby, in the adjoining Section 16, which was abutted at the south end by the road now known as the 23 Mile Road. He then acquired the 20 acres adjoining on the north in payment for clearing an equal amount of land for a neighbor. This gave him a 100 acre farm which they occupied until they removed to Richmond, Mich. in 1873. By dealings with neighbors, he acquired the land for a private road from the north end of the 80 acres, where the house was located, to Gratiot Road which was about 80 rods west. The farm was mostly virgin land that had to be cleared. The crude house was replaced by a new frame house built about 1850 which still stands in 1980 as part of a larger house.

He was an officer in the early history of Chesterfield Twp., active in the building of roads and in general improvements. He was a Whig in politics, and later a Republican. In 1873 they left the farm to be worked by their son, ALDIS, and removed to Richmond, Mich. where he died Jun 6, 1896. She died at the homestead in Chesterfield Jan 29, 1897. They are buried in the Union Cemetery located in Chesterfield Twp., on Fairchild Road north of 23 Mile Road. Their son, Thurston, and his wife are buried in the same lot.

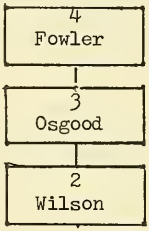
SECTION II - ALLIED FAMILIES

This Section II covers the families descending to ABIGAIL[3] WILSON who married ROBERT[2] KNIGHT (No. 6 in Section I).

The descending families:



2 - WILSON

The parentage and the English ancestry of the immigrant ancestor, WILLIAM WILSON, are not determined. Documents purport to show that he came from Dunnington in Lincolnshire but these data seem to apply to a William Wilson who was still in England in 1638, whereas the immigrant in this family was in Boston in 1635.

WILLIAM named his first child, born in Boston in 1635, "SHOREBORNE". Theophilus Wilson, who is first of record in Ipswich, Mass. in 1636, named a daughter "Seaborne". The odd names give rise to the thought that the two men are related, possibly brothers. SHOREBORNE, when a young man, removed from Boston to Ipswich, married there and lived out the rest of his life there. This further supports a possible relationship with the Ipswich Wilson. There is no record of the parents of either of the Wilsons in America.

ROBERT[2] KNIGHT, No. 6 in Section I, married ABIGAIL[3] WILSON, a granddaughter of WILLIAM[1] WILSON. They named their first son "Grindall", a very unusual name.

Rev. John Wilson came to America in 1630 and became the pastor of the First Church in Boston from 1632 until his death in 1667. His ancestry and descendants are excellently covered in NEHGR, Vol. 61. He was a grandnephew of Rev. Edmund Grindall who was the Archbishop of Canterbury from 1576 until his death in 1583.

William Wilson of Penrith in Cumberland had a son, William, who lived in Welborn in Lincolnshire and who had two sons and a daughter. The two sons, William and Alexander, married sisters, Isabel and Katherine, respectively, the daughters of John and Elizabeth (Grindall) Woodhall. Elizabeth was a sister of the Archbishop.

The record of the descendants of William and Isabel (Woodhall) Wilson is so complete that the descent from them of WILLIAM and Theophilus is ruled out. Therefore, if WILLIAM and Theophilus are descended from a Wilson who married a niece of the Archbishop, thereby bringing the name "Grindall" into the family, the descent must be from Alexander Wilson who married Katherine Woodhall.

Alexander Wilson, b. ± 1545, was a merchant tailor in London. In his marriage license issued Nov 3, 1573, he was shown as being of St. Leonard's in St. Martin le Grand in London. He and Katherine had three children before her death in late 1583. Their names are not given.

The Archbishop, Rev. Edmund Grindall, died July 6, 1583. He left a will in which he bequeathed to his niece, Katherine Wilson, the sum of £50.

Katherine Wilson made a will dated Nov 25, 1583 which was proved Jan 9, 1583/4. She bequeathed to her husband, Alexander Wilson, her recent bequest from her uncle, Edmund Grindall, late Archbishop of Canterbury. No other names or bequests are given so do not reveal the names of her children. The will appears to have been made only to name her desired recipient of her legacy from the Grindall estate. Thus, it can only be considered likely that WILLIAM, and possibly Theophilus, are their descendants.

Two known grandsons of the Woodhalls were given the first names of "Grindall" in commemoration of the Archbishop. The name passed down to Grindall Knight becomes significant.

WILLIAM[1] WILSON, perhaps the grandson of Alexander and Katherine (Woodhall) Wilson, a joiner by trade, came to Boston, Mass. in 1635 with his wife, PATIENCE, and were adm. to the church there Sep 6, 1635. He had a land grant of 12 a. in 1635; was freemen May 25, 1636; was disarmed in Nov. 1637 for sympathies with Mrs. Ann Hutchinson but apparently recanted.

He was a marshall and the prison keeper in Boston in 1645 and probably until he d. before May 1653. His widow d., date unknown. Her estate was divided to her children April 30, 1663.

Their children, all born in Boston, Mass.:

i. SHOREBORNE, b. Aug 6, 1635: SEE RECORD BELOW
ii. Mary , b. Jan 11, 1637/8
iii. John , b. Jan , 1639/40

* July 4, 1670, Mary Lovejoy; (2)Apr 24,1678, Sarah Lord

SHOREBORNE[2] WILSON (William[1]) was b. in Boston, Aug 6, 1635. He removed to Ipswich, Mass. before Sep 26, 1654 when he was in court there and sentenced to sit in the stocks for a half hour for "rybaldry speech" which was one of his frequent misdeeds. He m. at Ipswich, Sep 9, 1657, ABIGAIL OSGOOD, b. there in 1636, the dau of CHRISTOPHER[1] and MARGERY (FOWLER) OSGOOD. (See Fam. 3 - OSGOOD).

He was a cooper and probably built barrels for fishermen and for export. He is mentioned several times as a builder of houses. He bought a lot ± 1660 and resold it in 1663. He bought a lot in 1672 and sold part of it in 1692. He bought a house, barn and six acres June 6, 1698 and resold the property in 1729. He had many licenses to sell "strong water".

Their children, all born in Ipswich, Mass.:

i. Joseph , b. Jun 1, 1660
ii. Mary , b. Aug 24, 1662; died the same day
iii. Samuel , b. Apr 4, 1664; died June 14, 1664

They boarded the ship "Mary and John", Robert Sayres, master, at London in Feb 1633/4 as did also her parents and her brothers and sisters. By a warrant issued Feb 22, 1633/4 the ship was delayed in the Thames until further orders and laid there until Mar 24, 1633/4 when, after the passengers had taken the Oaths of Supremancy and Allegiance, it was released and sailed that day for New Eng. They arrived in May 1634 and were soon settled in Ipswich, Mass. where he was adm. freeman May 6, 1635.

On Jan 5, 1634/5 he received a grant of land from the town of Ipswich of "four acres of meadow and marsh ground ..... by the land side, lying northward of the Town, the marsh is not limited". A grant Jan 26, 1634/5 for "a hill of ground containing 6 acres of land" and, in 1635, six acres of meadow towards the Neck, having Philip Fowler east, and a creek on the northwest, also six acres of planting ground upon the hill, on the north side of the town, having Philip Fowler on the east, and Robert Andrews on the west, and John Cross on the south". Also upland beyond muddy river, forming northwest boundary of Philip Fowler's. On Feb 1, 1641/2 he, a brickmaker, deeded to Moses Pengry land on the north side of the river bounding southeast on Philip Fowler's land. Also rec'd, 1635, his house lot.

He died in Ipswich in 1650. His will dated Apr 19, 1650 was proved Oct 10, 1650. In it he gave to his dau Mary, £10; daus ABIGAIL, Elizabeth, and Deborah, £5 each; and to his son Christopher, his house and lands, to have when he reached the age of 22 years. His wife, MARGERY, to be sole executrix. Mr. John Norton and his father Philip Fowler to be overseers. His son, Thomas, is not mentioned in the will and is believed to have been born posthumously.

Soon after 1650 his widow, MARGERY, m. (2) Thomas Rowell of Andover, Mass. He died May 8, 1662 and she m. (3) Thomas Coleman, and removed with him to Nantucket where he died in 1682. She m. (4), there, in 1682, Rev. Thomas Osborne.

4 - FOWLER

PHILIP[1] FOWLER was b. ± 1590, probably in Marlborough, Wiltshire, England, and m. there, MARY WINSLEY. She was probably the sister of Samuel Winsley of Colchester, Eng., who was, by 1638, an early settler of Salisbury, Mass., with whom a relationship is established.

PHILIP FOWLER was a clothworker. He embarked, with his wife and five children, in the "Mary and John" of London in Feb. 1633/4 which, on Feb 22nd was ordered to stay until further orders, so lay in the Thames until allowed to sail on Mar 24, 1633/4 after the passengers had taken the Oath of Supremancy and Allegiance. They were accompanied by CHRISTOPHER OSGOOD and his wife MARGERY, their son-in-law and daughter. They arrived in New England in May 1634 and settled at Ipswich, Mass. where he was adm. freeman Sept 3, 1634, and where he received a grant of land that year on which he settled and where he remained until his death. It is said to have been on the south side of High Street.

He received more land grants: Jan 1634/5, 2 grants, 10 acres; 4 more grants in 1635, 56 acres, plus a house lot on High St.; 2 grants in 1636, 16 acres, plus a house lot; some additional grants in later years. On Feb 14, 1664/5 he owned a share of Plum Island, Castle Neck and Hog Island.

In 1646 he was chosen "judge of defaults" and was chosen as surveyor several times. In Sept 1647 he built a chimney to the watchhouse at Ipswich. On Mar 26, 1650 he "in regard to age is freed from ordinary training". This shows that he was then 60 years of age. There are more documented records of him in various capacities and transactions over the years.

His wife, MARY, died Aug 30, 1659 and on Feb 27, 1659/60 he entered into a marriage contract with, and married, Mary, the widow of George Norton. On Dec 23, 1668, after having given trades to his children, he selected his grandson, Philip, who he had adopted in 1651, the son of his son Joseph, to take care of him in his old age and gave him all the lands which he possessed at the time of his death except as given to his widow in their marriage contract.

He died June 24, 1679 at age 89 after an exemplary and useful life. He died intestate having made previous disposition of his property. His grandson, Philip, was appointed adm. in Sept 1679. His children, all by his first wife, MARY WINSLEY, were all b. in England, and all are listed in the passenger list of the "Mary and John".

The children:

i. MARGERY , bpt May 25, 1615; SEE RECORD BELOW
ii. Mary , b. ---- ; died Oct 29, 1666; m. Wm. Chandler
iii. SAMUEL , b. ± 1618; SEE RECORD BELOW
iv. Hester , b. ---- ; m. (1) Jathnell Bird, (2) Ezra Rolfe, and (3) Robert Collins
v. Joseph , b. ± 1629, m. Martha Kimball, dau of Richard[1]
vi. Thomas , b. before 1634; m. Apr 23, 1660, Hannah Jordan, dau of Francis[1]

MARGERY[2] FOWLER (Philip[1]) was bpt in Marlborough, Wiltshire, England, May 25, 1615. She m. there, in St. Mary's Church, July 28, 1633, CHRISTOPHER[1] OSGOOD (See Fam. 3 - OSGOOD). They came to Ipswich, Mass. in 1634, in the "Mary and John" with her parents.

SAMUEL[2] FOWLER (Philip[1]) was b. ± 1618 in Marlborough, Wiltshire, England, and came to Ipswich, Mass. in 1634 with his parents in the "Mary and John". He was a shipwright and probably worked in that trade for several years in Portsmouth, N.H. where he may have m. (1), name unknown, the mother of his children, who were mentioned by Samuel[2] Winsley, as his cousins, in his will dated Aug 17, 1665.

On Oct 12, 1668, he was of Salisbury, Mass., a shipwright, when he bought of Robert Ring, for £10, a 10 acre planting lot. On Mar 6, 1668/9 he bought a common right in Salisbury and May 1, 1673 he sued Philip Gale for cutting timber on his right and recovered damages. On Dec 22, 1669 he bought meadow land in Salisbury and on May 13, 1673 he bought 30 acres in Amesbury.

His first wife died, date unknown, and he m. (2), after 1673, Margaret (Norman) Morgan, the widow of Robert Morgan of Beverly. In 1675 he was brought before the court "for traveling on Sunday". He may have been a Quaker. In 1682 he is taxed in Salisbury for 2 oxen, 3 cows, 2 horses, 1 swine, 3 sheep, 2 acres of broke up land, 2 heads, 4 commonages, estate £30,5s.

On Dec 3, 1684 he gave by deed of gift to his son Samuel Fowler, if he marry Ezekiel Worthen's daughter, Hannah, half of the lot of upland where he now dwells, about 12 acres, with 6 oxen and 2 cows, cart, etc., which his son acknowledged the same day. On Feb 20, 1693/4 he gave to the same son, Samuel, Jr., as a deed of gift, all of his real estate and personal property, for care given and to be given in the old age of himself and his now wife Margaret. He died in Salisbury in Jan 1710/11.

His children, all by his first wife, name unknown, all probably born in Portsmouth, N.H.:

i. William, b. ---- ; m. Elizabeth ----, lived in Portsmouth.
ii. MARY , b. ---- ; SEE RECORD BELOW
iii. Sarah , b. ---- ; living in 1665
iv. Samuel , b. ---- ; m. Dec 5, 1684, Hannah Worthen, dau of Ezekiel Worthen.

MARY[3] FOWLER (Samuel[2], Philip[1]) was b. probably in Portsmouth, N.H., date unknown. She was of Portsmouth, N.H. when she m. in Amesbury, Mass., Nov 14, 1677, RICHARD[2] GOODWIN (See Fam. 18 - GOODWIN in Section V).

SECTION III - ALLIED FAMILIES

This Section III covers the families descending to ELIZABETH[3] HEARD who married ROBERT[3] KNIGHT (No. 11 in Section 1).

The descending families:

5 - HEARD

JOHN[1] HEARD, origin unknown, a master carpenter, was in York, Maine, as early as 1643 when he m. there, ELIZABETH HULL who was b. at the rectory in Northleigh, Devonshire, England, in 1628, the dau of Rev. JOSEPH and JOANNE ( ) HULL. (See Fam. 6 - HULL). She came to New Eng. in 1635 with her father and step-mother who settled first at Weymouth, Mass. and, in 1643, moved to York, Me.

The Heards lived first at York. He sold the house there in 1648 and removed to Champernowne's Island at Kittery, Me. He was back in York in 1651 and by 1654 they were living in Dover, N.H., in the part originally called "Cochecho", where he had received on Mar 18, 1648, a grant of six acres, Lot No. 8 at the Cochecho Marsh and, in 1652, he had received a grant of 50 acres of upland "under the Great Hill at Cochecho". There in after years he built his home on the brow of a hill. About 1675, when the Indians began to be dangerous, he had a stockade built around his house and it became known as Heard's Garrison, and the hill came to be known as Garrison Hill.

In Sept 1676 about 400 Indians were gathered peaceably at Dover, part of them refugees from the fighting in King Philip's War further south, and considered themselves perfectly safe. However, on Sept 7th, after an understanding by the townspeople and the Indians that it was to be only a sham battle, Colonial troops surrounded and captured the Indians. Some were later set at liberty but some, who had been fighting in the War, were sold into slavery. In the course of the action, an Indian boy escaped and was given refuge in the house of Mrs. HEARD who concealed him and saved him from harm.

The Indians never forgave the trickery of their capture and punishment and their smoldering resentment never subsided. In the evening of June 27, 1689, their gathering in unusual numbers in Dover did not alarm the town. That evening, two squaws, according to a plan, applied at each garrison house in town for permission to sleep there. This was a frequent occurrence and permission was given at four garrisons. At their requests they were shown how to open the gates if they should wish to leave during the night. Late that night the squaws opened the gates and the Indians rushed in, killing or capturing the occupants and burning the garrisons. Only the HEARD Garrison was saved. After the gates were opened, a barking dog awakened an occupant who closed the gates just in time to prevent entry. There was much fighting but the stockade was not breached. Many of the houses and mills in the town were burned and many of the townspeople were captured and taken as prisoners to Canada.

Mrs. HEARD was in Portsmouth on June 27th and returned to Dover by boat, with her son-in-law John Ham and other family members, during the morning of June 28th. When they neared Dover they heard the noise of the Indians' assault. They bypassed the town and then tried to come in from beyond the town and gain entry to a garrison house for refuge, but this was not possible. By now she was exhausted, could go no further, and expecting that this was the end, she implored her family to leave her and save themselves, which they finally reluctantly did. She revived enough to hide in some bushes but soon an Indian with a gun found her, stared at her, said nothing, and went a short distance away. He soon came back and stared at her as before and said nothing. She asked him what he wanted. He did not answer, but went away again and did not return. She stayed in the bushes until the garrison was burned and the Indians had gone. It was believed that the Indian who found her was the same person as the Indian boy to whom she had given refuge in 1676, and now in turn had spared her. (History of Strafford County, N.H. and other sources).

JOHN HEARD died Jan 17, 1688/9. His will dated Apr 2, 1687 was proved in 1692 (N.H. Province, State and Town Papers, Vol. XXXI). Son, Nathaniel, executor. The will names children, in order of listing, Benjamin, Mary Ham, Abigail Jones, ELIZABETH NUTE, TRISTRAM, Samuel, Dorcas and Nathaniel, and wife ELIZABETH. Included in the bequests are 120 acres of land and two lots in the Cochecho Marshes.

His widow died in Dover Nov 30, 1706, called "a brave, gentle woman".

Their children, the later ones born in Dover:

i. Benjamin , b. Feb 20, 1643/4; d. at Salisbury, Mass. Jan 22, 1709/10; m. (1) before 1673, Elizabeth Roberts, dau of Thomas of Dover; m. (2) At Salisbury, May 23, 1690, Ruth Eastman, dau. of Roger[1] (See Fam. 58 - EASTMAN).

viii. Joseph , b. Jan 4, 1660/1; probably died young

ix. Samuel , b. Aug 4, 1663; d. Feb 10, 1696/7; m. Mar 1685/6, Experience Otis, dau of Richard of Dover. She was scalped by Indians July 26, 1696, partially recovered, but died from wounds Feb 8, 1698/9

x. TRISTRAM , b. Mar 4, 1666/7; SEE RECORD BELOW

xi. Nathaniel, b. Sep 22, 1668; d. Apr 3, 1700; m. Sarah Ferniside

xii. Dorcas , b. ± 1670; m. Jabez Garland, son George of Scarborough, Maine.

ELIZABETH[2] HEARD (John[1]) was b. prob. in Dover, N.H. Sept 15, 1653. She m. (1) there, JAMES[2] NUTE who died in 1691 (See Fam. 11 - NUTE). She m. (2), there, Aug 13, 1694, William Furber, son of William of Dover.

TRISTRAM[2] HEARD (John[1]) was b. at Dover, N.H. Mar 4, 1666/7. He m. ABIGAIL ----. He was a farmer. Called "Lieutenant". He is said to have inherited the garrison house. He owned land, and probably lived, northeast of the Great Hill. There was an ambush near his place, on the north side of the hill, May 28, 1703. In 1711, on a Sunday, several people fell into an ambush as they were returning from meeting. One man was wounded and another taken prisoner but "by the determined bravery of Tristram Heard he was recovered out of the hands of the enemy".

He died in 1734. His will dated Apr 18, 1734 was proved June 3, 1734. (Vol. XXXII, N.H. Provincial, State and Town Papers). The lengthy and complicated will reveals that he owned a large amount of land, in Dover and Rochester, which he bequeathed to his heirs:

His homestead lot of land. This is probably the place where the garrison house stood. 50 acres.

30 acres lying above the Faggotty Bridge, in Dover.

30 acres betw. Black Water Bridge and the Pitch Pine Plains in Dover.

Other lands and orchards in Dover.

A 1st Division lot of 60 acres and a 2nd Division lot of 240 acres, both in Rochester.

He also had mill privileges on both the north and south sides of the river at Tole-end, in Dover, and at Norway Plains in Rochester.

In his will, he mentions his sons Joseph,Tristram (deceased), Nathaniel (deceased), John and Samuel. Daughters ELIZABETH KNIGHT, Mary Warren, and Keziah Wentworth. Several grandsons including Joseph Knight. Wife, Abigail and son Samuel to be Executrix and Executor. Excerpts:

I give unto my three daughters ..... ELIZABETH KNIGHT, Mary Warren, and Keziah Wentworth, the one-half of my orchard adjoining to my son Joseph Heard's orchard ..... and also, all of my moveable estate that shall remain at the decease of their mother ABIGAIL HEARD, to be equally divided among them. I do also give unto my two daughters ELIZABETH KNIGHT and Keziah Wentworth ..... the one-half of my mill-privilege at the Norway Plains (in Rochester) to be equally divided between them. I also give to my daughter ELIZABETH KNIGHT ..... eight acres of fresh marsh lying at Winkol's Pond in Dover.

I give unto my two grandsons, Joseph Knight and Tristram Warren ..... thirty acres of land lying at a place called Dead-Water, to be equally divided between them.

All of his moveable estate, except farm and orchard produce, was left to his wife, ABIGAIL, to be divided, at her decease, to the daughters as above.

Their children, all born at Dover, N.H.:

i. Joseph , b. Feb 15, 1692/3; d. Aug 1746; m. Aug 9, 1722 Rebecca Richards of Newington

ii. Tristram , b. Mar 26, 1695; m. in Portsmouth, May 4, 1717, Jane Snell. He was killed by Indians Aug 31, 1723

6 - HULL

REV. JOSEPH[1] HULL was b. ± 1595 at Crewkerne, Somersetshire, England, the son of THOMAS and JOANNA (PESON) HULL who were m. at Crewkerne Jan 11, 1572/3. He matriculated at St. Mary's Hall, Oxford University, May 22, 1612 and received his B.A. degree Nov 14, 1614. During the next five years he studied theology and served as a teacher and curate under his older brother, William Hull, the Vicar of Colyton in Devonshire. On Apr 14, 1621, having been ordained an Episcopal clergyman, he was instituted as rector at Northleigh, diocese of Exeter, in Devonshire, where he remained until 1632 when, evidently finding himself out of accord with those in authority over him, he voluntarily resigned his rectorship. He then had wife JOANNA ---- and seven children. JOANNA died after 1632 and he m. (2), in England, Agnes ----.

Leaving Northleigh, he removed with his family to the vicinity of his ancestral home at Crewkerne and there assembled a company of 106 persons, including himself, his family and three servants, who on or near Mar 20, 1634/5 sailed from the port of Weymouth, in Dorsetshire, bound for New England. They landed at Boston May 6, 1635 or, according to another source, at Dorchester June 7, 1635. They went to a place called "Wessaguscus" which, by the increase of their numbers, was given the name of "Weymouth" in a meeting of the General Court on July 8, 1635.

He was made freeman of Mass. Bay Colony on Sept 2, 1635. He was an independent person, neither Pilgrim nor Puritan, and dissension soon arose between him and the Colonial authorities, and even in his own church. He received a grant of land at Weymouth on June 12, 1636. In 1637 he removed to Hingham and was elected a Deputy there Sep 7, 1638 and again Mar 13, 1638/9. He preached his last sermon there May 5, 1639 and removed to Barnstable in Plymouth Colony where he was made freeman Dec 3, 1639, was immediately elected a Deputy to the Plymouth General Court and took his seat in Dec 1639. He removed to Yarmouth in 1641 and he was excommunicated from the church for leaving Barnstable without permission. They returned to Barnstable where he was received back into the church in March 1643, but soon departed. As an Episcopalian and an independent he was regularly in contention with the Puritan authorities and he had found it no better in Plymouth Colony than in Mass. Bay Colony. Gov. Winthrop called him "an excommunicated man and very contentious".

In 1643 he removed to York, Maine, in the Episcopal colony of Sir Ferdinando Gorges, where he was recorded as a witness to a deed Apr 17, 1643 and as the minister May 10, 1643. He also preached at Star Island, also called Gosport, in the Isles of Shoals near Portsmouth. In 1652 the Mass. Bay Colony took the Province of Maine under its jurisdiction, a Puritan preacher was sent to replace him and, shortly afterward, he returned to England with his wife and youngest daughter, Priscilla.

He was at Launceston, in Cornwall, in 1652, where his daughter died. He was rector at St. Buryan, in Cornwall near Land's End, until 1662 when, feeling that the political climate had improved, he returned to New England where he was minister at Oyster River, now Durham, N.H., for a short period, then recovered his old parish at York, Me. where he died Nov. 19, 1665 leaving a small estate. His wife survived him.

His children by his first wife, JOANNA, all b. at Northleigh, with dates of birth according to their ages shown in the ship's passenger list:

i. Joanna , b. 1619; m. (1) at Sandwich, Mass., about Nov 28, 1639, John Bursley who d. Aug 1660. She m. (2) Dolor Davis.
ii. Joseph , b. 1622; was at York in Dec 1644
iii. Tristram , b. 1624; m. Blanche ----. Ship Captain. Lived in Yarmouth and Barnstable, Mass.
iv. Temperance, b. 1626; m. John Bickford of Oyster River
v. ELIZABETH , b. 1628; SEE RECORD BELOW
vi. Griselda , b. 1630
vii. Dorothy , b. 1632; m. (1) Oliver Kent of Oyster River. He died June 1670 and she m. (2) Capt. Benj. Matthews of O.R.

His children by his second wife, Agnes, b. in Mass. and Maine:

viii. Hopewell , b. ± 1636; m. Mary Martin, dau of John and Esther (Roberts) Martin of Dover. Removed to Piscataway, N.J.
ix. Benjamin , bpt at Hingham, Mar 24, 1639; m. ± 1668, Rachel York, dau of Richard and Elizabeth ( ) York. Lived at Dover, N.H. until 1678, then moved to Piscataway, N.J.
x. Naomi , bpt at Barnstable, Mar 23, 1639/40; m. Davy Daniels of Durham, N.H.
xi. Ruth , bpt prob. at Barnstable, May 9, 1641

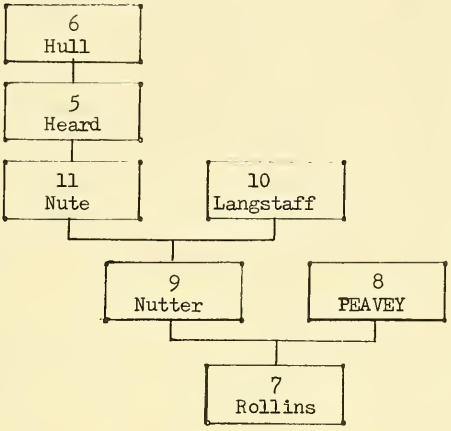
SECTION IV - ALLIED FAMILIES

This Section IV covers the families descending to OLIVE[5] ROLLINS who married JOSHUA[4] KNIGHT (No. 21 in Section 1).

The descending families:



Family 5 - HEARD and Family 6 - HULL are covered in Section III. Due to a marriage of distant cousins, start of a second line of descent occurs in this Section.

7 - ROLLINS

The name is found spelled Rawlins, Rawlings, Rollings and Rollins. The first two or three generations used "Rawlins" with variations, but the name evolved into "Rollins".

JAMES[1] ROLLINS, known then as Rawlins, was b. ± 1605 and came to New Eng. in 1632 with a group that settled at Ipswich, Mass. He was in Newbury in 1634 and was made freeman May 14, 1634. He next appears in Dover, N.H. where, on Oct 22, 1640, he signed the Dover Combination to establish a government there. He received a grant of land there July 10, 1644 and on Mar 18, 1648 he was granted six acres, Lot No. 17, at Cochecho Marsh. The town of Dover was known as "Cochecho" in the early days of settlement. He was granted, Jan 26, 1656/7, 100 acres of upland adjoining his earlier grant. Before 1677 he deeded 8 acres to his son Morse (son-in-law Obadiah Morse) and 18 acres to his son Samuel.

He m. HANNAH ---- . They lived in that part of Dover which, in 1713, became the parish of Newington. It was then known as "Bloody Point". On Oct 18, 1659 he was one of those before the General Court in Boston for "entertayned ye Quakers". He was considered more innocent than the others and had only to be admonished by the Governor, which was done. He had previously, on Jan 27, 1656, been before the court for "neglect of coming unto the publicke meeting". He was admonished therefor, and sentenced to pay the fees of the Court, 2s and 6d. The people of Bloody Point in those days were required to go either to Dover or Portsmouth to attend church services, a distance of several miles over Indian trails. He apparently was not a man of deep religious convictions but an industrious and enterprising farmer, one of the hardy pioneers in the settlement of the wilderness.

He died before Aug 1687. His will dated Dec 16, 1685 was proved July 25, 1691, with bequests to his wife, Hannah, sons Ichabod, Benjamin, Joseph, and "all my children".

Their children, all probably b. at Dover:

i. Ichabod , b. --- ; m. Mary Tibbetts, dau of Jeremiah of Dover
ii. *Thomas , b.--- ; m. Rachel Cox, dau of Moses of Hampton
iii. Rebecca , b. --- ; m. Isaac Stokes of Dover
iv. Joseph , b. --- ; living in 1672; no later record
v. SAMUEL , b. ± 1649; SEE RECORD BELOW
vi. Benjamin, b. ± 1662; probably dead in 1690 vii (Daughter),b. --- ; m. Obadiah Morse, son of Wm. of Newbury viii. Sarah , b. --- ; m. Philip Chesley, son of Philip of Dover

* Thomas probably son of James[1] but not documented.

SAMUEL[2] ROLLINS (James[1]) was b. in Dover, N.H. ± 1649. He was a carpenter and wheelwright. He m. ± 1672, REBECCA ---- , unidentified, but almost certainly the dau. of JOHN PICKERING of Portsmouth, N.H. They lived in Portsmouth and were members of the North Church there. In 1687 he agreed to teach his brother, Benjamin, the wheelwright trade, "their father, JAMES, being dead".

He died Oct 29, 1694, aged 45 years. His widow, REBECCA, was appointed admx. of his insolvent estate on Nov 23, 1694.

Their children, all probably b. in Portsmouth, N.H.:

i. Abigail , b. ± 1676; m. Aug 12, 1697, Joseph Richards, son of Justinian of Greenland.
ii. Joseph , b. ---- ; His will dated Feb 14, 1748/9 shows wife Sarah ----, and children.
iii. John , b. ---- ; drowned in the river, inquest Aug 22, 1718
iv. JAMES , b. ---- ; SEE RECORD BELOW
v. Samuel , b. ---- ; m. May 5, 1720, Alice Dam, dau John, Newingt vi. Sarah , b. ---- ; m. Samuel Migill, son of John of Dover vii. *Deborah , bpt Oct 14, 1694; m. Mar 20, 1718/9, James Benson, son of Henry of Portsmouth.

* Deborah probably daughter of Samuel[2] but not documented.

JAMES[3] ROLLINS (Samuel[2], James[1]) was prob. b. in Portsmouth. He m. Apr 9, 1717, DEBORAH PEAVEY, dau. of EDWARD and RACHEL ( ) PEAVEY of Newington, N.H. (See Fam. 8 - PEAVEY). They lived first in Newington and later in Dover where he was a town officer in 1725 but appear to have returned to Newington as she was admitted to full communion at the church there on Sept 13, 1741. Her daughters were also admitted to full communion there: Deborah on Feb 7, 1742; Abigail and Mary on May 9, 1742. His will dated Dec 12, 1743, proved Mar 28, 1744, gave property to his wife, DEBORAH; to his sons Ichabod and EDWARD, land in Newington; to daughters Abigail and Mary, £20 each; to son John the residue of the estate. His widow executx.

Their children. The baptisms were in Newington:

i. *EDWARD , b. Mar 2, 1718; SEE RECORD BELOW
ii. *John , b. ---- 1720: m. Elizabeth ---- iii. *Ichabod , b. ---- ; m. Jan 6, 1748/9, Olive Nutter, dau of Hatevil[3] of Newington.

EDWARD[4] ROLLINS (James[3], Samuel[2], James[1]) was b. prob. in Newington, Mar 2, 1718. He m. at Newington, Nov 21, 1742, ELIZABETH NUTTER, dau of HATEVIL[3] and LEAH (NUTE) (Furber) NUTTER of Newington (See Fam. 9 - NUTTER). She was b. there Sept 9 (or 19), 1723, bpt Sept 21, 1723. They lived in Newington until ± 1750 when they removed to Rochester,N.H. where he later became one of the Selectmen. He built and occupied a large garrison house near the lower end of the main street there.

He died there May 25, 1756, probably suddenly and when only 38 years old, leaving a large family and a son to be born six months later. He died intestate and his widow, ELIZABETH, was appointed admx. of his estate May 26, 1756. An inventory was taken June 21, 1756 which showed a total value of £3777, 16s, 6d and included one negro man valued at £450.

In Strafford County Deeds, V.38, p.436, is found:

"Alice Chamberlain, OLIVE KNIGHT, Hannah Horn, Elizabeth Tibbetts, Deborah Wingate, and Leah French, all of Rochester, Strafford Co., N.H. for £100 paid by our brother, Edward Rollins, of said Rochester, yeoman, ... sold their share of all the real and personal estate of their father, Edward Rollins, late of Rochester, deceased.
Signed March 19, 1778 Recorded July 31, 1802 Appearing with the women and signing, were the husbands: Jacob Chamberlain, Moses Horn, Edward Tibbetts, William Wingate, and Simon French."

That OLIVE KNIGHT's husband, JOSHUA KNIGHT, did not sign shows that on that date she was a widow. She m. (2) Nov 4, 1779, Amos Place.

EDWARD's widow, ELIZABETH, m. (2), date undetermined, Joseph Knight, son of ROBERT[3] and ELIZABETH (HEARD) KNIGHT and brother of JOSHUA[4] KNIGHT who later married her daughter OLIVE. (See No. 19, JOSEPH[4] KNIGHT and No. 21, JOSHUA[4] KNIGHT, both in Section I).

The children of EDWARD and ELIZABETH, with bpt at Newington (N) or Rochester (R):

9 - NUTTER

HATEVIL[1] NUTTER was b. in England, Prob. in Bristol, ± 1603. He came to New Eng. with his wife and family in the ship James, with Thomas Wiggin, and arr. in Salem Oct. 10, 1633. He settled at the location called Dover Neck and received a lot there in 1636 which was bounded on the east by the Fore River and on the west by High Street. In 1642 he received Lot No. 20, of 20 acres, on the west side of the Back River. On Mar. 18, 1648 he was granted Lot No. 11, of 6 acres, at Cochecho Marsh. He had other grants later, including 200 acres for a farm in 1658 and some land in Welchman's Cove, in the part of Dover which became the parish of Newington.

His house stood on the east side of High Street, about 15 rods northeast of the nearest corner of the Second Meeting House lot. The site of the Meeting House is said to be marked by a bronze tablet. He was largely engaged in the lumber and shipbuilding business. On Dec. 27, 1647 the town set up a committee to treat with Mr. Hate Evil Nutter and Company of Elders concerning the erecting and setting up a sawmill on the Campron (Lamphrey) River. He owned a shipyard on the Fore River.

He helped organize the First Church of Dover, N.H. in 1638 and was ordained a Ruling Elder thereof. He was a very righteous person, strong in his Puritan convictions, and became known as "Hate-Evil Nutter", a name and spelling that was applied in some records to his namesake descendants. He vigorously opposed the Quakers and was active in the prosecution of the Quaker missionaries. In Dec 1662, three Quaker women were sentenced by the Dover magistrate to each receive ten lashes across their naked backs, and then to be taken from town to town, to be similarly whipped in each town, until they were out of the colony. They were whipped in Dover and Hampton but officials and townspeople in Salisbury would not conduct the whippings and the women were not sent on to other towns for punishment. Sewall, the Quaker historian, wrote harshly of Nutter, saying "All this whipping of the Quaker women by the constables was in the presence of one Hate-evil Nutter, a ruling Elder, who stirred up the constables to this wicked action, and so proved that he bore a wrong name (Hate-evil)." John G. Whittier, in the seventh stanza of his poem "How the Women went from Dover" placed the whip in Hatevil's hand:

"Smite, Goodman Hate-evil! -- harder still!"
The magistrate cried, "lay on with a will!
Drive out of their bodies the Father of Lies Who through them preaches and prophesies!"

He is noted in the Rate (tax) lists at Dover beginning in 1648 and regularly thereafter, and he appears to have been a man of some wealth for his time. He served as Deputy to the General Assembly at Portsmouth in 1650. On May 18, 1653 he was one of the Dover men who petitioned the Massachusetts Govt. to fortify the River at Dover. He was a Selectman in Dover in 1655 and 1661, and a Moderator in 1659. He appears to have been a man greatly respected and of considerable influence in the town.

The name of his wife, the mother of his children, is unknown. He is said to have married Anne Ayers who he refers to in his will as his "present wife Anne" thereby indicating that she was probably a second wife.

On Apr 10, 1669 he gave lands to his son Anthony, and on Feb 13, 1670 he gave land to his sons-in-law, John Wingate and Thomas Leighton, Jr. He died, probably Jan 2, 1674/5. His will dated Dec 28, 1674 was proved Jun 29, 1675. In it he stated that he was aged about 71 years. He mentions his "present wife Anne" to whom he gave the use of his dwelling house, orchard, marsh in Great Bay, all of which was to go to his son Anthony at his mother's decease. He made bequests of real and personal property to his children and mentions "my three children now living, viz. Anthony, Mary and Abigail."

His children, all prob. by his unknown 1st wife, all prob. b. in England:

i. Elizabeth, b. ---- ; m. Thomas Leighton, Jr. son Thomas of Dover
ii. Abigail , b. ---- ; m. John Roberts, son of Thomas of Dover
iii. ANTHONY , b. 1630 ; SEE RECORD BELOW
iv. Mary , b. ---- ; m. before 1670, John Wingate of Dover
v. John , b. ---- ; living in 1669; d. before 1674

ANTHONY[2] NUTTER (Hatevil[1]) was b. in England in 1630 and came to Dover, N.H. with his parents in 1633. He m. ± 1662, SARAH LANGSTAFF, dau of HENRY and ---- LANGSTAFF who lived in the Bloody Point Section of Dover. (See Fam. 10 - LANGSTAFF). They lived for a time at Dover Neck then afterward moved to Welchman's Cove, on the Bloody Point side, in what was to become, in 1713, the parish of Newington. He was made freeman May 22, 1662.

He, like his father, was a man of note but in a different sphere. He was a military man, while his father was a churchman. In 1667 he was a Corporal in the local militia. In 1675, as "Sargent Antony Nutter" he was one of three men chosen to meet with the Selectmen of Portsmouth and of the Isles of Shoals about raising money for the relief of those who had suffered in the present Indian War. On Mar 25, 1680 he received his military commission. In 1683 he is mentioned as "Leftenant" and he carried that title thereafter.

He was a juror at least ten times from 1655 to 1673, a selectman of Dover in 1666, 1667, and from 1671 to 1677, and was a Deputy to the General Court of Massachusetts at least six times. He was one of the petitioners of Dover, Oct 22, 1677, who favored being under the jurisdiction of Massachusetts. On July 7, 1679 he was on Sir William Warren's list as a Councillor of New Hampshire. He is noted for having been in a controversy with Gov. Cranfield.

There is related in N.H. State Papers, Vol. 1, et al, an account of his visit in Dec 1684, with Capt. Thomas Wiggin, To Deputy Gov. Barefoot, in regard to some Mason land disputes. He is described as the easy-going, laughing, tall big man who held others off while Wiggin threw Mason into the fire. In the fight, Barefoot had two ribs broken and a tooth broken. Mason got his wig burned and his teeth knocked out. A warrant dated Jan 25, 1685 was issued for ANTHONY's arrest stating his offence as "aiding and abetting Thomas Wiggin in assaulting and wounding Walter Barefoot, Esq., Dep. Gov.,and Robert Mason, Esq., proprietor of said Province". No officer could be found to serve the warrant.

He owned the land received in his father's will and some property known as "Nutter's Islands" in Newington. He died of smallpox Feb 19, 1685/6. His estate was inventoried at £467, 19s, and adm. was given to his sons, Henry and Hatevil, on June 8, 1720. His widow was still living in 1698.

Their children, b. in Dover or Newington:

HATEVIL[3] NUTTER (Anthony[2], Hatevil[1]) b. ---- , probably at Newington, m. (1), unknown; m. (2) at Newington, May 16, 1716, LEAH (NUTE) FURBER, b. ---- , at Dover, N.H. the dau of JAMES[2] and ELIZABETH (HEARD) NUTE, and the widow of Jethro Furber (See Fam. 11 - NUTE). They lived at Newington. He was one on the inhabitants of Bloody Point who, in 1713, petitioned the General Court that they "By maintaining the minister, school and poor among themselves, may be exempted from all other charges, save only the Province tax ." This resulted in the establishment of the town of Newington in the place formerly known as Bloody Point. He was a Proprietor of the Town of Barnstead. He was known as "Ensign".

He died in 1745. His will dated Nov 12, 1745 was proved Dec 25, 1745. Wife LEAH, executrix. He gave to his sons Hatevil and Anthony, all of his lands in Rochester; to sons John and Joshua, his lands and dwelling house in Newington and all of his interest in other lands in Dover or elsewhere derived to him from his father, Anthony Nutter, deceased; to his daughters Eleanor, Sarah Walker, Abigail Dam, ELIZABETH RAWLINGS, and Olive, £10 each; to wife LEAH, all of his personal estate and also his negro man servant called Caesor. Some other minor specific bequests to family members. His widow was living in 1748.

10 - LANGSTAFF

HENRY[1] LANGSTAFF was b. in England about 1605-1610 according to depositions of age made by him at various times. He came to New England in the early 1630's with a group of stewards, agents and servants sent over by Capt. John Mason to settle on his grant, dated Nov 7, 1629, of the territory between the Merrimack and Piscataqua Rivers which he called "New Hampshire". Altogether, there were about 58 men and 22 women in the group, and they settled near the mouth of the Piscataqua River.

There is no record of his wife and it is unknown whether she came with him, or if they were married here. He lived first at Little Harbor near the mouth of the River and he testified later that he lived there for two years prior to 1633. He was one of 12 settlers living at Bloody Point in Dover in 1643 and in that year he was one of the petitioners from there, to the Massachusetts General Court, to have Bloody Point restored from Strawberry Bank (now Portsmouth) to Dover. The petition was granted and Bloody Point remained in Dover until organized as Newington in 1713.

On Mar 18, 1648 he received a grant of Lot No. 13, six acres, at Cochecho Marsh at Dover. On Dec 6, 1652, he and three others received permission to set up a sawmill on Fresh Creek and, same date, he and four others received a grant of land, the whole neck of land from St. Albans Cove (later Style's Cove) to the head of Fresh Creek and so to Cochecho Point. On Apr 5, 1658 he received a grant of 200 acres in Dover.

He was a signer of the Dover Combination, Oct 22, 1640, to set up a civil government there. He was a Selectman of Dover at least eight times from 1651 to 1672, and served on the grand jury many times. He was one of the signers of a petition by New Hampshire settlers, to Mass. Bay Colony, Feb 20, 1689, requesting military protection from hostile Indians.

He died July 18, 1705, ten days after a fall down the steps of his leanto. He was nearly 100 years old, "a hale, strong and hearty man."

His children, all prob. b. at Bloody Point, in Dover, dates unknown:

i. John ; removed to Piscataway, N.J. ± 1667; living in 1718
ii. SARAH : SEE RECORD BELOW
iii. Henry ; Captain, age 66 in 1713; died before 1719
iv. Mary ; age 63 in 1713 when she m. Eleazer Coleman

SARAH[2] LANGSTAFF (Henry[1]) was b. ---- , prob. at Bloody Point. She m. ± 1662, ANTHONY[2] NUTTER (See Fam. 9 - NUTTER).

REFERENCES ARE SHOWN AT THE END OF THIS SECTION IV.

11 - NUTE

The name was originally Newte but is now universally written in this country as Nute.

JAMES[1] NUTE was b. in England, probably of the Tiverton, England, family. He came to New England in the early 1630's with a group of men and women, which also included HENRY LANGSTAFF (See Fam. 10 - LANGSTAFF), sent over by Capt. John Mason to settle in his Laconia Patent which he called "New Hampshire". They settled near the mouth of the Piscataqua River.

Records do not show whether his wife, SARAH, came with him or if they were married here. He was one of the signers of the Dover Combination dated Oct 22, 1640 which set up a civil government at Dover, N.H. They lived on Dover Neck and his house was on what became Low Street, westerly or northwesterly of the meeting house on Meeting House Hill. He was a Selectman in Dover in 1659. He was among those fined for being absent from meeting and attending Quaker worship, and for entertaining Quakers.

On Mar 18, 1648 he received a grant of Lot No. 15, six acres, at Cochecho Marsh in Dover. Before then he had bought Lot No. 10, a 20 acre lot, in the Back River district. In 1656 the town granted him 40 acres of land on the west side of the Back River, at the head of Lot No. 10.

On Feb 15, 1671, in consideration of "natural love and affection", he gave to his son James "three score acres of land" in the west side of Back River, being the lots mentioned above, and these lots were passed down in the Nute family through continuing generations. On the same date he gave to his son Abraham his homestead, being 12 acres on the east side of Back River in Dover Neck. The sons to enjoy these deeds after their parents' decease. He is said to have been living in 1691. His gravestone in the family graveyard was inscribed "Mr J Nute ae 78".

JAMES[2] NUTE (James[1]) was b. in Dover, N.H. ± 1643. He was recorded as age 26 in 1669. He m. there, by 1675, ELIZABETH HEARD, b. there Sep 15, 1653, the dau of JOHN and ELIZABETH (HULL) HEARD (See Fam. 5 - HEARD in Sect. III). They lived in Dover, on the 60 acre farm on the west side of Back River, deeded to him by his father on Feb 15, 1671.

He died in 1691. His widow filed an inventory of his estate on Oct 24, 1691. She m. (2) Aug 13, 1694, William Furber. She died Nov 9, 1705.

Their children, all b. in Dover:

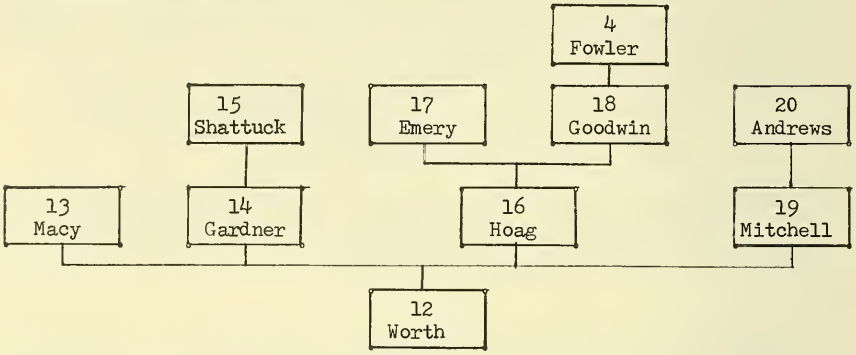
SECTION V - ALLIED FAMILIES

This Section V covers the families descending to ELIZABETH[5] WORTH who married EDWARD[5] KNIGHT (No. 33 in Section I).

The descending families:



Family 4 - FOWLER is covered in Section II. Due to a marriage of distant cousins, start of a second line of descent occurs in this Section.

12 - WORTH

The original seat of the Worth family was at Worth in Devonshire, England, where it is said that the first ancestor came from Normandy in 1066 with William the Conqueror. The ancestral home remained in the family for many generations and still may be in family possession. The coat of arms of the Devonshire family is: An eagle imperial, sable, membered, or. Crest: a lion rampant ppr.

JOHN WORTH, whose sons emigrated to New England, lived in Devonshire. He, and his eldest son John, were killed while fighting in defense of the fort at Plymouth, England, during the war between the Parliamentary and Royalist forces. His property was confiscated and his sons scattered, Francis to Portugal, Lionel, Richard and WILLIAM to Salisbury, Mass.

Lionel was in Salisbury as early as 1653 and was in Newbury, Mass. in 1655 where he married Susanna Whipple. He was granted eight acres of land at Newbury Feb 10, 1655/6. He died there June 29, 1667.

Richard settled at Newbury and m. there Sept 11, 1667, Mary Pike and, with her father and several others of Newbury, soon removed to and settled in New Jersey. On March 12, 1664, King Charles II issued a royal decree granting to James, Duke of York, a large tract of land now known as New Jersey. On Feb 10, 1664/5, Philip Carteret was appointed governor of the territory and every freeman who settled there was given 150 acres of land, provided he brought with him six months provisions, a good musket, 10 lbs. of powder, and not less than 20 lbs. of bullets, 12 bullets to the lb. Richard Worth was one of the several men who went from Newbury to New Jersey, where they laid out and settled the town of "Woodbridge", so called in honor of the Rev. John Woodbridge, asst. minister of the First Church of Newbury. Richard Worth was allotted land at "Raritan Meadows" prior to Dec 3, 1667, and received patent for 172 acres at Woodbridge on Mar 18, 1669/70. He died at Piscataway, N.J. and his will dated Feb 1, 1691/2, was proved Mar 1, 1691/2.

WILLIAM[1] WORTH, the progenitor of our family line, was b. in England ± 1640, the son of JOHN of Devonshire. He is said to have served on an English Man-of-war, and to have learned the trade of blacksmith, before emigrating to New England. No record of his was found in Salisbury, but he must have lived there, or at neighboring Amesbury or Newbury, to have known, and been known by, the purchasers of Nantucket Island, and to have been accepted by them as a "Half Share" man.

He was on Nantucket Island in 1662 where, on July 20, 1662, the Town made the following contract:

"These presents do witness that wee whose names are underwritten do give and grant unto William Worth, sailer, half a share of land and meadow wood and Timber and all manner of privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging upon the Island of Nantucket both house Lot and other Division of land, meadow, wood, Timber and Commonage we say half as much as any of the Twenty first purchasers have both in plantation and patent rights to him the aforesaid William Worth, his heirs and assigns, forever upon conditions that he pay his proportion of all charges of purchasing the pattent and Indian right and all other necessary concerning the English rights and also to come and Dwell on the Island and to Imploy himself or be Imployed on sea affairs for himself or such person or persons as are Inhabiting on the Island or any of the purchasers at such seasons as are Convenient and for such hire as they shall agree on which shall be according to Reason and not to leave the Island for three years time after the date hereof".

The above agreement caused him to be known as a "Half Share" man, and attested to the faith in him of the Twenty "first purchasers" who required persons admitted to the Island to provide skills pertinent to the welfare of the Island where, by its isolation from the mainland, required its people to be nearly self-sufficient unto themselves. See Fam. 13 - MACY, for more details.

He m. (1) at Nantucket, Apr 11, 1665, SARAH MACY, b. at Salisbury, Mass., Aug 1, 1646, the dau of THOMAS[1] and SARAH (HOPCOTT) MACY (See Fam. 13 - MACY). She died in 1701. He m. (2) at Nantucket, Sept 3, 1703, Damaris Sibley of Salem, Mass. She died Apr 2, 1745.

His house was in the No Bottom Pond section, bounded north by the Old Road and west by Crooked Lane. The lot extended from the Old Road south to the Main Street extension.

He was quite active in Nantucket affairs having been five times chosen a Selectman, three times an Asst. Magistrate, four times as assessor, and for many years Clerk of the Court. Many of the early town records are in his handwriting and a large number of marriages were solemnized by him, the marriage service for many years having been a civil and not a religious contract. A facsimile of his signature appears on page 54 of The History of Nantucket by Alexander Starbuck, the signature being to a Court Order of a Court of Adjournment held in the Town of Sherborne, later called Nantucket, dated Feb 14, 1676. He was an experienced navigator and blacksmith.

Nantucket Island was under the jurisdiction of the Province of New York until 1692 when it was granted to the Province of Massachusetts Bay. On April 12, 1675, he was one of the signers of a petition to the Rt. Hon. Edmund Andros, Gov. Gen. of New York. In the latter part of 1678 a French ship was wrecked and William Worth was injured in the salvage operations. A Court of Admiralty convened at Nantucket Aug 28, 1680 to rule on the allowance for salvage and other matters concerning the wrecked ship. The Order of the Court was signed by William Worth, Clerk.

He died "12 mo. 1724" per vital records. Another record shows his will probated Nov 11, 1724 which mentions his wife Damaris and his son John.

He had only one child, by his first wife, SARAH, b. at Nantucket:

i. JOHN , b. May 19, 1666; SEE RECORD BELOW:

JOHN[2] WORTH (William[1]) was b. at Nantucket May 19, 1666. He m. (1) at Nantucket, Sept 22, 1684, MIRIAM GARDNER, b. ± 1665, prob. at Salem, Mass., the dau of RICHARD[2] and SARAH (SHATTUCK) GARDNER, then of Salem, who moved to Nantucket ± 1667.(See Fam. 14 - GARDNER). She died in 1702, aged 37 years, and he m. (2) at Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard, Sept 8, 1704, Mrs. Ann (Platts)(Clay) Sarson, widow of Samuel Sarson. She died at Edgartown, June 14, 1724 and he m. (3) there, Dec 22, 1724, Mrs. Dorcas (Smith) Hawes, widow of Benjamin Hawes. She died Aug 4, 1730, aged 32 years.

He lived at Nantucket until shortly after the death of his first wife in 1702 when he removed to Edgartown on Martha's Vineyard (Island). He lived there for the remainder of his life. He was a prominent citizen and was appointed Assoc. Justice of the County Court in 1713. After his second marriage in 1704 he kept the tavern previously kept by his wife's prior husband, Samuel Sarson, in the old Sarson house located between Cottage and Morse Streets on North Water Street in Edgartwon.

He owned a farm at Woodbridge, N.J. where his uncle, Richard Worth, had settled about 1668. In 1715 he deeded this farm to his son RICHARD[3] WORTH.

He died at Edgartown Feb 11, 1730/31 at age 64. His will dated Dec 7, 1730 was proved Mar 7, 1731/2.

His children by his first wife, MIRIAM, all b. at Nantucket, all settled there except Nathaniel who settled at Edgartown:

i. Jonathan , b. Oct 31, 1685; m. Apr 16, 1707, Mary Hussey, dau of Stephen and Martha (Bunker) Hussey

ii. Nathaniel, b. Sep 8, 1687; m. ± 1732, Jane Lothrop, dau of Thomas and Mehitable (Sarson) Lothrop of Edgartown

iii. Judith , b. Dec 22, 1689; d. Nov 8, 1767; m. Apr 25, 1707 John Macy, son of John[2] and Deborah (Gardner) Macy

iv. RICHARD , b. May 27, 1692; SEE RECORD BELOW

v. William , b. Nov 27, 1694; m. Oct 24, 1717, Mary Butler, dau of Thomas and Jemima (Daggett) Butler of Martha's V'yard

vi. Joseph , b. prob. 1696; d. Jul 14, 1790; m. Sep 8, 1720, Lydia Gorham, dau of Shubael and Puella (Hussey) Gorham

vii. Mary , b. ---- ; m. Nov 13, 1717, Thomas Crosby of Braintree viii. John , b. ---- (sequence of birth unknown); d. Aug 15, 1707

His children by his second wife, Ann, all b. at Edgartown:

ix. John , b. July 18, 1706; died young

x. Sarah , b. July 15, 1708; died Aug 8, 1708

His children by his third wife, Dorcas, all b. at Edgartown:

xi. John , b. Sep 14, 1725; m. May 26, 1748, Sarah Athearn, dau of Jethro and Mary (Mayhew) Athearn

xii. Sarah , b. Nov 5, 1727; m. Jan 11, 1744/5, Isaac Pope xiii. Dorcas , b. July 6, 1730; d. Mar 22, 1810, unmarried, age 80

RICHARD[3] WORTH (John[2], William[1]) was b. at Nantucket, May 27, 1692. He m. there, July 2, 1729, SARAH HOAG, b. at Amesbury, Mass., Oct 3, 1708, dau of JOSEPH[2] and SARAH (GOODWIN) HOAG of Stratham, N.H. (See Fam. 16 - HOAG). They were married at the Quaker church at Nantucket.

SARAH HOAG and Mary Tibbetts of Dover, N.H. went together to Nantucket in or before 1726. Both were members of families who attended the Quaker meeting in Dover, N.H. The purpose of their going to Nantucket has not been found but it is speculated that they were Quaker missionaries. Both married and settled in Nantucket.

RICHARD had removed to Edgartown with his father about 1702 but returned to Nantucket after his marriage and settled there. In 1715 his father deeded to him a farm in Woodbridge, N.J. In Oct 1749 he gave a power of attorney to his cousins, James Worth and John Clarke, of Woodbridge, to sell his Woodbridge farm and they advertised it for sale in 1750. This James[3] Worth was the son of John[2] and Jane (Gyles) Worth and grandson of Richard[1] and Mary (Pike) Worth. This transaction helped to establish the relationship between the Nantucket and Woodbridge Worths.

They were Quakers. They both died at Nantucket. Her date unrecorded. He died Aug 15, 1742.

Their children, all b. in Nantucket:

i. Richard, b. Apr 11, 1730, d. Dec 12, 1815 in N.Y.; m. Feb 1, 1753, Anna Macy, dau of Thomas and Deborah (Coffin) Macy
ii. Joseph , b. Jul 30, 1731; died Sep 2, 1732
* iii. Sarah , b. Nov 23, 1732; removed from the Island
iv. Francis, b. Mar 21, 1734/5; m. Feb 5, 1756, Mary Gardner, dau of Barnabas and Mary (Wheeler) Gardner
v. LIONEL , b. Apr. 8, 1737; SEE RECORD BELOW
vi. Walter , b. Dec 18, 1738; died Sep 9, 1739
vii. Anna , b. Aug 26, 1740; removed east viii. William, b. Aug 5, 1742 ; removed east

LIONEL[4] WORTH (Richard[3], John[2], William[1]) was b. at Nantucket Apr 8, 1737 (per Vital Records), April 19, 1737 (per family records). He removed from the Island on Mar 26, 1759 and went to Dover, N.H. He m. before 1762, MARTHA MITCHELL, b. at Kittery, Maine, July 9, 1739, bpt there May 12, 1745, the dau of SAMUEL[4] and ELIZABETH ( ) MITCHELL of Kittery. (See Fam. 19 - MITCHELL).

They may have lived first at Dover, N.H. but removed to Loudon, Merrimack Co., N.H. where they lived until their children were grown, then returned to the Island for an unknown period, then removed from the Island again on Apr 30, 1801 to Starksboro, Vermont, where their son, William, and their dau ELIZABETH KNIGHT were living. They died at Starksboro and are buried in the Green Mountain Cemetery there. Their gravestone shows:
"Lionel Worth, born April 19, 1737, died Aug 9, 1805"
"Martha Mitchell Worth, his wife, born July 9, 1739, died April 18, 1832"

Miss Bessie Knight, who researched the Worth family of Vermont, found the following in a library, under the reference of "Mark Bushnell", headed "Copied from an old manuscript of Julia Ann Worth, dau. of Wm. Worth II, dated Starksborough, Nov 16, 1816":
LIONEL W. b. Apr. 19, 1737, Nantucket, d. Aug. 9, 1805
MARTHA W. b. July 9, 1739;(d. Apr. 18, 1832) buried Starksboro both in old Quaker Cemetery, now Green Mountain.

(Children):

1. Wm. b. June 20, 1762 (d. Dec 23, 1849; m. ± 1788, Betsey Tibbetts)
* iii. Sarah, m. at Dover, N.H. Apr 22, 1749, Nicholas Meader. Lived in Durham, N.H. She d. there Oct 1, 1823. 8 children.

(Children - Continued):

2. Miriam Meeker, b. May 13, 1767; (d. June 5, 1862)
3. Sara Hill , b. Nov 23, 1768
4. Richard , b. Sept 8, 1770 (is called one of the early settlers of Starksboro and drafted the first town plan on parchment. He was town clerk, constable, etc. many years and d. Mar 4, 1858, aged 88 years. He brought from Monkton and planted the first apple tree in the township. From Smith's History of Addison Co., Vermont. p. 632.)
5. Susanna Horn, b. Feb. 3, 1773(m. at Loudon 1795, William Horn).
6. ELIZABETH KNIGHT, b. Jan. 15, 1775 (SEE RECORD BELOW)
7. Abigail Arnold, b. Sept. 28, 1776; m. Caleb Arnold Oct. 12, 1806".

The information in parentheses ( ) was not in the manuscript. They have been added to make the record more complete.

The 11 day difference between the Vital Record birth date of LIONEL WORTH, and the family record date, can be attributed to the calendar correction in 1752 when 11 days were dropped from the calendar. For example: George Washington was b. Feb. 11, 1732 but the anniversary date is considered to be Feb. 22nd.

ELIZABETH^{5} WORTH (Lionel^{4}, Richard^{3}, John^{2}, William^{1}) was b. at Loudon, N.H. Jan 15, 1775, dau of LIONEL and MARTHA (MITCHELL) WORTH. She m. at Loudon, N.H. Feb 17, 1795, EDWARD^{5} KNIGHT (No. 33 in Section I).

"From Nantucket Monthly Meeting of Friends held the 30th 4mo 1801 To the Monthly Meeting of Friends at Danby (Vt.)"

This covers the transfer of "Lyonal Worth" from the Nantucket M.M to the Danby, Vt. M.M. It was, however, picked up by the Ferrisburgh, Vt. M.M., then newly organized, on "30th of 6 mo 1801." It is the second entry in the Ferrisburgh M.M. records, the first being on the same date.

This transfer was issued at Nantucket on the same date, Apr 30, 1801, that Lionel Worth is reported to have left the Island for the 2nd time.

13 - MACY

THOMAS[1] MACY was b. ± 1608 at Chilmark, Wiltshire, England. He m. there, June 9, 1639, SARAH HOPCOTT who was b. there ± 1612. They sailed at once for New Eng. stopping first at Newbury, Mass. where he was made freeman Sep 6, 1639 and then, with several others, started a new town which they called Salisbury. He was one of the 68 original settlers of the town. He was a merchant, a planter, was active in the town's affairs and was sometimes a preacher. Records of meetings of the freemen of the town contain many entries concerning him:

Dec 29, 1639 - Ordered that six acres planting lot laid out for Thomas Macy shall stand firm .....

Nov 7, 1640 - He was granted 20 acres of upland to be laid out on the east side of the Pawans River.

Dec 14, 1640 - He was granted a house lot.

Mar 26, 1642 - He was granted four acres more or less of upland for a house lot.

Feb 26, 1642/3 - It was ordered that Tho. Macy have £1, 10s for his bull for the year ensuing for the use of the town.

May 4, 1643 - It was ordered that seven men, including Tho. Macy, shall have full power to order all the affairs of the town (except giving out lands) for the next six months.

---- 1644 - Thomas Macy sold a six acre meadow lot.

Jan 2, 1644/5 - It was ordered that Thos. Macy forfeit £15 for felling trees against the town's order to be paid to the constable for the town's use. Himself to keep the trees.

Jan 27, 1656/7 - He was one of the seven men appointed to handle town affairs (except giving out lands and timber) for one year.

Feb 23, 1651/2 - He was given a grant of more meadow land.

Feb 7, 1652/3 - He was again appointed as one of the seven men to handle town affairs for one year.

No date - He was chosen Deputy to represent Salisbury at the General Court of Elections in Boston on May 3, 1654.

We also find him on jury lists and tax lists over the years.

He was one of the original organizers and settlers of the town of Amesbury, Mass. and was granted land there in 1652, 1654 and 1658. He was the first Town Clerk of Amesbury and served from 1654 to 1659. He built a house there before 1654 which is still standing, well weathered to be true, on present day Main Street, which is maintained as a historic building. It was visited in October 1979. There is a historic marker in front of the house, placed there by the Mass. Bay Colony Tercentenary Commission, which reads: "MACY - COLBY HOUSE, Thomas Macy, First Town Clerk of Amesbury, erected this house prior to 1654. Persecuted for harboring Quakers he sold the house to Anthony Colby and fled to Nantucket, becoming the first white settler there, as related in Whittier's poem "The Exiles".

In the years 1656 and 1657 many laws were passed in Mass detrimental to freedom of worship. One law was to banish from Mass. all Friends or Quakers, prohibiting them from returning under penalty of death. Another law was the imposing of a fine upon anyone who should harbor or entertain any one of the sect, giving the court permission to impose additional penalties should it see fit to do so. Still another law was passed making it a misdemeanor for anyone to preach to the people on the Sabbath except regularly ordained ministers of the church.

The latter law was made to restrain men such as Joseph Peasley and THOMAS MACY, who were both Baptists, from preaching on the Sabbath in the absence of a minister. On Oct 29, 1658, Joseph Peasley and THOMAS MACY were ordered to appear before the General Court to answer for not complying with the law.

It is apparent that as early as February 1659 nine men were considering the purchase of Nantucket Island as, at that time, "the associates in Salisbury, Mass." were enacting the rules and regulations concerning the method of governing the Island. One of these men was THOMAS MACY.

In a deed dated July 2, 1659, Thomas Mayhew of Martha's Vineyard, sold to Tristram Coffin, THOMAS MACY, Christopher Hussey, Richard Swayne, Thomas Bernard, Peter Coffin, Stephen Greenleaf, John Swayne and William Pike, all his rights and interest in the Island of Nantucket. Thomas Mayhew reserved a share of the Island and became, with the purchasers, one of the proprietors to found the settlement. They are sometimes called the "first purchasers". The price for the Island was £30 and 2 beaver hats. Thomas Mayhew had some years before received a grant of the islands off the S.E. coast of Mass. from William, Earl of Sterling, and Sir Ferdinando Gorges. The purchase was subject to Indian treaties made or to be made.

On June 20, 1659, Thomas Mayhew had purchased some of the Island from two Indian sachems. The deed was signed by the marks of the sachems and witnessed by THOMAS MACY and three others. It is therefore clear that THOMAS MACY and the other witnesses were in Nantucket on that date.

In the summer of 1659, during a rainstorm, THOMAS MACY permitted four men, who were Quakers, to take shelter in his house during the storm. These men were Edward Wharton, William Robinson of London, Marmaduke Stephenson of Yorkshire, Eng., and one other. For this "entertaining of Quakers" he received a summons to appear before the General Court. He did not appear before the Court but, instead, sent the following letter, dated Oct 27, 1659, as taken from General Court files:

"This is to entreat the honored Court not to be offended because of my non-appearance. It is not from any slighting the authority of this honored court, nor from feare to answer the case, but I have bin for some weeks past very ill, and am so at present, and notwithstanding my illness, yet I desirous to appear, have done my utmost endeavor to hire a horse but cannot procure one at present.

I being at present destitute have endeavored to purchase, but at present cannot attain it, but shall relate the truth of the case as my answer should be to ye honored Court, and more cannot be proved, nor so much.

On a rainy morning there came to my house Edward Wharton and three men more, the said Wharton spoke to me saying that they were travelling eastward and desired me to direct them in the way to Hampton, and asked me how far it was to Casco Bay.

I never saw any of ye men afore except Wharton, neither did I require their names, or who they were, but by their carriage I thought they might be Quakers and told them so, and therefore desired them to passe on their way, saying to them I might possibly give offence in entertaining them, and as soon as the violence of the rain ceased (for it rained very hard) they went away and I never saw them since.

The time they stayed in the house was about three quarters of an hour, but I can safely affirm that it was not an houre.

They spoke not many words in the time, neither was I at leisure to talke with them, for I came home wet to ye skin, immediately afore they came to the house and I found my wife sick in bed. If this satisfie not the honored Court I shall subject to their sentence.

I have not willfully offended. I am ready to serve and obey you in the Lord."

"Thos. Macy"

On the same date as THOMAS MACY's letter, Oct 27, 1659, two of the men who had stopped in his house, William Robinson, and Marmaduke Stephenson, were hanged in Boston for their Quaker teaching.

The decision of the Court was given Nov 12, 1659. He was fined 30 shillings and ordered to be admonished by the Governor. He paid the fine, accepted the admonition from the Governor, but resolved that it should be the last.

It is tradition that he removed to Nantucket immediately after his sentence, but this doubtful considering the time of year and the needed preparations for food, shelter, etc. as, at that time, there were only Indians on the Island. It is more probable that the removal happened in the autumn of 1660. About 1659-60 he sold his house in Amesbury and his properties there and in Salisbury and, with his wife and family, also Isaac Coleman, a lad of 12 or 13 years, and possibly Edward Starbuck, sailed around Cape Cod to Nantucket, thus becoming the first white settlers on the Island. His persecution in Mass. and his flight to Nantucket became the subject of a poem by Whittier "The Exiles". There, he was no longer under the authority of Mass. Bay Colony as the Island was then under the authority of the Province of New York and was not transferred to Mass. Bay Colony until 1692.

They arrived on the Island in the autumn and the only other persons there were several hundred Indians who, seeing that they were peaceable, received them kindly and helped them to prepare for the winter by supplying them with fish and game which were plentiful there.

On May 10, 1661, a meeting was held in Salisbury and it was decided that in the future the records of the Company should be kept at Salisbury by Robert Pike, and at Nantucket by THOMAS MACY. This shows that MACY was already there, and he thus became the first Recorder of the Island and at least part of the first book of records is in his handwriting and bear his signatures.

The first meeting on the Island was held July 15, 1661. It was agreed that each man of the Owners or Purchasers shall have liberty to choose his House lot on any place within our limits, not formerly taken up, and that each house lot contain 60 rods square to a whole Share, or the value of it. THOMAS MACY's house lot was on the eastern side of Reed Pond.

On June 22, 1662, Tristram Coffin and THOMAS MACY bought of Wanackmanack, chief sachem of Nantucket, a neck of land at the east end of Nantucket.

On June 29, 1671, the same sachem sold to the Nantucket associates the Indian rights and interest in another part of the Island. The price - £20.

Mar 1, 1663/4. THOMAS MACY doth engage himself as one of the number of the Tradesmen, namely, to supply the Occasions of the Island in the trade of weaving, for the benefit of the Inhabitants as well as of himself, and hath a Tradesman's Half Share of the accommodations granted to him in consideration thereof, as well as to William Worth and the rest.

June 5, 1671. THOMAS MACY was chosen by the inhabitants of Nantucket as their agent to treat with Col. Lovelace, Governor of the Province of New York, concerning the affairs of the Island, to act for them in their behalf and stead, and in all considerations to do what is necessary to be done in reference to the premises, as if they themselves were personally present.

Oct 1, 1675. He was commissioned Chief Magistrate of Nantucket.

He died on the Island Apr 19, 1682, aged 74 years, without leaving a will. His son, John Macy, was aptd. Adm. at a Court of Sessions held in Sherborne (Nantucket) Aug 1, 1682. An inventory of his estate was taken Aug 12, 1682 and covered: 4 steers, 7 cows, 2 young cattle, 3 yearlings, 3 calves, 60 sheep, 5 lambs, 45 lbs. wool, and land, for a total of £76, 12s, 6d. His widow, SARAH, died in 1706, aged 94 years.

Their children, all b. at Salisbury, all d. at Nantucket except as shown:

i. Sarah , b. Jul 9, 1644; d. at Salisbury 1645
ii. SARAH , b. Aug 1, 1646; SEE RECORD BELOW
iii. Mary , b. Dec 4, 1648; d. Mar 10, 1729; m. Apr 11, 1669, William Bunker, son of George and Jane (Godfrey) Bunker
iv. Bethiah, b. ± 1650 ; d. Aug 19, 1732; m. Mar 30, 1670, Joseph Gardner, son of Richard[2] and Sarah(Shattuck) Gardner
v. Thomas , b. Sep 22, 1653; d. Dec 3, 1675, unmarried
vi. John , b. Jul 14, 1655; d. Oct 14, 1693; m. Deborah Gardner, dau of Richard[2] and Sarah (Shattuck) Gardner.
vii. Francis, b. ± 1657 : d. at Salisbury 1658.

SARAH[2] MACY (Thomas[1]) was b. at Salisbury Aug 1, 1646. She m. at Nantucket, Apr 11, 1665, WILLIAM[1] WORTH (See Fam. 12 - WORTH).

14 - GARDNER

Soon after the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth in 1620, several merchants in the south of England sent fishing vessels to the shores of New England but, because of the slow going sailing craft, the ships returned to markets in England and Spain too late to dispose of their catch. A number of men in Dorchester, England, conceived the idea of establishing a colony at Cape Ann on the New England shore. They thought that fishermen might winter there, make their catch early in the spring and return for a better market. A plantation was to be established there to grow food to support the fisheries. THOMAS GARDNER was to be in charge of the plantation and John Tilly to be in charge of the fisheries.

THOMAS[1] GARDNER was b. in Eng. ± 1592 and m. there, MARGARET FRYER. He sailed from Eng., probably from Weymouth, in the spring of 1624, in the ship "Zouch Phenix", with his wife, three children: Thomas, George and RICHARD, and with the other persons being sent over by the Dorchester company. They landed at Stage Point on the west side of what is now Gloucester Harbor and set up the plantation,with THOMAS GARDNER as overseer, on Cape Ann. As overseer of the plantation, THOMAS GARDNER was the first man in authority on the soil which became the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

The soil at the site of the plantation was rocky and infertile making successful farming impossible. The fisheries were also a failure. In the spring of 1626 the Dorchester Company gave permission to move the colony from Cape Ann to a new location at the mouth of the Naumkeag River. Some returned to England. Others stayed "to the hazard of their lives" and became the founders of Salem, Mass. THOMAS GARDNER and his family were among those who stayed.

In 1636 he was a member of the First Church in Salem. In Jan 1636/7 he signed a paper as a representative of the town. On Mar 20, 1637 he was appointed with Thomas Olney to "survey all the fences betwixt the meeting house, all westward of the town". On May 17, 1637 he was made freeman. On Sept 26, 1637 he was appointed Deputy to the General Court, and in 1637 he was appointed as one of the "twelve men" of the town.

In May 1639 he was called "Cunstable" in town records and various sums were paid to him for court expense. In 1639 he also served the town as surveyor for "mending of high wayes" and was one of the raters (assessors). He was one of the "seven men" (Selectmen) of the town from 1642 to 1646 and in 1650, 1655 and 1656. He also served, from time to time, on jury and grand jury.

On Mar 13, 1655/6 he was appointed with others to lay out highways, through farms to the great River, as may be most convenient for the inhabitants. On Apr 23, 1657, he and John Porter were ordered to oversee the fences in north field. In 1657-58-59 he was appointed one of the surveyors of various lots. In 1660-63-64 and 66 he was overseer or appraiser in the settlement of estates.

Nov 25, 1662 "Mr. Thos. Gardner have liberty granted him to sell at retaile what strong waters he hath in his hands". In the following year he was given a license to sell "one barrell of strong waters retale".

He had several grants of land by the Town of Salem:

Feb 20, 1636/7 - 100 acres. Its location was in what became West Peabody, on Lowell St., a short distance east of the Newburyport turnpike.
Feb 24, 1637/8 - An addition to his farm, not exceeding 20 acres.
May 15, 1639 - A bank of upland near the strongwater brook.
Mar 30, 1640 - One acre in the division of the "marsh and meadow lands".
Feb 20, 1642/3 - To T. GARDNER and Obadiah Holmes, a parcel of land ..... about 3/4 acre which is to be divided between them.
Jan 8, 1643/4 - A parcel of land to set a house upon near the old mill.
Aug 31, 1649 - A small piece of meadow containing about one acre lying upon the north side of his farm.
Feb 15, 1663/4 - 20 acres of land in exchange for a highway right of way through his farm. This 20 acres described as "lying in the woods".

In 1641, and probably earlier, he lived on what became Essex St., in Salem, on the north side, between Beckford and Flint Streets. The land then was called in Town Records "the field where Mr. Gardner is".

THOMAS GARDNER m. twice. (1) to MARGARET FRYER in England as aforesaid. Her date of death is not recorded, nor date of his m. (2) to Damaris Shattuck, a widow whose daughter had married his son RICHARD (See Fam. 15 - SHATTUCK).

They both died in Salem, she on Nov 28, 1674 and he on Dec 29, 1674. They were buried in the Gardner burying ground. His will dated Dec 7, 1668 was proved Apr 29, 1675. In it he mentions his wife, Damaris, daus. Sara Balch, Seeth Grafton, Miriam Hills (deceased), sons George, John, Samuel, Joseph, Thomas and RICHARD. Sons George and Samuel, overseers. Inventory taken Jan 4, 1674/5 totalled £274, 16s.

ix. Seeth , bpt Dec 25, 1636; d. Apr 17, 1707; m. (1) Joshua Conant, (2) Dec 1, 1659, John Grafton RICHARD[2] GARDNER (Thomas[1]) was b. in England bef. 1624. He came with his parents to Cape Ann in Mass. in 1624 in the ship "Zouch Phenix". He m. in Salem, Mass. ± 1652, SARAH SHATTUCK, b. in Eng. ± 1632, the dau of the widow DAMARIS ( ) SHATTUCK. Her father is not of record in New Eng. and his first name is unknown. (See Fam. 15 - SHATTUCK).

He received a grant of land from the Town of Salem Jan 23, 1642/3, a 10 acre lot near Mackrell Cove. He sold this lot May 2, 1659. On Mar 4, 1643/4 he was granted 20 acres at Jeffryes Creek, described as being "near to the bounds of Manchester". He sold this land Sep 19, 1667. His dwelling house stood on what was to become Central Street in Salem, not far from the corner of Essex Street, on the eastern side of the street. He sold part of this property Aug 25, 1667, and the balance May 5, 1669.

SARAH, his wife, was apparently a strong willed woman. She suffered much due to her attachment to the Society of Friends (Quakers), as were many of her Shattuck relations. In court, July 1658, she was convicted of her frequent being absent from the public ordinancies on the Lord's Day and was fined 30 shillings. She was in court several times in the following years, either for being absent from the services at the First Church in Salem, or for being present at a "Quaker Meeting". In 1662 she was excommunicated from the First Church for attending Quaker meetings.

Upon some of the occasions he was summoned into court with his wife for being absent from church. In the 1667 Court records we find "This court in consideration that the wife of RICHARD GARDNER is removed out of this jurisdiction to dwell, who was formerly fined 40 shillings, upon the request of Mr. Samuel Gardner that ye court would remit the said fine; this court doe remit 20 shillings of the said fine, and the said Samuel Gardner doe promise to pay the other 20 shillings". These problems may have been partially or wholly the reasons for his decision to leave Salem and remove to Nantucket Island in 1667 or 1668. The latter court record, above, indicates that he had already moved.

The first record of him in Nantucket was his purchase, Feb 15, 1667, of land at Wesko Pond. At a meeting of the inhabitants on Mar 22, 1666/7, a grant was made to him, half accommodations, according to the grants made to Seamen and Tradesmen, upon condition that he exercise himself as a Seaman, and that he come to inhabit here with his family before the end of May -68- and after that his Entrance here, not to depart the Island in Point of dwelling, for the space of three years, upon the forfeiture of the Grant aforesaid. In 1669 he had more grants of few acres.

On Feb 13, 1672/3 he was chosen by the town to proceed to New York with the town's fish and to "act as the town's messenger or agent in such business of the town as shall be expressed in this order". Nantucket Island was then under the jurisdiction of the Province of New York and the fish were evidently the town's tax to that Government, as such a tax had been levied.

On Apr 15, 1673, Gov. Lovelace of New York commissioned Mr. RICHARD GARDNER, who presumably was then in New York, as Chief Magistrate of "Nantucket and Tuckanuckett" and at the same time he appointed Richard's brother John "to bee Captaine and Chiefe Military officer of the foot company risen or to bee risen within the Islands of Nantucket and Tuckanuckett; you are to take the said Company into your charge ....." The Governor also issued an order on Apr 18, 1673 naming the town on the Island "Sherborne upon Nantucket". Previously the town carried no special name. ± 1795 the town name was changed to "Nantucket".

RICHARD GARDNER also brought from New York a license issued to his brother John and himself "to buy some land by the Sea Side or elsewhere of the Indyen Natives".

The town made the following grant to him July 25, 1673, possibly as a reward for his services rendered to the town during his visit to New York: "All that land adjoining to his house that is all that several pieces of land that joyn together more or less as they were formerly bounded and also so much upland as he shall have occasion to make use of not exceeding 20 acres, also two acres meadow, and his proportion of his creek thatch, and commonage for 40 neat cattel, and 60 sheep, & 1 horse". According to W. C. Folger, the grant covered 74 acres and 108 rods, and included several pieces of land which had been granted to him previously. He had some additional small grants later.

He was appointed by the town with his brother John and THOMAS MACY, Sept 30, 1673 "to build a tide mill upon the creek behither Wesko, somewhere neere the place where the old mil now stands". They were to be paid "£40 in corn or cattel at price current, also commonage for 20 head of cattel, 30 sheep and one horse, together with twenty acres of upland and two akers of meadow and creek-thatch apportionably". This was confirmed by the town in Oct 1674.

Mr. W. C. Folger in a newspaper article of June 4, 1882, stated: "The Gardner's owned formerly much of the land adjacent to and surrounding the Lily Pond, extending beyond Gardner's Burial Ground, and around the swamp on the North Shore Hill, also extending through Egypt (so called) to the present Town Hall, embracing some of the best meadows and grass lots on the Island. A part of this territory was called Crooked Records, from the lines of the survey not coming together ..... The Gardner family, although not the first family to settle here, have always been reckoned among the First Families of the Island ..... RICHARD GARDNER, Sr. and his brother, Capt. John, exercised much influence in the community here while they lived, and they died respected".

He died at Nantucket Jan 23, 1688 and his wife, SARAH, died there in 1724, aged 92 years.

Their children, seven b. at Salem and three b.at Nantucket:

i. Joseph , b. ---- ; d. 1701; m. Mar 30, 1670, Bethiah Macy, dau of Thomas[1] and Sarah (Hopcott) Macy

15 - SHATTUCK

DAMARIS[1] SHATTUCK, a widow, is first of record in America when she was admitted to the church in Salem, Mass. in 1641. She came from Eng. with at least five children, date unknown, and whether before or after the death of her husband is also unknown as is his first name. It is thought that her husband may have died either at sea or soon after arrival, without record, as it would be unusual for a widow with five children to undertake such a voyage.

She m. (2) in Salem, date unknown, THOMAS GARDNER whose son RICHARD, m. her dau. SARAH (See Fam. 14 - GARDNER). She became a Quaker as did members of her family, especially her dau. SARAH, as related in Fam. 14 - GARDNER, and her son, Samuel, whose activities merit relating here.

A good record of Samuel Shattuck is provided in "The History of Salem, Mass." by Sidney Perley. He was first recorded as friendly to Quakers Sept 20, 1657, when he pulled a gag from the mouth of Christopher Holder, a Quaker, who had been gagged while trying to speak at services in the meeting house. Holder, and another, were imprisoned, beaten, and whipped and banished from Mass. but returned in 1658 for more severe punishments. Samuel Shattuck followed them to Boston and to prison for an unknown period of time. When he returned to Salem he had no desire to attend church meetings and on Nov 25, 1658 he was in court for absence from the services, was fined then and also later for the same offense.

The persecutions continued and on May 11, 1659 he and five others were before the court and were sentenced to banishment, under pain of death if they remained, and were given until June 8th to settle their affairs and bid "good-bye" forever to their families and friends at home. On May 15th he, and Nicholas Phelps who was banished with him, sailed for England. He left his wife and five children in Salem. The others banished, viz. Lawrence Southwick, his wife Cassandra, and son Josiah, and Joshua Buffum, went to Shelter Island in Long Island Sound where the elder Southwicks died the following spring for lack of proper shelter during the winter.

Upon their return to England, Shattuck and Phelps, went directly to the government to lay before it the whole matter of the persecution of the Quakers in New England. The authority then was in a state of chaos and nothing could be accomplished until the throne was restored and Charles II became king. Then, through the influence of friends of the English Quakers, access was obtained to the king who issued a "mandamus" to the Bay Colony to cease the persecution. The "mandamus" dated Sept 9, 1661, ordered "If there by any of these people called Quakers amongst you, now already condemned to suffer death, or are imprisoned and obnoctious to the like Condemnation, you are to forbear to proceed any further therein, but that you forth-with send the said persons, whether condemned or imprisoned, over into this our Kingdom of England, together with their respective Crimes or Offenses laid to their Charge, to the end such course may be taken with them here, as shall be agreeable to our Lawes and their Demerits and for so doing, these Our Letter shall be your sufficient Warrant and Discharge".

Samuel Shattuck was appointed the King's Deputy to carry the letter to Boston. Upon arrival at Boston, the letter was presented to Gov. Endicott and on Nov 27, 1661, at a session of the General Court, the King's letter was accepted and an order issued by the court that the execution of the laws in force against Quakers as such, so far as they respect corporeal punishment of death, be suspended until the Court take further order. Jailers were directed "to release and discharge the Quakers who are at present in your custody. See that you dont neglect this". Thus Samuel Shattuck was largely instrumental in allaying the persecutions. Some constables disregarded the "mandamus" and carried out sentences of whippings, and Quakers were still fined for their activities, but there were no more hangings and, in general the laws against Quakers lost their force.

The poem "The King's Missive" by John G. Whittier memorializes Shattuck and his return with the "mandamus", and its effect in the Colony.

Samuel Shattuck died in Salem June 6, 1689

DAMARIS ( ) (SHATTUCK) GARDNER died at Salem, Nov 28, 1674.

Her children, all by her first, SHATTUCK, marriage, all b. in England:

17 - EMERY

JOHN[1] EMERY was bpt at Romsey, Hampshire, England, Nov 29, 1599, the son of JOHN and AGNES or ANNE ( ) EMERY. He was a carpenter. He m. in England MARY ----. On Apr 3, 1635 he sailed from Southampton in the ship "James of London", William Cooper, Master, for New England, accompanied by his wife, MARY, his children Elinor, John and Anne, also by his brother Anthony with his wife, Frances, and children James and Rebecca. They landed in Boston June 3, 1635 and soon went to Newbury, Mass. where JOHN settled.

Anthony settled first at Newbury, by 1640 was in Dover, N.H., by 1651 in Kittery, Me., and by 1660 he was in Portsmouth, R.I. where he was still living in 1681.

JOHN received a grant of 1/2 acre for a house lot in Newbury. On Dec. 22, 1637 he was fined by the town, 20 shillings, for inclosing ground not laid out, or owned by the town, contrary to town order, and on Feb 1, 1638 the town granted him that part of ground which was already inclosed. In 1641 he had 4½ acres on the common. On Apr 10, 1644 he had a grant from the town of 22 acres and 5 rods being his own and Henry Palmer's portion of the "Divident" land in the great field beyond the new town.

He was made freeman June 2, 1641 and recorded as one of the 91 freeholders of the town Dec 2, 1642. In the same year he was appointed with three others to make a valuation of all of the property in the town, for the purpose of proportioning each man's share in the new division. On Sept 26, 1648 he was on jury, and also on later dates. On Mar 27, 1655 he was sworn in as Constable, and on Mar 25, 1656 he was sworn in as clerk of the market for Newbury. He was a Selectman in 1661 and was appointed to carry votes to Salem in 1676.

On Sept 29, 1646 he was before the court at Ipswich "for his miscarriage with the wife of Henry Traverse". He was fined £3 or to be whipped and to pay witness fee. He was bound to good behavior and not to frequent the company of the wife of Henry Traverse. On Mar 30, 1647, at Ipswich, he was discharged of his bond for good behavior.

On Mar 16, 1663 he was before the court at Ipswich for entertaining travelers and Quakers. On May 5, 1663 his presentment for entertaining Quakers was referred unto the next court which, when convened, fined him £4, costs and fees for entertaining strangers. The evidence given in the case was "Yt two men Quakers wr entertained very kindly to bed and table & John Emmerie shok ym by ye hand and bid ym welcome". Also, "that the witness heard John Emery and his wife say that he had entertained Quakers and that he would not put them from his house and used argument for the Lawfulness of it". In May 1663 he petitioned the General Court for the remission of his fine. His petition was signed by the Selectmen of the town and fifty of the citizens. The fine was not remitted.

His wife, MARY, died in Newbury in April 1649. He m. (2) there, Oct 29, 1650, Mrs. Mary (Shatswell) Webster, widow of John Webster of Ipswich. He died in Newbury Nov 3, 1683. His wife died Apr 28, 1694. His will dated May 1, 1680, in which he mentions his age as 83 years, was proved Nov 27, 1683. The inventory of his estate taken Nov 13, 1683, amounted to £263, 1s, 5d.

19 - MITCHELL

The identity of MARTHA[4] MITCHELL to parents herein is correct. Previously considered unproven, the proof was found in the "Record of Births, Marriages and Deaths in the Society of Friends at Lincoln, Vermont" as fully detailed in the notes at the end of the records for FAM. 12 - WORTH.

Paul Mitchell lived in Sheviock, Cornwall, England, where one Paul Mitchell m. Oct 29, 1634, Richord Earle. He came to Richmond Island, Maine in 1638 with John Winters, under a three year contract as a fisherman, and returned to England in 1641. On Apr 6, 1643 he entered into an agreement with Trelawney and Winters whereby he, a sailor, was to depart from England with Winters for Newfoundland in the "Hercules" on a fishing voyage and, at the end of the voyage, to accompany him to New England and to faithfully serve them there as a midshipman, and in planting, and in furthering the fishing and plantation there, and to serve them for two years after arrival in New England. (A copy of this agreement is in the Documentary History of Maine, Vol. 3, p.342.)

At the completion of his service he settled at Saco, Maine and continued as a fisherman. He and three others drowned in a fishing disaster in 1654. There is no record of his wife in New England. It is said that "three sons came over" and they have been identified, BUT NOT PROVEN, to be William, who settled at Amesbury, Mass., Capt. John of Smutty Nose, Isles of Shoals, and CHRISTOPHER, below. A Paul Mitchell, a fisherman of Crafthold, England, died at William Couser's house in Boston Nov 18, 1653 (NEHGR, Vol. 10, p.72). This was probably a different person.

CHRISTOPHER[1] MITCHELL, who may have been the son of Paul, above, was b. in England not later than 1639. He is first of record in New England in a court record dated May 21, 1660. He m., before 1665, SARAH ANDREWS, b. ± 1641, the dau of JOHN[1] and JOANNE ( ) ANDREWS of Kittery Maine (See Fam. 20 - ANDREWS). Their home was at the head of Braveboat Harbor in Kittery, Maine according to a deed dated Apr 22, 1665. In Aug 1674 the town of Kittery laid out to him 30 acres of land adjoining to his house at Braveboat Harbor. He was a fisherman and a farmer. In 1672 he was a petitioner for the appointment of a minister, also an appraiser of estates. In 1675 he was adm. of the estate of his brother-in-law, John Searle. He served on grand jury in 1678.

He died in April 1688. His widow was appointed adm. of his estate of which the inventory taken Mar 13, 1688/9 totalled £40, 6s. He had suffered from wounds or injuries received during the Indian wars 12 years previously, was probably only ± 50 years old, and left a young family.

His widow had a public house license in 1709, and in a deposition in 1731 gave her age as 88. She died in Nov 1732. Her son, CHRISTOPHER, was appointed administrator.

Their children, all named in the distribution after her death, all b. in Kittery, their sequence of birth unknown:

i. John , b. ---- ; m. ---- ; d. ± 1733
ii. William , b. ---- ; m. (1), bef. 1702, Honor ----; (2) bef. Aug 22, 1715, Elizabeth Tinney, dau of John of Kittery. William was killed by Indians Apr 18, 1724
iii. CHRISTOPHER, b. ---- ; SEE RECORD BELOW
iv. Joanna , b. ---- ; m. Joseph Flood
v. Sarah , b. ---- ; m. ---- Pierce vi. Samuel , b. ---- ; m. Rachel ---- vii. Robert , b. ---- ; m. Sarah Deering, dau of Roger and Mary viii. Richard , b. ---- ; m. Sarah Couch, dau Joseph and Joanna ix. Joseph , b. ---- ; m. Joanna Couch, " " " "

x. Elizabeth, b. ---- ; m. (1) John Tinney, Jr.; (2) Samuel Johnson.

CHRISTOPHER[2] MITCHELL (Christopher[1]) was b. in Kittery, Me. He m. (1) Mary Brackett, dau of Thomas Brackett of Casco Bay, Me.; (2) SARAH ----- who survived him. He had several grants of land from the Town of Kittery, all at Braveboat Harbor: 20 acres in 1694; 10 acres in 1697; 30 acres in 1699; 28 acres in 1701; 50 acres in 1703. In 1703 he was called a shipwright, but later he was mentioned as a husbandman (farmer) or a yeoman.

His will dated June 28, 1739, signed with his mark, was proved Oct 18, 1743. In it he mentions his wife, SARAH, his son Samuel, and daughters Mary Brown, Joanna Blake, Sarah Partridge, Elizabeth Leach, Miriam Phillips and Susanna Howard. His wife, SARAH, sole executrix (Maine Wills, p. 477-479).

His child by his first wife, Mary, b. in Kittery:

i. Mary , b. ---- ; m. Nov 14, 1711, Charles Brown

His children by his second wife, SARAH, all b. in Kittery:

ii. SAMUEL , b. Jan 22, 1694/5; SEE RECORD BELOW
iii. Joanna , b. Feb 14, 1696/7; m. Mar 25, 1716, Timothy Blake
iv. Sarah , b. Jun 8, 1699; m. Jan 17, 1716/7, Jonathan Partridge
v. Elizabeth, b. Jan 27, 1701/2; m. Dec 23, 1721, Zachariah Leach vi. Benjamin , b. Aug 23, 1704; probably died young vii. Miriam , b. ---- ; m. Jan 1, 1727/8, Andrew Phillips viii. Susanna, b. ---- ; m. int. Dec 7, 1728, Edward Howard

SAMUEL[3] MITCHELL (Christopher[2], Christopher[1]) was b. in Kittery, Me., Jan 22, 1694/5. He m. ELIZABETH ----- . He was a prominent sea captain of Kittery. He died before 1759. The inventory of the estate of "Capt. SAMUEL MITCHELL of Kittery - Mariner" was recorded Apr 9, 1759. It included land in Kittery Commons, 12 acres at Braveboat Harbor, and a grant from the Town of Kittery of 30 acres in the town.

Seven children of Capt. SAMUEL and ELIZABETH MITCHELL were recorded in Kittery. Two others, Numbers vi and viii below, are listed in the family with a (?) by Stackpole in his "Old Kittery and her Families". Presumably their baptism records did not show the identity of their parents. **

Their children, all b. in Kittery:

i. Samuel , b. Aug 9, 1730; m. (1) int. Aug 31, 1751, Susanna Phillips; m. (2) Nov 8, 1761, Joanna Follet
ii. John , b. Sep 16, 1731
iii. Susanna , b. Apr 30, 1733; m. int. Nov 1, 1750, Wm. Keating
iv. Margaret, b. Jul 13, 1736;
v. Elizabeth, b. Oct 18, 1737; m. May 13, 1756, Daniel Paine
vi. Joanna (?), bpt May 8, 1743 (Not proven)
vii. Katherine, bpt Aug 16, 1743 viii. MARTHA , bpt May 12, 1745  ; SEE RECORD BELOW
ix. Josiah , bpt July 14, 1745

MARTHA[4] MITCHELL (Samuel[3], Christopher[2], Christopher[1]) was b. in Kittery July 9, 1739 per Worth family records, bpt May 12, 1745 in Kittery. the dau of SAMUEL[3] and ELIZABETH ( ) MITCHELL, above. She m. before 1762, LIONEL[4] WORTH (See Fam. 12 - WORTH).

 The identity of her parents is now proven.

20 - ANDREWS

JOHN[1] ANDREWS was b. in England ± 1600 and m. there, JOANNE ---- who was b. ± 1621. They are said to have came to New England as early as 1636 and settled, as a planter, on the Piscataqua River. At the first General Court held at Saco, Maine, on June 25, 1640, he was one of the inhabitants of "Pascattaway" who made default by not appearing at the court. He sold his land there in 1648 and became the first settler at the head of Braveboat Harbor. At a court held at Georgeana (now York, Me.) "It is Ordered this court; that ther shall be ahieway cut from the head of Rogers Cove unto the head of Bray bote harber & so to the little marsh ner unto Capt Champanownes howse & so to Mr.William Hiltons the inhabitants of Georgeana ; to cut; Unto a cove neare unto John Andrews ....". This was the first highway in Kittery, a bridle path as there were no carriages.

He received land grants at Braveboat Harbor in Kittery in 1652 and 1653. On Nov 16, 1652, at Kittery, with others, he took an oath of allegiance to the govt. of Massachusetts which had been given jurisdiction. In a deposition dated Apr 24, 1654 he gave his zge as 54 years.

He paid many fines for his strong willed wife, JOANNE, and was himself in court for threatening to beat Gov. Godfrey and Mr. Withers. In court at Wells, Me., on Oct 27, 1668 he was the defendant in a suit brought for a debt due from his wife, in writing, totalling £4, 3s. The court found in his favor. He served on jury in 1651 and 1663-64.

He died in 1671 and his widow was appointed admx. of his estate July 4, 1671. Within a few months she married Philip Atwell. She was still living in 1688.

Their children, all prob. b. in Maine, their sequence of birth unknown:

SECTION VI. SUB-SECTION A

This sub-section covers the lineal descent of the CHASE family from the immigrant, WILLIAM[1] CHASE, to LOIS ROSETTE[9] CHASE who married ROBERT WORTH[6] KNIGHT (No. 51 in Section I).

21 - CHASE

The English locale from which the Chase family emigrated to America is not known. It is said that the ancestral seat of the American branch of the family was at Hundrick-Chesham, in Buckinghamshire, through which flows the River Chess. C. E. Banks, in his "Topographical Dictionary of 2885 English Emigrants to New England" says that they came from the parish of Wivenhoe in Essex.

WILLIAM[1] CHASE was b. in England, prob. ± 1600, and m. there, prob. before 1625, MARY ---- , and had a son b. there as early as 1627 or before. He was a Puritan and came to America in the group with John Winthrop in the Winthrop fleet in 1630, with his wife MARY and son WILLIAM. He settled in Roxbury, Mass. where he was one of the founders of the First Church of Roxbury in 1632 with the Rev. John Eliot as pastor.

On Oct. 19, 1630 he was among those "who desire to be made freeman", took the oath, and took a new freeman's oath on May 14, 1634.

Their first years were trying years as are attested by the records of the First Church of Roxbury kept by the Rev. John Eliot:

"William Chase, he came wth the first company, 1630; he brought one child his son william a child of ill qualitys, & a sore affliction to his parents: he was much afflicted by the long & tedious affliction of his wife; after his wives recovery she bare him a daughter, w^{ch} they named mary borne aboute the midle of the 3^{d} month (May) 1637. he did after y^{t} remove intending to Situate, but after went wth a company who maide a new plantation at yarmouth." and

"Mary Chase, the wife of William Chase. she had a paralitik humor w^{ch} fell into her back bone, so y^{t} she could not stir her body, but as she was lifted, and filled her wth great torture, & caused her back bone to goe out of joynt, & bunch out from the begining to the end of w^{ch} infirmity she lay 4 years & a halfe, & a great pt of the time a sad spectakle of misery: But it pleased God to raise her againe, & she bore children after it."

In 1638 he removed to Scituate but soon joined a company which made a new settlement on Cape Cod, in Plymouth Colony, where, on March 5, 1638/9, he was appointed constable for the town of Yarmouth by the Plymouth Colony General Court.

On Sept 1, 1640 he was before the Court and was censured for his "miscarriages" against Mr. Mathewes and disturbance of the proceedings of the church, Court, and country, and he gave the General Court a bond of £20 for his appearance at the next Court held March 2, 1640/1. In 1641 he was again in Court on account of a disagreement with Nicholas Sympkins concerning a fence.

He was a carpenter by trade and he made an agreement in 1639 to build a house for Dr. Thomas Starr. On June 8, 1642 he mortgaged to Stephen Hopkins, as security for a debt of £5, "his house and lands lying at Yarmouth containing Eight acrees of upland and six acres more lying at the Stony cove with all & singular the appr^{t}ences thereunto belonging."

In August 1643 he and his son, William Chase, Jr., were among the Yarmouth men "able to bear arms from sixteen to 60 Yeares."

On March 7, 1647/8 the Plymouth Colony authorized Capt. Myles Standish to go to Yarmouth to put an end to the differences in that town, and Capt. Standish went there and settled the troubles on May 13, 1648. Three of the differences involved land disputes between William Chase and others which were generally settled in favor of the other parties.

At a General Court held at Plymouth June 6, 1654, the "Grand Enquest" presented "William Chase, Sen^{r} of Yarmouth for driveing one paire of oxen in the yoke upon the Lords day, in time of exercise (services), about five miles."

He was one of the twenty-two Yarmouth men who took the oath of fidelity in the year 1657 and he was one of the surveyors of highways in Yarmouth on June 3, 1657.

He d. at Yarmouth in May 1659. His will dated May 4, 1659 was proved May 13, 1659. He made bequests to "my son Benjamine ... one heifer Calfe and two steer Calves of a yeare old and upwards", and to "my son William whoe hath had of mee alreddy a good portion, the sume of five shillings ... if hee Demand it." "All the rest of my goods, Cattles and Chattles I give ... unto Mary my wife together with this my Dwelling house the land and all appurtenances thereto" ... etc. with other property to her with the stipulation that "when shee Dies to Dispose a third pte of that estate God shall leave her as shee shall think goode; the other two ptes to our son Benjamines use" ... . He names his wife Mary to be sole executrix.

An inventory of his estate was taken Sept 14, 1659 and included 2 oxen and 19 other cattle of various ages, tools, household goods, clothing, etc. indicating that he was a farmer as well as a carpenter.

His wife, MARY, who was living on the date of his will, May 4, 1659, died on or before Oct 6, 1659 on which date a jury of inquest was held and found "that shee died a naturall death through inward sickness, as is evident to all men naturally." Also, on the same date, a division of the estate of William Chase, deceased, was ordered by the General Court which required Robert Dennis to make division of the estate in accordance with the tenure of the William Chase will, viz.: "to Benjamine Chase, son of the said William Chase, two ptes of three thereof, and the other remaining third pte to William Chase, Junier, the eldest son of the said William Chase, deceased."

Their children:

i. WILLIAM , b. in Eng. 1627 or earlier; SEE RECORD BELOW

ii. Mary , b. ab. May 15, 1637 in Roxbury; bur at Barnstable or Yarmouth, as daughter of "Goodman Chase, ye elder," Oct 28, 1652

WILLIAM^{2} CHASE (William^{1}) was b. in Eng. as early as 1627 or before and came to America with his parents in the Winthrop fleet in 1630, removed with them to Scituate and Yarmouth and m. (1) at Yarmouth, ± 1644, ----; and m. (2) there, ---- . The early records of Yarmouth were lost in a fire. Records of his activities have nearly all been lost, as well as his wives' names and the birth dates of his children.

Rev. John Eliot, in the records of the Roxbury church, stated that he came with his parents in 1630 and was a child of ill qualitys & a sore affliction to his parents.

He lived out his life in Yarmouth. As "William Chase Junr" he was listed in August 1643 among the Yarmouth men between sixteen and sixty years of age who were able to bear arms. He was prob. the William Chase who was in military service from Yarmouth as a "drummer" from Aug 24 to Sept 2, 1645 and received an extra fee of 5 shillings for his services, and was said to have been in Capt. Myles Standish's company "that went to the banks opposite Providence."

The following entry is found in the records of a General Court held at Plymouth on March 6, 1654/5

"William Chase Junr for goeing into the house of Richard Berry, and taking away by violence a p'cell of flax and a smale p'cell of hose yarne, was sentenced to sitt in the stockes an houre on a training day att Yarmouth."

He lived near Herring River, on the east side of Bass River, in Old Yarmouth, in the part which became either Dennis or Harwich. He died at Yarmouth Feb 27, 1684/5. On June 2, 1685 it was ordered by a General Court held at Plymouth "that .... & .... are to setle the estate of William Chase, of Yarmouth, deceased.

THURSTON[8] CHASE (Timothy[7], James[6], James[5], Isaac[4], William[3,2,1]) was b. at Little Compton, R.I. Jan 11, 1788 and removed with his parents to Colrain, Franklin Co., Mass. ± 1793 and to Bristol, Vt. in 1799. He m. at Bristol, Mar 7, 1810, MARIA SCOTT (V.R.) b. there Dec 22, 1789 (V.R.) the dau of AMOS[4] and MIRIAM (EASTMAN) SCOTT (See Fam. 53 - SCOTT).

He was a farmer and lived in Bristol for many years. There are a large number of land records of him, as grantor or grantee, with other members of the Chase family, as well as with others. The more significant of these were: Lands purch. from Sisson Chase Dec 9, 1809 (Bristol land Rec. V.3,p.483) and Mar 2, 1822 (V.5,p.650); purch Aug 20, 1814 from Timothy Chase (V.5,p.657); purch. Nov 21, 1832 from James Chase, desc. by James "willed or bequeathed to me .... by my late father Timothy Chase .... my father's old farm in Bristol." This land was already bounded on east, north and south by Thurston's lands (V.10,p.47); sold July 15, 1841 to Davis Lufkin the next preceding farm "the same I bought of James Chase I now live on."(V.10,p.128). Thus Thurston had been living on Timothy Chase's old farm. This sale was preparatory to Thurston's move from Bristol to Monkton where he was first found of record in 1843.

He was a member of the Society of Friends, is recorded in the "Record of Births, Marriages and Deaths in the Society of Friends at Lincoln, Vermont" (later at Starksborough, Vt.) p.17 showing parents as "TIMOTHY and SARAH", birth date 1-11-1788, and "Removed". He removed from the Starksborough Monthly Meeting of Friends to the Ferrisburgh M.M. Sept 1, 1843 (Ferrisburgh M.M. Book 2nd, p.134).

He removed from Monkton to N. Ferrisburgh, Vt. before 1860 where he d. Jan 11, 1869 and she d. Nov 25, 1875. They are bur. in the SW corner of the N. Ferrisburgh cemetery. His gravestone reads "THURSTON CHASE - Died - 1 mo, 11, 1869, AE 81 yrs." and her's reads "MARIA SCOTT - Wife of - THURSTON CHASE - Died 11 mo, 25, 1875 - AE 86 yrs & 11 Mo."

His will dated Jan 14, 1868, with a codicil dated Feb 18, 1868, was proved Feb 15, 1869 (Addison Co. Probate Docket No. 3319). It reads:

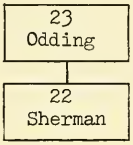
SECTION VI. SUB-SECTION B

This sub-section covers the families descending to HANNAH[2] SHERMAN who married WILLIAM[3] CHASE, and to PHILIPPA[2] SHERMAN who married BENJAMIN[2] CHASE (See Fam. 21 - CHASE).

The descending families:



22 - SHERMAN

The Sherman Arms: "Or, a Lion Rampant sable between three oak leaves, vert." This Coat of Arms was used, with some variations of crest and motto, by various branches of the Sherman family.

The name Sherman is the American spelling of the English name Shearman which had some other spelling variations. It came from the trade or occupation of wool worker or weaver of woolen cloth from which developed the trade or business of "clothier." The Shermans to which the lineage is traced were clothiers in Dedham and Colchester, in county Essex, England. The clothiers were middlemen. They bought the woven cloth from the cottage weavers, dyed it, sorted and graded it, marked it with their trademark, and carted it to the buyers in Colchester. It was a profitable business and they became part of a wealthy merchant class which became powerful in the 1500s. Although they were not of the landed gentry, they could buy, sell, and bequeath to heirs certain lands with houses, etc. much as can be done in America today.

It was natural to wealth that the owners would accumulate real and personal property and create records of many kinds, such as: deeds, court records, records as office holders, parish records, wills, probate records, etc. Persons have spent many years in researching these records and have published their findings, with detailed supporting data which is voluminous and is not repeated here. Persons interested may find it in the following genealogical books, one or more of which are probably available in most genealogical libraries.

1. The Ancestry of John Taylor Sherman and His Descendants, by Frank Dempster Sherman - 1915.
2. Sherman Genealogy, by Thomas Townsend Sherman - 1920.
3. Sherman and Allied Families, by Bertha L. Stratton - 1951.
4. Some of the Descendants of Philip Sherman, The First Secretary of Rhode Island, by Roy V. Sherman - 1968.

This genealogy of the Sherman family starts with Henry Sherman of Dedham and Colchester, county Essex, England. The above books show him as a fourth generation Sherman but it has never been absolutely proven that he was the son of the Thomas Sherman shown as his father. Bertha L. Stratton, author of the third book listed above, in further research, found a new record which substantially proves that Henry Sherman of Dedham and Colchester was not the son of the said Thomas Sherman and that his parentage is unknown. She published a new book in 1954 entitled "New Light on Henry Sherman of Dedham, Essex, England" providing the new information and an excellent analysis of the data. For this reason the first three generations previously published are omitted from this record.

I. HENRY SHERMAN of Dedham, and later of Colchester, in Essex, England was b. ± 1512, place and parentage unknown. The Coat ofArms used by the Dedham Shermans was similar to the Coat of Arms used by the Shermans of Yaxley, in county Suffolk, so he is thought to have been a scion of one of those Shermans. In a deposition taken from him at Dedham, Oct 11, 1574, for the Court, he deposed that he was age 62 or thereabouts and that he had dwelt in Dedham for 40 years. Thus, he was b. elsewhere ± 1512 and settled in Dedham ± 1534. He was a clothier.

He m. (1) prob. at Dedham, ± 1540, AGNES BUTTER, whose parentage is not recorded but was prob. a niece of Thomas Butter, a clothier of Dedham, who mentioned in his will dated Aug 20, 1555, among others, his dau. Agnes Rolffe and "to Henry Sherman's wife a silver pott". Henry Sherman's wife is not called daughter. Thomas Butter named his son William and Henry Sherman to be his executors. Pierce Butter of Colchester, grandson of the said Thomas Butter, in his will dated Aug --, 1599 mentions, among others , his cousin Henry Sherman and appoints "my loving friend Henrye Sherman the Elder" as a co-executor. These wills confirm the identity of AGNES, the wife of HENRY SHERMAN, as a Butter, but not her parentage. She d. at Dedham Oct 14, 1580 and he m. (2) there, June 5, 1581, Marion (Smyth) Wilson, a widow. He m. (3) Margery ---- who survived him.

He presumably lived most of his years in Dedham but he d. in Colchester in 1590. His will dated Jan 20, 1589/90, signed with his mark, was pvd. July 25, 1590. In it he mentioned his wife Margery, his children HENRY, Edmund, Judith and Robert, several grandchildren and others. His dau. Alice Fynce and son John predeceased him. His bequests included the house in which he lived, a copyhold (land) of 15 acres, a substantial amount of money and several personal items.

II. HENRY SHERMAN, eldest son of HENRY and AGNES (BUTTER) SHERMAN, was b. in Dedham ± 1545. He was a clothier in Dedham. He m. in Moze, Essex, June 14, 1568 (Parish Records), SUSAN LAWRENCE. He was the "cousin Henry Sherman" mentioned in the will of Pierce Butter of Colchester, dated Aug --, 1599, also the "Henrye Sherman the Elder" appointed as a co-executor.

They d. in Dedham and were bur. there, he Aug 28, 1610 and she Sept 13, 1610. His will dated Aug 21, 1610 was proved Sept 8, 1610. Her will dated Aug 31, 1610 was proved Sept 12, 1610. In their wills were mentioned their children Phebe, Henry, SAMUEL, Daniel, Nathaniel, John, Ezekiel and Edmund. Children Susan, Ann Wilson, and Mary prob. predeceased them. The bequests included the manor of Dedham Hall of about 20 acres, and other houses and land, also personal items and money.

III. SAMUEL SHERMAN, the third child of HENRY and SUSAN (LAWRENCE) SHERMAN, was bpt. at Dedham Jan 11, 1572/3. He was a clothier in Dedham and also a yeoman (tilled his own land), lived at Dedham and in later years at Ardleigh in Essex. He m. ---- , PHILIPPA ---- , usually thought to be PHILIPPA WARD, the sister of Robert Ward of Colchester.

He d. at Ardleigh in Jan or Feb 1615/16. His will dated Jan 20, 1615/16 was proved Mar 2, 1615/16, was signed by his mark. His wife survived him.

In the will he devised to his wife and children many parcels of land, houses, etc. as well as the usual personal items and money indicating that he was a wealthy man. He gave to his sons PHILIP and Samuel, or the survivor of them, the dwelling house in Dedham including other buildings, garden, etc. Also to PHILIP, five parcels of land lying near the dwelling house.

Their children, b. in Dedham, bapt. there per the Dedham Parish Register:

i. Mary , bpt Oct 2, 1599
ii. Henry , bpt Nov 20, 1601; d. 1651 in Boston, Mass.
iii. Martha, bpt Jan 24, 1603/4;
iv. Sarah , bpt Feb 11, 1605/6; buried Dec 5, 1612
v. Samuel, b. Oct 20, 1601 (?); d. 1643 in Boston, Mass.
vi. PHILIP, bpt Feb 15, 1610/11; SEE RECORD BELOW

PHILIP SHERMAN, the American immigrant, was a distant cousin of JOHN COGGESHALL, the American immigrant of that family, who was a grandson of PIERCE BUTTER noted above (See Fam. 27 - COGGESHALL).

PHILIP[1] SHERMAN was b. in Dedham, Essex, England and was bpt. there Feb 15, 1610/11, the son of SAMUEL and PHILIPPA (WARD) SHERMAN. He emigrated to New England in 1633 and settled in Roxbury, Mass. where he became a member of the First Church. He was admitted freeman there May 14, 1634. He. m. there ± 1634, SARAH ODDING who came to New England with her mother MARGARET ( ) (ODDING) Porter and her step-father John Porter in the group of Puritans who came in Winthrop's fleet in 1630 (See Fam. 23 - ODDING).

In 1635 he returned to England for a short time but was back in Roxbury before Nov 20, 1637 when he and others were warned to give up all arms because "the opinions and revelations of Mr. Wheelwright and Mrs. Hutchinson have seduced and led into dangerous errors many of the people here in New England". They were among those who were banished from Mass. with Mrs. Anne Hutchinson in 1638. The Rev. John Eliot, in his Record of Church Members of the First Church at Roxbury, states:

"Phillip Sherman, he came into the Land in the year 1633, a single man, & after married Sarah Odding, the daughter of the wife of John Porter, by a former husband. this man was of a melancholy temp. he lived honestly & comfortably among us severall years. upon a just calling went for England, & returned againe wth a blessing: But after his fath^{r} in Law John Porter was so caryed away wth those opinions of familisme, & sciзme, he followed them and removed wth them to the Iland, he behaved himselfe sinfully in those matters and was cast out of the church."

They went to the island of Aquidneck which was to become part of Rhode Island where, on March 7, 1638, at the place called Pocasset and later to be named Portsmouth, he with 18 others signed a Compact to incorporate into a "Body Politick". On May 13, 1638 he was present at a General Meeting held there. On the advice of Roger Williams, the group purchased the Island of Aquidneck from the Indians and obtained title from the Indian sachems on July 1, 1639. At a meeting held July 1, 1639 the town was named Portsmouth, a regular government was established and he was chosen Secretary.

At a meeting of the General Court in Newport on March 1, 1640 he was one of seven men from Portsmouth who were chosen to help the Judge, to lay out land, and to take part in a lower court.

He was made freeman March 16, 1641; General Recorder of the Colony 1648-1651; chosen Town clerk June 2, 1649 which position he seemingly held since Dec 23, 1644 on which date his handwriting first appears, and chosen every following year to 1656. On May 16, 1651 it was ordered that he shall have £5 for five years service of his clerkship, also ordered that 15 s. is due him from the town for writing out the General Court orders for the town.

He was a Deputy 1665-1667. On April 4, 1676 he was one of the 16 men chosen by the General Assembly to attend their next meeting to furnish advice and concurrence during the then troublesome times (King Philip's War). He was Town Magistrate in June 1656; member of the town council 1656-1673 ; tax assessor Apr 23, 1679; chosen to lay out a highway Apr 4, 1683; member of the Committee of Adjudication Oct 12, 1684, also on Apr 1, 1685 and Apr 9, 1686. Thus he was active in town and government affairs until in his late years.

The early records of Portsmouth, prepared by him, showed him to be a neat and expert penman as well as an educated man. He signed his name "Philip Shearman". He left the Congregational Church and joined the Society of Friends. (See additional information in the note below.)

He d. at Portsmouth in March 1686/7. His will dated July 31, 1681 was proved March 22, 1686/7. His wife, SARAH, was living when his will was written. His bequests to his wife and children included the farm upon which he dwelled, of unspecified acreage, in Portsmouth; 30 acres at a place called Briggs swamp in Portsmouth; unspecified acreage in Westerly, R.I. and in Dartmouth Township, Plymouth Colony; a large stock of farm animals including horses, oxen and other cattle, sheep and swine; his other personal goods. He gave to dau. HANNAH five ewe sheep and £5 in New Eng. silver money and to dau. PHILIPPA ten ewe sheep.

Their children, the first two b. in Roxbury and the others in Portsmouth:

i. Eber , b. Dec 1634; m. Mary Wilcox, dau of Edward Wilcox.
He d. in 1706 in N. Kingstown, R.I.

ii. Sarah , b. Oct 1636; m. Thomas Mumford of Kingstown, R.I.

iii. Peleg , b. May 1638; m. Jul 25, 1657, Elizabeth Lawton.

MARGARET[1] ( ) ODDING was b. in England, parentage and place of birth unknown. She m. in England ---- ODDING who d. there. She m. (2)there John Porter. They were Puritans and came to America in the group with John Winthrop in the Winthrop fleet in 1630, being listed as John Porter, his wife Margaret and four children, and shown as being from, perhaps, Bromfield in Essex.

They settled at Roxbury, Mass. and are listed in the Rev. John Eliot's Record of Members of the First Church there. He was admitted freeman there Nov 5, 1633. They removed to Boston and became followers of Mrs. Anne Hutchinson. On Nov 20, 1637 he was one of the several of her followers who were disarmed and they were among those who were banished from Mass. with her in the spring of 1638 to be among the first settlers of Rhode Island.

They went to the island called Aquidneck which would later become part of Rhode Island, and settled at a place that would become Portsmouth. On March 7, 1638, there, he and 18 others signed a Compact to incorporate into a "Body Politick". On March 13, 1638 he was summoned by Mass. to appear at the next court but he did not appear as he had already left the Colony. On June 2, 1639 he and three others were ordered to survey all lands at Portsmouth, and he was an Assistant there 1640-44, 1650, 1664, and was a Commissioner 1658-61.

On Jan 20, 1657 he and others bought of Indian sachems a large tract called the Pettaquomscott Purchase.

In 1665 they were living in Kingstown, R.I. where, May 3, 1665, MARGARET petitioned the Assembly complaining that her husband did not give her suitable care, that he had left her and that she was near dependence on her children for support ..... . The Court ordered that all of his real and personal estate be secured until he has made a complete settlement. This was done and on June 27, 1665 he was released from the restraint by the Court. This is the last record found of MARGARET.

Her children, the only ones noted and identified, both b. in Eng.:

By her first husband ---- ODDING:

i. SARAH , b. ---- ; SEE RECORD BELOW

By her second husband, John Porter:

ii. Hannah, b. ---- ; d. Apr 6, 1722; m. prob at Portsmouth, Samuel Wilbor, son of Samuel Wilbor of Boston.

SARAH[2] ODDING (Margaret[1]) was b. in England, date and place unknown. She came to America with her mother and step-father, John Porter, in Winthrop's fleet in 1630. She is listed in Rev. John Eliot's Record of Church Members of the First Church in Roxbury in which he states:

"Sarah Odding. she was daughter in law (step-daughter) to John Porter & came wth her parents & was after married to Philip Sharman of this Church."

She m. ± 1634, in Roxbury, Mass., PHILIP[1] SHERMAN (See Fam. 22 - SHERMAN)

SECTION VI. SUB-SECTION C

This sub-section covers the family descending to ELIZABETH[2] BLETHEN who married ISAAC[4] CHASE. (See Fam. 21 - CHASE).

The family:

Records of Salem, Mass. show names John Blethen and John Blevin. Sidney Perley in his History of Salem, Mass. shows that they are one and the same person. The name appears as "Blethen" in Vital Records but most of the biographical information is of "John Blevin".

JOHN[1] BLETHEN was prob. b. in England. The time and place of his arrival in America is unknown. He is of record as having came from Lynn, Mass. to Salem, Mass. in 1659 but no record of him was found in Lynn. He was a husbandman (farmer). He m. at Salem May 10, 1674, JANE LEMARCOM (Salem V.R.) who was known as JANE MARKES "a Jarsey maid". No record of her parents was found in Salem. She came from Jersey Island, a British island lying near the coast of France. She anglicized her French style name of "Lemarcom" to Markes.

He was prob. a Quaker. On June 26, 1666 he was in court at Salem, was ordered to pay a fine for absence from public worship. He refused and was ordered to be whipped. On Nov 24, 1668 he was in court in Salem for profaning the Sabbath by working upon his land, also for absence from public worship. He was fined or ordered to suffer one month imprisonment. He was committed to prison. On Nov 30, 1669 he was again in court for absence from public worship. He was fined 20 s. or prison. He did not pay.

In a town meeting Nov 23, 1670 he was given liberty to fall four or six trees for building. On Mar 4, 1677/8 he took a required oath of allegiance. On March 18, 1679/80 he was chosen as one of the overseers of highways for that year. On March 27, 1682 he was one of the men chosen as surveyors of fences.

At a town meeting Jan 26, 1679/80 he was given consent to purchase, for £45, from the Thomas Oliver estate, a ten acre lot fronting on the North River. He still owned it when he died, then valued at £55. He owned another lot on the Williston River extending back nearly to Great Cove. On March 8, 1704/5 John Foster and Joseph Boyce, both of Salem, deposed that they had known this lot for forty years and during all that time it was owned by John Blevin, Sr. of Salem.

He d. at Salem in the winter of 1704/5. She survived him.

Their children, all b. in Salem, Mass.:

i. John , b. Mar 14, 1676/7; m. July 29, 1701, Mary (----), widow of Samuel Robinson. He was a farmer. They were living in Swansea, Mass. before 1716.

ii. Jane , b. Feb 20, 1678; living in 1705

iii. ELIZABETH, b. Aug 29, 1680; SEE RECORD BELOW

iv. Sarah , b. Oct 31, 1684; living in 1705
v. Abigail, b. May 2, 1686;
vi. Hannah , b. ---- ; living in 1705

ELIZABETH[2] BLETHEN (John[1]) was b. in Salem, Mass., Aug 29, 1680. She m. there Feb 10, 1704/5, ISAAC[4] CHASE of Swansea, Mass. (Salem V.R.) (See Fam. 21 - CHASE).

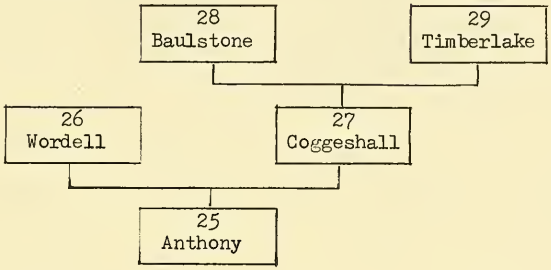
SECTION VI. SUB-SECTION D

This sub-section covers the families descending to ALICE[4] ANTHONY who married JAMES[5] CHASE. (See Fam. 21 - CHASE).

The descending families:



25 - ANTHONY

JOHN ANTHONY, the American immigrant, has long been identified as the son of Dr. John Anthony and grandson of Dr. Francis Anthony, London physicians of some repute. No proof of this identity was found. Dr. John Anthony is said to have had sons Samuel and John and daughters Mary, Elizabeth and Rebecca.

Dr. Francis Anthony died May 26, 1623 and was buried in the aisle of the Church of St. Bartholomew the Great in West Smithfield, London.

Dr. John Anthony of the parish of St. Bartholomew the Great died April 28, 1655 and left a will dated April 21, 1655 in which he mentioned his wife Sarah, son Samuel, and daughters Mary, Elizabeth and Rebecca. There is no mention of a son John (Genealogical Gleanings in England, by Henry F. Waters, page 1759). Several other wills of the contemporary Anthonys were noted with no possible identity for John, the immigrant.

Dr. John Anthony, before his death, provided that a memorial to his father, Dr. Francis Anthony, be placed in the Church of St. Bartholomew the Great. The memorial remains and was seen there in 1977. The ending lines of the memorial read:

"His loving sonne John Anthony doctor of physick left this remembrance of his sorrow. He dyed ye 28th April 1655 being aged 70 year and was buried near this place and left behind him 1 sonne and 3 daughters." (From the book "The Records of St. Bartholomew's Priory and of the Church and Parish of St. Bartholomew the Great, West Smithfield", page 460.) This confirms that Dr. John had only one son who, according to the will, was named Samuel.

JOHN ANTHONY, the immigrant, came on the ship "Hercules" to tend the cattle. This also may indicate that he did not come from a family in the social order of the time as that of the London doctors, their families and their recorded ancestry, and descent from them is not claimed.

JOHN[1] ANTHONY, the immigrant, was b. ± 1607 and came to New England from Hampstead, in Middlesex, near London. He was prob. one of those who, in Feb. 1633/4 at London, boarded the ship "Mary and John" which was delayed in the Thames until further orders. He was one of those who, on March 24, 1633/4, took the Oath of Supremancy and Allegiance to sail on the Mary and John but was left behind to sail the same day on the Hercules, John Kiddey master, as one of the six men on the Hercules to tend the cattle. It appears that the passengers on the Mary and John shipped their livestock on the Hercules. The Hercules stopped at Southampton, added six men as passengers, and sailed from there April 16, 1634.

The first record found of JOHN ANTHONY in America was on Sept 14, 1640 when he was admitted freeman at Portsmouth, Rhode Island. He m., place and date unknown, SUSANNA POTTER, the sister of Robert Potter with whom she probably came to America in 1630.

Robert Potter is said to have came from Coventry, Eng. in 1630 with his wife, Isabel, and prob. his sister, SUSANNA, to settle at Lynn, Mass. He was admitted freeman Sept 3, 1634, is recorded the same year in Roxbury, Mass. and is listed with Isabel, his wife, as a member of the First Church there. In 1638 he was either banished from, or chose to leave, Mass. in sympathy with those who had gone to Rhode Island with Mrs. Hutchinson and is recorded as an inhabitant at Portsmouth in 1638 and at Warwick in 1643. He died before May 14, 1656 when his inventory was taken. That SUSANNA POTTER was his sister is established by the following:

In 1642 he sold his house and land in Portsmouth to his brother-in-law JOHN ANTHONY.

On Feb 6, 1660, at a hearing in court to settle his estate, his son, John, testified that his father, Robert Potter, sold a certain house in Portsmouth "to my uncle John Anthony".

There is no record of banishment of JOHN ANTHONY from Mass. When and where he m. SUSANNA and whether they accompanied or followed Robert Potter to R.I. is not known. They lived throughout their lives in Portsmouth.

He was an inn keeper, as well as other occupations. He was a corporal in the military company. On Nov 14, 1644 he received a land grant at the "Wading River". On May 25, 1655 he was given authority by the court of commissioners to keep a house of entertainment. He later rose to prominence in the affairs of the community and was appointed Commissioner in 1661 and from 1666 to 1672 he was a Deputy to the General Court.

On Dec 29, 1662 he had a confirmation by the Commissioners of a house and land that he had bought 20 years before of Robert Potter, deceased. Testimony had before this been given by John Potter, son of Robert Potter, that, in his conscience, he did believe his father sold said house to my uncle John Anthony, and he engaged that when he, John Potter, came to full age of 21, he would confirm the sale.

He d. at Portsmouth July 28, 1675, aged 68 years. His wife d. earlier in the same year. His will dated July 23, 1675 was proved Aug 21, 1675. To son John all housing and land in Portsmouth, also my loom or looms. To dau. Susanna Tripp, 15 sheep and a cow. To dau. Elizabeth Greene, 15 sheep and a cow. To all of my children, viz. John, Joseph, ABRAHAM, Susanna and Elizabeth, rest of estate, equally.

Their children, all b. in Portsmouth:

i. John , b. ± 1642; d. Oct 20, 1715; m. (1) Nov 23, 1669, Frances Wordell (See Fam. 26 - WORDELL). m. (2) Jan 3, 1694, Susanna Albro.

ii. Susanna , b. ± 1644; d. after 1716; m. Sept 7, 1665, John Tripp, son of John and Mary (Paine) Tripp iv. Joseph , b. ± 1648; d. 1728; m. Apr 5, 1676, Mary Wait, dau of Thomas Wait.

v. ABRAHAM , b. ± 1650; SEE RECORD BELOW

Note: JOHN[1] ANTHONY, in Oct. 1642, sold three parcels of land in Newport, R.I. east from the Newport mill, within a tract called the great enclosure, amounting to 50 acres, "40 acres given to me by a town grant, 10 as a servant on my first coming"; also two parcels of marsh. This may indicate that he had lived in Newport before settling in Portsmouth in 1640.

ABRAHAM[2] ANTHONY (John[1]) was b. in Portsmouth ± 1650. He m. there Dec 26, 1671, ALICE WORDELL, b. there Feb 10, 1650, the dau of WILLIAM[1] and MARY ( ) WORDELL (See Fam. 26 - WORDELL).

He was adm. freeman Apr 30, 1672. He was a prominent figure in the life of early Portsmouth. He was a member of the House of Deputies 1703-05 and 1707-11, being Speaker of the House in 1709-10. On Jan 4, 1704 he and three others were given authority to see that the laws of the Colony were printed.

In 1703 he was the adm. of the estate of his eldest son, John Anthony, mariner, late master of Her Majesty's ship Gosport.

He d. at Portsmouth Oct 10, 1727 and she d. there in 1734, aged 84, at the home of her son WILLIAM who was bequeathed the homestead farm. His will dated June 25, 1727 was proved Oct 19, 1727. In it he mentioned his wife ALICE; sons Isaac, Jacob and WILLIAM; daus. Susannah Hicks and Amy Allen; several grandchildren including a son of his son John, deceased, and four sons of his dau. Mary Sherman, deceased. Altogether, he bequeathed £630 in money; the homestead farm to son WILLIAM; some other land; farm animals including horses, cattle, sheep and swine; household goods; pewter; carpentry tools; etc. indicating that he was well-to-do for the times.

Their children, all b. in Portsmouth:

i. John , b. Nov 17, 1672; d. 1703, prob. at sea, m. ---- ii. Susanna) twins, b. Aug 29, 1674; d. Oct 11, 1674

26 - WORDELL

The spelling of this name is found variously as Wardell, Wardwell, Werdall, Wodell, Woodell, etc.

WILLIAM WORDELL, the immigrant ancestor, was first found of record in America on January 12, 1643 when he was one of the purchasers of the tract which was to be called Warwick, Rhode Island.

He is not to be confused with another man with the same or similar name, usually spelled Wardell, who was in Boston as early as1634, was banished from Mass. in 1638, went with Rev. John Wheelwright to Exeter and then to Wells, Maine, accepted back in Boston before 1644 and died there in 1670. The many records of William Wardell in Boston, including Vital Records, pertain to him and his family, except for the trial in 1643. This man was never on record in Rhode Island.

WILLIAM[1] WORDELL was b. in England, place and date unknown, and came to New England where he is first of record on Jan 12, 1643 when he and ten others bought of Miantonomi for 144 fathoms of wampum a tract of land called Shawomet which was to become the town of Warwick, R.I.

He m. MARY ---- , place and date unknown. She may have came with him from England.

On Sept 12, 1643 he, with others of Warwick, was notified to appear at General Court at Boston to hear the complaints of two Indian sachems, Pomham and Soconocco, as to "some unjust and injurious dealing toward them by yourselves". The Warwick men declined to obey the summons, declaring that they were legal subjects of the King of England, and beyond the limits of Mass. territory to whom they would acknowledge no subjection. Soldiers were soon sent who besieged the settlers in a fortified house. In a parley it was now said "that they held blasphemous errors which they must repent of" or go to Boston for trial.

Oct 5, 1643. He had a grant of ten acres at Portsmouth.

Nov 3, 1643. Having been brought before the Court at Boston charged with heresy and sedition, they were sentenced to be confined during the pleasure of the Court and should they break jail or preach their heresies or speak against church or state, on conviction they should die. He was sent to Watertown but not to prison and remained at large there till the following March when he was banished both from Mass. and Warwick. He thereupon returned to Portsmouth where he had received the grant of land and settled there. Most of his companions in the trial suffered close imprisonment for several months.

He was adm. freeman at Portsmouth in 1655, was a Commissioner 1656-63, and a Deputy in 1664-67, 69-70, 72-75, 80-84 and 86.

Apr 4, 1676. It was voted "that in these troublesome times and straits in this Colony (King Philip's War) this Assembly desiring to have the advice and concurrence of the most judicious inhabitants if it may be had for the good of the whole, do desire at their next sitting the company and counsel of ..... " .... Mr. William Wodell and fifteen others were named.

Unusual situations developed after King Philip's War. On Jan. 9, 1677/8 WILLIAM WORDELL bought for £4, 10s, from Adam Right, an Indian woman named Hanah, captured during the war and condemned by the authorities of Plymouth Colony to perpetual servitude and slavery.

He also, on Apr. 27, 1678, took as apprentices three persons who were to serve him, his heirs and assigns, for the terms of their apprenticeships at the end of which they were to be given their freedom:

A 14 year old Indian boy named Peter, apprenticed for 10 years.
An Indian woman called Meequapew, apprenticed until June 24, 1681.
A 6 year old Indian girl, dau. of Meequapew, apprenticed for 15 years.
On May 5, 1680, He was appointed on a Committee to put the laws and acts of the Colony into such a method that they may be put in print. He was chosen as Assistant in 1684 but positively refused to engage.
His wife MARY died at Portsmouth March 23, 1676. He died at Tiverton, R.I. (then in Mass.) in 1693. His will dated Sept 8, 1692 was proved May 2, 1693. He mentions his daughters Mary Grinnell and ALICE ANTHONY, the only children who survived him, and many grandchildren. He left a moderate estate. The land where the house stands. Inventory £324, 17s.
Their children, b. place unknown for first two, others Portsmouth:

i. Mary , b. Nov. 1640; living in 1693; m. Daniel Grinnell, son of Matthew and Rose Grinnell.
ii. Gershom, b. July 14, 1642; d. bef. 1683; m. Mary Tripp, dau. of John and Mary (Paine) Tripp. She rem. Mar 5, 1683.
iii. Sarah , b. Oct. 1644; d. Dec 15, 1680; m. Oct. 1662, Samuel Sanford, son of John and Elizabeth (Webb) Sanford.
iv. ALICE , b. Feb 10, 1650: SEE RECORD BELOW
v. Frances, b. July 6, 1652; d. Oct 12, 1692; m. Nov 23, 1669, John Anthony, son of John and Susanna (Potter) Anthony (See Fam. 25 - ANTHONY).

ALICE[2] WORDELL (William[1]) was b. in Portsmouth, R.I. Feb 10, 1650 and m. there Dec 26, 1671, ABRAHAM[2] ANTHONY, the son of JOHN[1] and SUSANNA (POTTER) ANTHONY. (See Fam. 25 - ANTHONY).

27 - COGGESHALL

The English ancestry of the American COGGESHALLs has been the subject of extensive research and much is known. It includes the GURDON and BUTTER ancestral lines and they are included in this record.

The GURDON ancestry:

A member of this family came over into England from Gourdon, near Cahors on the border of Perigord in Normandy, with William the Conqueror in 1066 A.D. The name may still be found on the roll of Battle Abbey. A descendant, Sir Adam de Gurdon, was bailiff of Alton in the time of Henry III but was considered to be a member of the Simon de Montfort faction and, after the battle of Evesham, he carried on a guerilla warfare in which he was vanquished in single combat by Edward I. He was outlawed for rebellion and treason. On the accession of Edward I he was restored in quality and made, in 1272, Warden of Wolmer Forest. The Gurdon's of Dedham in co. Essex have been traced to Sir Adam.

1. JOHN GURDON of Dedham was prob. the son of Robert and Alice Gurdon. He m. JOAN ---- . His name appears in the court roll as early as Nov. 8, 1407. He d. perhaps soon after 1451-2. Their son:

2. JOHN GURDON of Dedham, called John the elder in 1480, m. (1) MARGARET ---- , who d. after 1472, and (2) Matilda ---- , who survived him. He d., an old man, after Aug 13, 1487, the date of his will, and before Jan 14, 1487/8, the date it was proved. His bequests included houses and several parcels of land, and "all maner of things pertaining to ye arts both of a weaver & fuller". His son, by his first wife:

3. JOHN GURDON of Dedham, clothier, m. JOAN ---- . He d. in 1504. His will dated Apr 3, 1504 was proved May 21, 1504. Her will was dated Dec 28, 1512. He left a large estate in money; houses and land in Dedham, Ardleigh and Langham; personal valuables. They had four children, of whom only two, JOHN and Christina, both under 20 years old, were living in 1504. Their son, an executor of both of their wills, was:

4. JOHN GURDON of Dedham in Essex, and of Little Waldingfield and Great Waldingfield in Suffolk, was b. ± 1485. He m. (1) before Dec 19, 1505, ANNE COLEMAN, dau of JOHN COLEMAN of Little Waldingfield, and (2) before 1537/8, Alice ---- . He was called "gentleman" from which it is presumed that he was a wealthy landowner. He d. shortly before Apr 27, 1556. Only an undated fragment of his will is known. Among those mentioned is his son-in-law WILLIAM BUTTER. He had several children, prob. all by his first wife ANNE. Their son Robert, with whom he purchased the Manor of Assington in Suffolk, was the great-grandfather of Muriel Gurdon who m. in London, July 4, 1633, Richard Saltonstall with whom she came to New England in 1635 and settled in Ipswich, Mass.

5. ANNE GURDON, dau of JOHN and ANNE (COLEMAN) GURDON, m. as his first wife, WILLIAM BUTTER of Dedham, clothier. She was bur. at Dedham Aug 22, 1563. See the BUTTER ANCESTRY that follows.

The preceding is condensed from 53 pages of research data, including copies of wills and other documents, supporting the GURDON ancestry, in NEHGR, Vols. 92, 93, 94 and 95, compiled by the Committee on English and Foreign Research and contributed by G. Andrews Moriarty, A.M., LL.B., F.S.A., of Wells, Maine. Also from "Ancestry and Descendants of Sir Richard Saltonstall" by Leverett Saltonstall -1897.

The BUTTER ancestry:

1. THOMAS BUTTER of Dedham, co. Essex, clothier, was b. ± 1500. He apparently m. (1) ---- , and (2) Marion ---- who survived him. For a description of "clothier" see Fam. 22 - SHERMAN.

He first appears at Dedham as a juror at a manor court held on the Monday after St. Martin the Bishop in 1529, and on the Monday in the Feast of St. Edmund, King and Martyr, in 1531. On July 16, 1537, at the manor court of Over and Nether Hall in Dedham, he is called a native. He was often a juror in the manor courts at Dedham, and the court rolls show that he came to possess a good estate in copy lands.

He d. between Aug 20 and Oct 15, 1555. In his will dated Aug 20, 1555 he left a large estate in lands and houses and in personal property, indicating that he was a man of wealth. In addition to his wife and many children, he gave to "Harry (Henry) Sherman's wife a silver pot". He named as executors: Henry Sherman and his eldest son WILLIAM BUTTER. Henry Sherman's wife was AGNES BUTTER, presumed to be a niece of THOMAS.

He had 13 children, the last five probably by his second wife. His eldest son, by his first wife:

2. WILLIAM BUTTER of Dedham, clothier, was b. there ± 1521. He m. (1) ANNE GURDON, dau of JOHN and ANNE (COLEMAN) GURDON of Dedham (See the GURDON ancestry on preceding page). She was bur. there Aug 22, 1563 and he m. (2) Mrs. Marion Willes, a widow, who survived him.

He was juror at the manor court Oct 7, 1555 and at many later manor courts, and was elected constable at a court held Nov 9, 1559.

He was bur. at Dedham Nov 8, 1594. His will dated May 10, 1593 was proved Nov 19, 1594. Like his father, he left a large estate in lands and houses in Dedham, Langham and Ardleigh, and in personal property, indicating that he, too, was a man of wealth. He had five children by his first wife, one by his second wife, His eldest son:

3. PIERCE BUTTER of Dedham and Colchester, co. Essex, was b. ± 1550. He was m. three times. He m. (2) after Apr 1576, ---- , and (3) about Nov 19, 1591, Thomasine ---- , a widow. He was a clothier.

He first appears on the manor court roll on Mar 30 1573, and was often a juror in manor court, his last appearance as juror being June 6, 1599. In his later years he lived in Colchester, in the parish of St. James.

He d. between Aug 27 and Oct 3, 1599. His will dated -- Aug 1599 was proved Nov 26, 1600 and shows that he, too, was a wealthy man. It includes lands and houses in Dedham, Ardleigh, Langham, Thorrington, and Okeley, and much valuable personal property. He mentions all of his seven children, also "my cousin Harry (Henry) Sherman". Executors: "my loving friend, Henrye Sherman the Elder and (son) William Butter .

His fourth child, by his second wife:

4. ANNE BUTTER was prob. b. in Dedham ± 1583. She m. ± 1600, JOHN COGGESHALL the Younger of Halstead, co. Essex, son of JOHN and KATHERINE (----) COGGESHALL. She d. at Castle Hedingham, co. Essex, between Apr 16, 1645, the date of her will, and Nov 10, 1648, the date it was pvd. She gave to "her son John Coggeshall, now dwelling in New England, my house and lands at Sibble Hedingham". (See the COGGESHALL ancestry, next).

The BUTTER ancestry is taken from NEHGR - Vol. 73, p.20; Vol. 76, pp. 278-295; Vol. 100, p. 224; Vol. 103, pp. 182-183, compiled by the Committee on English Research, and contributed by G. Andrews Moriarty,Jr., A.M., LL.B., of Newport, R.I.

Note: PHILIP[1] SHERMAN, the American immigrant in the Sherman family, was a great-grandson of AGNES BUTTER who was mentioned as "Harry Sherman's wife" in the will of THOMAS BUTTER.
The Harry Sherman and Henrye Sherman the Elder named in the will of PIERCE BUTTER were one and the same person, the son of Henry and Agnes (Butter) Sherman, and the grandfather of Philip[1] Sherman (See Fam. 22 - SHERMAN). Thus, the immigrants Philip[1] Sherman and John[1] Coggeshall were distant cousins.

The COGGESHALL ancestry in England:

1. JOHN COGGESHALL of Hundon, co. Suffolk, to whom ancestry is traced, m. ALICE ---- . He d. in 1488. His will dated Feb 14, 1487/8 was proved May 24, 1488. He directed that he be bur. in Hundon churchyard. He mentioned his wife ALICE, sons JOHN and Richard, and dau Katherine. He bequeathed lands and houses in Hundon, Clare, Thyrlow, Bernston and Keydon.

2. JOHN COGGESHALL of Gosfield, co. Essex, formerly of Hundon, m. ---- , d. between Sept 13, 1501, the date of his will, and Jan 31, 1501/2, the date it was proved. He mentioned his wife and daus., unnamed, and sons Roger, John, WILLIAM, and Richard. He bequeathed lands and houses in Gosfield and Chilton.

The ownership of lands in Clare and Chilton by the above Coggeshall's permits a presumption that they are descended from the Coggeshalls who were living there as early as 1340, but not yet traced. There they were in a class of minor gentry who held minor offices, such as constable and bailiff, and they held an estate in Chilton called "Foxwell" as early as 1377, part of which descended to the Coggeshalls of Hundon. There are many entries concerning them in the Court Rolls of Chilton, Clare and of Hundon, all in co. Suffolk.

3. WILLIAM COGGESHALL, son of JOHN of Gosfield, m. ---- . He was taxed at Gosfield in 1524 and later removed to Waltham, co. Essex, where he was a clothier, and where he d. soon after 1543. No record of probate of his estate was found, but few Essex wills have survived. His brother, Roger Coggeshall, in his will dated Apr 23, 1541, left £6, 13s, 4d to "my brother William Cocksall of Waltham" and mentions William's sons Henry, JOHN, Nicholas and Roger, and daus. Besse and Dorothy, all then under twenty-one years of age. WILLIAM's son:

4. JOHN COGGESHALL was b. prob. at Gosfield ± 1523 and had completed an eight year apprenticeship in London in 1543. It is said that he then became a London merchant. By about 1549 he had removed to Halstead, which adjoins Gosfield on the east in co. Essex, where he was a clothier and became wealthy.

He m. (1) Elizabeth ---- , and (2) KATHERINE ---- whose name may have been WANGFORD.

By Apr 26, 1553 he had purchased "Callops", also called "Munchensies", a house and land called a tenement. At a court in 1577/8 he appeared and owned that he held of the lord of Stansted manor, of Halstead, by charter as free, a certain tenement, wherein he dwelled, called "Callops". He made great additions to the house in 1563.

Also, in 1563, he built an almshouse in Halstead, which had on the architrave of the porch the following inscription: "John Coggeshall did Bild this Hous in A° MD63." The arms underneath were: Argent, a cross between four escallops sable; and below them was the motto: "Truth by the selfe." The arms are said to be the same as those used by a knightly line of the Coggeshall family whose principal seat seems to have been at Coggeshall, co. Essex, whose lineage has been traced to Sir Ralph de Coggeshall, of Wethersfield, who was living in 1233 and d. in 1305. This would indicate that the Coggeshalls of Chilton, Clare, Hundon, Gosfield, Halstead, etc. were all descendants of Sir Ralph. There is considered to be no doubt that these Coggeshalls branched off from the Coggeshalls of Coggeshall early in the fourteenth century.

In or about 1580 he was one of the Halstead clothiers who signed a petition requesting the removal of the Dutch clothiers from the town. The Lay Subsidies show several records of his taxation over the years, the last being on Oct 16, 1600 when he was taxed 21s. 4d. on goods valued £8.

He d. Jan 1, 1600/1. His widow, KATHERINE, was still living Mar 22, 1608/9. In his will dated Dec 27, 1600 he gave instructions for his burial in the chancel of the parish church of Halstead with some superscription in brass, the inscription to include his arms and escutcheon. Among those mentioned were his son Richard; "my son John Coggeshall the Elder, by my late wife Elizabeth"; "my son John Coggeshall the Younger, which I had by my now wife Katherine" to whom he gave "all or any of my messuages, lands, tenements, or hereditaments which I have given or conveyed to the use of my said son John Coggeshall"; "my brother-in-law John Wangford". Executors: my wife Katherine and the said John Coggeshall her son.

It was not uncommon to give the same name to two children in a family.

He had five children, the first two by first wife Elizabeth, the next two by wife uncertain, the 5th by last wife KATHERINE:

i. Richard, living and named in father's will Dec 27, 1600.
ii. John ("the Elder), also living Dec 27, 1600.
iii. Katherine, bpt Dec 26, 1564; m. Thomas Harrington.
iv. Elizabeth, bpt Feb 27, 1571/2; d. 1605; m. Rev. John Watson
v. JOHN ("the Younger"), b. July 24, bpt July 29, 1576. SEE BELOW.

5. JOHN COGGESHALL, called "the Younger", son of JOHN and KATHERINE ---, was b. at Halstead July 24, 1576 and bpt there July 29th., and lived there throughout his life. He m. ± 1600, ANNE BUTTER, the dau of PIERCE and ---- BUTTER of Dedham and Colchester (See the Butter ancestry on preceding pages) and he was styled "gentleman". No record was found indicating a business or profession.

At a court held April 16, 1601 he did fealty to the lord of Stansted Manor, in Halstead, for the tenement "Munchensies" which he had received from his father. About 1605 he bought four parcels of land and, on Apr. 3, 1605, "being somewhat unthrifty in his estate and not provident to preserve the same, and being out of money", he borrowed £100 on a mortgage which he added to in later years until he owed £300 in 1608. After his death in 1615, and the death of the mortgagee at about the same time, an heir and executor of the mortgagee's estate, in 1620, started foreclosure proceedings against part of the property to satisfy an unpaid balance. The widow, ANNE COGGESHALL, answered that her husband, before his death, had fully paid the debt in money, corn, cattle, and other goods and that the property should be free and clear as if the mortgages had never been made. The court's action in the proceedings is unknown.

He was bur. at Halstead Aug 4, 1615. No record of a will is noted.

She lived in her later years in Castle Hedingham, co. Essex, about four miles from Halstead, and d. there between Apr 16, 1645, the date of her will, and Nov 10, 1648, the date it was proved. She gave to her son JOHN, "now dwelling in New England", her house and lands in Sibble Hedingham. She also mentioned his children JOHN, Anne, Mary, Joshua and James. She named her daughter Anne Raymond as executrix.

Their children, all baptized at Halstead:

i. JOHN , bpt Dec 9, 1601; SEE RECORD BELOW
ii. Anne , bpt Apr 2, 1604; m. Richard Raymond iii. Katherine, bpt Apr 18, 1607; d. unmarried, bur May 14, 1640 at Castle Hedingham.

The COGGESHALL English ancestry is taken from NEHGR - Vol. 73, pp.19-32, contributed by Hon. Frederick Samuel Fish, A.B., of South Bend, Ind., and communicated by the Committee on English Research. Also from NEHGR - Vol. 99, pp. 315-322 and Vol. 100, pp. 14-24, contributed by G. Andrews Moriarty, A.M., LL.B., F.S.A., and communicated by the Committee on English and Foreign Research.

The COGGESHALL American ancestry:

JOHN[1] COGGESHALL, the son of JOHN and ANNE (BUTTER) COGGESHALL, of Halstead and Castle Hedingham, co. Essex, England, was bpt at Halstead Dec 9, 1601. He m. MARY ---- , who was b. ± 1604. He inherited from his father some lands in Halstead which had been mortgaged, on which foreclosure proceedings were started by mortgagee's executor in 1620. The outcome is unknown. He also inherited from his mother her property in Sibble Hedingham.

He was living in Castle Hedingham in or before 1626, was taxed there as "John Coxall" on Dec 17, 1628. On June 1, 1629 he and his wife MARY, together with John Warman and Sarah his wife, sold one messuage, one garden, one orchard, twenty acres of land, and three acres of wood in Halstead and Sibble Hedingham, prob. the inheritance of the wives.

On June 22, 1632, after having taken the Oath of Allegiance according to the Statute, he sailed from London, with his wife MARY and five children, on the ship "Lyon", William Peirce, Master, and arrived in Boston on Sept 16th. The ship carried 123 passengers, of which 50 were children, all arriving in good health. They had been twelve weeks aboard and eight weeks from Land's End.

Soon after arrival he and his wife were admitted to the First Church at Roxbury, Mass., he was adm. freeman Nov 6, 1632, and they later removed to Boston where they were adm. to the First Church on Apr 20, 1634. He was soon a deacon. He was chosen a Selectman of Boston in 1634 and was a Deputy from Boston to the General Court 1634-1637. His name wherever it appears is prefixed by "Mr." then signifying a man of dignity and quality.

On Mar 9, 1636/7 it was concluded by the General Court that Mr. John Wheelwright was guilty of contempt and sedition. Mr. John Coggeshall, a member of the Court, affirmed that Mr. Wheelwright was innocent and that he was persecuted for the truth, and for this affirmation John Coggeshall was dismissed from being a member of the Court. In Nov. 1637, for also being in sympathy with Mrs. Hutchinson, he was disfranchised and was one of the 58 Boston men who were disarmed. In March 1637/8 he was one of the sympathizers of Mrs. Hutchinson that were ordered to be banished with her from the Colony.

They were on the Island of Aquidneck, later called Rhode Island, in early March 1637/8 and on Mar 7, 1637/8, there, at Pocasset which would later be named Portsmouth, he and eighteen others signed a compact incorporating themselves into a "Bodie Politick".

On May 13, 1638 he and another were ordered to lay out the land for a meeting house to be set on a neck of land that goes over to the main of the Island. On May 20, 1638 he was allotted six acres of land, twenty poles in breadth and ninety six feet long.

On Apr 28, 1639 he and eight others signed another compact to propagate a new plantation further south on the Island, which he signed as "Elder". This plantation would later be named Newport. The Island of Aquidneck was purchased from the Indians and title was obtained from the Indian sachems on July 1, 1639.

On March 10, 1640 he had 389 acres of land in Newport, the next to the largest share, and in that year he and two others were appointed to lay out more lands there. He was Treasurer there in 1640 when, at a meeting held Aug 6, 1640, he and Mr. Baulston, Treasurers, were ordered to take up Mr. Hutchinson's account and peruse it and exhibit it at the next General Court. He was an assistant in 1640-1644.

In his business life, John Coggeshall was a cloth merchant. About Dec. 1637 he purchased merchandise valued at £55 and over from Moses Greenwood of Hingham, co. Norfolk, England, who was then in New England with his wares. John Coggeshall had £40 bequeathed to him by his uncle John Butter and had given his mother in England a power of attorney to receive it for him. He assigned this legacy to Moses Greenwood as part payment for the merchandise. The ensuing proceedings and records involving John Coggeshall in New England, his mother Anne Coggeshall in England, and Moses Greenwood also in England provide precise documentation of great genealogical value.

In 1647 after Roger Williams had procured a charter for the Colony, the four towns of Providence, Portsmouth, Newport and Warwick were consolidated under one government and John Coggeshall was chosen moderator of the General Assembly. In the election of officers, JOHN COGGESHALL was chosen the first President of the Colony.

He d. while in office of President, at Newport, Nov. 27, 1647, cutting short a career that showed promise of continued accomplishment. He had assisted in the founding of cities and states. His wife d. there Nov. 8, 1684, outliving him by 37 years. They were bur. a few rods west of his house on his own land in Newport. The family burial ground is located at the corner of Coggeshall and Victoria Avenues, surrounded by a brick wall and was seen there in September 1980. His gravestone is inscribed "Here Lyeth ye body of - John Coggeshall, Sen^{r}, Esq., - who deceased - President of this Colony - ye 27 November 1647".

Their children, the first five b. in England, the others in Boston, Mass. Three of those b. in Eng. were bpt. at the parish church at Castle Hedingham, co. Essex. The three b. in Boston were bpt. there at First Church:

i. JOHN , b. ± 1620; SEE RECORD BELOW
ii. Joshua , b. ± 1624; d. at Portsmouth May 1, 1688; m. (1) at Newport, Dec 22, 1652, Joan West, dau of Matthew West; m. (2) at Portsmouth Jun 21, 1677, Rebecca Russell.

viii. Bedaiah (son) , bpt July 30, 1637; prob. d. young

MAJOR JOHN^{2} COGGESHALL (John^{1}) was b. at Halstead or Castle Hedingham, co. Essex, England, ± 1620, and came to New England with his parents in 1632. He m. (1) at Portsmouth, R.I., June 17, 1647, ELIZABETH BAULSTONE, b. prob. at Boston, Mass., ± 1632, the dau of WILLIAM^{1} and ELIZABETH ( ) BAULSTONE (See Fam. 28 - BAULSTONE). On Oct 3, 1654 they signed an agreement for divorce which was granted by the Assembly May 25, 1655. She m. (2) Thomas Gould by whom she had no children. She d. at Portsmouth ± 1700. He m. (2) at Providence, R.I., Dec. 1655, Patience Throckmorton, dau of John and Alice (Staut) Throckmorton. She d. at Newport Sept 7, 1677 and he m. (3) Oct 1, 1679, Mary (Hedge) Sturgis, a widow, who survived him.

They lived in Portsmouth until ± 1654 when they moved to Newport where he had inherited his father's large estate, and where he lived until he d. He was long and often in office, for nearly half a century, exhibiting eminent executive ability. He was General Treasurer for the four towns in the Colony in 1653-54 and in 1664-72; a Commissioner in Newport 1654-63; a petitioner to the new charter granted by Charles II in 1663, and at the first general election under the charter, May 4, 1664, he was elected one of the first Assistants, and was re-elected to this office several times to 1686. He was Deputy for Newport Oct 25, 1665, and in 1667-71, 1675 and 1683. He was General Recorder 1676-77 and 1691-92.

As a result of the Indian uprising known as King Philip's War, on Apr 4, 1676 he was on a committee to procure boats for the Colony's defense. There were to be five boats with five or six men in each. He was also on a committee to take the exact count of all inhabitants on the Island, English, negroes and Indians, and make a list thereof, and also to take account of how all persons are provided with corn, guns, powder, shot and lead. On Aug 24, 1676 he was a member of a Court Martial held for trial of Indians.

In May 1684 he was appointed a major of militia for the Island. He was Deputy Governor in 1686 and in 1689-90. It is said that he was proposed for Governor several times but declined to serve. But few men of the time exerted greater influence or rendered the Colony such faithful service.

He d. at Newport Oct 1, 1708 and was bur. in the Coggeshall cemetery there. At the time of his death his holdings in Newport had increased to 510 acres. His will dated June 22, 1708 was proved Nov 8, 1708. It included land in Newport and a large stock of farm animals, cash and personal property. He did not mention in his will any of his children by his first marriage.

28 - BAULSTONE

This family name is variously spelled as Baulston, Balston, Balstone.

WILLIAM[1] BAULSTONE was b. in England ± 1600 and m. there Elizabeth ---- . They were Puritans and came to New England, prob. from London, with John Winthrop in Winthrop's Fleet in 1630 and settled at Boston. She was adm. to the First Church there in 1630, being No. 39 on the list of members. He applied to be freeman Oct 19, 1630 and was adm. May 18, 1631. She d. soon and he m. (2) there ELIZABETH ---- , who was b. ± 1597.

He was trusted among the worthiest and was in steady employment for the town affairs. On Nov 9, 1630 he was on jury for a murder trial. On May 14, 1634 he was Sergeant in the militia. On Dec 14, 1635 he and four others were appointed to go to Mt. Wollaston to check for allotments of land grants there, and on Mar 14, 1635/6 they were again sent to bound out farms there. On June 6, 1637 he was licensed to keep a house of entertainment and to sell such claret and white wine as is sent for.

In 1637 he was chosen a Selectman, yet on Nov 2, 1637 he was disfranchised, fined £20, and discharged from bearing any public office, for setting his hand to a "seditious libel called a remonstrance or petition" which had been signed by himself and others in the previous March, they affirming that Mr. Wheelwright was innocent, and that the Court had condemned the Truth of Christ.

On Nov 20, 1637 he was one of 58 Boston men who were warned to deliver up all guns, pistols, swords, powder, shot, etc. because "the opinions and revelations of Mr. Wheelwright and Mrs. Hutchinson have seduced and led into serious errors many of the people here in New England".

He was one of the sympathizers of Mrs. Anne Hutchinson who were banished from Mass. Colony early in 1637/8 and on Mar 7, 1637/8, at Pocasset, later called Portsmouth, on the Island of Aquidneck, later called Rhode Island, he and 18 others signed a compact incorporating themselves into a "Bodie Politick".

On May 2, 1638 he was fined 20s. for selling beer at 2d. a quart. On May 20, 1638 he was granted six acres and, on same day, he was allowed to "erect and set up a house of entertainment for strangers, and also to brew beer and to sell wines of strong waters and such necessary provisions as may be useful in any kind". On June 27, 1638 he was Sergeant of the Train Band. The town of Portsmouth was organized April 30, 1639.

He was a Treasurer for Portsmouth and Newport in 1640-41, and for Portsmouth in 1643-44. At a meeting held in Newport Aug 6, 1640 it was ordered that Mr. Coggeshall and Mr. Baulston, Treasurers, shall take up Mr. Hutchinson's account and peruse it and exhibit it at the next General Court. He was "Lieutenant" in 1642; Assistant 1641-44, 1648, 1657-73; Commissioner 1654-55, 1658-63 and in 1664 he was one of the four commissioners appointed to meet the Commissioners from Plymouth Colony to lay out the eastern line. He was moderator at many of the Portsmouth town meetings over several years.

In 1643 he and another were appointed to go to every inhabitant of Portsmouth and see whether every one of them has powder, and what bullets run. On Aug 14, 1645 he bought a dwelling house and eight acres of land in Portsmouth for £18 and last year's rent.

On Feb 4, 1646 the wolf catchers were ordered to come to him and another for their pay. The pay for killing a wolf was £4 from Newport and 20s. from Portsmouth. The town concurred with Newport in an order at this date for no shooting of deer for two months, that the more readily the wolves come to the bait, that they may be caught for the general good of the island. On May 17, 1659 he and three others were appointed to buy land about a place called Nyantecutt, of the Indian sachem Ninecroft.

They d. at Portsmouth, he March 14, 1677/8 and she April 15, 1683.

His will dated Mar 11, 1677/8 was proved Mar 23, 1677/8. He made provision for the needs of his wife ELIZABETH and his dau ELIZABETH GOULD. He gave to his grandson JOHN COGGESHALL his farm and buildings, etc. in Portsmouth, to his grandson William Coggeshall some lands in Portsmouth, also lands and meadows in a place called Clay Pit lands. He also gave £50 to his granddaughter Elizabeth (Coggeshall) Peck.

His child by his first wife, Elizabeth, possibly b. in Boston:

i. Pity , bpt Oct --, 1630; no further record

His children by his second wife ELIZABETH, b. in Boston:

ii. ELIZABETH, b. ---- ; SEE RECORD BELOW

iii. William , bpt Apr 14, 1633; no further record

iv. Mary , bpt Sep 14, 1634; no further record

v. Mehitable, bpt Jan 24, 1635/6; no further record

vi. Meribah , bpt Apr 9, 1637; no further record

Only one child, ELIZABETH, is on record in Rhode Island. The others apparently all died young in Boston.

ELIZABETH[2] BAULSTONE (William[1]) was b. prob. in Boston ± 1632. Records generally show that she was b. in Portsmouth after her father's banishment in 1638 but error is obvious as noted from her marriage date. She m. at Portsmouth, June 17, 1647, JOHN[2] COGGESHALL of Newport, R.I., son of JOHN[1] and MARY ( ) COGGESHALL (See Fam. 27 - COGGESHALL). They were divorced May 25, 1655 and she m. (2) in 1655, Thomas Gould, son of Jeremiah and Pris cilla (Grover) Gould.

29 - TIMBERLAKE

In "Genealogical Gleanings in England" by Henry F. Waters, Vol. II, p.1428, appears a copy of the following will which is abstracted here:

Henry Timberlake of Chillinge in the parish of Tichfield in the co. of Southampton, gent., 10 July 1625, proved 13 May 1626. To Thomas Timberlake, my eldest son, all such lands or parts of lands as I now am, or at any time hereafter, during my life, shall be, seized in the Somer Islands or Virginia, in the parts beyond the seas. ..... To my youngest son, Henry Timberlake a cottage and parcel of land in Prickellwell, Essex, and two cottages in Lambeth Marsh near London .... The will continues with mentions of daughters and others.

As he had property investments in "Virginia" it could also mean New England as it also was often called "Virginia. It is speculated that he may have been the father of the American immigrant.

HENRY[1] TIMBERLAKE was first noted of record in America when he was chosen Corporal at Newport, R.I. in 1644. His wife's name was MARY ---- who he prob. m. in England. He was chosen a commissioner at Newport in 1663.

He prob. d. before Jan 30, 1671 when MARY was allowed 15s for a horse hired by Richard Bailey. His widow MARY was taxed 16s in 1680 and on Feb 12, 1697 she sold for 1s to her son-in-law JOHN COGGESHALL, and "my daughter ELIZABETH his wife" 112 acres in Newport.

She d. in Little Compton, R.I. (then in Mass.) Sept 10, 1705. Her inventory was taken at LC July 3, 1706 and the proceeds, after settlement of charges, amounting to £74, 13s, 7d, was divided, one-quarter each to: son Joseph Timberlake; children of son Henry Timberlake deceased; children of son John Timberlake deceased; and daughter Hannah Woodman. Her dau. ELIZABETH COGGESHALL did not get a share as she had already received land in Newport worth about £60.

Their children, place of birth unknown, some prob. at Newport:

i. William , b. ---- ; d. 1678; m. Mary ----.
ii. Henry , b. ---- ; d. 1687; m. Sarah ----.
iii. Joseph , b. ---- ; d. ----; m. ± 1683, Mary (Earle) Cory, widow of William, dau of Ralph and Joan ( ) Earle.
iv. John , b. ---- ; d. ± 1705; m. ---- .
v. ELIZABETH, b. ----; SEE RECORD BELOW
vi. Hannah , b. ---- ; d. May 3, 1713, m. John Woodman of LC, R.I.

ELIZABETH[2] TIMBERLAKE (Henry[1]) was prob. b. in Newport, R.I., date ---- .[2]
She m. at Portsmouth, R.I., Dec 24, 1669, JOHN[3] COGGESHALL, son of JOHN[2] and ELIZABETH (BAULSTONE) COGGESHALL (See Fam. 27 - COGGESHALL).

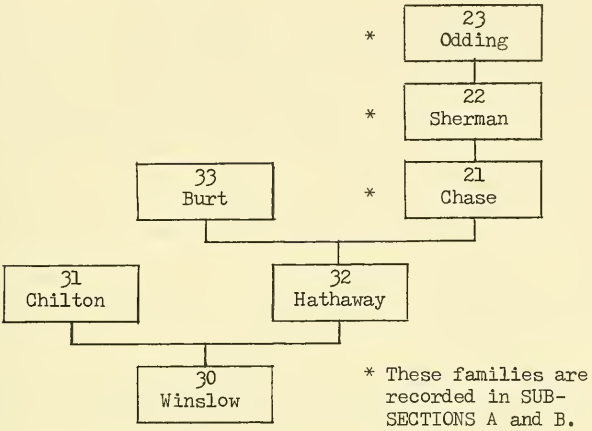
SECTION VI. SUB-SECTION E

This sub-section covers the families descending to MARY[2] WINSLOW who married EDWARD[1] GRAY (See Fam. 52 - GRAY) and to HULDAH[4] WINSLOW who married JAMES[6] CHASE (See Fam. 21 - CHASE).

The descending families:



30 - WINSLOW

The English Winslow's have been the subject of research for decades and several incorrect or unconfirmed pedigrees and conflicting statements have evolved. They were landowners, were styled "yeomen" or "gentlemen" indicating them to be part of a social order approaching that of the landed gentry, but no proven lineage was found that provided their social status. Therefore, no attempt is made herein to explore or evaluate already published pedigrees and research data the details of which appear in the references listed at the end of this family record. This record starts with KENELM WINSLOW, from whom descent is confirmed and unchallenged.

KENELM WINSLOW of Kempsey and Worcester in co. Worcestershire (Worcs.) said to be the son of THOMAS of Kempsey, was styled "yeoman". He m. Katherine -----, probably a second wife, who survived him. He may have m. (1) ELIZABETH FOLIOTT, bpt in 1540 at Pyrton, co. Worcs., the dau of JOHN and ELEANOR (MOORE) FOLIOTT although this is unproven.

He is said to have purchased in 1559 of Sir Richard Newport an estate called Newport Place in Kempsey, and that he owned an estate in the same parish called Clerkenleap. He had an estate called Kereswell which he sold to Sir John Bucke of Kempsey. In 1562 he held land in Severnstoke in co. Worcs. In his later years he lived in Worcester, co. Worcs., and he, in his will dated April 14 and proved Nov. 9, 1607, describes himself as being of the parish of St. Andrew in the city of Worcester, appoints his wife Katherine sole executrix, mentions two sons and grandchildren.

EDWARD WINSLOW, son of KENELM, was bpt at St. Andrew in Worcester, co. Worcs., Oct 17, 1560. He lived at Kempsey and Droitwich in co. Worcs. He prob. m. (1) Eleanor Pelham of Droitwich, said to be the dau of Sir Herbert Pelham, and (2) at St. Bride church, London, Nov. 4, 1594, MAGDALENE OLYVER. He was styled "gentleman" as early as 1600 and in 1607 was styled "Mr." a prefix of respect not casually bestowed in that era. His status may have derived from his mother as his father was styled "yeoman".

He was under-sheriff of co. Worcs. possibly as early as 1600. He was a salter and about 1605 he leased from Thomas Gower a salt boilery in Droitwich which was noted for its salt springs. He incurred a debt of £30 to Thomas Harton, possibly as a surety, which he did not pay and sometime before 1620 he fled to Ireland, possibly to avoid the inhumane treatment then meted out to debtors in English prisons. Thomas Harton requested the aid of Sir Henry Foliott in Ireland. The problem seems to have been resolved as EDWARD was reported to be living, in 1621, at Clifton, a hamlet in Severnstoke in co. Worcs.

Some of the aforementioned persons were Foliott related by blood or marriage and the Winslow dealings with them were thought to be dealings with kinsmen.

The dates of death of he and his wife MAGDALENE are unknown.

His child by his first wife, Eleanor, prob. b. at Droitwich:

i. Richard, b. ± 1585; d. May 20, 1659; m. ± 1605, Alice Hay, a widow, dau of Edward Hurdman.

His children by his second wife, MAGDALENE, all b. at Droitwich and bpt. all recorded in the Parish Register of St. Peter's in Droitwich:

ii. Edward , bpt Oct 20, 1595, b. Oct 18; d. at sea near Hispaniola, May 8, 1655; m. at Leyden, Holland, May 16, 1618, Elizabeth Barker of Chetsun, Eng.; they with sons Edward and John, and his brother Gilbert, emigrated to America on the ship MAYFLOWER in 1620. She d. at Plymouth Mar 24, 1620/1 and he m. (2) there, May 12, 1621, Mrs. Susanna (Fuller) White, the widow of William White, the first bride in the Colony and the mother of Peregrine White, the first child born in the Colony. He was Governor of the Colony in 1633.

iii. JOHN , bpt Apr 18, 1597, b. the Sat. before; emigrated to Amer. on the second ship FORTUNE in 1621. SEE RECORD BELOW.

iv. Eleanor , bpt Apr 24, 1598, b. the Saturday before

v. KENELM , bpt May 3, 1599, b, the Sunday before; emigrated to Amer. prob. with brother Josiah ± 1629. SEE RECORD BELOW.

vi. Gilbert , bpt Oct 29, 1600, b. the Sunday before; emigrated to Amer. on the ship MAYFLOWER in 1620 accompanying his brother Edward and family. He returned to Eng. after 1623 and died there.

vii. Elizabeth, bpt Mar 8, 1601/2, b. the Sat. before; buried at Droitwich Jan 20, 1604/5.

viii. Magdalene, bpt Dec 30, 1604, b. the 26th; d. at Shapwick in co. Dorset, May 25, 1693; m. Apr 25, 1627, Rev. William Wake. Her grandson, William Wake, became Archbishop of Canterbury in 1716.

ix. Josiah , bpt Feb 16, 1605/6, b. Feb 11th; emigrated to Amer. prob. ± 1629 with his brother KENELM; m. 1636, Margaret Bourne, dau of Thomas. Lived in Marshfield, Mass. He d. Dec 1, 1674, she Oct 1683, both at Marshfield.

The WINSLOW American ancestry:

JOHN[1] WINSLOW was bpt Apr 18, 1597 (b. the Sat. before) at St. Peter's in Droitwich, co. Worcestershire, England, the son of EDWARD and MAGDALENE (OLYVER) WINSLOW of Droitwich. In July 1621 he embarked at London with 34 others in the ship "Fortune", a small ship of 55 tons, bound for New England. Due to adverse winds the ship could not clear the channel until the end of August and put in at Cape Cod on Nov 9, 1621, and shortly afterward landed at Plymouth. It was the second ship to bring settlers to New England, having been preceded by the Mayflower in 1620. Here JOHN joined his brothers Edward and Gilbert who came in the Mayflower.

In the spring of 1624 the first allotment of land was made at Plymouth. Each head of family received one acre for each member of the family. JOHN received one acre. Sometime between then and June 1, 1627, when he and his wife MARY participated in the division of cattle, he m. MARY CHILTON who came to Plymouth with her parents, JAMES and SUSANNA ( ) CHILTON, in the Mayflower in 1620 (See Fam. 31 - CHILTON). She was bpt at St. Peter's in Sandwich, co. Kent, May 30, 1607 and was with her parents at Leyden, Holland, before coming to Plymouth with them and the Pilgrims.

His name appears in the earliest tax lists of the Colony of New Plymouth that can be found. They are dated Jan. 2, 1632/3 and Jan. 2, 1633/4. He was on the list of those able to bear arms in the Colony in August 1643. He is mentioned several times in Plymouth records having held various public positions and he was a Representative to the General Court in 1653 and for two more years.

In 1657 he removed to Boston where he was a merchant. He owned two sailing vessels, the Speedwell and the John's Adventure. In 1664 he gave land to his two granddaughters, SARAH and Anna GRAY, naming their father EDWARD GRAY.

He d. in Boston before May 21, 1674 when his will, dated March 12, 1673, was attested there. His lengthy will mentions his wife, MARY, and his many children and grandchildren, and covered his dwelling house, much personal property including his ships Speedwell and John's Adventure. Among the items: "I give unto my son (son-in-law) EDWARD GREY his children that he had by my daughter MARY GREY the sume of twenty pounds pr peece ....." also "my will is that my Negro Girle Jane (after she hath served twenty yeares from the date hereof)shall be free .....".

His widow MARY died in 1679, before May 1st. She was the only female passenger of the Mayflower who left a will. It was dated July 31, 1676 and was proved July 11, 1679. It is preserved in the Suffolk Co. Register of Probate in Boston. Her will covered some money but mostly household furnishings, tableware, and clothing to children and grandchildren.

They are buried in King's Chapel Burying Ground on Tremont St., near School St. in Boston.

Their children, all b. at Plymouth, Mass. after May 1627:

i. John , b. prob. bef. 1630; d. Boston, Oct 1683; m. (1) bef. 1664, Elizabeth ----, living in Aug 1670; m. (2) Judith ---.

ii. Susanna, b. prob. bef. 1630; d. E. Bridgewater after Nov 14, 1685; m. ± 1649, Robert Latham of Plymouth.

iii. MARY , b. ± 1631 ; SEE RECORD BELOW.

iv. Edward , b. ± 1635 ; d. Boston Nov 19, 1682; m. (1) bef. 1661, Sarah Hilton; m. (2) Boston, Feb 8, 1668, Elizabeth Hutchinson

v. Sarah , b. ± 1638 ; d. Boston Apr 9, 1726; m. (1) Boston, July 19 1660, Myles Standish, Jr. (2) Boston, Nov 1666 or 1667, Tobias Payne, and (3) 1672, Richard Middlecott.

vi. Samuel , b. ± 1641; d. Boston Oct 14, 1680; m. bef. June 22, 1675, Hannah Briggs.
vii. Joseph , b. ----- ; d. Long Is., N.Y., bef. Aug 7, 1679; m. (1) Sarah ---- ; (2) by 1668, Sarah Lawrence.
viii. Isaac , b. 1644 ; d. Port Royal, Jamaica, Aug 1670; m. at Charlestown, Aug 14, 1666, Mary Nowell.
ix. a child b. bef. 1650; prob. died young x. Benjamin, b. Aug 12, 1653; d. unmarried ± 1675.

KENELM[1] WINSLOW was b. Apr 29, 1599 in Droitwich, co. Worcestershire, England and was bpt at St. Peter's there May 3, 1599, the son of EDWARD and MAGDALENE (OLYVER) WINSLOW of Droitwich. Before 1632, possibly as early as 1629, he and his brother Josiah emigrated to Plymouth in New Plymouth Colony where they joined their brother Edward, who came in the Mayflower in 1620 (and became Governor of the Colony in 1633, 1636 and 1644), and their brother JOHN who came in the Fortune in 1621. Another brother, Gilbert, who came in the Mayflower in 1620, had left the colony before June 1627. He was adm. freeman Jan. 1, 1632/33.

He m. in June 1634, ELLEN or ELEANOR (NEWTON)ADAMS. She, as Ellen Newton, came in the ship Anne in 1623 and, before June 1, 1627, m. John Adams who d. in 1633.

He was a joiner by trade but was generally known as a planter. On March 5, 1637/8 he received a grant of land at Marshfield, then called Green's Harbor, next adjoining land granted to his brother Josiah who settled there. He moved there about 1641. It was a particularly beautiful tract of land. Other lands were granted to him at sundry times.

Besides serving in minor town offices, he was a representative in the General Court 1642-1644 and 1649-1653, altogether eight years. On May 5, 1646 "Kenelme Winslowe, for opprobrious words against the church of Marshfield, saying they were all liars, &c., was ordered by the court to find sureties for his good behavior, which he refusing to do was committed to prison, where he remained until the General Court following," or about four weeks. That he retained the confidence and respect of the townsmen is indicated by their reelection of him to be a member of the same General Court in 1649, and then for an additional four years.

He was one of the 26 original proprietors (he received the 24th lot) of Assonet, now Freetown, Mass., which they purchased from the Indians under deed dated Apr 2, 1659 and signed by the Indians Ossamequin, Wamsitta, and Tattapanum who were better known as Massasoit, his son Alexander, and Alexander's wife Weetamoe. A copy of the deed appears in "Collections of the Old Colony Historical Society,"Vol. 3, p.116. The purchase price: 20 coats, 2 rugs, 2 iron pots, 2 kettles and 1 little kettle, 8 pair shoes, 6 pair stockings, 1 doz. hoes, 1 doz. hatchets, 2 yards of broadcloth, and a debt satisfied to John Barnes which was due from Wamsitta.

He d. Sept 12, 1672 when on a visit to Salem, Mass. and was bur there the next day. She d. at Marshfield and was buried there Dec 5, 1681, "being 83 years old."

Their children, b. at Plymouth and Marshfield:

i. Kenelm , b. ± 1635; d. at Harwich, Mass. Nov 11, 1715; He m. (1) Sept 23, 1667, Mercy Worden, dau of Peter, Jr. and Mercy Worden of Yarmouth. She d. Sept 22, 1688. He m. (2) Damaris ---- who survived him.

ii. Eleanor or Ellen, b. ± 1637; bur. at Marshfield Aug 27, 1676; m. Dec 29, 1656, Samuel Baker of Marshfield.
iii. Nathaniel, b. ± 1639; d. Dec 1, 1719 at Marshfield; m. Aug 3, 1664, Faith Miller, dau of Rev. John and Lydia of Yarmouth.
iv. JOB , b. ± 1641; SEE RECORD BELOW.

MARY[2] WINSLOW (John[1]) was b. at Plymouth, Mass. ± 1631. She m. there Jan. 16, 1650/1 EDWARD[1] GRAY of Plymouth (See Fam. 52 - GRAY).

JOB[2] WINSLOW (Kenelm[1]) was b. at Plymouth or Marshfield, Mass. ± 1641. He m. RUTH ----- . He was a shipwright.

He settled at Swansea, Mass. ± 1666. His house there was burned by the Indians June 19, 1675, the first overt act by the Indians at the breaking out of King Philip's War. Other houses in town were burned the next day.

He appears to have been one of the early settlers of Rochester as he was there ± 1683. He soon removed to Freetown, Mass. where he purchased one of the original lots that had been secured from the Indians in 1659. He was a leading man in all town matters there, both civil and religious. He served in the militia and was styled "Lieutenant". He was Town Clerk and grand juryman in 1690; one of the Selectmen, 1686; Deputy to the General Court, 1686; representative to the first General Court of Mass. under the charter of William and Mary, 1692; assessor in 1691, 1701-06, and 1711; moderator at town meetings 1708 and 1711.

He d. at Freetown July 14, 1720, aged about 80 yrs. His wife RUTH survived him. In his will dated Nov 12, 1717 he gave the lot known as the Winslow Burying ground, situated two miles south of Freetown. He mentioned his wife RUTH and all of his children except Mary, Hope and JOHN.

31 - CHILTON

The name Chilton appears in the records of Canterbury, co. Kent, Eng., as early as 1339 when Robert Chilton was a representative to Parliament from Canterbury.

RICHARD CHILTON of St. Paul's Parish, Canterbury, in his will dated and proved in 1549, mentioned his deceased wife Isabell and his son LYONELL.

LYONELL CHILTON, yeoman, residing in St. Paul's Parish, having considerable property, left a will dated Sep 7, 1582 and pvd. Feb 13, 1582/3 in which he named sons John and JAMES CHILTON; three daughters; wife Isabell and her children: Thomas Furner and Susanna Furner. To son JAMES he left two tenements in Canterbury. Isabell was prob. his second wife and not the mother of his children.

JAMES[1] CHILTON was prob. b. in Canterbury, co. Kent., Eng., before 1563, the son of LYONELL and ----- CHILTON of St. Paul's Parish there. He was listed as a freeman there in 1583. He m. before 1587, SUSANNA -----, perhaps his step-sister, Susanna Furner. He was a tailor.

They had seven children bpt in Canterbury and then, ± 1600, they moved to Sandwich, a nearby town, where three more children were bpt., the youngest being MARY who was bpt at St. Peter's Parish in Sandwich May 30, 1607.

No further record is found of JAMES until 1620. It appears that only three of his children lived to adulthood.

His dau Isabella, bpt at St. Paul's Parish, Canterbury, Jan 15, 1586/7 was surely the "Ysabel Tgiltron spinster from Canterbury" who married in Leyden, Holland, July 21, 1615, Roger Chandler "Rogier Kandelaer" of Colchester, Eng. Roger Chandler, with his wife, Isabel, and children came to Plymouth Colony in 1629 or 1630 with a contingent from Leyden.

His dau Ingle, bpt at St. Paul's Parish, Canterbury, Apr 29, 1599 was prob the "Engeltgen Gilten" who m. at Leyden, Holland, Aug 27, 1622, Robert Nelson. There is no further record of them.

While no record of JAMES is found at Leyden, possibly because of difficulty with spelling, it is probable that he took his family to Holland as early as 1615 or before. The marriage records there include several persons from Canterbury and Sandwich.

In 1620, he, with his wife SUSANNA and dau MARY, and with other Pilgrims, went to Southampton, Eng., where they embarked on the "Mayflower" on Aug 5, 1620 and sailed for America, accompanied by the "Speedwell". Due to the leaky Speedwell, the ships put in for repairs to the Speedwell at Dartmouth and again at Plymouth in England where the Speedwell was given up and those Pilgrims willing to return to London were dismissed.

The Mayflower departed from Plymouth Sep 6, 1620. It arrived at what is now Provincetown Harbor, inside the point of Cape Cod, on Nov 11, 1620 and there dropped anchor. On that day, aboard the ship, the famous Mayflower Compact was signed by the 41 men in the Pilgrim party. JAMES CHILTON was the 24th signer.

There, while the ship lay at anchor, on Dec 8, 1620, JAMES CHILTON died.

After a month's search for a suitable landing site, the ship's anchor was pulled and the landing was made Dec 11, 1620 at the place that was to be called Plymouth.

Soon after Jan 11, 1620/1, SUSANNA CHILTON died, leaving their dau., MARY, an orphan at age 13.

MARY[2] CHILTON (James[1]) was bpt May 30, 1607 at St. Peter's Parish, Sandwich, co. Kent, Eng., the dau and 10th child of JAMES and SUSANNA ( ) CHILTON. She accompanied her parents from England to Holland and then back to Eng. and embarkation on the "Mayflower" for the voyage to New England and the landing at the place now called Plymouth, Mass. on Dec 11, 1620.

It is tradition, and it was told to her children and grandchildren, and repeated by historical writers, that MARY CHILTON was the first lady to land at Plymouth, the first European lady to come ashore on that coast. That when going ashore in the small boat, she jumped into the water and waded ashore. The story has never been challenged, is well covered in "Mary Chilton's Title to Celebrity" by Charles T. Libby.

She was still unmarried and received her one acre of land in the division of lands in the spring of 1624. Sometime between then and June 1, 1627 she m. JOHN WINSLOW, who came in the "Fortune" in 1621, the son of EDWARD and MAGDALENE (OLYVER) WINSLOW of Droitwich, co. Worcs., England. (See Fam. 30 - WINSLOW).

32 - HATHAWAY

NICHOLAS[1] HATHAWAY was b. in Eng. ± 1595 and, by tradition, in co. Gloucestershire. He, prob. a widower, and prob. with three sons, arrived in New England before Feb 24, 1639/40 when he, of Monaticott (now Braintree), was granted, by Boston commissioners, land at Mt. Wollaston (now in Boston) for four heads at four acres per head and 20 acres more, There being in all 36 acres. He prob. never lived there as he settled at Taunton, Mass. about 1640 where he became an extensive land owner. He prob. did not live for many years after settling at Taunton.

He had son JOHN of proven record, and prob sons Jacob and Joseph who are on record at Taunton at that time.

JOHN[2] HATHAWAY (Nicholas[1]) was b. in Eng. ± 1629 and came to New Eng. and to Taunton with his father. He m. (1) ± 1649, MARTHA ---- . She d. between 1683 and 1692 and he m. (2) at Braintree, Dec 25, 1692, Ruth, widow of Christopher Dyer.

He lived first on land originally his father's. In 1658 he purchased with two associates, for £152, 400 acres of "meadow and upland" in that part of Taunton which later became the town of Berkley. He was a member of an association of Taunton men who negotiated with the Indians for the purchase of more land to enlarge the town, and the tracts were known as the North Purchase and the South Purchase. He was on a committee to see that the lands were properly recorded in the court records at Plymouth, and also on a committee for surveying and dividing the lands. In 1671, for £52, he purchased of Nathaniel Morton the 18th lot of the Freetown lands which had been purchased from the Indians in 1659 (See Fam. 30 - WINSLOW) and his son JOHN, Jr. settled there.

In 1676 he was elected constable; in 1680-84 and 1691 was Deputy to the Gen. Court at Plymouth; in 1681-84 was a town selectman. He performed many other civil duties. In 1696-97 he was a representative to the MassachusettsGen. Court, the last of his public services. In January 1697 he testified in court at Taunton that he was then about 67 years old.

His home was in that part of Berkley known as "The Farms". The place was marked by a tablet in 1889, placed there by the Old Colony Historical Society. Between 1693 and 1704 there were several deeds by JOHN and his wife Ruth conveying portions of his property to his sons.

They both d. in Taunton or Berkley in 1705.
His children, all by his first wife, MARTHA, all prob. b. at Taunton:

vi. Rebecca , b. 1669; d. Dec 31, 1742; m. at T. May 4, 1687, Jared Talbot, Jr., son of Jared and Sarah (Andrews) Talbot

JOHN[3] HATHAWAY (John[2], Nicholas[1]) was b. in Taunton Aug 16, 1650. He m. (1) 1668, HANNAH BURT, b. ---- , prob. in Taunton, the dau. of JAMES and ANNA ( ) BURT (See Fam. 33 - BURT). She d. after June 28, 1705 and he m. (2) Christian, prob. Maxfield.

He received from his father, and settled on, the 18th lot in Freetown which his father purchased in 1671. It was located about a mile below the town on the Fall River road. He was a town selectman for 12 years. It is stated in the History of Dighton that as early as 1693 he and Thomas Coram built a shipyard on the west side of the river and built their houses side by side. After ten years Coram returned to Eng. and left John Hathaway with the business. An ensuing law suit involved two completed ships, one fully rigged and ready for the sea.

In 1695 he was one of a company which set up a forge on Stony Brook which was called the "Chartley Iron Works", afterward known as the "Leonard Iron Works" of Norton. On June 24, 1726 he deeded lands to his son JACOB.

He d. in June 1730, prob. in Freetown or Dighton. His will dated May 23, 1723 was proved June 11, 1730. He bequeathed half of the iron works to his son JACOB and the other half to his son Isaac.

JACOB[4] HATHAWAY (John[3], John[2], Nicholas[1]) was b. in Taunton, 1675, in a garrison house where his parents fled in King Phillip's War. He m. in Taunton, Jan 28, 1696/7, PHILIPPA CHASE, b. in Freetown July 5, 1679, dau of BENJAMIN and PHILIPPA (SHERMAN) CHASE of Freetown (See Fam. 21 - CHASE).

He was a selectman of Freetown 1720-29 and 1731-44; assessor 1725-36; as a young man served in the militia, but Quaker influence of the Chases, Shermans and Stranges drew him to join their group before 1719. He gave land for their meetinghouse, refused to serve in the expedition to Maine against the French and Indians and was in jail for this when his youngest son was born which he named "Jael".

He received by deed shortly before his marriage part of his father's land and additional land from his father and step-mother by deed dated June 24, 1726. He received by deed from his father Jan 29, 1725, one half of his father's iron works. His wife and he received lands from her father, BENJAMIN CHASE, in his will dated Sept 6, 1730 (See Fam. 21 - CHASE).

He d. before Feb. 6, 1759. His will dated Oct 5, 1754 was proved Feb. 6, 1759 and is long. In it he gives to his children three "negro boys" Hector, Benoni and Perow and four "negro girls" Hagar, Dina, Jenne and Sealler (NEHGR 87;51).

His wife, PHILIPPA, d. after the date of his will.

33 - BURT

JAMES[1] BURT was b. in Eng. ± 1622. He sailed from London Apr 14, 1635 in the "Falcon" for the Barbadoes to join his brother Richard who had already settled there. He is shown as age 13 in the passenger list.

In 1638 Richard was listed as an inhabitant of the Barbadoes having over 10 acres of land, and he is also listed as one of the first purchasers, in 1638, in Taunton, Mass. thus prob. marking the year that the two brothers removed from the Barbadoes to Taunton.

JAMES was in Newport, R.I. in 1639 but his home seems to have been with his brother's family in Taunton, his brother having soon died.

He m. ANNA ---- , identity unknown. He was a carpenter. He was a surveyor of highways in 1645 and 1654. On Dec 26, 1651 he bought a homestead on the west side of the Taunton River. In June 1668 he was one of the associates who received land secured by Indian treaty known as the North Purchase and, in 1672, he received land obtained by the Indian treaty known as the South Purchase.

He was one of the 23 proprietors who, Oct 21, 1652 at a town meeting, agreed to construct an iron works on the Two Mile River at Taunton. It was organized in 1653-4 and started making iron in 1656.

His wife, ANNA, d. at Taunton Aug 17, 1665. He d. there prob. in 1681. His will dated Mar 2, 1681 mentions his four children, also grandson JACOB HATHAWAY.

On Dec 28, 1659 he had six heads in his family indicating that his four children were all b. before that date.

Their children, all prob. b. in Taunton:

34 - SIMMONS

The name variously spelled Symonson, Simonson, Symons, Symonds, Simonds, etc. became SIMMONS in America.

MOSES[1] SIMMONS was prob. b. in Leyden, Holland, and prob. the son of William Symonson whose house was next door, in Bell Alley, Leyden, to the house of Rev. John Robinson who was a leader of the Pilgrims there. William Symonson may have been an English refugee who was in communion with the Dutch church in Leyden. Edward Winslow, a Mayflower Pilgrim, in his "Brief Narration" published in London in 1649, says : "Moses Symonson, because a child of one who was in communion with the Dutch church in Leyden, is admitted into church fellowship at Plymouth in New England, and his children also to baptism, as well as our own."

MOSES SIMONSON came to New Eng. in the ship FORTUNE. It sailed from London early in July 1621 and because of wind conditions did not clear the channel until the end of August and arrived at Plymouth in New Eng. Nov 9, 1621, the second ship to arrive there. It is thought that MOSES was then a very young man, prob. in his teens.

In the division of land in 1623 and in the division of cattle in 1627 he received only a single man's share, thereby showing that he was not married until after 1627. He m. ± 1632, SARAH ---- , identity unknown.

He was in Duxbury before 1637 and in that year was one of a jury of twelve to set out highways about Plymouth, Duxbury and the Eel River. In 1638/9 he received a grant of land of 40 acres. He later received grants of land in Bridgewater and Middleborough and was one of the original proprietors of these places. These lands were sold or deeded to his children before he died as no real estate was bequeathed in his will.

He d. in Duxbury in 1691, prob. ± 85 years old. His wife, not ment. in his will, d. before the date thereof, June 17, 1689. His inventory taken Sept 10, 1691 totalled £53, 11s. He made bequests to: dau. Mary Alden; son Aaron; dau. Elizabeth Dwelley; dau. Sarah Nash; son JOHN. His son Moses, Jr. and dau. Rebecca Soule predeceased him and are not mentioned. Son JOHN appointed executor.

Their children, all prob. b. in Duxbury, dates and order of b. uncertain:

35 - PABODIE

JOHN[1] PABODIE is said to have been b. in Noseley parish, co. Leicestershire, Eng. He m. in Eng. ISABEL HARPER and emigrated to New Eng. where he is first found of record at Duxbury, Mass. in 1634 when "a palisade was ordered to be made beyond the creek at Eagle's Nest where Standish, Brewster and Paybody lived." He took the freeman's oath Mar 7, 1636/7.

On Jan 1, 1637/8 he received a grant of 10 acres of land at Duxbury, bounded on the southwest by the sea and on the east by the Blew Fish River, and on Nov 2, 1640 he received a grant of 30 acres of land, with meadow to it, at North River. He also had land in Marshfield.

He was member of a jury which convicted three young Englishmen of the murder of an Indian Sept 4, 1639, and of "the Grand Inquest" at the court June 4, 1639.

He d. ± 1666. His will dated July 16, 1649 was proved Apr 27, 1667. In it he mentions his sons Thomas, Francis and WILLIAM, and dau. Annis Rouse, to each of whom he gave one shilling. He gave land in Marshfield to son-in-law John Rouse. All the rest of his goods he left to his wife ISABEL who survived him.

Their children, all b. in England:

i. Thomas, b. ---- ; No record found of him in America
ii. Francis, b. ± 1613; he is prob. the Francis Pabodie who came in the Planter in 1635 and settled in Ipswich, Mass.
iii. WILLIAM, b. ± 1620; SEE RECORD BELOW
iv. Annis , b. ---- ; d. ± 1688; m. John Rouse of Marshfield

WILLIAM[2] PABODIE (John[1]) was b. in Eng. ± 1620 and came to Duxbury, Mass. with his parents about 1634. He m. at Plymouth Dec 26, 1644, ELIZABETH ALDEN, b. at Plymouth in 1624, dau of JOHN[1] and PRISCILLA (MULLINS) ALDEN who came in the MAYFLOWER in 1620 (See Fam. 36 - ALDEN). He is variously recorded as a yeoman, boatman, planter, wheelwright and land surveyor. He was listed as one of the men able to bear arms in Duxbury in 1643 and he served in the military company under Capt. Miles Standish in that year.

They lived about 40 years at Duxbury where, Nov 1, 1648, he bought a dwelling house, garden, stables, land and meadow. He also became owner of other lands in Duxbury. In a deed dated Apr 2, 1659 he received Lot #14 (of 26 lots) in the original purchase from the Indians of the tract that became Freetown, Mass. (See Fam. 30 - WINSLOW). He returned this lot to the Colony, prob. in exchange for lands elsewhere. In a drawing at Duxbury in 1674 he received lot #8 (of 32 lots) in the original tract of land purchased from the Indians in 1673, which became the town of Little Compton, Mass. (now in R.I.). In subsequent land acquisitions there to 1694, and drawings, he received several more lots and, by buying, selling and trading, he became the owner of most of the land in an area three quarters of a mile square in LC which had formerly been on the reservation of Awashonks, queen of the Sogonates. They removed from DUXBURY to LC ± 1684.

He was elected as repr. from Duxbury to the Gen. Court at Plymouth in 1654-63, 1668, 1670-77 and 79-82, altogether 23 years. He was selectman at Duxbury 1668, 1672-75, 80 and 84, and town clerk 1666-84.

Several towns in the New Eng. colonies were devastated during King Philip's War and inhabitants were severely distressed. Several charitable people of Ireland sent a cargo of goods in the ship "Katherine of Dublin", in 1676, the proceeds of which were to be distributed to the needy. In March 1676-77, WILLIAM PABODIE and Josiah Standish were appointed to distribute to the needy of Duxbury the amount proportioned to the town. On July 7, 1677 he was appointed on a committee to hear complaints and demands of persons to whom the Colony was indebted, relating to the late war with the Indians.

He was a selectman at LC in 1685-86 and a magistrate of Bristol Co. in 1686-90. He had many surveying assignments over the years, mostly associated with Constant Southworth:

June 10, 1662, at Duxbury, to lay out 230 acres for Capt. Standish.
1674-1694. Surveying and laying out lots at LC for each new tract of land when purchased from the Indians to enlarge the town.

They both d. at LC. He on Dec 13, 1707 and she on May 31, 1717. The following account of her death appeared in the Boston Newsletter on June 17, 1717: "Little Compton May 31. This morning died here Mrs. Elizabeth Paybody, late wife of Mr. William Paybody in the 93d year of her age. She was the daughter of John Alden Esq. and Priscilla Mullins his wife, daughter of Mr. William Mullins. This John Alden and Priscilla Mullins were married at Plymouth in New England, where their daughter Elizabeth was born. She was exemplary, virtuous and pious, and her memory is blessed. Her grand-daughter Bradford is a grandmother."

They are both bur. in the Old Commons Cemetery in Little Compton, now in R.I. His gravestone reads: "Here Lyeth Buried ye Body of William Pabodie who departed this life December ye 13th 1707 in ye 88 yeare of his age." A monument in her memory was erected on the lot in 1882.

Inscription on the East face: ERECTED JUNE 1882

Inscription on the North face: "Elizabeth Pabodie daughter of the Mayflower Pilgrims, John Alden and Priscilla Mullin, the first white woman born in New England.

Her gravestone was imbedded in the West face. It reads:
"Here lyeth the body of Elizabeth the wife of William Pabodie, who dyed May ye 31st 1717 and in the 94th year of her age."

Their gravestones have both been recut.

His will made May 13, 1707 was proved Feb 27, 1707/8. In it he mentioned and provided for his wife ELIZABETH, and also ment. son William, daus. Mary, MERCY, Martha, Priscilla, Ruth, Sarah, Hannah and Lydia. Children not ment. predeceased him. His inventory totalled £407, 14s, and included 70 acres of land @ £315, and a dwelling house and half of barn @ £30, also livestock, farm tools, household furnishings, etc.

36 - ALDEN

JOHN[1] ALDEN was b. in Eng. ± 1599, place unknown. It has been stated that he prob. came from Harwich in co. Essex. He came to New Eng. in the ship MAYFLOWER which sailed from Southampton Aug 5, 1620, he having been hired there as a cooper to serve the colonists for one year. Prob. influenced by his association with PRISCILLA MULLINS during the voyage, he joined the Pilgrims as is evidenced by his signing of the Mayflower Compact in the cabin of the Mayflower at Cape Cod Nov 11, 1620, he being the seventh (and youngest) of 41 signers. The ship landed in Plymouth harbor, where the Pilgrims settled, Dec 11, 1620.

In 1621, or early in 1622, he m. at Plymouth, PRISCILLA MULLINS, b., place unknown, ± 1602, who came to Plymouth with her parents, WILLIAM and ALICE ( ) MULLINS in 1620 in the MAYFLOWER. They had been members of the Leyden, Holland Pilgrim congregation (See Fam. 37 - MULLINS). This was the second or third marriage in the Colony.

He received two acres of land in 1624, in the division of lands, and they also participated in the division of cattle in 1627. He prob. lived on land which in later records is called the Town Commons. In 1627 he was one of six settlers who removed to Duxbury and founded the town. In the winters, they returned to Plymouth to facilitate their meetings and for their mutual defense in case of Indian attack. In Jan 1628 he received 20 acres of land in Duxbury on the south side of Blue Fish River. He built his house there on a site near Eagle Tree pond. He had another grant of over 109 acres.

Very little is recorded of the person PRISCILLA. She is said to have been dark haired and dark eyed and noted for her dainty cooking. Longfellow, in his "The Courtship of Miles Standish" has created a beautiful and romantic poem about her, but it is considered to be pure fiction. JOHN ALDEN and Miles Standish did enjoy a lifelong friendship which started aboard the Mayflower.

In 1633 he was chosen a member of the Board of Assistants to the Governor, and continued with few interruptions the rest of his life, serving as Assistant under Governors Bradford, Edward Winslow, Prince, Josiah Winslow and Thomas Hinckly, all of whom, except Hinckly, he survived. In 1666 to 1687 he was first on the Board of Assistants and was styled Deputy Governor, and "on him devolved the duty of presiding in the absence of the Governor; and on these occasions he ruled with dignity and perseverance. Holding offices of the highest trust, no important measure was proposed, or any responsible agency ordered in which he had not a part. He was often one of the Council of War, many times an arbitrator, a surveyor of lands for the Government, as well as for individuals, and on several important occasions was authorized to act as Agent or Attorney for the Colony. He was chosen Treasurer in 1656 and held that office for three years." He was not an Assistant from 1640 to 1650, and during those years was Deputy from Duxbury.

He was a Puritan, a firm supporter of the clergy and the church, and was determinedly opposed to the Quakers.

In those days the salary of public officers was small and he never became a wealthy man. In their own late years, after their house burned down, they went to live with their son Jonathan in the house now known as the John Alden House in Duxbury. The house, a historic house, is still standing (seen in 1980) and is open to the public in the summer months.

The last mention of PRISCILLA was in 1680 when there was present at the funeral of Gov. Josiah Winslow "the venerable John Alden with Priscilla upon his arm."

He d. in Duxbury Sept 12, 1687, in his 88th year, the last survivor of the signers of the Mayflower Compact. He left no will and only a small estate, he having given his land to his children before he died. In the settlement of his estate, June 13, 1688, his children signed receipts for their portions, but his wife's name does not appear. She may have predeceased him, but certainly was not living in Jan 1688/9.

Their children, b. in Plymouth and Duxbury:

i. ELIZABETH, b. 1624; SEE RECORD BELOW

ii. John , b. ± 1626; d. Boston Mar 14, 1701/2; m. (1) before 1659, Elizabeth ---- ; (2) Apr 1, 1660, Elizabeth (Phillips) Everill, wid. of Abiel, dau of William Phillips of Boston. John Alden was Capt., Naval commander of Mass. Bay Colony. Jailed 15 wks, 1692, for witchcraft in Boston. Dischgd 1693.

iii. Joseph , b. 1627; d. Bridgewater Feb 8, 1696/7; m. 1664 Mary Simmons, dau of Moses and Sarah (----) Simmons (See Fam. 34 - Simmons).

iv. Sarah , b. ± 1629; d. in Dux. bef. 1688; m. Alexander Standish, son of Capt. Miles Standish.

v. Jonathan , b. ± 1633; d. in Dux. Feb 14, 1697/8; m. Dec 10, 1672, Abigail Hallett, dau of Andrew and Ann (Bessee).

vi. Ruth , b. ± 1635; d. Braintree Oct 12, 1674; m. in Dux. Feb 3, 1657/8, John Bass, son of Samuel and Ann Bass. Their dau. Hannah Bass, b. June 22, 1667 m. 1688, in Braintree (now Quincy), Mass., Joseph Adams of Braintree, and she was grandmother and great-grandmother of JOHN ADAMS and JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, the 2nd and 6th Presidents of the United States.

vii. Rebecca , b. ± 1637; no further record

viii. Priscilla, b. ---- ; living in 1688, no further record

ix. Zachariah, b. ± 1641; m. Mary ---- .

x. Mary , b. ± 1643; d. bef. Oct 1699; m. 1667, Thomas Delano, son of Philip and Hester (Dewsbury) Delano.

xi. David , b. 1646; m. ± 1670, Mary Southworth, dau of Constant and Elizabeth (Collier) Southworth.

ELIZABETH[2] ALDEN (John[1]) was b. in Plymouth in 1624 and is called "the first white woman b. in New Eng." This has been questioned but no record has been found of a woman b. earlier in New Eng. She m. there Dec 26, 1644, WILLIAM[2] PABODIE, son of JOHN[1] and ISABEL (HARPER) PABODIE (See Fam. 35 - PABODIE).

37 - MULLINS

WILLIAM[1] MULLINS and his family are of uncertain origin. It has been claimed that they were French Huguenots who joined with the Pilgrims at Leyden, Holland. It is probable that they were English, and prob. from Dorking, co. Surrey. They were members of the Pilgrim congregation at Leyden, and presumably were in the Pilgrim party which sailed in the SPEEDWELL from Delft-Haven, Holland, July 22, 1620, for rendezvoux with the MAYFLOWER at Southampton. On Aug 5th the Mayflower and the Speedwell set sail from Southampton bound for America. Due to the leaky Speedwell, the ships put in at Dartmouth for repairs, and again at Plymouth where the Speedwell was declared unsafe and was given up. There, also, persons wishing not to proceed were dismissed to return to London. Some of the Speedwell passengers boarded the Mayflower and some passengers of both ships were left behind to come later. On Sept 6, 1620 the MAYFLOWER sailed from Plymouth with 100 Pilgrims aboard and among them was WILLIAM MULLINS and his family.

His family consisted of himself, his wife ALICE ---- , his son Joseph, his dau PRISCILLA, and Robert Carter, a servant.

The Mayflower arrived in Cape Cod harbor Nov 11, 1620 when, in the ship's cabin, the Mayflower Compact was signed. His signature was 10th of the 41 who signed. The Mayflower landed at Plymouth in New England on Dec 11, 1620.

During that first winter, mostly due to inadequate diet and housing, many of the Pilgrims died. WILLIAM MULLINS d. there Feb 21, 1620/1 and left a will which was taken back to Eng. by Capt. Jones of the Mayflower when it sailed Apr 2, 1621 for the return voyage to Eng. His wife, ALICE, and son Joseph were both living Apr 2nd when the Mayflower sailed, but d. soon after. The servant, Robert Carter, also d. Only PRISCILLA survived.

Copies of the will appear in NEHGR, Vol. 42, p.63, in Water's Genealogical Gleanings in England, and in Vol. I of the MAYFLOWER DESCENDANT. In it he ments. his wife, ALICE, his son Joseph and dau PRISCILLA, also his eldest son William and dau Sarah in England. The will was proved at Dorking, co. Surrey, Eng. July 23, 1621 and his dau Sarah Blunden was appointed admx. Generally he left property in Virginia (New Eng.) to family here, and prop. in Eng. to son and dau there. He gave to his son William, in Eng., "all my debts, bonds, bills given as aforesaid with all the stock in his own hands." Thus it appears that WILLIAM MULLINS had lived in co. Surrey, at Dorking or nearby in that court's jurisdiction, and that he had been a merchant there, possibly his place of origin.

Morton, in his Memorial, p.50, says of him: "A man pious and well deserving , endowed also with a considerable outward estate, and had it been the will of God that he had survived, might have proved a useful instrument in this place."

Their children, place of birth uncertain:

i. Sarah , b. ---- ; m. ---- Blunden. Lived in Dorking

ii. William , b. ---- ; m. ----, had children; d. in Braintree, Mass. Feb 12, 1672/3; Was in Plymouth, Mass. in 1633 when he received grant of land, freeman 1642, in Duxbury 1643, rec'd land in Middleborough 1662 and 1664.

iii. Joseph , b. ---- ; d. at Plymouth in 1621, after Apr 2nd

iv. PRISCILLA, b. ± 1602; SEE RECORD BELOW

PRISCILLA[2] MULLINS (William[1]) b. ± 1602, place unknown but perhaps in Dorking, co. Surrey, Eng. Came to Plymouth in New Eng. with her parents, in the MAYFLOWER in 1620. She was then about 18 years old.

She was the heroine in Longfellow's poem "The Courtship of Miles Standish" which was romantic but is considered to be fictional.

She m. at Plymouth in 1621 or early 1622, JOHN ALDEN who also came to New England in 1620 in the MAYFLOWER (See Fam. 36 - ALDEN).

38 - CHURCH

RICHARD[1] CHURCH was b. in Eng., place uncertain, ± 1608, and came to New Eng. in 1630, being listed as one of the passengers in the Winthrop Fleet and as a servant of a Mr. Webb. He was one of those who requested to be admitted as freemen in Mass. Bay Colony on Oct 19, 1630. He was a carpenter and in 1631 was at Wessagussett (Weymouth) in Mass. Bay Colony in the service of Mr. Webb. He was freed from that service and was at Plymouth in Plym. Col. before Feb 6, 1631/2, the date of a letter by Gov. Bradford of Plymouth to Gov. Winthrop of Mass. Bay Colony in which he wrote:

"Richard Church came likewise as a soujourner to worke for ye present; though he is still hear residente longer than he purpossed; and what he will doe, neither we, nor I thinke him selfe knowes; but if he resolve here to setle we shall require of him to procure a dismision; but he did affirm to us at ye first that he was one of Mr. Webbs men, and freed to goe for England or whither he would, ye wch we ye rather beleved because he came to us from Wessagussett upon faling out with his partner."

He was admitted freeman in Plym. Col. Jan 2, 1632/3 and settled at Eel River there.

He m. at Plym., about 1635-6, ELIZABETH WARREN, b. in Eng., dau of RICHARD[1] and ELIZABETH ( ) WARREN. She came to Plym. with her mother and four sisters in the ANNE in 1623 and joined her father who came in the MAYFLOWER in 1620 (See Fam. 39 - WARREN).

In 1633 he took an apprentice to serve him for seven years to learn the carpentry trade. At court June 7, 1637 he offered to give service, and served, in the Pequot War. He, with John Tomson, built the first church in Plym.. In 1642 he built the carriage for another piece of ordnance for the fort on Fort Hill. In 1643, in Plym., he was listed as one of those men between the ages of 16 and 60 who were able to bear arms, and twice in 1648, in Plym. Col. records, he is called "Sergeant".

He owned lands at Eel River in Plym. On June 3, 1647 he made an exchange of lands at Eel River and bought and sold lands there in that year. On Apr 9, 1649 he sold land at Eel River to Robert Bartlett, his brother-in-law, and this may mark the time that he removed from Plym. On June 1, 1649 he is living in Barnstable. On July 13, 1649 he, called "of Eastham", bought land in Marshfield and presumably moved there, then sold part of it Oct 22, 1650 and moved to Charlestown. He moved to Hingham about 1653 and lived there the remainder of his life. He bought six acres of land there Jan 24, 1653 and also, on the same date, bought a half interest in a tide mill there. He was a selectman there in 1665.

He made a deposition at Sandwich, Aug 25, 1664, in which he gave his age as "about 56 years."

He, of Hingham, d. at Dedham Dec 27, 1668 and was bur. at Hingham. She d. at H. Mar 9, 1669/70. His will dated Dec 25, 1668 was pvd. Jan 26, 1668/9. In it he left his entire estate to his wife Elizabeth for her use during her lifetime, then to be equally divided among his children except that son JOSEPH was to receive a double portion by reason of the lameness of his hand "whereby hee is disinabled above the rest of my children for getting of a livlihood." His inventory totalling £365, 14s included a dwelling house, barn and orchard; a six acre lot; half a tide mill; two acres of land lying by the mill; his share of the iron works at Taunton.

Their children:

i. Elizabeth, b. ---- ; died young

ii. JOSEPH , b. 1638 ; SEE RECORD BELOW

iii. Benjamin , b. 1640 ; d. Jan 17, 1717/18 at Little Compton in his 78th year, m. at Hingham, Dec 26, 1667, Alice Southworth, dau of Constant and Elizabeth (Collier) Southworth. Col. Benj. Church was the famous Indian warrior who was overall commander of the Colonial troops in King Philips War. He was wounded in the Narragansett Swamp Fight, Dec 19, 1675 and was organizer of the attack on King Philip in which Philip was killed near Mt. Hope Aug 12, 1676, bringing an end to the War. He was commander-in-chief of the expedition against the Indians at Casco, Maine, Sept 6, 1689, and commanded four later military expeditions. He settled at Little Compton ± 1704.

xv. Deborah , b. at H. Jan 27, bpt Mar 22, 1656/7; d. Boston, Jan 17, 1690; m. Sept 25, 1713, William Briggs, Jr. of Little Compton, R.I. (then Mass.).

JOSEPH[2] CHURCH (Richard[1]) was b. at Plymouth in 1638, and was in Hingham with his parents about 1653 where, Dec 13, 1660, he m. MARY TUCKER, bpt. there Oct 8, 1640, the dau of JOHN TUCKER and his first wife, name unknown. (See Fam. 40 - TUCKER). They lived for many years at Hingham.

He was a carpenter, He had a lame hand and because of it he had received a double portion in his father's will.

On May 26, 1679 he, late of Hingham, carpenter, and Mary, his wife, for £114, sold to John Norton their three lots of land which his father had owned, with the dwelling house, barns and orchards standing upon said land.

On July 31, 1673 a tract of land at Saconett in Plymouth Colony was purchased from Awashonks, the squaw sachem of the Sogkonnite Indians. This land was surveyed and divided into 32 lots and on Apr 10, 1674 a drawing for lots was held in Duxbury. JOSEPH CHURCH drew lots No. 24 and 30 and, possibly as early as 1677, he moved there being one of the earliest settlers. Within the next 20 years several more adjoining tracts were bought from the Indians to enlarge the town and he acquired more land each time in the drawings. By buying, selling and trading, he finally owned, besides other land, three 100 acre lots south of Meeting House Lane in the town.

He was on grand jury in June 1679 and June 1680 and, June 1, 1680, he took the Oath of Fidelity in court at Plymouth.

On Oct 28, 1681, the following order was addressed to him by the Plym. Col. General Court: "Whereas, the court are informed that your neighborhood is destitute of leading men, either to call a meeting or otherwise to act in your public concerns, this court empowers you, the above named JOSEPH CHURCH, to call your neighborhood at Saconett together in convenient time, to make such necessary and wholesome orders as may be for your common good and peace .... ", and choice was to be made and persons sent to said court to serve in the office of constable and as grand jurymen.

At the same Court, June 6, 1682, it is stated: "Upon the petition of Mr. JOSEPH CHURCH, and the rest of the proprietors of Saconett, the Court have granted, that the said propietors and inhabitants that are or shall be there admitted orderly, according to the lawes of this Colonie, Shal be from this time a township, and have the liberties of a towne, as other townes of this Colonie, and shal be called by the name of Little Compton."

Thus the town of Little Compton was organized in Plymouth Col. and it was in Massachusetts until 1746 when it came within the new boundary of Rhode Island.

He was freeman June 6, 1682; selectman 1683 and 1686; Apt'd Ensign June 4, 1686; auth. to solemnize marriages Oct 2, 1689, which auth. he held for most or all of the rest of his life. On Dec 25, 1689 he was apt'd,with two others, for the County of Bristol, to settle charges of the late war. In 1690 and 1691 he was apt'd an Associate for the County. He was Magistrate of Bristol Co. Court in 1690-91; Deputy to the Plym. General Court in 1690; and was repr. to the Mass. General Court in 1697 and 1704.

They both d. at Little Compton, Mass. (now in R.I.), he Mar 5, 1711 and she Mar 21, 1710. Their gravestones in Old Commons cemetery there were seen in 1980. The stones are slate and are well preserved.

His will dated Feb 15, 1711 was pvd. Mar 12, 1711. He gave lands to sons John and Joseph and to daus. Elizabeth Blackman, Mary Wood, Deborah Gray and ABIGAIL SIMMONS. He left shares in the remainder of his estate to his four daus., including "ABIGAIL SIMMONS, wife of WILLIAM." He also gave eight acres at Cokset to Indian boy Amos.

His inventory totalled £669, 14s, and included one negro man.

39 - WARREN

It has been claimed that RICHARD[1] WARREN, the immigrant shown here, was the same person as a certain Richard Warren of Greenwich, in co. Kent, who married there the widow Elizabeth (Juatt) Marsh. This identity has been disproven and is not claimed here.

RICHARD[1] WARREN was b. in Eng., prob. in the early 1580's, and m. there ELIZABETH ---- , who was b. ± 1583, and had five daughters by her, b. in Eng. He, leaving his wife and daughters behind, was one of a group from London who went to Southampton in July 1620, joined there with Pilgrims from Leyden, and set sail with them for America in the MAYFLOWER Aug. 5, 1620. There were stopovers in the ports at Dartmouth and Plymouth, Eng. as the accompanying ship SPEEDWELL was said to be leaking. The SPEEDWELL was abandoned in Plymouth, some passengers transferred to the MAYFLOWER, some from both ships left behind by their own wishes or necessity.

They sailed from Plymouth Sept 6th and arrived in Cape Cod Bay Nov. 11, 1620 and dropped anchor. There, that day aboard ship, the Mayflower Compact was signed, he being the 12th of 41 signers.

It is not known if he was a member of the first two exploring parties sent out from the ship, but in regard to the third company chosen for discovery it was written:

"Wednesday, the 6th of December, it was resolved our discoverers should set forth, for the day before was too foul weather, -- and so they did, though it was well o'er the day ere all things could be ready. So ten of our men were appointed who were of themselves willing to undertake it, to wit, Captain Standish, Master Carver, William Bradford, Edward Winslow, John Tilley, Edward Tilley, John Houland, and three of London, RICHARD WARREN, Steeven Hopkins, and Edward Dotte, and two of our seamen, John Alderton and Thomas English." There were also six members of the ship's crew, presumably to man the ship's shallop, for a total of 18 men.

A ship's shallop was used to carry the men ashore, and from shore to shore landings on Cape Cod and, finally, in Plymouth Bay. There is a lengthy written record of this venture, of which he was a part, telling of the cold weather, wet clothing, sickness, etc. in the search for a suitable place to land and settle.

On the morning of Dec. 8th their barricade was attacked by Indians, who set up a great shouting and firing of arrows which fortunately missed their marks. The Indians were finally driven off by musket fire. This was the first encounter of the Pilgrims with the Indians. They called this place "The First Encounter". That night they came into a harbor and found an island where they stayed overnight.

On the 9th they explored the island and found it safe and to their liking so they established their camp there, and rested there on the 10th, it being the Sabbath.

On the 11th they sounded the harbor and found it good for their ship, and they landed and explored the land and found it good, and they decided to settle there, and this, the 11th of Dec. 1620, is the memorable and historic day of the Landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth. It was only the discovery party, which included RICHARD WARREN, which landed that day. (Because of a ten day error in the calendar used at that time, Dec. 21st is celebrated as Forefather's Day at Plymouth.)

The discoverers then returned to the MAYFLOWER in Cape Cod Bay. The ship weighed anchor on the 15th and sailed to anchorage in Plymouth Bay on the 16th. The Colony was planted there during that winter.

It was a difficult winter. People lived aboard the MAYFLOWER until housing was readied for them on land, built of logs from the nearby forest. Many died that first winter. Of the 101 Mayflower passengers, 45 had died before the end of March 1621, and six more died before the arrival of the FORTUNE, the second ship, Nov. 9, 1621. RICHARD WARREN was one of the 19 signers of the Compact who survived that first winter.

His wife ELIZABETH, and his five daughters: Mary, ANN, Sarah, ELIZABETH, and Abigail, arrived from Eng. in the ANN in July 1623.

In a division of lands in 1623 or early 1624, he received two acres on the north side of town where allotments were made to Mayflower passengers, and five acres on the south side towards the Eel River where allotments were made to Ann passengers, altogether one acre for each member of his family. He made his home at the latter location, later known as Wellingsley or Hobshole. He also became owner of other land along the shore of Warren's Cove. He was at the head of 9th allotment in the division of cattle in 1627. Each allotment was for thirteen persons. His group consisted of himself, his wife, his then seven children, and four others. To them fell one of the four black heifers that came in the Jacob, called "the smooth horned Heyfer", and two she goats.

He d. at Plymouth in 1628, the first to die of those Mayflower passengers who had survived that first year. There are very few references to him in Plymouth Col. Records, doubtless due to his early death. A contemporary authority described him "as a grave Richard Warren", "a man of integrity, justice and uprightness, of piety and serious religion." Another wrote: "1628, this year dies Mr. Richard Warren, a useful instrument and bore a deep share in the difficulties attending the first settlement at New Plymouth." He had two more children: Nathaniel and Joseph, b. at Plymouth.

His widow ELIZABETH did not remarry. She appears to have been a woman of strong character and social position in the colony, and was usually spoken of as "Mistress" Elizabeth Warren, a designation by no means common. She was rated in the earliest tax lists that can be found: Jan 2, 1632/3 and Jan 2, 1633/4.

She was one of the first purchasers at Dartmouth. After her daus. m. she conveyed to their respective husbands certain lands, variously located at Eel River and Wellingsley, indicating that she had more property than found for record of her husband before he died.

At a General Meeting, Mar. 14, 1635/6, it was enacted that Mrs. WARREN, RICH. CHURCH, THO. LITTLE, & Robt. Bartlett mow where they did last year, and that amongst them they provide for John Fans. At the May 5, 1640 session: RICHARD CHURCH, Robt. Bartlett, THOMAS LITTLE, and Mrs. ELIZABETH WARREN are granted enlargements at the heads of their lots to the foote of Pyne Hills, leaving a way betwixt them and the Pyne Hills, for cattell and carts to passe by. .....

She d. at Plym. Oct. 2, 1673 "aged above ninety years." It was entered in Plym. Col. Records that she "having lived a godly life, came to her grave as a shoke of corn fully ripe."

Their children, the first five b. in Eng., the last two b. at Plym.:

i. Mary , b. ---- ; m. in 1628, Robert Bartlett, a fellow passenger on the ANN in 1623.

ii. ANN , b. ± 1612; m. THOMAS LITTLE. SEE RECORD BELOW.

iii. Sarah , b. ---- ; m. Mar. 28, 1644, John Cooke who came with his father, Francis Cooke, in the Mayflower in 1620. They were ancestors of, and had two lines of descent to, FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT, the 32nd President of the U.S.

iv. ELIZABETH, b. ---- ; m. RICHARD CHURCH. SEE RECORD BELOW. They were also ancestors of F. D. ROOSEVELT, Pres. of U.S.

v. Abigail , b. ---- ; m. Nov. 8, 1639, Anthony Snow of Plym.

vi. Nathaniel, b. ± 1624; d. 1667; m. Nov. 19, 1645, Sarah Walker. Their dau. Mercy Warren, b. Feb. 20, 1657/8; m. Feb. 26, 1678, Lieut. Jonathan Delano, and they were ancestors of ULYSSES S. GRANT and FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT, the 18th and 32nd Presidents of the U.S.

vii. Joseph , b. 1627 ; d. May 4, 1689; m. 1651-2, Priscilla Faunce, whose father, John Faunce came in the ANN in 1623.

ANN[2] WARREN (Richard[1]) was b. in Eng. ± 1612 and came to Plymouth with her mother and sisters in the ANN in 1623 to join her father who had came in the MAYFLOWER in 1620. She m. at Plymouth, Apr 19, 1633, THOMAS[1] LITTLE who came from Eng. about 1630 (See Fam. 51 - LITTLE).

ELIZABETH[2] WARREN (Richard[1]) was b. in Eng. date ?, and came to Plymouth with her mother and sisters in the ANN in 1623 to join her father who had came in the MAYFLOWER in 1620. She m. at Plym. about 1635-6, RICHARD[1] CHURCH who came from Eng. in Winthrop's Fleet in 1630. (See Fam. 38 - CHURCH).

40 - TUCKER

George Tucker of "Milton-near-Gravesend", Eng. was a man of note there. Queen Elizabeth conveyed the manor to George Tucker in 1572. He m. Maria Hunter of Gaunte and had five sons, the eldest being George Tucker, m. (1) Elizabeth, dau. of Francis Stoughton and had son George, b. ± 1595. He m. (2) Maria Darrett and had three sons, John b. ±1599, Robert b. 1604 and Henry b. 1612.

It has been an uncertain claim that JOHN TUCKER, recorded herein, was the brother of Robert Tucker who settled in Milton, Mass. and that they were the sons of George and Maria (Darrett) Tucker of Milton-near-Gravesend. Eng. as above. For lack of proof, it is neither claimed nor disclaimed here.

JOHN[1] TUCKER came from Eng. and is first noted of record here when his name appears in the list of those persons in a drawing of lots in Hingham, Mass. when that town was laid out Sept 18, 1635, at which time he was granted a lot of four acres at Broad Cove where, on Lincoln Street, he would later live.

He is said to have lived first at Watertown, Mass. where, on July 25, 1636, as an inhabitant, a John Tucker received a grant of 25 acres, being lot No. 3 in the First Division there. Again, on Feb 28, 1636/7, a John Tucker, an inhabitant, received a grant of plowland, being Lot No. 46, of three acres, allowing one acre for each family member.

The first record of him as a resident of Hingham are the baptisms of his two sons there Jan. 13, 1638/9.

There is no record of his first marriage nor of his first wife's name. She d. at Hingham May 23, 1644 and he m. (2) there, June 11, 1649, Ann, the widow of William Norton.

Most of the information concerning him comes from probate records.

Jan. 25, 1659/60 he was appointed admr. of the estate of Margaret Johnson, widow, who, before witnesses, Jan. 10, 1659/60, made a nuncupative will (oral) in which she said that it had been her husband's will and "so it is mine" that all of their estate shall be to MARY TUCKER. No indication of kinship is given. It appears to have been a matter of affection of the Johnsons for MARY, the dau. of JOHN TUCKER.

The Court ordered him to pay £5 to Rev. Peter Hobart, the minister there, because of the good will and affection of the late Thomas Johnson. MARY TUCKER m. JOSEPH CHURCH and JOHN TUCKER died before the estate was settled. The balance of the estate, value and description unstated, was delivered to JOSEPH CHURCH Oct. 30, 1662.

JOHN TUCKER d. at the house of his son-in-law JOSEPH CHURCH in Hingham, Aug. 5, 1661, from injuries as a result of having been thrown from his horse. There, that day, he made a nuncupative (oral) will, before witnesses, in which he gave to his son John Tucker a double portion, his dau. MARY to have the rest, with requests that they deal righteously with their mother (step-mother) and to remember Rev. Peter Hobart, also goodwife Jacob and goodwife Beals who had been especially helpful to him.

His inventory dated Aug. 8, 1661 totalled £512, 7s, 9d and shows that he had acquired a considerable estate. It included: a dwelling house & a home lot & barn & other housing, £90; 4 acres of pasture land at Broad Cove, £25; salt meadow lying at Broad Cove, £21; 8 acres of land lying in Broad Cove field, £21; 3 great lots lying nigh to Weymouth river amounting to 50 acres or thereabouts, £60; 3 acres of land lying in the neck among the home lots, £5; 2 acres of land at Squirrel hill, £5; 3 planting lots at "ye worlds end" containing 13 acres, £22; a great lot at the great plain containing 14 acres, £3; a 12 acre lot lying at the great plain, £2, 10s.; 2 acres and 3/4 of fresh meadow at Conhavset, £2.

His widow, Ann, d. in Hingham Oct. 8, 1675.

His children, all by his 1st wife, all Hingham records except as shown:

i. Joseph, bpt Jan 13, 1638/9; bur. Dec 5, 1642

ii. John , bpt Jan 13, 1638/9; d. Mar 24, 1687/8; m. at Boston, Mar 12, 1657/8, Elizabeth Hobart, dau. of Edmund and Eliz.

iii. MARY , bpt Oct 8, 1640; SEE RECORD BELOW.

MARY[2] TUCKER (John[1]) was bpt in Hingham Oct 8, 1640. She m. there, Dec 13, 1660, JOSEPH[2] CHURCH, the son of RICHARD[1] and ELIZABETH (WARREN) CHURCH (See Fam. 38 - CHURCH). They received the balance of the Margaret Johnson estate, willed to MARY, on Oct. 30, 1662.

41 - WOOD

JOHN[1] WOOD is first noted of record in New Eng. at Portsmouth, R.I. in 1640. He m. (1) unknown, and (2) Elizabeth ---- .

He was "of Newport", R.I. June 7, 1643 when he was defendant in a suit in the Newport Quarter Sessions Court, and he was a surety in that court in March 1645. In Dec. 1646 he was sued in that court by William Withington. He was granted 40 acres in Newport "near William Weeden's farm."

He was freeman at Portsmouth July 10, 1648, juryman at a trial court at Warwick May 20, 1649; on March 1, 1649/50 he "John Wood, Sr." of Portsmouth bought 45 acres there, near the Newport line.

He d. intestate in Portsmouth in 1655, before March 17th when the Town Council chose appraisers of his estate. The Town Council disposed of his estate as follows: .... To John Wood land in his present possession, he paying his sister, Margaret Manchester, £8. To THOMAS WOOD the land that was his father's in Newport, 40 acres near William Weeden's farm. To William Wood 10 acres where widow now lives. To widow rest of land in her possession to improve for life, she paying eldest son of deceased £4. To two youngest children Susannah and Elizabeth £8 each at age 16. William Wood to have all land in the widow's possession at her decease, she being his mother-in-law (step-mother).

His children, at least the first four by his first wife, places of birth unknown except the last two who were most certain to have been b. in Portsmouth being under age 16 in 1655:

i. George , b. .... ; no further record
ii. John , b. 1620 ; d. in LC, R.I., 1704; m. Mary Peabody, dau. of John Peabody of Portsmouth iii. THOMAS , b. 1638 ; SEE RECORD BELOW.
iv. William , b. ± 1640; d. Feb 3, 1696; m. Martha Earle, dau. of Ralph and Joan (Savage) Earle of Portsmouth
v. Margaret, b. .... ; m. before Mar 17, 1655, Thomas Manchester.
vi. Susannah, b. .... ; living, under age 16, Mar 17, 1655
vii. Elizabeth, b. ....; under age 16, Mar 17, 1655; m. in Swansea, Mass. Dec 5, 1677 or 78, Samuel Wheaton.

THOMAS[2] WOOD (John[1]) b. place unknown, 1638. He m., place and date unknown, REBECCA .... .

On Jan. 1, 1657 he sold the 40 acres in Newport that he had acquired from his father's estate. He was a freeman at Portsmouth, R.I. in 1658 where they probably lived until 1680 when, on May 7, 1680, he and his wife Rebecca of Swansea, Mass. sold for £24, 12 acres in Portsmouth.

On Sept 7, 1681 he took the freeman's oath in Swansea; in 1686-87 he was surveyor of highways for Bristol, R.I.; in 1690 he was Deputy. He was styled "Colonel", the reason unknown.

He d. in 1704, prob. in Swansea. His wife may have predeceased him. Their children, b. in Portsmouth and Swansea:

42 - THURSTON

EDWARD[1] THURSTON was b. ± 1617, prob. in Eng., and is first of record in New Eng. by his m. at Newport, R.I. in June 1647 to ELIZABETH MOTT, b. in Eng. ± 1629, the dau of ADAM and ELIZABETH (CREEL) MOTT (See Fam. 43 - MOTT). Their marriage is the third on the record of the Society of Friends in Newport. She came to New Eng. with her father and step-mother in the ship Defence, of London, which sailed from there in mid-July 1635 and arrived in Boston Oct 8, 1635. She was with them at Roxbury and Hingham, Mass. before they settled in Portsmouth, R.I. in 1638.

He was a Quaker. They lived in Newport where he was freeman in 1655; Commissioner 1663; Deputy 1667, 71-74, 80-86; Assistant 1675, 86, 90, 91.

Aug 26, 1686. He signed, with other Quakers, an address to the King in regard to the writ of Quo Warranto. They desired to be excused from bearing arms, being a peaceable people, and "willing to pay all just rates and duties for carrying on the commonwealth's affairs" ....

Jan. 30, 1690. He with five other Assistants and Deputy Governor Greene wrote a letter to William and Mary, congratulating them on their accession to the crown and informing them that ..... the former government under the charter had been re-assumed.....

They d. at Newport. She Sept 2, 1694 and he Mar 1, 1707. His will dated Jan. 11, 1704/5 was pvd. Mar 12, 1707. In it, which is in bad condition and barely readable, he mentions sons-in-law, sons and grandchildren, including ELIZABETH, dau of his son JONATHAN.

JONATHAN[2] THURSTON (Edward[1]) was b. in Newport, R.I., Jan 4, 1659. he m. ± 1678, SARAH ---- . They lived first in Newport but were soon in Little Compton where they lived on the Main Road. There is very little record of them in their lifetimes. The length of time between the births of his first and last child, 38 years, suggests that he may have had two wives named SARAH. He was a planter.

He, a widower, died in Dartmouth, Mass. in 1740. His wife had prob. d. in LC. His will dated Aug 22, 1735 was pvd. Apr 15, 1740: ".... 43 - MOTT

JOHN[1] MOTT was prob. the same person as the "John Mott" of Saffron Walden, co. Essex, Eng., for whom the following entries appear in the parish records there:

Bur. Jan 2, 1610/11, Elizabeth, wife of John Mott
Bur. Mar 4, 1619, Catherine, wife of John Mott
Bur. Jan 2, 1616/17, Ann, dau. of John Mott
Bpt. Sep 29, 1625, Elizabeth, dau of John and Mary Mott

He was first of record in New Eng. by his being admitted inhabitant at Portsmouth, R.I. in 1638, where his son ADAM had settled. He apparently did not come from Eng. with his son ADAM in 1635 as his name does not appear in the ship's passenger list. His land at Portsmouth is mentioned in 1639.

On Aug 29, 1644 it was ordered in town meeting that Mr. Baulstone was to get £9 a year for the keep of John Mott.

On Jan 25, 1648/9 it was ordered that John Mott shall be provided for of "meate, drinke, & lodging and washing" by George Parker who was to get 5s a week.

On June 12, 1649 ADAM MOTT offered a cow forever, and 5 bu.of corn per year so long as the old man shall live, towards his maintenance so that he might be discharged from any further charge. The townsmen also gave corn to a total of 40 bu. and it was concluded that Mr. Baulstone should have the 40 bu. of corn, and the use of the cow this present year for which Mr. Baulstone would keep "ould father Mott" this present year.

Thereafter, yearly, to 1655, the town provided for "ould John Mott" to be kept by various townsmen for a specific amount of pay, and also to have the use of the cow, and receive the 5 bu. of corn provided by Adam.

The order of June 9, 1652 also provided "that there shalbe a stone house built for the more comfortable beinge of ould John Mott ... "

On Jan 23, 1654/5 it was agreed by the town "to pay ould John Mott's passage to the Barbades Iland and back again if he cannot be received there, if he live to it, if the ship owners will carry him."

In NEHGR, Vol. 68, p.179, we find that "John Ruffe of Barbados, planter, and James Bycot of the same, barber, sell 4 Mar 1656/7 to Capt. William Mott of the same Island, gentleman, part of a messuage where said Mott now liveth." It is prob. that William Mott was a son of JOHN MOTT and presumably it was to him that JOHN was to be sent. Apparently JOHN did not go, or was not received, as on July 3, 1656, at Portsmouth town meeting, it was ordered that John Teft shall have £13, 6s, 8d to keep ould John Mott this year .... , and £4, 9s for part of last year, also to get use of the cow, etc.

The entry of July 3, 1656 is the last record found of him. He presumably d. soon after. His family of known record consisted of his son ADAM in Portsmouth, and prob. a son William in the Barbadoes.

ADAM[2] MOTT (John[1]) was b. in Eng., ± 1596, prob. at Saffron Walden, co. Essex, where the surname occurs as far back as 1570 in the parish register, and where he m. (1) Oct 28, 1616, ELIZABETH CREEL. He m. (2) in the neighboring parish of Horseheath, in co. Cambridgeshire (Cambs.), May 11, 1635, Sarah Lott, a widow, b. ± 1604. They, with their family, sailed from London in the ship DEFENCE, in mid-July 1635 and landed in Boston Oct 8, 1635. In the passenger list they are shown as being from Cambridge, co. Cambs., but are like to have been originally from one of the nearby parishes shown above. Their names, and ages (not always accurate), are listed as: Adam Mott, age 39; his wife Sarah, 31; and children - John 14; Adam, 12; Jonathan, 9; Elizabeth, 6; and Mary Lott, 4. The last child being by wife's former husband. Before embarking he "brought testimony from the Justice of Peace, and minister in Cambridge, of his conformity to the orders and discipline of the Church of England. He had taken the Oath of Allegiance and Supremacy.

He was adm. freeman at Roxbury, Mass. May 25, 1636 and he and his wife were members of the First Church at Roxbury in 1636. He soon removed to Hingham, Mass. where he had a grant of land in 1636.

He apparently was in sympathy with the teachings of Mrs. Ann Hutchinson as he joined the group of her followers at Portsmouth, R.I. in 1638, being admitted as an inhabitant there that year. On June 23, 1638 he had a grant of land there on the west side of the spring, another grant Aug 23, 1638, and another May 27, 1644.

On Sept 6, 1638 the Mass. authorities directed the constable at Hingham to attach him and bring him before the Governor or some one of the Council. The order was not put into effect as he had left the jurisdiction.

He was one of the repr. from Portsmouth to the General Court in Newport on Mar 12, 1640 and at this court he was one of five men chosen to lay out the lands for the Town of Portsmouth.

He was clerk of the Military Company in 1642. On Feb 2, 1651/2 he was one of 15 men chosen to authorize land grants in the town. On Oct 27, 1658 he was one of the six men chosen as Commissioners to meet at Warwick with other Commissioners on Nov 2, 1658.

He d. in Portsmouth in Aug. 1661. His wife survived him. His will dated Apr 2, 1661 was proved Aug 31, 1661. He left his house and lands to his wife for use during her lifetime, then to be divided among children. He ments. sons John, Adam, Jacob, Eleazer, Gershom, and dau. ELIZABETH THURSTON.

His inventory taken in Aug. 1661 totalled £372, 6s. indicates his occupation as a planter. It included house and land £150; 4 oxen, 5 cows, bull, horse, mare, colt, 2 calves, 30 ewe sheep, 2 rams, 6 swine, wampum peage (?), feather beds, pewter platters and other household goods, 1½ acres wheat, 2 acres oats, 2 acres peas, 3 acres Indian corn, etc.

His children by his first wife, ELIZABETH CREEL, prob. b. at Saffron Walden or nearby:

i. A son , bur at S.W. June 18, 1617
ii. John , bpt. " " Sep 6, 1618; was living Aug. 1661. Believed to have removed to another place.
iii. Adam , b. ± 1623; d. after 1673; m. Mary Lott, his step-sister.
iv. Jonathan, b. ± 1626; prob. d. unm., not ment.in father's will
v. ELIZABETH, b. ± 1629; SEE RECORD BELOW.

His children by his second wife, Sarah Lott, b. at Portsmouth, R.I.:

vi. Jacob , b. ± 1637; d. Nov 15, 1711; m. Joanna Slocum, dau of Giles and Joan ( ) Slocum.
vii. Eleazer , b. ---- ; living in Aug 1661 viii. Gershom , b. ---- ; d. 1698; m. ----

ELIZABETH[3] MOTT (Adam[2], John[1]) was b. in Eng., perhaps at Saffron Walden co. Essex, ± 1629. She came to New Eng. with her father and step-mother in the ship DEFENCE in 1635. She m. at Newport, R.I., June 1647, EDWARD[1] THURSTON who was first of record in New Eng. by this marriage. (See Fam. 42 - THURSTON).

44 - BAILEY

WILLIAM[1] BAILEY, according to tradition among older members of the family, came from London and was a weaver of silk ribbon. He is first of record here as a resident of Newport, R.I. where he prob. settled in the 1640s. He m., date unknown, prob. in Portsmouth, R.I., GRACE PARSONS, dau. of HUGH and ELIZABETH ( ) (England) PARSONS of Portsmouth (See Fam. 45 - PARSONS). They lived in Newport.

On June 14, 1655 he bought of Gabriel Hicks certain land bounded partly by the sea. On March 5, 1656 he, with Gabriel Hicks, sold 21 acres in Newport.

He d. before July 20, 1670 and his widow m. (2) Thomas Lawton of Portsmouth. She d. sometime after 1677.

Their children, prob. b. in Newport:

i. JOHN, b. 1653; SEE RECORD BELOW
ii. Hugh, b. ----; d. 1724; m. (1) Anna, who d. Feb 26, 1721; m. (2) May 30, 1724, Abigail Williams.

There is ground for belief that the following were also their children:

iii. Joseph , b. ---- ; d. ---- .
iv. Edward , b. ---- ; d. 1712; m. Frances ---- .
v. Stephen, b. 1665 ; d. Oct 17, 1724; m. Susanna ---- .

JOHN[2] BAILEY (William[1]) was b. in Newport, R.I. in 1653. He m. SUTTON ----, b. ± 1655, origins unknown. They lived in Portsmouth, R.I. and in Newport. He was a weaver and a planter. Records link together and confirm four generations of the Bailey family.

Apr 20, 1677. He leased dwelling house, land and orchard of his step-father, Thomas Lawton, in Portsmouth, and agreed to pay therefor £10 per year to his mother GRACE LAWTON ..... On the same date he gave a bond for £80 to Thomas Lawton ..... for and in behalf of GRACE BAILEY, widow and relict unto WILLIAM BAILEY, and their children, and he agreed to fulfil the terms of the bond after the death of his mother GRACE.

Sept 25, 1682 at Newport. He, late of Portsmouth, for £140, bought 50 acres in Newport, and buildings, garden, etc., and Feb 14, 1687 he and his wife SUTTON sold , for £146, a house and 100 acres in Puncatest. He also owned land in Little Compton, and probably other properties.

They are bur. in the old Bailey cemetery at Middletown, R.I., which adjoins the backyard of the farmhouse located at the corner of Berkeley Ave. and Wyatt Road. It has been designated, and is marked, "Rhode Island Historical Cemetery - Town of Middletown - 10." Their gravestones, of slate, were seen in 1980 and read:

John Baly died Janury 13th, 1735/36 in ye 83d year of his age.

Sutton ye wife of John Baley died Febray 13, 1729/30 aged 75 years.

This was on the old Bailey farm. This is undoubtedly the farm given in his will to his son Samuel, "whereon my dwelling house now stands", and stated as being in Newport. In 1753 the town of Newport was divided into two towns, the northeast division being incorporated as Middletown.

His will dated May 8, 1733 was pvd. Feb 2, 1735/36. He gave several pieces of land in Little Compton, also some cattle and sheep and £200, to his grandsons WILLIAM, John, Samuel and George, sons of his son WILLIAM, deceased. To dau-in-law DOROTHY BAILEY, a third of income of the above given real estate ..... in order to bring up these grandchildren, each to have as they are of age, the real estate bequeathed them.

He gave to his sons Thomas, John and Samuel, altogether, several pieces of land in Little Compton, Portsmouth and Newport. One parcel in Newport stated as being "whereon my dwelling house now stands." He also gave them a total of £1340, a herd of cattle and a flock of sheep and lambs.

He also made bequests to daus. Mary Reynolds, Abigail Weeden, Martha Simmons, and Jane Rogers.; sons-in-law Daniel Seabury, Jabez Reynolds, and William Weeden; dau-in-law Alice Bailey; gr.dau. Sarah Walsworth, dau of dau Ruth Walsworth, deceased. Altogether these, about £400 and personal property.

To his sons John Bailey and Samuel Bailey he gave "all my looms and weaving tackle", also provisions laid in store for family use.

His inventory totalled £4770, indicating that he was of some wealth.

Their children, b. in Portsmouth and Newport:

i. Sarah , b. Feb 27, 1681; m. Daniel Seabury
ii. George , b. ---- ; no further record
iii. WILLIAM , b. b. 1684; SEE RECORD BELOW.

WILLIAM[3] BAILEY (John[2], William[1]) was b. in Newport, R.I. in 1684. He m. at Little Compton, R.I. (then in Mass.), Jan 30, 1708, DOROTHY GRAVES, b. in Kittery, Maine in 1684, the dau of JOHN and MARTHA (MITTON) GRAVES who removed to LC in the 1690s (See Fam. 46 - GRAVES). They lived in Little Compton where he was a planter.

They d. at LC. They are bur in Old Commons cemetery there. Their gravestones, of slate, seen in 1980, read:

William Baley Died Febry 17, 1730 in y[e] 47 year of his age.
Dorothy the widow of William Baley, she died Novembr the 26 AD 1771, in the 88th year of her age.

His will dated Feb 9, 1729/30 was pvd. Mar 11, 1729/30. It provided: To his wife DOROTHY he gave one third of his estate, also the improvement of half of all of his lands in LC and half of his stock until his son Samuel becomes 21 years of age. She was also executrix.

He made individual bequests to his sons WILLIAM, Samuel, John and George which, in the aggregate, covered his dwelling house, barn, and orchard and also several other pieces of land in LC, and livestock, £500, and a negro boy named Guy.

He gave a total of £620 to daus. Sarah, Priscilla, Abigail, Elizabeth, and Ruth, each to receive her bequest when when she reached age 21.

His inventory included a Negro woman Millor £30, and a Negro boy named Guy £600, with a grand total of £2307, 13s, 6d.

DOROTHY's will dated Sep 23, 1758 was pvd. Dec 24, 1771. It gave cash and personal items to daus. Sarah Brownell, Priscilla Loring, Abigail Arnold and Ruth Church, and to gr.daus. Sarah Wilcox and Dorothy Bailey.

Their children, all b. in Little Compton: Most of the m. and d. in LC.

46 - GRAVES

JOHN[1] GRAVES was b. in Bentley, co. Yorkshire, Eng., ± 1651, the son of WILLIAM and BEATRICE (COCKING) GRAVES. His uncle, Samuel Hall, gentleman, of Langford, co. Essex, whose wife was a sister of BEATRICE GRAVES, came to New Eng. ± 1633, was an original townsman of Salisbury, Mass. in 1640, and later returned to Eng. He advanced to JOHN GRAVES, ± 1673, passage money to Ipswich, Mass. where a Hall kinsman, Samuel Symonds, lived. John's brother, Francis, was soon after also advanced passage money to Ipswich.

In the will of Samuel Hall, gentleman, dated Nov 13, 1679, he gave lands in Langford and Bentley, also monetary bequests to many of his kin, including JOHN GRAVES' mother BEATRICE GRAVES - £15, and John's two sisters and three brothers, one of whom was Francis - £5. There was no bequest to JOHN as he had failed to repay his passage money to New Eng. He also left £50 for those who had suffered in the great fire in Boston, Mass. in 1679, and £50 to sufferers in King Philip's Indian War.

JOHN GRAVES m. before Nov 8, 1677, place unknown, MARTHA MITTON, b. at Casco, also called Falmouth, and now Portland, Maine, date unknown, dau. of MICHAEL[1] and ELIZABETH (CLEEVE) MITTON. (See Fam. 47 - MITTON).

He was of Ipswich, Mass. in 1678, was in Falmouth, Me. in June 1680 when he was granted admin. of the estates of his father-in-law, MICHAEL MITTON, and of Nathaniel Mitton, his bro.-in-law. They were at Kittery, Me. where they lived on Champernowne's Island 1680-87. He was recommended in 1686 as a marshal for the Province. On grand jury in 1687 and (foreman) 1688. He deposed in July 1690 that he was 39 years old, and concerning the money he had engaged to pay Samuel Hall.

There was much suffering at Casco in 1676 from an Indian raid in which 11 men were killed and 23 others either killed or captured, including Mitton family members. MARTHA received £8 from the money left by Samuel Hall, in his will, for the war sufferers.

Sometime in the 1690s they removed to Little Compton, R.I. (then in Mass.) where she d. Her gravestone, the third oldest found in Old Commons cemetery at LC, reads: "Martha, y^{e} wife of John Graves, who decest Feby 10, 1700, aged -- years."

Their known children m. and remained in R.I. He returned to Maine where the last record of him is a deposition in Kittery, May 15, 1712, when he deposed that he was aged about 60 years.

Their known children, prob. b. at Kittery, Me.:

i. Ebenezer, b. ---- ; m. Mary ---- , living in Kingston, R.I. 1722
ii. Martha , b. 1680 ; m. at LC Jan 8, 1702, John Price. Living there in 1734
iii. DOROTHY, b. 1684 ; SEE RECORD BELOW.

There may have been other children.

DOROTHY[2] GRAVES (John[1]) was b. prob. at Kittery, Me. in 1684. She m. at Little Compton, Jan 30, 1708, WILLIAM[3] BAILEY, the son of JOHN[2] and SUTTON ( ) BAILEY. (See Fam. 44 - BAILEY).

47 - MITTON

MICHAEL[1] MITTON was b. in Eng., origins unknown, but prob. in Shrewsbury, co. Shropshire, or nearby. He came to Maine in 1637 with GEORGE CLEEVE who had gone to Eng. on business of his Maine property. In late 1637, at Casco (Now Portland), Me., he m. ELIZABETH CLEEVE, b. in Shrewsbury, Eng. ± 1619, dau of GEORGE[1] and JOAN (PRICE) CLEEVE. She came with her parents to Maine in 1630. (See Fam. 48 - CLEEVE).

He is styled "gentleman" throughout the records, a rank then applied to English gentry, and above the rank of yeoman. He may have been of the distinguished Mitton family of Shropshire and Staffordshire from which Mrs. Thomas Lewis of Saco, Me. was descended (See Ancestral Roots of sixty Colonists, by Frederick Lewis Weis, and NEHGR: Vol. 101, pp. 86-91).

The mother of Mrs. Lewis was Katherine Mitton, a gr.-granddau. of John Mitton, Sheriff of Staffordshire and Member of Parliament, and his wife, Constance Beaumont who was b. ± 1467 and was descended from King Henry III and from many of the great houses of England. The Mitton family flourished in Shrewsbury and in Staffordshire. The fact that GEORGE CLEEVE had been a partner of Thomas Lewis in the "Sextry", a tavern and inn, in Shrewsbury, before they both came to Maine (See Fam. 48 - CLEEVE) lends creditability to the belief that his acquaintance with MICHAEL MITTON may have come about through the Lewis association, and that MICHAEL MITTON may have been a kinsman of Mrs. Lewis and a descendant of Constance Beaumont and her distinguished forbears.

In the Geneal. Dict. of Maine and N.H. by Noyes, Libby, Davis - page 430, record of Thomas Lewis, it is stated that Lewis made a voyage to the coast of Maine, before coming to settle, with companions among whom may have been ..... and MICHAEL MITTON, possibly a relation of his wife. In the "Ancestry of Thomas Lewis and wife" in NEHGR: Vol. 101, p. 17, is stated "it does not require much imagination to see Capt. Bonython, Thomas Lewis, Arthur Mackworth, GEORGE CLEEVE, and possibly MICHAEL MITTON, all of whom became great resident landowners in Maine, seated around a table in the Sextry, deep in discussion of their coming adventure." These items tend to support the theory in the preceding paragraph.

He settled on land in Casco at Clark's Point (now in Portland at the foot of Brackett St.) on the Fore River.

On Dec 28, 1637 he leased from CLEEVE, then agent for Sir Ferdinando Gorges, for sixty years, Pond Island in Casco Bay, to be known as Michael's Is., an island with woods and marshes which made it a wildfowler's paradise. His lease was confirmed in 1642 by Thomas Gorges, deputy gov. for Sir Ferdinando, and again by CLEEVE in 1650 as agent for Col. Alex. Rigby. The island, now Peak's Is., is now a fine residential, resort and recreational area in Casco Bay opposite Portland.

He was a great fowler and furnished settlers with geese, ducks, teal, etc. In the records of the Trelawney agent on Richmond Island are disbursements from July 1639 to June 1640 for "foull from Myhell Myttinge of Casko, geese at 1s pece; 4d a pece for ducks, & 2d a pece for taill, which amounted to £8, 13s."

He was known as a great teller of tall tales and liked to relate startling stories of his exploits by the fireside where the bowl flowed freely, to the joy and entertainment of his companions, also gentlemen and fowlers, who may have had a few tales of their own.

He was never active in public affairs except that on June 25, 1640 he was sworn in as constable of Casco for the ensuing year, a position of some responsibility at that time.

On Jan. 1, 1650/1 he was deeded 100 acres of land on the point of land overlooking the Fore River in Casco Bay (now Portland) "& butting against the now dwelling house of the sayd Michael Mitton" ..... "which now & hath been for ye space of 10 years past in possession of Michael Mitton." On May 1, 1658 he was deeded land on the northeast side of the Fore River "to begin at the now dwelling house of the said Michael Mitton and from there down the river ..... to the Back Cove"

The above deeds, and other deeds for lands with boundaries defined in relation to the dwelling house of Michael Mitton, establish that his house was in what is today downtown Portland, at Clark's Point, overlooking the Fore River.

He was one of the freemen who, on July 13, 1658, at Spurwink, submitted to the jurisdiction of the Province of Massachusetts which had been given authority over this part of Maine.

He d. at Casco Bay sometime between Aug. 5, 1660, the date of his signature on a deed, and Oct. 7, 1661. His inventory listed Pond Island and a neck of land adjacent to Lawrence Cove known as Clark's Point.

On Oct. 7, 1661 his widow, ELIZABETH, quitclaimed to John Phillips her right, title and interest in Pond Island in Casco Bay.

On Mar. 1, 1662/3 she deeded to Thaddeus Clarke, her son-in-law, that point of land in Casco Bay overlooking the river. This was the land acquired by her husband in the deed of Jan. 1, 1650/1.

The widow, ELIZABETH, m. (2), prob. soon after Mar. 1, 1662/3, Peter Harvey who was a witness to the deed of that date. She was again a widow before June 2, 1671 when she deeded to her son-in-law and dau. Thomas and Mary Brackett, for life support, the land her first husband purchased on the Neck in Casco Bay, bounded on the south by the river. This presumably was the land received by deed dated May 1, 1658. Thomas Brackett was killed by Indians in 1676. A bond given by him in regard to this deed was finally assigned to her son-in-law, Thaddeus Clarke on Sept. 5, 1683 which is the last record found of her.

Adm. of the estate of MICHAEL MITTON was granted on June 30, 1680, to his son-in-law JOHN GRAVES. Prior Adm. was not noted.

The great tragedy in the family occurred on Aug. 11, 1676, during King Philip's War, which can best be told by the letter of her son-in-law, Thaddeus Clarke, dated Aug. 14, 1676, which was sent to her in Boston:

..... "on Friday last in the morning your own son with your two sons-in-law, Anthony and Thomas Brackett & their whole families were killed & taken by the Indians, we know not how, tis certainly known to us that Thomas is slain & his wife and children carried away captive, & of Anthony & his familie we have no tidings & therefore think that they might be captivated the night before because of the remoteness of their habitation from neighborhood." (He then listed unrelated persons who were killed).

Then "There were of men slain 11, of women & children 23 killed and taken. We that are alive are forced upon Mr. Andrews his island to secure our own & the lives of our families. We have but little provision & are so few in number that we are not able to bury the dead till more strength come to us. The desire of the people to your selfe is that you would be pleased to speak to Mr. Munjoy & Deacon Philips that they would entreat the Governor that forthwith aid might be sent to us either to fight the enemy on our borders that our English corn may be inned in whereby we may comfortably live, or remove us out of danger ..... "

/s/ Your dutiful son, Thaddeus Clarke

It is not known how she escaped the Indian attack. Her name is on the list of refugees who fled to the Island in Casco Bay and her name is on the list of refugees who petitioned for help. It appears likely that she was in Boston at the time. She was prob. with James Andrews, her son-in-law, and daughter Dorcas, who removed to Boston in 1675.

On Aug. 20, 1676, George Munjoy was sent to Casco from Boston with 1500 pounds of bread for the relief of the persons there. This was prob. in response to Clarke's letter to his mother-in-law, Mrs. Harvey.

The town of Casco or Casco Bay was on the bay of the same name. In 1658 it became part of the town of Falmouth but the earlier names continued in use. It is now a part of the City of Portland, Maine.

The MITTON children, all b. in Casco, order of birth unknown:

i. Anne , b. ---- ; d. ± 1677; m. ± 1667, Anthony Brackett, Jr.; Lived at Back Cove, Casco, where Aug. 11, 1676 he, wife, and 5 ch. were capt. by Inds., but escaped in Nov.

ii. Dorcas , b. ---- ; m. ± 1667, James Andrews, son of Samuel.

iii. Nathaniel, b. ---- ; killed by Indians Aug. 11, 1676

iv. MARTHA , b. ---- ; SEE RECORD BELOW

v. Elizabeth, b. ± 1644; m. ± 1662, Thaddeus Clarke. Lived at Clark's Point, Casco; He was kd. in French-Indian attack on Fort Loyal, May 16, 1690. She and 3 ch. were capt. May 20th but were either ransomed or escaped. She d. in Boston In 1736, age about 91.

vi. Mary , b. ---- ; m. bef. 1663, Thomas Brackett, son of Anthony, Sr.; He was killed by Indians Aug. 11, 1676. She and 3 ch. were capt. and carried to Canada where she d. The ch. were ransomed by their grandfather Brackett.

MARTHA[2] MITTON (Michael[1]) was b. in Casco (now Portland) Me., date unknown. She m. bef. 1677, place unknown, JOHN[1] GRAVES of Ipswich, Mass., son of WILLIAM and BEATRICE (COCKING) GRAVES of Bentley, co. Yorkshire, England. (See Fam. 46 - GRAVES).

48 - CLEEVE

GEORGE[1] CLEEVE was b. ± 1586, prob. at Stogursey, a town about seven miles from Stogumber in co. Somerset, Eng. where his father JOHN CLEEVE, a linen draper, was living in 1582 but prob. d. before 1591, leaving a widow, ANNA, who was still living in 1618.

In June 1600 he, the son of JOHN CLEEVE of "Stoke Gursie", co. Somerset, was apprenticed to a merchant in Bristol for seven years, presumably then being about 14 years of age. He was later a vintner in London where he was prob. the GEORGE CLEEVE who m. Sep 22, 1614, Alice Shortoll of St. Savior in Southwark. She prob. d. soon as he was in Shrewsbury, co. Shropshire, without wife or family, and on the tax roll there for 1616-17, being taxed together with Thomas Lewis as vintners. He had entered into a partnership with Lewis in the operation of an inn and tavern called the "Sextry" of which CLEEVE was manager.

He m. at St. Chad's Church in Shrewsbury, Sep 7, 1618, JOAN PRICE, b. ± 1584, the dau. of JOHN and JANE ( ) PRICE of Shrewsbury. Her father, JOHN PRICE, was a vintner and the owner of a tavern there called the "Pheasant". Her mother, JANE, was bur. at St. Chad's Oct 7, 1617. JOHN PRICE, "being of the age of threescore yeres", m. (2) there, in 1618, a kinswoman. He was b. ± 1558 and when he became a burgess in Shrewsbury in 1601 he was described on the roll as a vintner, son of JOHN PRICE of Newtown, co. Montgomery, in Wales, a capper. His four children then listed with him included JOAN, age 17.

The Price family of Newtown were of armorial stock having a Coat of Arms described as "bearing Gules, a lion rampant regardant or, with a lion, as in the arms, as a crest." In NEHGR: Vol. 107, p.268, is a description of the Coat of Arms of "Price, Joan, wife of George Cleeve, b. ca. 1584: of Shrewsbury, co. Salop (Shropshire), England; of Casco (Portland), Maine." reading: "Arms: Gules a leopard rampant gold, in the sinister chief three rings, two and one, silver." "(Crest: a leopard rampant gold.)" A picture of the Arms appears on page facing page 266 of the same volume. The two descriptions herein are of similar arms. In English heraldry the lion and the leopard are similar. If the head is in profile it is a lion. If full faced it is a leopard. The animal in these arms is a leopard. The Price arms were inscribed in JOHN PRICE's undated monument at St. Chad's.

The Price family is said to have derived from Rees ap David Lloyd, a squire of the body of Edward IV, which would account for its surname, Price being the English form of ap Rees or ap Rhys.

In a lawsuit, CLEEVE vs. PRICE, from which the following is extracted, the complaint which was sworn to by CLEEVE on Feb. 10, 1618/9 and filed in the Court of Requests, said that as of July 1, 1618 JOHN PRICE, the defendant, owned the "Inne called the Phesant" in Shrewsbury and that he, GEORGE CLEEVE, the plaintiff, on the same date was a partner with Thomas Lewis of Shrewsbury "at a Taverne and Inne within the said Towne called the Sextree and there lived in good sorte & fashion." He further said that JOHN PRICE, to draw CLEEVE from the Sextree, caused certain friends of his to make overtures for a marriage between his daughter, JOAN, (then a maiden of about 34 years) and the plaintiff, with promises of an interest in the Pheasant to be had with her. CLEEVE became a suitor of JOAN and on Aug. 6, 1618 a marriage contract was drawn up which required that CLEEVE should satisfy PRICE that he was not in debt beyond his means to satisfy creditors and, that being done, PRICE was to assure CLEEVE of a half of the Pheasant in reversion after the death of PRICE. Thinking the contract imperfect, PRICE did not then sign but assured CLEEVE that he would perform his promises. GEORGE CLEEVE and JOAN PRICE were m. on Sep. 7, 1618 and afterwards PRICE refused to make over the license and refused to ratify the marriage contract but, instead, offered a payment of £100 which was refused.

PRICE, in his lengthy reply to the complaint, denied that he made any overtures to CLEEVE for a marriage with his daughter "whoe is now marryed to this complainant to the defendants greate griefe because yt ys much to be feared that her nowe husband the Complainant ys a man of noe estate or abilitye." Also that the complainant had lived in London and Bristol with no success as a vintner and, heavily in debt, had come to Shrewsbury to find some man or means by which to pay his debts and had insinuated himself into the affections of his daughter to retrieve his fortunes through her father's estate. Many other statements are made to the discredit of CLEEVE and denying he had made other promises claimed by the plaintiff.

CLEEVE, in his replication, denied that he had misrepresented himself and the other charges of PRICE. He also said that "The said marriage was furthered much by the mediation of the Lady Cholmeley (Lady Cholmondeley, wife of Sir Hugh) a guest then lodginge at the house of the said defendant."

The outcome of the suit is not known. He may have come to terms with PRICE and remained at the Pheasant, or Thomas Lewis may have taken him back at the Sextree as they appear to have continued on good terms. A complete record of the above is contained in NEHGR: Vol. 102, pp. 169-77.

In 1619 he was sworn a burgess of Shrewsbury, being described as GEORGE CLEEVE of Shrewsbury, vintner, son of JOHN CLEVE of "Stoke Ursey", co. Somerset, merchant. (Shrewsbury Burgess Roll). This was the last record of CLEEVE found in England before his emigration to New England in 1630. During this interim period, and in the light of events and documentary evidence, he undoubtedly became interested in New England by his associations with Thomas Lewis, Arthur Mackworth who was a kinsman of Lewis, and Capt. Richard Bonython. These were all gentlemen of prominent families, were acquainted with influential members of the Council for New England, and all emigrated to New Eng. after receiving patents to large land areas in Maine.

The Council for New England, in England, of which Sir Ferdinando Gorges was the most prominent member, was chartered to issue land grants in New Eng. On Feb. 12, 1629/30 the Council granted a patent to Thomas Lewis and Capt. Bonython covering 32 sq. miles in Maine in which is located the town of Saco. Lewis came to Maine, prob. in 1630, and took formal physical delivery of the patent at the site in 1631. It was noted in the patent that Lewis had already made a voyage to the Maine coast so he presumably had personally viewed and selected the site, and it also indicated a continuing interest over a period of time that could have been conveyed to GEORGE CLEEVE. There is no record of CLEEVE having an interest here with Lewis.

On June 26, 1630 the Council issued a patent to a group of men called the "Husbandmen" for a tract of land about 40 miles square with boundaries of inexact record. The owners of the patent, intending to establish a religious colony there, came to Maine in the ship "Plough" in 1631, viewed the property and found it undesirable for settlement. This patent later would be known as the Plough patent, so-called after the name of their ship. The Council on Nov. 2, 1631 issued to Richard Bradshaw a patent for 1500 acres near the mouth of the Pejepscot River and the owners of the Plough patent protested that it was in their patent, but Gorges disagreed. After this the Plough patent became inactive, but it and the Bradshaw patent will have further significance later.

GEORGE CLEEVE emigrated to Maine with his wife and daughter in 1630. Banks, in his "Planters of the Commonwealth", says that it is probable that they were passengers on the SWIFT which sailed from Bristol in April 1630 for Saco and Casco Bay with passengers and freight. Also that Lewis may have been on the same ship.

Soon after arrival, CLEEVE entered into a partnership agreement with Richard Tucker who had already bought the 1500 acre tract from Richard Bradshaw who had been living on the property but had not yet received his patent. The 1500 tract was located on the north side of the Spurwink River which flows into the ocean at Cape Elizabeth, a few miles south of present day Portland, Me. CLEVE built a house there and cleared a plot of ground for planting, about one or two acres, and surrounded it with stakes driven into the ground closely together to keep animals out. He had some arrangement with Gorges for a grant of land in Maine which is not evident here, and his inducement to emigrate is unknown.

By probable error, Bradshaw's patent placed his property on the Pejepscot River, many miles further north, but formal physical delivery was made to him on the Spurwink where he had lived and where the patent presumably was intended. If there had been time the patent could have been corrected but on Dec. 1, 1631, only a month after the Bradshaw patent, a patent was issued to Robert Trelawney for Richmond Island and for the mainland from the Spurwink River north to the Casco River. The Island is located about one-half mile offshore and near the mouth of the Spurwink R. Trelawney was a wealthy merchant, an owner of ships, and owned a fishery based on Richmond Is. with John Winter as his agent.

On July 21, 1632 John Winter, as agent for Trelawney, was put in possession of the patent territory by an agent of the Council. Later that year Winter and some of his men visited Cleeve and Tucker, claimed that the Spurwink land was within the Trelawney patent, and asked or forced them to move. They did so grudgingly, either then or in early 1633, to resettle north of the Fore River at a site then known as Machigonne but successively known as Casco, Falmouth, and now the city proper of Portland. They are memorialized as Portland's first settlers by inscription on its First Civic Monument located opposite the eastern end of Congress St. on Eastern Promenade. The dates on the monument are said to be incorrect.

They built a house, planted, carried on a lucrative trade with the Indians and became a strong rival to Winter as their place was more convenient for the Indians to come.

In a Maine court at Saco Mar. 25, 1636, Cleeve was fined £5 for rash speeches. Also Cleeve and Tucker were defendants in a civil suit in which the plaintiff was awarded by jury £11, 7s, 6d which was reduced two days later. When Cleeve had not paid his judgment Sept. 7, 1636 his goods were attached.

In June 1635 the Council for New England surrendered their charter and the territory comprised in the charter was divided by lot among its members. To Sir Ferdinando Gorges fell a territory comprising a large part of the present day State of Maine and he sent over his nephew as Deputy Governor. CLEEVE and Tucker, hearing of this, returned to England in 1636 and for £150, by deed dated Jan. 27, 1636/7, bought from Gorges a patent for the 1500 acres at Machigonne where they had already settled and were planting, and also Hog Island, now Great Diamond Island, in Casco Bay. While there CLEEVE gained the confidence of Gorges, misrepresented the actions of Gorges' nephew as Deputy Governor in Maine, received from Gorges a commission dated Feb. 25, 1636/7 which set him above his rival, Winter, and Gorges recalled his nephew. Also while there CLEEVE testified before the King, to what purpose is unclear, which must have been a high point of his trip and life. He was said to have favorably impressed the King.

CLEEVE and Tucker returned from Eng. in May 1637 and CLEEVE brought with him MICHAEL MITTON, a gentleman from Shrewsbury, who later that year married CLEEVE's daughter ELIZABETH (See Fam. 47 - MITTON).

It was not long until Gorges learned of Cleeve's self-serving schemes and he revoked the commission that he gave to Cleeve in Feb. 1636/7, leaving him with no authority in Maine.

Trelawney, in a letter to Gorges dated April 1637, acknowledges Gorge's letter dated March 30th which was obviously written by Gorges after he had already given to CLEEVE and Tucker the patent to the 1500 acres at Machigonne, and it concerned some complaint by CLEEVE. In Trelawney's letter he covers the Spurwink property incidents, that CLEEVE had been given leave to enjoy a first and second crop (prob. 1631 and 1632), that he grudgingly then removed and "willfully set downe in another place, & that in the middle & best place of my patent, & there has donn me & my people divers wrongs, Destroying of my hoggs, molesting my plantation & people, terrifying the Indians, saying if they come neare any of my people they would hang them, & he has so enraged them ..... that never any of them since his removal have ever come neare my people, though before this itt was one of their greatest randevous, & the last winter before this I lost above 200 hoggs, & some goates, most kild by the Indians, & what mischief done this last winter I yet know not, but I feare some, for those Indians that were befor friends & peaceable he hath now made ennemys to us & we to them, soe that I feare that itt wil end in bloude."

This letter is the first place noted that Trelawney has claimed that the area in which Machigonne was located was within Trelawney's patent of which the northern boundary was stated as the Casco River. There was no river named Casco. Winter claimed for Trelawney that the Casco was really the Presumpscot which forms part of the northern limit, and beyond, of present day Portland. CLEEVE claimed rightly that it was the Fore River which now forms the southern limit of Portland. Machigonne was between the rivers. When Gorges issued the patent for Machigonne to CLEEVE and Tucker he surely would have known well that the area was not in the Trelawney patent. This became an important point in later litigation.

In a letter, Winter to Trelawney, Sept. 20, 1637, he tells of losses of at least 50 pigs to wolves. No mention is made of killings nor depredations by Indians, nor incitement of Indians by anyone.

CLEEVE visited Winter at Richmond Is. on July 26, 1637 and they viewed their respective patents which resulted in the usual standoff between them, with Cleeve showing intent of court action to recover damages for his removal from the Spurwink property and reasserting his title to the Machigonne property, to both of which Winter dissented and so wrote in detail to Trelawney on July 29, 1637 for advice. CLEEVE and Winter would continue as determined adversaries.

In 1639 Sir Ferdinando Gorges received a new charter from King Charles I for his province in Maine over which he was given almost absolute authority. At the first court under his new charter, held at Saco, GEORGE CLEEVE as plaintiff addressed to him two complaints against Winter for which he desired legal proceedings and verdicts by juries of twelve men:

1. An action on June 24, 1640 in regard to the Spurwink property for which he demanded £200 for damages suffered by his removal therefrom. In his lengthy complaint he recited in detail the documents and incidents involved and included words which reaffirm certain records and claims in regard to his coming to Maine, such as: "for ten years last past, or thereabouts, was lawfully .... in possession of a certain tract of land ..... the plaintiff held .... by virtue of a promise made unto him by you, Sir Ferdinando Gorges .... which promise was made unto me for my encouragement before my coming into this country."

2. An action on June 25, 1640 in regard to the tract of land in Casco Bay known first by the name of Machigonne for which he demanded £300 damages for "wrongful Interruption", and a verdict for a peaceful continuance of his peaceable possession for time to come. This was basically a suit to settle legal title to the land against Winter's claim that it was within Trelawney's patent, and damages for harassment resulting therefrom. In his lengthy complaint he recited that he had lived four years on the land peaceably before Winter had made any claims to it. That is, until he and Tucker had received their patent in January 1636/7.

John Winter, in his answers to both complaints, contested the claims and contended that both properties were within the Trelawney patent.

On Sept. 15, 1640, at Saco, the Jury made these findings:

1. For CLEEVE, and £80 plus court costs for his damages for the house and plot of cleared land at Spurwink. Title to the land to Trelawney.

2. For CLEEVE the title of the land at Casco according to his deed and 12 pence for his damage, plus court costs.

Execution was granted but attempts by the marshal to serve it were futile. On June 28, 1641, at Saco, CLEEVE and Winter agreed to arbitration and each provided bond of £1000 to abide by the findings of the arbitrators whose decisions were: £60 to CLEEVE for his house and land at Spurwink, the land at Casco awarded to CLEEVE. This settled the claims for that time but they were revived by Winter's successor in later years.

Richard Tucker, although a partner with Cleeve, was not a party with him in the litigations, preferring to keep aside.

CLEEVE, who was determined and ambitious by nature, made few friends but several enemies and had received no office from Gorges under his new charter. The ensuing frustrations served only to whet his wits to find ways to get even. When the Civil War broke out in 1642 in England between the forces of Parliament and of the King, CLEEVE sensed opportunity. Gorges, Trelawney, Winter and others of his opponents in Maine were Royalists.

How he came to think of reviving the Plough patent, which predated almost all other Maine patents but became inactive about 1631, is unknown. With this in mind, and espousing partisanship with the Parliamentarian cause, he went to London to seek out the original grantees in hopes of arranging terms for procuring assignment of the patent. This apparently was quite easy as their attempt for a colony was a failure.

He needed an investor. He needed to convince a prospective purchaser of the validity of the patent, the value of the territory and its settlements, the small investment, and the sure return of rents. For this CLEEVE was an expert and he convinced Colonel Alexander Rigby, wealthy and a firm Parliamentarian.

On Apr. 7, 1643 the survivors of the grantees of the Plough patent transferred to Alexander Rigby all their estate, interest and claim in the patent which became known as the Province of Lygonia. Rigby, as President, appointed CLEEVE, in whom he had complete confidence, as Deputy President of the Province.

On May 23, 1643 Alexander Rigby confirmed to GEORGE CLEEVE and Richard Tucker the deed granted to them Jan. 27, 1636/7 by Sir Ferdinando Gorges for land in Casco and for Hog Island in Casco Bay. Later Cleeve would confirm deeds and leases that he had granted when he was an agent for Gorges.

Now equipped with the prerequisites for governing, CLEEVE returned to Maine in the late summer of 1643 with a list of appointments to subordinate offices. Expecting opposition from the existing government of Gorges, he sought to enlist the moral support of the Massachusetts General Court but they were wary of him and on Sept. 7, 1643 voted not to answer him. Other attempts to gain support from Mass. and from freemen of Maine were unsuccessful although some planters, fearful of losing their lands, made their peace with Cleeve, repurchased their homes from him or gave rentals to the Rigby province.

Deputy President CLEEVE called his first court to meet at Casco Mar. 25, 1643/44, proclaimed his authority, extending his government from Cape Porpoise in the south and up the coast to Sagadahoc (now the Kennebec R.), a distance of about 40 miles, and extending 40 miles inland. He also made nominations to provincial offices.

Col. Rigby retired from Parliament in 1644 and devoted much of his time and money to furthering and promoting his province. He drew up several constitutions for the governing of the inhabitants of his Province of LYgonia which, about July 30, 1644, were confirmed by the Earl of Warwick and other Commissioners appointed by Parliament for Foreign Plantations.

CLEEVE's supporters were mostly in the sparse settlements of Casco Bay. Leading men in other towns mostly stood up for the Gorges government. Rigby became impatient and in the spring of 1645 wrote to CLEEVE to proceed with the government of Lygonia, but there were many obstacles.

Late in 1645, under the lead of Henry Jocelyn, Gorges' new Deputy-Gov., it was voted to "apprehend Cleeve and Tucker and to subdue the rest unto their obedience", and they armed themselves for the confrontation. CLEEVE again appealed for help but Gov. Winthrop, having heard many appeals from Cleeve before, answered by writing to both factions advising forebearance until a peaceful settlement could be reached.

CLEEVE called his assembly to meet at Casco Mar. 31, 1646 and they were unarmed. Consequently Jocelyn and CLEEVE carried on their interaction in a friendly manner and agreed to arbitration by the Mass. magistrates at the May 1646 term of the General Court. They each furnished £500 bond to personally appear. This ended the "sivill warre."

They met in Boston, CLEEVE and Tucker appearing for Rigby, with Jocelyn and Robinson representing Gorges. The contradictory character of their testimony so perplexed the jury that it could find for neither. The court urged them to await the decision of the authorities in England. After delays due to the Civil War, on March 23, 1647, the Earl of Warwick and Commissioners for Foreign Plantations, having heard the case stated by Col. Rigby and John Gorges, heir to Sir Ferdinando who d. in 1647, gave judgment to Rigby to the full extent of his claim. The long fight was over and order once more prevailed in Maine. The Province of Lygonia was now an accomplished fact. CLEEVE was now chief magistrate of the territory between the Sagadahoc and Cape Porpoise and he proceeded to put his province in order. In terms of today's geography, the Province of Lygonia included all of Cumberland and parts of York, Oxford, Androscoggin and Sagadahoc counties and towns therein and the City of Portland which had been successively called Machigonne, Casco, and Falmouth before it assumed it's present name in 1786.

CLEEVE's opponents now reluctantly accepted his government which proceeded smoothly through a General Assembly. CLEEVE, as Deputy President of the Province, handled the transfers and leases of property, collection of rents, etc. for Rigby who never came to Maine.

Col. Rigby d. in August 1650 and afterwards some of the planters, whose leaders were enemies of CLEEVE, tried to set up an independent govt. CLEEVE went to Eng. in 1652 to see Edward Rigby, the heir and then President of the Province, and advised him of the state of affairs in Maine. Edward Rigby, as loyal to Cleeve as his father had been, wrote from London on July 19, 1652 to the leaders of the opposing forces in Maine threatening action if they did not lay aside their plans. CLEEVE returned to Maine sometime after February 1653 and found that most of the inhabitants of Cape Porpoise and Saco had submitted to the jurisdiction of Mass. in 1652.

The Prov. of Mass. enjoyed a stable govt. and was responding to political changes in Eng. by extending it's authority to preserve a peaceable political climate in New Eng. As increasing numbers of men in Maine submitted to their jurisdiction the Province of Lygonia eroded until only inhabitants of Casco remained loyal to Cleeve and finally, on July 13, 1658 CLEEVE, being no longer able to effectively govern, with other men of Casco, submitted to the jurisdiction of Mass. and the Prov. of Lygonia passed out of existence. On the same day the town of Falmouth was organized covering an area which included Casco which name, however, continued in use for several more years.

Also, on that same day, July 13, 1658, GEORGE CLEEVE was chosen one of the Commissioners for Falmouth and was again chosen in 1660 and 1663 evidencing local confidence in him.

Soon after appearing with Cleeve in the May 1646 term of the General Court in Boston, Richard Tucker, who had been virtually a silent partner of Cleeve and under Cleeve's dominance, and without a division of property, removed with his wife to Portsmouth, N.H. where they lived out their lives. On Feb. 20, 1652/3 Edward Rigby deeded to Cleeve 1000 acres in Casco adjoining the land formerly granted to him. On July 18, 1658 Cleeve deeded this land to Tucker, presumably in settlement of their broken partnership.

Robert Trelawney d. in Eng. in 1644 and in financial distress. John Winter, Trelawney's agent on Richmond Is., d. in 1645 having given, on May 20, 1645 a general Power of Attorney to his son-in-law, Robert Jordan, who would become his admr. Jordan's ambitions were his passions. He filed a petition with the Lygonia govt. in 1648 claiming debts owed by Trelawney to Winter. He received a favorable decision in the Lygonia court, of doubtful justice, which was sustained by the Mass. court in 1658. In the finality he secured full ownership for himself of the Trelawney Plantations to the exclusion of Trelawney and other Winter heirs.

As the owner of the Trelawney patent, and although it had been settled in court in 1640, Jordan reopened the claim that the Presumpscot R. was the boundary of the Trelawney patent and that CLEEVE's land was within the patent, much to Cleeve's distress. On July 4, 1659 in court at York, CLEEVE was plaintiff in an Action of Interruption against Jordan, seeking damages. In court, Jordan presented a certificate of some who were judges at the 1640 court which said in effect that the Casco Falls were on the Presumpscot. Although CLEEVE relied on his deeds and possession, the jury found for Jordan with costs of court, 50s, to Cleeve. In the same court, Jordan sued Cleeve for a debt of £20 and was awarded £10, 10s with cost of court, 50s, to Cleeve. Cleeve also lost in another action with costs to him of 35s. The verdicts were disasters for Cleeve who was short of money Jordan executed his judgment and levied against CLEEVE's house, household goods and cow but did not then take possession. However, at a Court of Associates, of which Jordan was one of the Associates, in March 1662, Jordan again obtained an execution order to a deputy "to possess him, Jordan, of the said house and goods" and the deputy took everything, including the bed from under Mrs. Cleeve in which she lay sick.

CLEVE twice, in 1661 and 1662, in lengthy petitions to the General Ct. in Boston, cited the wrongs, injustices and oppressions suffered by claims, suits, etc. of Robert Jordan which he hoped to prove in hearings before the court. Before action could be taken the monarchy had been restored under Charles II and the Gorges interests had regained control in Maine and had seceded from the auth. of Mass. CLEEVE had no recourse. Jordan, in favorable courts, had stripped him of everything he had.

CLEEVE's affairs may not have been too desparate. He was appointed the first Deputy from Falmouth to the General Ct. in 1663 and again in 1664. His properties had been most, or all, sold before Jordan's execution of judgment and we do not find record that Jordan attached them.

On Sept. 26, 1659 CLEEVE and wife JOAN deeded to John Phillips of Boston the tract of land in Falmouth with dwelling house, at the point of land called Machigonne, where they then lived. It is said that they reserved a life lease for his and his wife's life. It is probable that they lived out their lives there and, having an efficient daughter and having settled his grandsons-in-law on lands in Casco, they probably lived in relative comfort.

CLEEVE was called a "litigious" person.He was regularly in court as plaintiff or defendant for actions in addition to those related herein. He was hounded unmercifully by his enemies, especially Jordan. Yet he was a man of unusual ambition and skills and lived at a time and place when and where these talents were a requisite for leadership. He was called "gentleman" a term of respect. He must have impressed men like Lewis and other prominent men of Shrewsbury, Sir Ferdinando Gorges, Col. Alexander Rigby and his son Edward Rigby as evidenced by the success of his promotions. And he is said to have pleased Charles I when he gave testimony before him. His talents were not so greatly appreciated in New Eng. as evidenced by his controversies and a wariness of him by Gov. Winthrop of Mass. and Gov. Winslow of Ply.

One can think too of his wife JOAN. It must have been a difficult change from the social life of Shrewsbury to settlement in a wilderness where we do not find record of another European woman in that area until five or six yrs later. And one can only wonder what life was like with GEORGE.

The last record of GEORGE was in a court action in Casco on Nov. 13, 1666. His wife JOAN preceded him in death, prob. about 1662. Elizabeth Clark, who lived to a great age, testified in 1728 "that her grandfather, Mr. George Cleeve, lived on his own estate at Falmouth many years after the death of her father, Michael Mitton " (who d. about 1661).

50 - WALES

NATHANIEL[1] WALES is prob. the NATHANIEL WALES who was bpt. Feb 26, 1586/7, recorded in the parish register at Calverly, co. York, Eng., p.52, the son of JOHN WALES of Idle, and bro. of Rev. Elkanah Wales of Trinity College, Cambridge, and other bros. Jonathan, John, Timothy and Benjamin as also recorded in the parish register there. These names reappear in the New Eng. families.

He m. (1) in Eng., ----- BULLOCK who d. there, and (2) there, Susanna Greenway, whose parents, John and Mary Greenway, came to America in the ship "Mary and John" in 1630 and settled at Dorchester, Mass.

He came to America with his wife, Susanna, and three sons, Timothy, JOHN, and Nathaniel, Jr. in the ship "James of Bristol" in 1635 and also settled at Dorchester, Mass.

Maude Pinney Kuhns, in her book "The Mary and John", p.39, states that Susanna, the dau. of John Greenway, was not the mother of NATHANIEL WALES' children named above, but that they were sons of his first wife who was a sister of Edward Bullock (who also came to America in the Ship "Elizabeth" in 1635 and settled at Dorchester).

John Greenway, in deed dated Feb. 5, 1650/1, made a gift to his dau. Susanna Wales and her children, "if she have any." Edward Bullock returned to Eng. in ill health in 1649 and before leaving he made a will dated July 25, 1649 to which he affixed a list of creditors who were to be paid from the proceeds of his estate. Among the creditors was "To Brother Wales, for weaving, 0:2s:7d." These items tend to support the statement that Susanna was not the mother of the Wales children, and descent from John and Mary Greenway, of good record in America, is not claimed.

Rev. Richard Mather, the leader of the group who emigrated to America in the ship "James of Bristol", kept a Journal, a day by day record of the trip from the time of assembly at Bristol until arrival at Boston. His Journal is published in Alexander Young's "Chronicles of the First Planters of the Colony of Massachusetts Bay", Chap. XXII, pp. 447-481. A brief of that lengthy record follows:

Rev. Mather with several families arrived in Bristol on Apr. 23, 1635, having walked from Warrington, a market town in Lancashire, a distance of about 120 miles, covered in seven days. Some of the Company were there before them, and some arrived afterwards arriving by the 1st of May.

Their ship was at anchor in King's Road at Bristol but, although the winds were steady and favorable, the ship was not ready and they did not board until May 23rd. The ship sailed that day but only went about five miles and anchored, although winds were easterly and favorable. The mariners would not move the ship further until all goods were stowed and the decks cleared, so passengers just sat and waited.

They were ready on the 26th but the wind turned against them and the anchors were dropped. On this date another ship joined them, the Angel Gabriel. On May 27th, Capt. Taylor, Rev. Mather, NATHANIEL WALES, and three * others went over to the Angel Gabriel. On the 31st the winds were easterly but the Master and crew had gone ashore so they remained at anchor, and they did not have favorable winds again until June 4th when they set sail again and began the voyage. On June 9th, because of adverse winds and weather, they anchored in the harbor at Milford Haven, at the western tip of Wales, and remained there until June 22nd. In the meantime, people went ashore for supplies, church, relaxation, etc.

On June 22nd, the James, of 220 tons, and the Angel Gabriel, of 240 tons, with a strong easterly wind, set sail and about noon lost sight of land. The sea was rough and most of the passengers were seasick. The Angel Gabriel was a strong ship with 14 or 16 pieces of ordnance, but slower than the James, so the James proceeded with three sails less than usual so as not to overgo her.

The days passed, some rough and some fair. There was much seasickness on rough days and July 4th was especially rough so that the passengers could not stand on deck and many were sick, and on this day they lost sight of the Angel Gabriel never to see her again. They now made all sail so that they could go as fast as the wind would take them. By mid-July they were used to rough weather and there was not so much sickness. Many porpoises played around the ship and some would be hooked for food. By the 20th there were many seafowl called hagbats, petrels, and others swimming on all sides of the ship, also whales and fishes of great bigness. On July 24th sounding by the seamen found bottom at 50 fathoms. They had now reached the Grand Bank of Newfoundland, at its lower end nearer New England. Soundings the next day did not find bottom.

On July 28th a small landbird lighted on the ship, and another on Aug. 1st, and on this day soundings found bottom at 60 fathoms. Now they caught cod as fast as they could haul them in and would be able to catch cod and other fishes as needed for the remainder of the voyage. Whales, porpoises, large fishes, waterfowl and seabirds were now seen in abundance. On Aug. 3rd there was a great storm and tempest of wind which tossed the ship in great mountains and valleys of water. It subsided in the afternoon and a great fog set in, and they had daily fog so that they did not sight land until about 8 A.M. on Aug. 8th when they had a clear sight of America and made land again at Monhegan Island, about 50 miles up the coast beyond present day Portland, Me. They sailed on and when the fog lifted they saw many islands and rocks on nearly all sides and that day, and the next, they made poor headway with adverse winds, but always in sight of land. On Aug. 10th theyanchored at Richmond Island, a small island about 1/2 mile off the coast of Cape Elizabeth, a few miles south of present day Portland, Me. Some went ashore for fresh water and grass for their cattle and were made welcome by the inhabitants, fishermen.

* This was a visit to the Angel Gabriel. They returned to the James.

They remained at Richmond Is. on the 11th with the wind against them. They set sail again on Aug. 12th, always in sight of land, with a good wind which became calm that night. The next day, with the wind against them, they gained little and tried to drop anchors that night at the Isles of Shoals but strong winds prevented it and they laid out to sea all night. On the 14th strong winds kept them tacking all day with no headway and about 10 P.M., in moonlight, they anchored at the Isles of Shoals which are off the coast, near the mouth of the Piscataqua River which now forms Maine's southern boundary with New Hampshire. They slept well until about daybreak.

On Aug. 15th, about daybreak, a terrible storm of rain and easterly wind came up. They lost three great anchors and cables. Two broken by the violence of the waves, and the third cut by the seamen to save the ship and lives. They loosened the sails to try to get to sea away from the islands and rocks but the wind split and tore to shreds all of the sails and the ship was adrift at the mercy of the wind and waves. At one time they seemed to be driven full force upon a mighty rock which stood in sight above the water, but the ship passed the rock. The wind abated, the ship was fitted with other sails, and a fresh gale of wind sent them onward towards Cape Ann. It was a day that the seamen said that they never knew the like.

Aug. 16th was a sunshiny day with a following gale and continued them onward towards Cape Ann, and on past the Bay of Salem and Marblehead and they came to anchor at low tide in the evening at Nantasket, a most pleasant harbor, and later that evening on a flowing tide they came to anchor before Boston. They landed there on Aug. 17th.

Except for the one bad storm, the journey had been safe. There were in the ship 100 passengers, 23 seamen, 23 cows and heifers, 3 calves, and 8 mares, yet not one died on the way and all came alive to land, many of the cattle in better condition than when they were put aboard ship. There had been seasickness but all had recovered well.

From May 23rd when they boarded ship in King's Road, Bristol, until they landed at Boston on Aug. 17th, it was 12 weeks and two days. From their last sight of the English coast on June 22nd, it was 8 weeks.

The Angel Gabriel, which had anchored at Pemaquid (Maine) before the storm of Aug. 15th, was burst in pieces and cast away to the sea in the storm. One seaman, three or four passengers, and most of their cattle and goods were lost.

The storm was the worst since the coming of the English to New England and the worst in the memory of the Indians, and is said to have been the most disastrous event in the annals of the Maine coast. It blew down many hundred thousand trees. (Documentary Hist. of Maine, Vol. 3, et al.)

NATHANIEL WALES was a church member at Dorchester; a weaver by trade, also called a shipwright and a husbandman (farmer). He received a grant of land in 1637 and was adm. freeman Nov. 2, 1637. 54 - ALLIS

WILLIAM[1] ALLIS was b. ± 1615, prob. in London or co. Essex, is said to have came to New England in the Mayflower in its third voyage in Winthrop's fleet in 1630 but first record of him is at Mt. Wollaston, Mass. in 1632 where he surveyed and laid out the town in 1634. He received a grant of 12 acres there Feb 24, 1639/40.

On May 13, 1640, Mt. Wollaston was organized as the town of Braintree and, on the same day, he was made freeman.

In 1641 he m. there MARY ---- . He was a well educated and capable man, a surveyor and a planter. In 1645 he was one of 20 men who petitioned the court for permission to start a new town. He was a prominent citizen, supervised the building of a road from Boston, Mass. to Providence, R.I., served as a selectman, conducted marriages as "Commissioner", and was a signer of town records for several years with last signature in Braintree Feb 28, 1658/9.

In 1659 he was with a group who removed overland to Wethersfield, Conn. on the Connecticut River, taking necessaries with them, leaving their other possessions to be brought from Boston by boat.

In 1661, due to differences in the church, he was one of about 60 men and their families, 20 of whom were from Wethersfield, who moved northward up the river and settled the new town of Hadley, Mass. where the land had recently been purchased from the Indians. The town lands, located on both sides of the river, were divided between the settlers and the lot assigned to WILLIAM ALLIS was on the west side of the river.

That part of the town of Hadley lying on the west side of the river became the town of Hatfield on May 31, 1670. His home lot was on the w. side of the main St. where the meeting house and town hall were built.

He was a leading citizen of Hatfield, holding the offices of deacon, justice of the peace, and selectman. In 1672 he was one of those who laid out the new town of Northfield. On May 7, 1673 the Great and General Court aptd. Lieut. WILLIAM ALLIS and five others to be a committee to act in all respects, to lay out the farms, to admit inhabitants at Deerfield. In 1674 he was one of those comm. to lay out Sunderland.

On Oct 19, 1675 the Indians numbering about 800 and incited by King Philip, attacked Hatfield intending to destroy the town but were expected and were driven off with small loss to Hatfield. The Indians then raided outlying farms, stealing livestock and other depredations.

The settlers took the offensive and about 150 men of different towns left their homes on May 18, 1676, attacked the Indians in the early morning of May 19th while they were sleeping and killed a large number of them with little loss to themselves. The battle was at Great Falls (now Turner's Falls). On their way home the Indians attacked them from the rear by surprise and defeated them, and they panicked and scattered, suffering the loss of 38 men. WILLIAM ALLIS was a capt. in the fight. He was accompanied by 3 sons, one of whom, William, Jr. was killed.

A cavalry regt., called the Hampshire Troop, was then recruited from the different towns. WILLIAM ALLIS was the first Coronet and later Lt. of the mounted troops. Garrisons were estab. in the different towns, the Hatfield garrison of 36 men were under Lieut. Allis, and he was in charge of the fortifying at Hatfield in the winter of 1677-78.

There continued to be some plundering by the Indians but the death of King Philip on Aug 12, 1676 appeared to put an end to it. However, on Sept 19, 1677 about 50 Indians from Canada and, encouraged by the French, attacked Hatfield without warning while most of the men were in the fields, set fire to buildings, killed 12 and captured 17 of the inhabitants, and took the captives to Canada. The survivors were released by the French 8 months later and returned home. MARY, the wife of WILLIAM ALLIS, was killed in the massacre, and his granddau. Abigail Allis was taken captive.

On June 25, 1678 he m. (2), Mrs. Mary (Bronson) Graves, the dau of John Bronson and the widow of John Graves who was also kd. Sept 19, 1677.

He d. Sept 6, 1678. His inventory taken Sept 18, 1678 totalled £496, 6s, 6d. It included houses and home lot, lands in South Meadow, Great and Little Meadow, in Plain and Swamp and in Quinepiake. Also 2 horses, 8 old and young cattle, swine and sheep, farm tools, and household furniture and utensils, etc.

Their children, all b. in Braintree:

i. John , b. Mar 5, 1642; d. at H. Jan 1691; m. Dec 4, 1669, Mary, dau of Thomas Meekins, wid. of Nathaniel Clark, She m. (3) ± 1692, Samuel Belding of Hatfield.

ii. Samuel , b. Feb 24, 1646/7; d. at H. Mar 9, 1691; m. 1675/6, Alice ----. She was kd. by Indians at Deerfield Feb 29, 1703/4 during an attack by French and Indians.

iii. Josiah , b. in 1649; d. Oct 15, 1651

iv. William, b. Oct 20, 1651; d. July 1653

v. Mary , b. Oct 25, 1653; d. unmarried Jan 25, 1690

vi. HANNAH , b. in 1654; SEE RECORD BELOW

vii. William, b. Jan 10, 1655/6; kd. by Indians in the battle at Great Falls (now Turner's Falls) May 19, 1676

HANNAH[2] ALLIS (William[1]) was b. in Braintree, Mass. in 1654 and removed to Hatfield with her parents in 1661. She m. there, Jan 28, 1670, WILLIAM[1] SCOTT (See Fam. 53 - SCOTT).

55 - BELDING

The name was originally spelled Belden, Beldin, Beldon and Bayldon, then evolved into BELDING. The immigrant, RICHARD[1], has been called "Richard Bayldon" and identified as the son of Sir Francis Bayldon of Kippax, Yorkshire, Eng. This has been disproven. He is also said to have came from Staffordshire.

RICHARD[1] BELDING came from Eng., place unknown, and settled at Wethersfield, Conn. on the Connecticut River, possibly as early as 1636 and was one of the earliest settlers there. He was prob. about 43 to 45 years of age at the time. He brought with him two sons, SAMUEL and John. There is no record of his wife.

An entry in the land records of Wethersfield dated Apr 7, 1641 lists the lands he then owned, those given to him by the town and those he bought of Jonas Wod, eight pieces altogether and about 58 acres. One piece of about 3 acres on the south side of Broad St., whereon his house stands, three pieces in the Great Mead of about 7 total acres, one piece of about 6 acres of mead and swamp in the Back Lots, two pieces of swamp and upland in the South Field of about 32 total acres, and one piece of about 10 acres in the Dry Swamp in the east side of East Fields. He was apparently well established in the town at that time.

On Mar. 16, 1646/7 he was appointed a cattle herder by the town. He agreed to keep the cows and oxen of the town, of about 12 score, for £24 to be paid to him in four equal payments; one fourth in wheat, one fourth in pease, one fourth in barley, and one fourth in Indian corn, all to be paid to him after the harvest in the fall. He also wished to receive 20s if it could be gotten. He was to take out the cattle in the middle of April, if the weather be fit, and bring them in November 11th. The pasturing was in the town commons.

He received a grant of land in New London in 1650. On two occasions he gave bonds of £20 each for other persons to assure their appearance in court. Not much else is of record concerning his life.

He d. at Weth. before Aug. 22, 1655, the date an inventory was taken of his estate. It totalled £111, 19s and did not include any real estate. It included household furnishings, tableware, kitchen utensils, farm implements, a musket, a carbine, a rapier, 15 acres of corn and 7 acres of grass being gathered into the barn, two cows, two swine, etc.

His children, b. in England:

i. SAMUEL, b. ± 1629; SEE RECORD BELOW

ii. John , b. ± 1631; d. Jun 27, 1677; m. Apr 24, 1657, Lydia Standish, dau. of Thomas and Susanna.

Another, William, b. ± 1622 may have been his son. He d. Mar 27, 1655; m. Tomasin ---- .

SAMUEL[2] BELDING (Richard[1]) was b. in Eng. ± 1629, place unknown. He came to Wethersfield, Conn. with his father as early as 1636. He was in Branford, Conn. between 1644 and 1646. He was back in Weth. in 1648 and was aptd. one of the four cow herders for that year.

He m. (1) MARY ----. She, and her young son Richard, were killed by Indians at Hatfield, Mass. Sept. 19, 1677. He m. (2) June 25, 1678, Mary (Beardsley) Wells, widow of Thomas Wells, who d. Sept. 20, 1691. He m. (3) ± 1692, Mary (Meekins) Allis, widow of John Allis. He m. (4) Apr. 10, 1705, Sarah (Curtis)Wells, widow of John Wells. (See Fams. 54 - ALLIS, 56 - WELLS and 57 - BEARDSLEY).

He bought 33 acres in Great West Field, Weth., on which his house stood. He sold it in 1665.

About Mar. 15, 1661 he was one of eight men at Weth. to sign an agreement to remove to Hadley, Mass. Several others, due to differences in the church, had already signed and all rem. that year to Hadley where the land had recently been purchased from the Indians. He was assigned lands in that part of Hadley lying on the west side of the Connecticut River which became the town of Hatfield in 1670. His house was on the east side of the present Main Street and very near the center. He was made freeman there May 7, 1673.

He was prominent in church and town affairs. He was one of the first members of the first church organized there and was known as Deacon. He was also a selectman.

He was one of the men from Hatfield who, on May 19, 1676, in King Philip's War, were engaged in the fight with the Indians at Great Falls and suffered a disastrous defeat. See the story of the fight in Fam. 54 - ALLIS. In the morning of Sept. 19, 1677 his wifeMARY and son Richard were killed by a party of 26 Indians who attacked the town while the men were in the fields. 7 houses were burned, 12 persons were killed, 4 wounded, and 17 taken into captivity to Canada to be released by the French eight months later.

He died at Hatfield Jan. 3, 1713, aged about 85 years.

His children, all by his first wife MARY, three b. in Wethersfield and five b. in Hatfield, Mass.:

i. Mary , b. July 10, 1655; m. Daniel Weld of Deerfield.
ii. Samuel , b. Apr 6, 1657; d. 1737; m. (1) Sarah (Fellows) Billings, wid. of Samuel Billings; m. (2) Mary (Burt) Hastings, wid. of Thomas Hastings.
iii. STEPHEN , b. Dec 28, 1658; SEE RECORD BELOW
iv. Sarah , b. Sep 30, 1661;
v. Ann , b. Jan 27, 1665;
vi. Ebenezer, b. Nov 16, 1667; d. Nov 21, 1739; m. Abigail Williams, dau of Capt. Jacob Williams.
vii. John , b. Nov 13, 1669; d. Oct 18, 1725; m. Sarah Wait, dau of Sgt. Benjamin Wait.
viii. Richard , b. Mar 29, 1672; kd. by Indians Sept 19, 1677

STEPHEN[3] BELDING (Samuel[2], Richard[1]) was b. in Wethersfield Dec 28, 1658 and rem. with his parents to Hadley, Mass. in 1661. He m. there, Aug 16, 1682, MARY[3] WELLS, the dau. of his step-mother. She was b. there, Sept 8, 1664, the dau of THOMAS[2] and MARY (BEARDSLEY) WELLS (See Fam. 56 - WELLS).

It seemed natural that when STEPHEN's father m. the widow WELLS that STEPHEN would fall in love with her charming daughter MARY.

He lived on the west side of the river, in Hatfield, and was one of the men of Hatfield who were in the fight at Great Falls (now Turner's Falls) on May 19, 1676. He later became a Lieut. in the Hatfield militia. He was made freeman Feb. 8, 1678.

He d. at Hatfield Oct. 6, 1720 and his widow MARY m. (2) Jan 2, 1723, Capt. Joseph Field of Sunderland, Mass. She d. Mar. 15, 1751.

His will dated Sep 23, 1720, pvd Oct. 29, 1720, made provision for his wife MARY during the term of her natural life; gave real and personal property to his four sons: Stephen, Samuel, Jonathan, and Joshua; to his dau. ELIZABETH SCOTT, alias BELDING (besides what I have advanced on her already) the sum of £20 in or as money; and similarly money bequests to his daus. Mary Waite and Esther Belding.

Their children, all b. in Hatfield:

i. ELIZABETH, b. Feb 2, 1683; SEE RECORD BELOW
ii. Mary , b. May 20, 1685; m. Feb 12, 1702, John Waite.
iii. Sarah , b. Oct 25, 1687; prob. d. before Sept. 1720
iv. Stephen , b. Feb 22, 1689; d. ± 1735; m. Mindwell Wright, dau of Benjamin Wright, lived at Sunderland.
v. Samuel , b. Oct 23, 1692; d. Oct 5, 1732; m. May 8, 1717, Elizabeth Dickinson, dau of Hezekiah and Abigail (Blakeman) Dickinson of Springfield, Mass.
vi. Jonathan , b. ---- 1694; d. July 6, 1778; m. Hepzibah Dickinson.
vii. Joshua , b. ---- 1695; m. Dec 1, 1725, Sarah Field; d.1738 viii. Esther , b. ---- 1698; m. 1724, Nathaniel Gunn ix. Lydia , b. ---- ; d. July 24, 1714, unmarried.

ELIZABETH[4] BELDING (Stephen[3], Samuel[2], Richard[1]) was b. in Hatfield, Mass. Feb. 2, 1683. She m. there Jan 15, 1702, RICHARD[2] SCOTT, b. there Feb. 22, 1673, the son of WILLIAM[1] and HANNAH (ALLIS) SCOTT. (See Fam. - 53, SCOTT).

56 - WELLS

Most of the authors of Wells genealogical information show the immigrant members of our line to be Hugh Wells, his wife Frances, and children Thomas, Hugh, Mary and John, and show relationships with other Wells and Welles immigrants that lack consistency and record proof.

The only members of our immigrant line that are solidly proven are: FRANCES WELLS and her children THOMAS, mary and John. They settled in Wethersfield, Conn. where also settled Thomas Welles, who later became Governor of Conn., and a Hugh Wells of whom the earliest record is ± 1645. There may have been relationships among them but they are not proven.

Respected genealogical researchers, Donald Lines Jacobus and W. Herbert Wood, report in The American Genealogist, Vol. 28, pp. 227-235, that all of the records of Hugh Wells in Wethersfield probably pertain to one person, he who m., Aug 19, 1647, Mary Rusco, and that there is no record whatsoever to link Hugh Wells to FRANCES WELLS, either as husband or son. FRANCES, in her will, mentions her children and grandchildren but there is no mention of Hugh (or his children)who was still living. Also, none of her children named a son Hugh. Their conclusion is that there is no record of Hugh as the husband of FRANCES in America, and that her only proven children are the three named above and herein. It follows that claims made to the English origins and relationships of Hugh Wells cannot be identified to the family of FRANCES WELLS and are not claimed herein although some may be in truth correct.

FRANCES[1]( ) WELLS was b. in Eng. ± 1605 and m. there ---- WELLS. He may have d. there and she may have been a widow when she came to America, prob. bef. 1645, with her children: THOMAS, Mary and John, to settle at Wethersfield, Conn. She m. (2), perhaps as early as 1645, Thomas Coleman of Hartford, a widower with four children. She apparently had been a widow for several years before this 2nd mar.

On Apr. 18, 1659 a gathering of men from Weth. and nearby towns met at Hartford where it was mutually agreed that they would remove themselves from Conn. to Mass. and before the end of the year they had rem to Hadley, Mass. and joined the group there, under the leadership of Mr. Russell, who had seceded from the Weth. church. Thomas Coleman and his stepson THOMAS WELLS and their wives and families were among those who joined the group.

Thomas Coleman d. at Hadley, prob. Sep 29, 1674, the date of his will. He was buried Oct 1, 1674. In a curious provision in his will he gave to his son-in-law (stepson) THOMAS WELLS certain rents due him for a house in Evesham, co. Worcester, Eng. The fact that he gave these rents to his stepson instead of to one of his own children may mean that the house may have been Wells property, inherited by his wife FRANCES from her 1st husb. and that the WELLS family came from there to America.

FRANCES prob. d. in Mar. 1678. The undated will of "widow Frances Coleman" was pvd Mar 26, 1678. In her lengthy will she gave £6 each to her dau.-in-law MARY WELLS (widow of her son THOMAS), to son John and to dau. Mary Gilbert and 10s each to grandchildren; much cloth and clothing to her daus., including dau. Deborah Coleman, and to daus.-in-law. The rest of her estate not specifically bequeathed was to be equally divided between her son John, her daus. Mary Gilbert and Deborah Coleman, and her dau.-in-law MARY WELLS (wid. of son THOMAS). Grandson Johnathan Gilbert, Exec.

Her children, by her first husb. WELLS, all b. in Eng.:

i. THOMAS , b. ± 1625; SEE RECORD BELOW

ii. Mary , b. ± 1627; d. at Hartford July 3, 1700; m. 1650, Jonathan Gilbert, inn-keeper at Hartford and Marshall of Connecticut.

iii. John , b. ± 1630; d. at Hatfield Oct 18, 1692; m. at Stratford, Conn. ± 1658, Sarah Curtis, dau. William Curtis of Stfd. They lived in Stfd., then rem. to Hatfield, Mass. after Apr. 1662.

Her child by her second husb. Thomas Coleman, b. in Wethersfield:

iv. Deborah, b. ± 1650; living unmarried in Mar. 1678.

THOMAS[2] WELLS (widow FRANCES[1]) was b. in Eng., place unknown, ± 1625. He came to America with his mother and settled with her at Wethersfield, Conn. He owned a house and land at Weth. that he purchased from his stepfather, Thomas Coleman, in 1650.

He m. at Stratford, Conn., May 1651, MARY BEARDSLEY, b. at Ilkeston, Derbyshire, Eng. ± 1631, the dau. of WILLIAM[1] and MARY (HARVEY) BEARDSLEY. She came to America with her parents in the "Planter" in 1635 (See Fam. 57- BEARDSLEY). They lived in Weth. until 1659 when they rem. to Hadley, Mass. with his mother and step-father, Thomas Coleman, as related above, where they were among the first settlers. He was a farmer and surveyor.

He d. at Hadley between Sep 30, 1676, the date of his will, and Dec 14, 1676, the date pvd and his inventory taken. The inventory totalled £732, 12s,6d, and included house and land in Hadley - £220, house and lot in Weth. - £200, and house and lot in Eng. (location unstated, poss. in Evesham) - £100. He left to sons the land in Weth. and on the east side of "Great River", and the rest of his estate in Hadley and elsewhere to his wife Mary to be managed by her in bringing up the children.

His widow MARY m. June 25, 1678, SAMUEL BELDING of Hatfield. She d. there Sept 20, 1691 (See Fam. 55 - BELDING).

The children of THOMAS and MARY, the 1st five b. at Weth., others at Had.:

i. Thomas , b. Jan 10, 1651/2; d. Deerfield 1691; m. Jan 12, 1672/3, Hepzibah Buel, dau. of William of Windsor. She and two ch. were tomahawked by Indians June 6, 1693 but survived. She was taken prisoner when Deerfield was sacked in 1704, and killed on the march to Canada.

ii. Mary , b. Oct 1, 1653; died in childhood

The Harvey Family of Ilkeston, Derbyshire, England:

RICHARD HARVIE m. at Denby, only four miles from Ilkeston, Sep 20, 1601, Margaret Wilcockson of Woodhouse. She prob. d. soon and he is prob. the same RICHARD HARVIE who m. at Ilkeston, July 22, 1604, ELLEN HELLOTT ("Elliott"). He, "Richard Harvie, Clergyman of this parish", was bur. there Dec 31, 1616. His will dtd Dec 14, 1616 aptd wife ELLEN as Exec.; daus. MARY and Anne to have £20 apiece at age 16; son Richard to have "my two houses" with all my goods there, also "my two linen looms with all other furniture in the shop belonging to my trade"; and he ments. bro. James and sisters Anne and Elizabeth Saunders. Inventory taken Jan 8, 1616/17. Will pvd July 9, 1617 when ELLEN HARVIE and Thomas Harrison, of Ilkeston, yeoman, were aptd guardians of Richard, MARY, and Anne Harvie, children of the deceased.

RICHARD HARVIE appears to have been a linen weaver. He is described as a clergyman only in the burial entry.

The children of RICHARD and ELLEN HARVIE, all recorded at Ilkeston:

i. MARY , bpt June 5, 1605; SEE RECORD BELOW
ii. Anne , bpt May 11, 1608
iii. Joan , buried Jan 2, 1610/11
iv. Richard, bpt Aug 13, 1612
v. Thomas , bpt Apr 5, 1615; buried Nov 1, 1615

The names Wilcockson and Harvie become Wilcoxson and Harvey in America.

The Beardsley Family is an old family in Ilkeston and, by tradition, were there before William the Conqueror, 1066. The Harvey Family is also an old family in Ilkeston.

WILLIAM[1] BEARDSLEY was b., prob in Ilkeston, ± 1605 and m. there, Jan 26, 1631/32, MARY HARVEY, bpt there June 5, 1605, dau of RICHARD and ELLEN (ELLIOTT) HARVEY. He was a mason by trade.

The Planter of London sailed from there about April 10, 1635 and arr. at Boston June 7, 1635. Among the 121 passengers were these persons:

WILLIAM BEARDSLEY	Age 30, a mason
MARY BEARDSLEY	26	Ages as shown in
MARY BEARDSLEY	4	passenger lists are
John Beardsley	2	not necessarily accurate.
Joseph Beardsley	6 mo.
Richard Harvie	22, a tailor
Ann Harvie	22
William Wilcockson	34, linen weaver
Margaret Wilcockson	24
Jo: Wilcockson	2

The Beardsleys and the Harvies were from Ilkeston, The Wilcocksons were from there or a nearby parish. These persons were all early settlers in Stratford, Conn. after it was founded in 1639.

WILLIAM BEARDSLEY settled first in Concord or Watertown, Mass. and was made frmn. Dec 7, 1636. Sometime during the next three years he rem to Hartford or Wethersfield, Conn. and then rem. with seventeen men from these places to settle, Oct 3, 1639, on land on Long Island Sound. The place was then called "Piquanocke" by the Gen. Ct. in Hartford, then the Indian name "Cupheay" in 1640, and in 1643 the place became Stratford, Conn. as it is known today. Thus he was in the original group of settlers there, and the record of him there is the first record found of him after he was made frmn. in Mass.

He owned Home Lot No. 71 located on Elm Street, Stratford, about center of town, near what was then called "Wigwam Meadow."

He was elected deputy to the Gen. Ct. at Hartford for eight sessions in the thirteen years 1645-1658, showing that he was a man of worth and influence. He was one of three Assistants aptd. by the Gen. Ct. in 1651 to join with the Magistrates for the execution of justice in the towns of Fairfield and Stratford. He was a leading man in all public affairs. He was one of the founders of the First Congregational Church of Stratford and was often spoken of as "Goodman Beardsley" a term of respect. In Oct. 1659 he, as "Goodman Beardsley" was one of a committee to help settle a property dispute.

He d. in 1661 at Stratford at age 56. His wife MARY was still living there in 1668. His will dtd Sept 28, 1660 was pvd July 6, 1661. In it he provides for his wife and ments. sons Samuel, Joseph, Daniel and John, also daus. but not by name. His inventory taken Sept 28, 1660 had a total value of £327,15s,8d. It included house, barn, and accomodations, meadows and uplands, 6 horses and mares, oxen with yoke, but no other livestock. Also 68 bushels of wheat, 2 guns, 4 pistols, 1 sword and belt, and various articles of household furnishings, utensils, cloth, etc.

This indicates that he was a planter as well as a mason.

Their children, 3 b. at Ilkeston, 1 b. ?, the others at Stratford:

i. MARY , b. 1631: SEE RECORD BELOW

ii. John , bpt Nov 2, 1633; d. Stfd Nov 19, 1718; m. Hannah ---- iii. Joseph , b. Nov 1634; d. Stfd 1712; m. Abigail Dayton of Brookhaven, Long Island.

iv. Samuel , b. ± 1637; said to be their first child b. in America; d. Stfd Dec 24, 1706; m. Abigail Clark, dau John of New Haven

v. Sarah , b. ± 1640; d. bef. 1692; m. June 8, 1668, Obadiah Dickinson, son of Nathaniel of Wethersfield. Their house at Hatfield was burned Sep 19, 1677 by Ind., Sarah wounded, he and one child taken as captives to Canada.

vi. Hannah , b. ± 1642; d. at Hatfield, Mass. Feb 23, 1679; m. at Hatfield Dec 25, 1662, Nathaniel Dickinson, s. Nathaniel.

vii. Daniel , b. 1644; d. Stfd Oct 7, 1730; m. 1680, Ruth Goodwin, dau of Thomas of Milford, Conn.

viii. Ruth , b. ---- ; m. Joseph Smith of Jamaica, L.I. (?)

ix. Rebecca, b. ---- ; d. Woodbury, Conn. Feb 17, 1739, aged widow; m. (1) Israel Curtis of Woodbury and (2) James Beebe of Danbury, Conn.

MARY[2] BEARDSLEY (WILLIAM[1]) was b. at Ilkeston, Derbyshire, Eng. in 1631 and came to america with her parents in the Planter in 1635. She m. (1) at Stratford, Conn. May 1651, THOMAS[2] WELLS, b. in Eng. ± 1625, the son of the widow FRANCES[1] WELLS (See Fam. 56 - WELLS). She m. (2) June 25, 1678, Samuel[2] Belding of Hatfield, Mass. (See Fam. 55- BELDING).

58 - EASTMAN

English Ancestry

The will of John Eastman of Romsey, county Southampton (Hampshire) dated 24 September 1602, proved 22 October 1602: To be buried in church of Romsey. To catholic church of the Trinitie in Winton and Parish church of Romsey. To poor of Romsey. To son Roger Eastman all lands whatsoever; in default to son John; also to Roger 100 marks at 14, to be paid by my father Roger Eastman. To son John £50 at 14. To daughters Elizabeth and Margaret when 21 or married £40 each: Ditto to child my wife now goeth with. To servant Elizabeth Head £5. Residuary legatee and executrix: wife Anne. Overseers: father Roger Eastman and Brother Michall Mackerell and Mathewe Mundye. Witnesses: Walter Godfrey, Giles Newe, Thomas Stote. (NEHGR, Vol. 54, p. 343.)

It has been presumed, but unproven, that ROGER EASTMAN, the immigrant to New Eng. was a grandson of the above John Eastman.

In "The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record", Vol. 46, p. 57: "Some Early English Records Pertaining to the Eastman Family" by Charles R. Eastman, American Museum of Natural History, New York City, states that the earliest ancestor who can be directly connected by Authentic records with the line to which ROGER, the founder of the family in this country, is:

JOHN EASTMAN of Charleton. His will dated April 26, 1564, pvd May 9, 1565 was recorded in the "Archdeaconry Court of Sarum (Salisbury), Register 4, folio 193: I, John Estman of Charleton within the parish of Downton, within the county of Wilts., husbandman ..... my body to be buried within the church of Saynt Lawrence in Downton where my father doth lye." He then made small gifts to our Lady church of Sar (the Salisbury Cathedral), to the vicar of his church at Downton, to the Downton church for repairs, and for repairs to a Downton bridge. He gave sheep, lambs and other personal property to his son William, and to William's four children. Also to John and William, sons of his son Roger. The rest of his property, after debts are paid, he gave to his son Roger and made him his executor.

ROGER EASTMAN, son of JOHN above, presumably had only two children, John and William, in 1564 at the time of that will but must have had more later as at the time of his death in Feb. 1604, then a widower, he had eight living children and several grandchildren. He was bur. Feb 17, 1604. His will dated Jan 11, 1604 was pvd Feb 23, 1604 and is on file with the Consistory Court of Sarum. It names his sons William, Walter, John, Nicholas, Roger and Thomas, and daus. Mary and Edith. (As his son John was alive Jan 11, 1604 he would not be the same person as the John Eastman of Romsey who died in 1602.)

NICHOLAS EASTMAN, son of the above ROGER, b. prob. between 1564 and 1570, d. prob. at Downton sometime after 1625. He m. BARBARA ----- (Prob. ROOKE) who was bur. at Downton July 9, 1625. He resided at Charleton in the parish of Downton, Co. Wilts. They had ten children, all bpt. at Downton, of whom the following two are of special interest:

i. Thomas, bpt Jan 9, 1602/3; m. Oct 21, 1634, Alice Sanders

iv. ROGER , bpt Apr 4, 1610; and shown as d. at Salisbury, Mass. Dec 16, 1694; m. Sarah ----, b. about 1620-21, d. at Salisbury, Mass. March 11, 1697/8.

It is now believed that this ROGER EASTMAN was he who came to New Eng. in the ship Confidence which sailed from Southampton Apr 24, 1638. He is on the passenger list as ROGER EASMAN, age 25, and as a servant to John Sanders who is shown as from Langford, co. Wilts, husbandman, age 25. The listing as "servant" probably eased his passage under the emigration laws in effect at that time.

John Sanders was bpt at Downton, Wilts, in March 1613 and is prob. a brother of Alice Sanders who m. Thomas Eastman, bro. of ROGER as above, at Downton Oct 21, 1634. John m. soon after arrival in New Eng. and settled at Salisbury, Mass. in 1638, to Newbury in 1642 and about 1655 returned to Eng. with his wife and family to settle there at Weeks in the parish of Downton. This places the prob. origin of ROGER at Downton. He was prob. related to the Eastmans of Romsey, only a few miles away. (The ship pass. list is in "The Founders of New England" by Samuel G. Drake, and in NEHGR, Vol. 14, p.335. Sanders records are in Smith's "Founders of Mass. Bay Colony" and in "Old Families of Salisbury and Amesbury" by David W. Hoyt, pp. 309, 111, 286.)

American Ancestry

ROGER[1] EASTMAN was prob. he who was bpt at Downton, co. Wilts, Apr 4, 1610, the son of NICHOLAS and BARBARA ( ) EASTMAN as above. He came to New Eng. in 1638 in the ship Confidence as above.

He m., prob. at Salisbury, Mass. ± 1639, SARAH ---- who was b. ± 1621. He settled there, one of the original settlers, where he received land in the "first division" in 1640 and again in 1643. His name appears in most early tax lists there. He was a house carpenter and a planter. In court at Ipswich, Apr 18, 1671, he and she deposed that they were aged about 60 years and 50 years, respectively

An undated record, prob. in the 1650's, gives a listing of his property: 4 oxen, 15 old and young cattle, 1 horse, 1 pig, 8 sheep, 9 acres meadow, 3 acres upland, 1 house, 2 heads, 6 commonages, total value £68.

He acquired several pieces of land in Salisbury, and:

Jan. 16, 1653/4 he sold to John French his right to commonage in S. which he had bought of Richard Singletary.

Apr. 15, 1659 he sold to Philip Chalis about 3 acres of salt marsh in S.

Dec. 28, 1671 he gave to son THOMAS a lot in Haverhill.

Apr. 25, 1672 he gave to son Nathaniel a dwelling house and land in S.

June 23, 1676 he sold to sons Joseph and Benjamin, for £100, his dwelling house, barns, outhouses, hovels, orchards, and land in Salisbury, each to have one-half.

May 12, 1692 he sold to his dau. Sarah Shepard and her husband Solomon Shepard his lot of upland upon the Powow River.

He d. Dec. 16, 1694 and his wife, SARAH d. Mar. 11, 1697/8, both in Salisbury. His will dated June 26, 1691 was pvd. March 27, 1695. His inventory totalled £128, 8s. He made minor gifts to his children and the remainder to his wife SARAH who he made his sole executrix.

Their children, all b. in Salisbury:

i. John , b. Mar 9, 1640/1; d. at S. Mar. 25, 1720; m. (1) at S. Oct 27, 1665, Hannah Healey; m. (2) there Nov 5, 1670, Mary Boynton, dau. of Wm. Boynton of Rowley.

ii. Nathaniel, b. May 18, 1643; d. at S. Nov 30, 1709; m. there Apr 30, 1672, Elizabeth Hudson, dau. Jared Hudson.

iii. Philip , b. Dec 20, 1644; d. Oct 20, 1714, Woodstock, Conn.; m. (1) unknown; m. (2) at Haverhill, Mass. Aug 22, 1678, Mary (Barnard) Morse, dau. of Thos. Barnard of Newbury, and widow of Anthony Morse; m. (3) ± 1695, Margaret -----

iv. THOMAS , b. Nov 11, 1646; SEE RECORD BELOW

v. Timothy , b. Nov 29, 1648; d. Hadley, Mass. Apr 1, 1733; m. Suffield, Conn. May 16, 1682, Lydia Markham, dau.Wm.

vi. Joseph , b. Jan. 8, 1650/1; d. Hadley, Apr 4, 1692; m. there ± 1681, Mary Tilton, dau. of Peter Tilton of Hadley.

vii. Benjamin , b. Feb 12, 1652/3; d. at S. Jan 23, 1727/8; m. (1) at S. Apr 5, 1678, Ann (Pitts) Joy, wid. of Samuel Joy; m. (2) there, Apr 4, 1699, Naomi Flanders; m. (3) there, Oct 5, 1719, Sarah ( ) Carter, wid. of Samuel Carter.

viii. Sarah , b. Sep 25, 1655; d. at S. Dec 1, 1748; m. (1) there, June 13, 1678, Joseph French, Jr.; m. (2) there, Aug 4, 1684, Solomon Shepard.

ix. Samuel , b. Nov 20, 1657; d. Kingston, N.H. Feb 27, 1725; m. (1) at S. Nov 4, 1686, Elizabeth Scriven; m. (2) prob. at Kingston, Sep 17, 1719, Sarah Fifield.

x. Ruth , b. Mar 21, 1660/1; d. Feb 23, 1741/2; m. at S. May 23, 1690, Benjamin Heard of Dover, N.H., son of John and Elizabeth (Hull) Heard. (See Fam. 5 - HEARD).

THOMAS[2] EASTMAN (Roger[1]) was b. in Salisbury, Mass. Nov 11, 1646. He m. at Haverhill, Mass. (Hv.) Jan 20, 1679/80, DEBORAH CORLISS, b. there June 6, 1655, the dau. of GEORGE and JOANNA (DAVIS) CORLISS of Hv. (See Fam. 59 - CORLISS). He was called "husbandman" (farmer).

On Dec 28, 1671 his father gave him a house lot in Hv. and he lived and built a house there before Jan. 25, 1675. On Feb 24, 1672/3 Robt. Eyer of Hv. conveyed to Thomas Eastman of Hv. about 48 acres of uplandin Hv. on the Merrimack River. He sold to his bro. Timothy Nov 3, 1676,28 a. in Hv.

On July 13, 1680, William Neff of Hv. conveyed to THOMAS EASTMAN and Philip Eastman of Hv. about 5 acres of meadow in Hv. and Feb 9, 1684 Thomas conveyed to his bro. Philip his right in the property.

He and his bro. Philip were on a list of soldiers in HV. Aug 24, 1676 in King Philip's War. He took the oath of allegiance in Hv. Nov 28, 1677.

He d. at Hv. Apr 29, 1688, adm. of his est. Sep 30, 1690. His widow, DEBORAH, m. (2) at Hv. June 29, 1691, Thomas Kingsbury.

On March 15, 1696/7, in what is known as "The Dustin Massacre", Indians attacked the town of Hv., attacking first the Dustin house and then dispersed themselves in small parties and attacked the houses in the vicinity. Nine houses were plundered and reduced to ashes and in every case their owners were slain while defending them. 27 persons were slain, 15 of them children, and 13 captured. Among those killed were: at the Kingsbury house, DEBORAH's dau. Sarah Eastman and ch. by 2nd husband, Mehitable and Thomas Kingsbury. DEBORAH was taken captive. Her husband and son, Jonathan Eastman, were not at the house and were spared.

On Sep 29, 1697, John Eastman was aptd. guardian on "estate of Jonathan Eastman, son of Thomas Eastman, deceased, and of Deborah, his wife, in captivity." Obviously, DEBORAH was still living, or so thought, at that time, but apparently d. later in captivity as there is no further record of her in Hv. and her husb. Thomas Kingsbury remarried in Hv. Jan 19, 1702/3, Sarah Haines.

Children of THOMAS EASTMAN and DEBORAH, all b. in Hv.:

i. JONATHAN, b. Jan. 8, 1680/1; SEE RECORD BELOW
ii. Joanna, twin, b. June 9, 1683; d. Aug 17, 1684
iii. Sarah , twin, b. June 9, 1683; kd. by Indians Mar 15, 1696/7
iv. Joanna, b. May 27, 1686; died young.

Children of DEBORAH and 2nd husband, Thomas Kingsbury:

i. Thomas Kingsbury, b. Jan 30, 1691/2; kd. by Ind. Mar 15, 1696/7
ii. Mehitable Kingsbury, b. Jun 19, 1696; kd. by Ind. Mar 15,1696/7

JONATHAN[3] EASTMAN (Thomas[2], Roger[1]) was b. in Haverhill, Mass. (Hv.) Jan 8, 1680/1. He m. there Apr 8, 1701, HANNAH GREEN, b. there Dec 20, 1677, the dau of PETER and ELIZABETH (DUSTIN) (KINGSBURY) GREEN of Hv. (See Fam. 61 - GREEN).

During Queen Anne's war the colonists lived in constant fear of attack by Indians and French from Canada. They built six garrison houses within the town. JONATHAN and his wife were living in the fifth garrison.

On Feb 8, 1703/4 JONATHAN left the garrison intending to return before nightfall. There was deep snow on the ground and, little expecting attack at that time of year, the gates were left open. Between three and four o'clock in the afternoon the Indians attacked and were through the gates before being discovered. They killed one man and took prisoners in the garrison, then climbed the ladder and entered the room where HANNAH was alone with her child, Abigail, who was b. one week earlier. An Indian snatched the child and killed it by dashing its head against a doorpost. The horrified mother was forced to arise from her sickbed and, with other prisoners, to accompany the Indians in their retreat towards Canada.

They took her first to Ossipee Lake where they remained until spring, then to the site of Newbury, Vt. where they planted corn. There they were soon alerted by other Indians that a scouting party was searching for them so they made a hasty treat towards Canada. It was an exhausting journey through the wilderness. Often she thought of escape but was watched so closely that she found no opportunity. She was in a very emaciated condition when the Indians encamped at Trois Rivieres in Quebec, near the French settlement there.

A French woman found her in the Indian camp and was very kind to her. She finally escaped from the Indians and the French woman secreted her in her home where she stayed for several months until one day she saw her husband JONATHAN, a powerful man over six feet tall, walk past the house. She called to him but he did not hear her. A child was sent out to reach him and bring him back to the house. On this happy day they were reunited. It was the third time he had passed the house in his search for her. She had been in Canada about two years. It is not known what information he had that guided him to Trois Rivieres.

They started at once on the long and difficult trip home, encountering many hardships, walking all of the way.

He became one of the "snowshoe men" of Hv., being one of the company of soldiers, providing protection from the Indians, who were ordered by the General Ct. on June 19, 1710 to be equipped with snowshoes.

At a meeting Jan 6, 1723/4 regarding a division of land, he requested 20 acres of land in Providence Neck which was granted making him a landowner of between 300 and 400 acres of land in the northern section of Haverhill.

HANNAH was a member of the First Church in Hv. On Nov 1, 1730 she was dismissed from that church to the North Parish church.

In 1734 he, his son Peter, and Peter Green bought of Hon. Richard Saltonstall, the island in Island Pond, being about 200 acres, which they sold in 1741 to Gov. Benning Wentworth, Gov. of New Hampshire.

In 1741 the boundary between New Hampshire and Mass. was redrawn and the northern section of HV. was north of the new boundary and became a part of the Province of New Hampshire, making the Eastmans residents of N.H. in what would become the town of Hampstead in 1749 where many records of his descendants are found.

By deed dated April 11, 1745, JONATHAN EASTMAN and his son Amos, both of Haverhill, bought of Barachias Farnum his homestead of 190 acres in Rumford, N.H., now a part of Concord, N.H., and were living there in 1746.

On March 2, 1747/8 JONATHAN EASTMAN executed a will from which the following items are excerpted:

To HANNAH, his wife, the free use of the East room, and certain other rooms, in his house in Rumford. Also one cow, six sheep, one swine and his horse. Also household items, provisions, etc., and that son Amos should provide her care and needs during her natural life.

To son Peter all that tract of land he now lives on near Wash Pond in Haverhill District, containing about 60 acres, which he has already by deed of gift. Also £30 in money.

To son Richard the plantation called Suncook "which I purchased from William Ayer', and is now in said son's possession. Also one-half of my wearing apparel.

To son William that land he now lives on near Wash Pond, containing about 50 acres, which he has already by deed from me. Also one-half of my wearing apparel.

To son JONATHAN £10 "which I will and order my son Amos to pay him within two years after my decease, which £10 together with £420 he has before received from me, is his full portion of my estate." (Note: At the time of this will, JONATHAN was living in Norwich, Conn.)

To son Amos "all my estate in the town of Rumford whether real or personal .... together with all my other estate which I have not herein disposed of, of all kinds whatsoever."

To his daughters Mehitable, Sarah and Hannah, £10 each which, together with the money that he had already given to them, will be their full portions in his estate.

"Son Amos to be sole executor of this my last will and testament."

Signed "JONATHAN EASTMAN" by his mark.

This will was probated in Exeter, N.H. May 30, 1758

The complete will can be found in Vol. 14, page 503, Exeter Prob.Rec. Also in New Hampshire State Papers, Vol. 33, pages 538-541 and in "History any Genealogy of the Eastman Family in America" by Guy S. Rix, pages 36-39.

This will is the last record found of JONATHAN[3]. He prob. d. in 1758, place unknown. In 1759 son Amos removed to Hollis, N.H. taking his mother with him. There is no further record of her. She prob. d. there.

SPECIAL NOTE: A genealogy of the Eastman family published in 1901 shows that JONATHAN[4] EASTMAN, whose record follows, was the son of Roger[3] and Hannah (Kimball) Eastman of Amesbury, Mass. Surely the author did not find the entry in Norwich, Conn. Town Records which shows that JONATHAN was from Haverhill. His record hereunder reflects his Haverhill origins and heritage.

JONATHAN[4] EASTMAN (Jonathan[3], Thomas[2], Roger[1]) was b. in Haverhill, Mass. (Hv.), Sep 3, 1717. He m. (1) there, July 10, 1739, Hannah Ingalls, b. there Sep 5, 1720, dau. of Eldad and Hannah (Watts) Ingalls. She d., place and date unknown but before July 17, 1744 when he m. (2) at Norwich, Conn., ELIZABETH WOOD, b. at Norwich Aug 16, 1724, dau of EBENEZER[4] and MARY (RUDD) WOOD (See Fam. 64 - WOOD).

The following entry appears in the Norwich, Conn. Vital Records, Part I, p.240, which identifies JONATHAN to his Haverhill origin:

"Hannah ye daughter of Jonathan Eastman & of his wife Hannah was born at Haverhill on the 17 day of Decemr 1744. Entered at ye desire of ye sd Jonathan Eastman, May 4th, 1745. Per Isaac Huntington T:Clerk."

The year 1744 in the above entry is an error in recording, copying or printing as Hannah was b. in Hv. in December 1740 per Hv. V.R.

They lived in Norwich at least until 1750. It is said that they removed to Becket, presumably the Becket in Berkshire Co., Mass.
He was admitted to the First Congregational Church in Bennington, Vt. in 1762, the first year of the church records. His children: MIRIAM, Calvin, Oliver and Justin were baptized there, probably before 1770. (from Early Settlers of New York State by Janet Wethy Foley, Vol. II) Bennington at that time was still claimed by New York as being within their Province.
In the Documentary History of New York, Vol. 4, p.585, is a list of persons settled in Bennington prior to June 1, 1765. It includes JONATHAN EASTMAN. On Oct 24, 1764 their son Enoch was on the muster roll of the first company of militia in Bennington.
He is believed to have been one of the first settlers of Rupert, Bennington Co., Vt., prob. by 1768, as purchaser of one of the 50 acre tracts in the first division of lots which were auth. Apr. 16, 1765. His son Justin d. in Rupert June 11, 1772 and has the oldest gravestone there. JONATHAN kept a tavern in Rupert and was widely known as "Landlord Eastman." He was within hearing of the battle of Bennington. Six of his sons were Revolutionary soldiers, being in Vermont militia companies. Records of their services are in "The State of Vermont, Rolls of the Soldiers in the Revolutionary War 1775-1783" by John E. Goodrich, 1904. They were: Enoch, a Lieut. until promoted to Capt. in 1781; Cyprian, sergeant; Stephen, corporal; Jonathan, Calvin and Oliver, privates.
He and his wife, ELIZABETH, both d. in Rupert, she Jan 10, 1880 and he Feb 6, 1807. "The Gravestone Inscriptions of Rupert, Bennington County, Vermont" by Levi Henry Elwell was published in 1913 and covers inscriptions copied and verified in 1911-1912. The inscriptions for JONATHAN and ELIZABETH EASTMAN at that time were:
"In memory of Mr. Jonathan Eastman who departed this life Feb 6th, AD 1807 in the Ninetieth year of his age" and "In memory of Mrs. Elizabeth Eastman wife of Mr. Jonathan Eastman who departed this life Jan. 10th AD 1800 in the seventy-seventh year of her age."
Sometime after 1912 the above gravestones were removed and replaced with a new stone with new inscriptions which read: "In Memoriam, Jonathan Eastman, pioneer, born in Amesbury, Mass. 1717, died in Rupert, Vt. Feb. 26, 1807. His wife, Elizabeth Wood, born in 1730, died,Rupert, Vt. Jan 10. 1800. Settled in N.E. Rupert about 1780." (Reported in the Boston Evening Transcript of June 12, 1936.) These inscriptions perpetuate the incorrect information in the published genealogy and were probably taken from that source. They are bur. in the North Rupert Cemetery, north of East Rupert.
His child by his first wife, Hannah, b. in Haverhill (Hv.V.R.):

i. Hannah , b. Dec 17, 1740; prob living in 1745; prob. d. yg.

RECORDS PROVING THAT JONATHAN[4] EASTMAN WAS NOT OF THE AMESBURY FAMILY:

The following are the children of Roger[3] and Hannah (Kimball) Eastman recorded in Amesbury, Mass. Vital Records:

Roger	, s.	Roger & Hanah	b. April 12, 1711
Hanah	, d.	" "	b. May 23, 1712
John	, s.	" "	b. April 17, 1714
Mary	, d.	" "	b. Feb. 25, 1717
Nathaniel	, s.	" "	b. Feb. 6, 1719
Abigail	, d.	" "	b. May 28, 1723

The joint will of Roger Eastman and his wife Hannah dated April 26, 1742 was proved Feb. 5, 1754. Briefly, the bequests in the will dated April 26, 1742 were:

To son Roger certain lands in Amesbury except two acres of which were given to grandson Roger, son of son Roger.

To son John certain lands in Salisbury. Also a one quarter interest in a saw mill in Amesbury.

To son Nathaniel certain lands in Salisbury and Amesbury including the homestead property in Amesbury. Also a one quarter interest in a saw mill in Amesbury.

To sons Roger and Nathaniel and son-in-law Philip Gould six acres in Salisbury "equally betwixt them" with a proviso.

To daughters Hannah Gould, Mary Colby and Abigail Morse all indoor household goods of all sorts, to be equally divided betwixt them, except his own wearing apparel "which we do give unto our three sons namely Roger, John and Nathaniel Eastman equally betwixt them".
(From docket 8489, Essex County, Mass, probate files.)

The will clearly shows that the children whose births are recorded in Amesbury, Mass. Vital Records are their only children.

In the published genealogy, Roger[3] and Hannah (Kimball) Eastman are shown to have three additional children. They are:

1. JONATHAN. Shown as b. 1717 (prob. taken from the original gravestone in Rupert, Vt.) His correct identity is in this genealogy, above.

2. MIRIAM. Shown as b. in Norwich, Conn. Nov 21, 1727. there is no record of her birth in Norwich, nor is there any record that Roger[3] Eastman ever lived in Norwich. He lived and died in Amesbury, Mass.

Miriam, who m. Nathaniel Wood on May 3, 1748, was Miriam WOOD. She was not an Eastman nor Eastman related. The m. at Norwich of Nathaniel Wood and Miriam Wood of Windham, Conn. (his cousin) is recorded in Norwich V.R., p.265. She was dau of Joseph and Hannah (Carrier)Wood. They are clearly identified in WOOD geneal. records, and in this genealogy. (See Fam. 64 - WOOD).

3. Samuel. There is not enough information to identify him. He was not of Amesbury, but most likely of Kingston, N.H., a descendant of Samuel[2] (Roger[1]) who lived in Kingston.

59 - CORLISS

GEORGE[1] CORLISS is said to have been b. in Devonshire, Eng., at or near Exeter, ± 1617, the son of THOMAS CORLISS. He came to New Eng. from there in 1639 and settled first at Newbury, Mass. He was living in Haverhill, Mass. (Hv.) as early as 1645, being one of the 32 landholders there in that year.

He m. at Hv., Oct 26, 1645 (the second marriage in Hv.), JOANNA DAVIS, b. prob. in Marlborough, co. Wilts, Eng., date unknown, the dau. of THOMAS and CHRISTIAN ( ) DAVIS (See Fam. 60 - DAVIS). She came to New Eng. with her parents in the ship James of London in 1635.

He was a freeman in 1645; constable in 1650; and selectman for at least five years, 1648 and later. He was an industrious man and well qualified to take a prominent part in the settlement of the new town. He was a farmer and he settled in the West Parish on a farm which remained in the family for several generations. At one time he owned most of the land on both sides of the old "Spicket Path", as it was then called, for a distance of more than three miles. On Mar 23, 1681/2 he conveyed, of free good will, to son and dau. EASMAN one commonage in Hv.

He d. at Hv. Oct 19, 1686. She d. later, date and place unknown. His will dtd Oct 18, 1686 was pvd Nov 23, 1686. He divided his large amount of land among his children, the home farm to his son John.

Their children, all b. in Hv., also d. and m. there:

i. Mary , b. Sep 8, 1646; d. Oct 22, 1722; m. Jan 23, 1665/6, Wm. Neff who d. 1689. She was capt by Indians during the Dustin massacre, Mar 15, 1696/7, with Mrs. Hannah Dustin and escaped with her Mar 31, 1697 after killing their captors during the night (See Fam. 62 - DUSTIN).

ii. John , b. Mar 4, 1647/8; d. Feb 17, 1697/8; m. Dec 17, 1684, Mary Wilford, dau Gilbert of Hv. He a sol. King Phil.War.

iii. Joanna , b. Apr 28, 1650; d. Oct 29, 1734; m. Dec 29, 1669, Joseph Hunkins or Hutchins.

iv. Martha , b. June 2, 1652; d. --- ; m. Dec 1, 1674, Samuel Ladd, son of Daniel and Ann Ladd of Hv.; he was kd. by Ind. 1698.

v. DEBORAH, b. June 6, 1655; SEE RECORD BELOW

vi. Ann , b. Nov 8, 1657; d. June 1691; m. Nov 1, 1677 John Robie

vii. Huldah , b. Nov 18, 1661; m. (1) Nov 5, 1679, Samuel Kingsbury; m. (2) Dec 27, 1704, Abraham Whittaker, son of Abraham.

viii. Sarah , b. Feb 23, 1663/4; m. Nov 24, 1686, Joseph Ayer, son of John and Sarah (Williams) Ayer.

DEBORAH[2] CORLISS (George[1]) was b. in Hv. June 6, 1655 and m. there Jan 20, 1679/80, THOMAS[2] EASTMAN, b. in Salisbury, Mass. Nov. 11, 1646, the son of ROGER[1] and SARAH ( ) EASTMAN. She m. (2) in Hv., June 29, 1691, Thomas Kingsbury. (See Fam. 58 - EASTMAN).

60 - DAVIS

THOMAS[1] DAVIS was b. in Eng. ± 1603 and m. there CHRISTIAN ---- . He came to New Eng. with his wife and two children from Marlborough, co. Wilts., in the James of London, a ship of 300 tons, which sailed from Southampton April 5 and arr. in Boston June 3, 1635 with passengers and cattle. He was called a sawyer but has been recorded as a mason.

He settled in Newbury, Mass. and was made freeman there June 2, 1641. He removed to Haverhill, Mass. (Hv.) in 1642 and his signature, by his mark, is affixed that year to the Indian deed wherein the settlers purchased from the Indians the territory for the town of Haverhill. His brother James was also one of the first settlers in 1642.

His farm in the West Parish was near the GEORGE CORLISS homestead. He was one of the first town officers, being selectman in 1646 and 1648. He acquired certain lands, prob. by town grants. On Nov 7, 1674 he sold 100 acres of upland. On Oct 4, 1680 he sold for £4,10s "one half of my meadow at Hoghill." In June 1666 he sold, for £4,5s a meadow at Spicket R.

On May 18, 1682 by mortgage deed he "Thomas Davis of Haverhill for £40 conveys to Francis Wainwright of Ipswich my mill or mills, houses, lands, orchards and fences and all my rights in ye commons in Haverhill, altogether about 65 acres, always provided if sd Davis shall pay to sd Wainwright ye £40 in good merchantable wheat, Indian corne and fat porke in equal portions before October 15,1683, this instrument shall not stand."

They both d. at Hv., she Apr 7, 1668 and he July 27, 1683. His invt. was taken Oct 30, 1683 and adm was granted to Wm. Neff March 25, 1684.

62 - DUSTIN

Variously spelled as Dustin, Duston, Durston, Durstin, Dunstar.

THOMAS[1] DUSTIN was b. in Eng. ± 1606. He is first found of record in New Eng. at Richmond Island, located near the coast at Cape Elizabeth, a few miles south of present day Portland, Maine. He was a fisherman on the ship Hunter which was owned by Robert Trelawney and sailed from his plantation on the island. On Aug 7, 1634 an accounting was made of the proceeds for the fish taken on the Hunter in 1634:

"An account what third parte of the money of the fish an traine and pease made home upon bills to be devided amonge our Company, being 13 shares heare in New England for this years worke, the som being £149.4s divided into 13 shares is £11.9s.6d. per share accordinge to the price agreed."

"Thomas Dustin is to have a share and £4 in money, which doth amount unto £15.9s.6d. and he is to allow out of yt for provisions bought of me heare in the Country, 10s.8d., so ther remeaneth due unto him 14-18-10." (Documentary Hist. of the State of Maine, Vol.III,pp.38,40)

He is said to have been at the island as early as 1632.

He was in Dover, N.H. in 1640 and was one of the signers of the Dover Combination, dated Oct 22, 1640, which set up a civil govt. there, and he was one of the inhabitants who, on Mar 4, 1640/1, signed a letter to the Governor of Mass. giving their objections to coming under the jurisdiction of the govt. of Mass.

Early in the 1640s, prob. at Salisbury, Mass., he m. ELIZABETH WHEELER, bpt at St. Edmund's in Salisbury, co. Wiltshire, Eng. Jan 20, 1618, dau. of JOHN and ANN (YEOMAN) WHEELER. She came to New Eng. with her parents in 1634 in the ship Mary and John. (See Fam. 62 - WHEELER).

He and his wife were presented in court at York, Me. Oct 15, 1650 for "necklecting the ordinances of God upon the sabath day." They were fined 10s, and would be fined 40s upon complaint thereafter.

He was in Kittery, Me. in 1650, was chosen constable there Nov 20, 1652 and was still constable in 1655. He received a grant of 20 acres there on June 19, 1654, a tract of land 28 by 120 rods and reached from Crooked Lane to Spruce Creek in Gunnison's neck. His house there burned, he rented out the land, and was living in Portsmouth, N.H. in 1659/60. He sold this land March 2, 1659/60.

In a deposition made Apr 28, 1661 he gave his age as about 55 years. He d. sometime between this date and July 1, 1662 when his widow, ELIZABETH, was appointed admx. of her husband's estate.

His widow, ELIZABETH, m. (2) at Haverhill, Mass. (Hv.), June 9, 1663, Mathias Button, his 3rd wife. They lived there until they d. there, he Aug 13, 1672 and she July 16, 1690.

The children of THOMAS and ELIZABETH, prob. b. at Dover, N.H.:

i. ELIZABETH, b. ± 1644 ; SEE RECORD BELOW

ii. Thomas , b. ---- ; d. 1732; m. at Hv. Hannah Emerson, dau of Michael and Hannah (Webster) Emerson. She was capt. by Ind. during the "Dustin Massacre" on Mar 15, 1696/7,with Mary Neff and a teen aged boy were taken to Contoocook Is. in the Merrimack R. a few miles n. of Concord, N.H.

There, Mar 30, 1697, during the night, they kd. 10 of their captors, only a wounded squaw and boy escaping. For her heroism she became one of the most noted women in New Eng. and a monument to her and her heroism now stands on the Island.

ELIZABETH[2] DUSTIN (Thomas[1]) was b. prob. in Dover, N.H. ± 1644. She m. (1) in Haverhill, Mass. before 1664, John Kingsbury who d. Jan 23,1670/1. She m. (2) there, Dec 11, 1672, PETER GREEN (See Fam. 61 - GREEN).

65 - MOUSALL

That RALPH[1] MOUSALL, hereunder, was the father of RUTH who m. EDWARD[1] WOOD (See Fam. 64 - WOOD)has been challenged. Lack of proof and the age gap between RUTH and RALPH's son John provide reason for challenge. However, evidence and historical writing pronounce it as truth and it seems to be generally accepted. It is presented here on that premise.

RALPH[1] MOUSALL, a carpenter, was b. in Eng. and m. there Alice ---- who was prob. his second wife. They were Puritans and emigrated to New Eng. with John Winthrop in the Winthrop Fleet in 1630 and settled in Charlestown, Mass. (Chsn.). They were members of the original church there in 1631, and freeman the same year.

He was selectman, deacon and repr. to the General Court in 1636-37-38. In 1637, Deacon Mousall signed the remonstrance in favor of Mr. Wheelwright. Afterward he confessed his sin in subscribing to the seditious writing and desired "to have his name crossed out." This was not enough to satisfy the majority and in Sept. 1638 he was dismissed from the General Court. He continued as selectman nearly every year until his death, having been an efficient and respected citizen.

* More land and cow rights were acquired later, and some sold.

John Gove of Chsn., in will dated Jan. 22, 1647/8 gave to Ralph Mousall and wife, his dau. Mary Gove, to keep as their own child; also a silver porringer & £5 to bring up the child.

RALPH MOUSALL d. at Chsn. April 30, 1657. His widow Alice d. in 1677. In his will dtd Apr 13, 1657 he devised to his son John certain lands; to son Thomas, house he lives in, and land; property to his widow, Alice; legacies to daus. Mary Gobe and Ruth Wood; to "daughters" Elizabeth and Mary Mousall; to cousins; to son of son Thomas, etc.

* By 1638 he had acquired seven lots totalling about 75 acres and had cow rights in the commons.

"Daughters" in his will seems to have been loosely used, and refer to: Mary Gove, now 15 yrs old, who was given to him in her father's will; Ruth Wood, grandchild, now about 20 yrs old, dau. of dau. RUTH WOOD who d. in 1642; Elizabeth and Mary Mousall, daus.-in-law, wives of his sons John and Thomas Mousall.

His first ch., prob. by an unknown first wife, b. in Eng.

i. RUTH , b. ± 1605; SEE RECORD BELOW

His. ch. by wife Alice, the first b. in Eng., the other b. in Chsn.:

ii. John , b. ± 1629; he deposed in 1689 that he was age 60 (Middlesex Co. Rec.); he m. (1) Elizabeth Richardson, dau. of Samuel and Joanna. She d. Aug 16, 1685; he m. (2) Mar 26, 1686, Eleanor How; m. (3)Apr 24,1695,Mercy Mirick.

iii. Thomas, bpt in Chsn. May 25, 1633; m. (1) Mary Richardson, also dau of Samuel and Joanna. She d. Sep 13, 1677 and he m. (2) Apr 21, 1679, Mary Moore. He d. Apr 16, 1713.

RUTH[2] MOUSALL (Ralph[1]) was b. in Eng. ± 1605, and m. in Eng. EDWARD[1] WOOD. She came to New Eng. with her husband and family in 1639 and settled at Charlestown, Mass. (See Fam. 64 - WOOD).

66 - HAZEN

EDWARD[1] HAZEN, origins uncertain, may have been he who was bpt. in Cadney, Lincolnshire, Eng. Dec. 14, 1614, son of Thomas and Elizabeth ( ) Hassen. He came to New Eng. and settled at Rowley, Mass. where the first record of him was on Jan. 10, 1643/4 when, in a survey of the town, he is shown as having 4½ acres of upland laid out at the Great plain. He does not appear on the list of those who had house lots at that time. A little later he was shown as having 3 acres laid out for him in Crane meadow.

He m. (1) Elizabeth ---- who was bur. at Rowley Sep. 18, 1649. He m. (2) there, in March 1650, HANNAH GRANT who was bpt. at Cottingham, Yorkshire, Eng. Oct. 16, 1631, the dau. of THOMAS and JANE (HABURNE) GRANT (See Fam. 67 - GRANT). She came to New Eng., and to Rowley, with her parents ± 1638.

He was on lists in 1650 as having two oxen and one calf. He had some small land parcels and by Feb. 1661 had acquired 7 and 1/4 gates, or cattle rights, in the town commons, a good number for those times. He received a share in the Hog Island marshes when they were divided and laid out in 1667, also other land parcels from time to time.

On Jan. 3, 1650/1, at a town meeting, he was chosen one of the four overseers whose duties were to oversee the execution of town orders and highways. He was chosen again in five later years and was a selectman in 1669, and served on jury and other court duties.

He d. at Rowley July 22, 1683. An invt. of his estate taken Sep. 24, 1683 totalled £374,4s,3d. It included his home lot, house, buildings, and land, 15 other parcels of land of from 1 to 60 acres totalling 127 acres, 2 pr. oxen, 3 horses, cattle, pigs and sheep, and the usual tools, household items, etc. There were no special tradesman's tools which indicated that he was a farmer.

His widow, HANNAH, m. (2) at Haverhill, Mar. 17, 1683/4, Capt. George Browne, his 2nd wife. He d. Oct. 30, 1699.

HANNAH d. at Haverhill, Mass. Feb. 1715/6.

67 - GRANT

RALPH HABURNE, son of JOHN, was bpt. at Cottingham, co. Yorkshire, Eng. Jan. 1, 1569/70 and m. (1) there Dec. 2, 1593, MAUD JECLES, who was bur. there May 5, 1623. He m. (2) there July 4, 1625, Frances Metcalf who survived him. He was bur. there Apr. 17, 1638. In his will pvd. Sep. 28, 1638 he mentions his wife Frances, his son George, and his daus. Elizabeth Haburne, Anna Gouldsborough, JANE GRANT, and Isabelle Goulds-well. These five ch. being the survivors of eight ch. that he had by his two wives.

His dau. JANE, by his first wife MAUD JECLES, was bpt. at Cottingham Oct. 10, 1602, m. there Sept. 21, 1624, THOMAS GRANT.

THOMAS[1] GRANT, son of JOHN, was bpt. at Hessle, co. Yorkshire, Eng. Feb. 12, 1600/1. He m. at Cottingham, Yorkshire, Sept. 21, 1624, JANE HABURNE, bpt. there Oct. 10, 1602, the dau. of RALPH and MAUD (JECLES) HABURNE, as above. They, with four ch., came to New Eng. in 1638 as is evidenced by an affidavit by Samuel Stickney, Sr. The affidavit, sworn to July 20, 1698, was filed in the Essex Co., Mass. Probate Court in the settlement of the estate of their son, John Grant, who d. at Rowley, Mass. Mar. 18, 1696/7. It reads:

"I Sam[ll] Stickney S[r] of Bradford do testifie and say That I came over from England in the same ship w[th] Thomas Grant and Jane Grant his Wife, who brought over w[th] them Foure Children, by name John, Hannah, Frances and Ann, whome I was well acquainted with, and next or near neighbours unto in Rowley. And y[e] said John being deceased, I do affirm that the sisters of John Grant above named, now by marriage knowne by y[e] names of Hannah Browne, Frances Keyes, and Ann Emerson, are y[e] same y[t] came over w[th] their Father and Mother and by them owned w[th] said John for their children." (Essex Co., Mass. Probate Files.)

Samuel Stickney was the son of Wm. Stickney who was adm. to the First Church of Boston in Jan. 1639. The Grants therefore came to New Eng. sometime between Dec. 1637, when their last ch. was b. in Eng., and Jan. 1639, and prob. settled first at Boston where prob. THOMAS GRANT d., date unknown, as no record of him was found.

He d. sometime before Jan. 10, 1643/4 when his widow, JANE GRANT, owned a one and one-half acre house lot on Bradford St. in Rowley, Mass, also 4½ acres of upland, and 3 acres in a field called "Batchelour's Plaine." On Mar 5, 1651/2 she was given 1 cow gate (a cow right in the commons) and on Mar. 25, 1653 she was taxed for 2 cows and 1 heifer. All of this in Rowley, Mass.

She d. sometime before Feb. 4, 1661/2 when the cow gate given to her previously was now given to her son John Grant.

Their children, all bpt. in Cottingham, Yorkshire, Eng.:

i. Jane , bpt. Mar 8, 1625/6; bur. Mar 12, 1625/6

ii. John , bpt. Mar 5, 1627/8; d. at Rowley, Mass. Mar 18, 1696/7 m. Mary Hunt who d. bef. Jun 27, 1698 (See Fam. 64 - WOOD)

iii. George, bpt. Apr 16, 1629; d. young in Eng.

iv. HANNAH, bpt. Oct 16, 1631; SEE RECORD BELOW

v. Frances, bpt. Jun 12, 1634; d. after 1702; m. at Newbury, Mass. Oct 2, 1653, Solomon Keyes vi. Anna , bpt. Dec 21, 1637; drowned at Haverhill, Mass., July 28, 1718; m. at Rowley, Jan 4, 1658/9, Robert Emerson.

HANNAH[2] GRANT (Thomas[1]) was bpt. at Cottingham, Yorkshire, Eng., Oct 16, 1631 and came to New Eng. with her parents in 1638. She m. at Rowley, Mass., in March 1650, EDWARD[1] HAZEN. He d. at Rowley July 22, 1683 and she m. (2) at Haverhill, Mass., Mar 17, 1683/4, Capt. George Browne. She d. at Haverhill in Feb. 1715/6. (See Fam. 66 - HAZEN).

68 - RUDD

JONATHAN[1] RUDD was b. in Eng., origins unknown, and is first found of record in a Connecticut court, April 2, 1640, one of four persons who "were corrected for wanton dalliance and selfe pollution."

He settled in New Haven, Conn. and is of record in the Court there:
Jan. 4, 1643/4, he and seven others, fined 3s.4d. each, for "totall defect in armes."
Apr. 5, 1644, he and eight others "for a drunken disorderly meeting at the prison on Lords day att night, where they drunke 3 bottles of sack, containing 3 quarts, and 2 quarts of strong water besides." They were all fined, he for 20s. Only one other man was fined so much.
The prison was prob. a gathering place. No record of imprisonment.
July 1, 1644, he took Oath of Allegiance. June 2, 1646, he testified.

These were the last records of him in New Haven. He rem. in 1646 to Saybrook, Conn. at the mouth of the Connecticut River where, in the winter of 1646-47, he m. ---- (unknown) in an unusual marriage ceremony, as related to the Conn. Legislature in March 1672 by Gov. John Winthrop, Jr. to support that the stream known as Bride Brook was in 1646-47 regarded as the boundary between Mass. Bay Colony and Conn.:

A young couple in Saybrook were to be married. the groom was JONATHAN RUDD. The wedding day was fixed and a magistrate, from one of the upper towns on the river, was engaged to perform the rite as there was not any person in Saybrook duly qualified to officiate. But at that time there was a falling of a great snow, the paths were obliterated, traveling obstructed, so that the magis trate intended to go down there was hindered by the depth of the snow. On the seaboard there is usually a less cover of snow and the courses can be more readily followed. Application was therefore made to Gov. John Winthrop of Mass., then at Pequot (now New London), to come to Saybrook and unite the parties. But he, deriving his authority from Mass. could not legally officiate in Connecticut.

As recorded by Gov. John Winthrop of Mass., father of John, Jr. of Conn.:
"I saw it necessary to deny them in that way (to come to Saybrook), but told them for an expedient for their accommodation, if they come to the plantation (to Pequot in Mass.) it might be done. But that being too difficult for them, it was agreed that they should come to that place, which is now called Bride Brook, as being a place within the bounds of that authority whereby I then acted, otherwise I had exceeded the limits of my commission."

The parties met on the bank of the little stream that was the boundary between the two colonies: Gov. Winthrop and his friends from Pequot and the bridal party from Saybrook. Here the ceremony was performed in the snow, under open skies, and possibly the sheltering side of a forest of pines or cedars. Perhaps never before or since have the rites been performed in a situation so wild and solitary, yet so interesting. It was probably a jovial occasion for everyone who were there.

After this, the stream became known as Bride Brook. It runs into the Sound about two miles west of Niantick Bay, between Saybrook and New London, both now in Connecticut.

The good record of the above marriage is published in the Histories of New London, and of Saybrook, Conn., in Trumbull's Public Records of the Colony of Conn., and others. The name of the bride is not shown.

In Connecticut General Court records:

May 15, 1651, He was made freeman and he testified in court.

Feb 23, 1652/3. He was appointed as asst. to Capt. John Mason in strengthening the defenses at the fort in Saybrook.

Oct 4, 1656. He was aptd. to be leather sealer at Saybrook for the ensuing year.

He d. at Saybrook about July 1658. His invt. taken in July 1658 totalled £106.3s.10d. with debts of £96.8s. leaving a very small estate. His land holdings were small. Those noted were two lots totalling two and 3/4 acres sold from his estate, one being his house lot which adjoined the house lot of STEPHEN POST who was one of the adms. His probate record ments. "two sons and 4 daughters" but only 4 ch. were found. (Early Connecticut Probate Records, Vol. I, p. 148). No wife was ment.

His children, all b. in Saybrook, order of birth uncertain:

69 - POST

In the year 1376 in the records of Arnheim, Holland, a VAN der POST was one of the 24 Burghers of Arnheim.

PANWELL VAN der POST m. at Arnheim, Feb. 7, 1571, SARAH VAN GELDER, dau. of ABRAHAM VAN GELDER, and emigrated from Arnheim to Maidstone, co. Kent, England.

ABRAHAM POST and twin Sarah were b. at Maidstone, Oct. 6, 1572, to PANWELL and SARAH (VAN GELDER) POST according to the records of the Dutch Church there. ABRAHAM m. at Hollingbourne, Kent, Apr. 26, 1595, ANNE HUNTE. He d. at Hollingbourne and was bur. at the Church of All Saints, there, July 22, 1639. From the old and worn Parish register it appears that they had at least two children, Mary, b. 1607, and STEPHEN.

STEPHEN POST, b. at Hollingbourne, ± 1596, m. there, in the parish of Langley, ELLEN PANTON. His marriage banns, dated Oct. 17, 1625, called him "carpenter of Otham." They are first of record in Otham in Kent on Sept. 13, 1629 when their son John was bapt. there.

Rev. Thomas Hooker, an outspoken preacher whose sermons alienated him with Bishop Laud of the Church of England, was excommunicated and forced into seclusion. After a lengthy series of events, over about five years, he and a band of his followers were smuggled aboard the Griffin which landed at Boston Sept. 4, 1633. They settled at New Towne, Mass.

STEPHEN[1] POST and his wife ELLEN (sometimes called Eleanor), by good evidence assumed to be the same persons as were m. at Hollingbourne, banns dated Oct. 17, 1625 as above, came to New Eng. with prob. three children, sometime between Sept. 3, 1633, when their son Joseph was bur. at Otham, and Sept. 1, 1634 when he was first of record at Newe Towne, now Cambridge, Mass., where he was in the group with Rev. Thomas Hooker. It is not known if he was a follower of Hooker in Eng., or if he first joined with him at Newe Towne.

The original records of Newe Towne, now Cambridge, show: "On the prime of September 1634 lots granted on west side of river (Charles River) to STEPHEN POST, 12 ackers", being the first record of him in America. Before this, on May 3, 1634, Gov. Winthrop of Mass. Bay Colony wrote that those at Newe Towne wanted more land or "lief of removal." On May 14, 1634, the General Court decided to give them lief to seek out some other place but the location "shall not be in any place to prejudice a plantation already settled." This was soon rescinded.

Rev. Hooker, already critical of conditions and tyranny in the Colony, on Sept. 4, 1634, asked to move to Connecticut, because of "lack of pasturage for cattle, inability to provide means to support a minister .... , that the towns are too close together while space and fertility in Connecticut is abundant." This also would remove him and his followers from Mass. Bay Colony. On May 6, 1635 the final consent of the Colony was secured, after much debate, principally to have an English settlement on the Connecticut River before the Dutch settled there.

On May 31, 1635, Rev. Hooker and his band of followers departed from Newe Towne, with 160 head of cattle, and trudging on foot through the wilderness, after 14 days came to the Connecticut River and settled there on land which had already been purchased by treaty from the friendly Indians of the Suckiag Tribe. Thus was founded the town of Hartford.

STEPHEN POST and his family were among those followers, and his name is inscribed on the monument in Hartford erected "In Memory of the First Settlers of Hartford." He was on the list of Proprietors in Hartford in 1636. On Dec. 23, 1639 he received 24 acres in the division of lands. On Oct. 28, 1640 the town agreed to pay STEPHEN POST, "at 5s, 6d per hundred, to hew, plane, and lay the clapboards for the meeting house", thus recording his trade as a carpenter. In 1641 he was engaged to build a porch and stairs in the meeting house. He was chosen constable, 1641.

About 1646 he removed with his family down to the mouth of the Connecticut River to settle there at Saybrook where some other Hartford people also settled. He had a house and home lot in town at Saybrook. In 1648 he became one of several proprietors of a large tract of land abutting the Oyster River there, paying £300 for 250 acres in the "Oyster Quarter." On Mar. 20, 1649/50 the General Court added him to a committee to prosecute the work about the "Forte and dwelling house to be erected for the use of the Country" at Saybrook.

He and his wife, ELLEN, both d. at Saybrook, he Aug. 16, 1659, and she Nov. 13, 1670. His invt. taken Aug. 31, 1659 totalled £442,3s,6d.

Their children,

i. John , bpt at Otham, Kent, Sept. 13, 1629; d. Norwich, Conn. Nov 27, 1710; m. at Saybrook, March --, 1652, Hester Hyde, dau. of William Hyde of Saybrook.

ii. Katherine, b. in Eng., place not of record, ± 1630; m. at Saybrook, Sep 27, 1649, Alexander Chalker

iii. THOMAS , bpt. at Otham, Kent, Nov. 1, 1631; SEE RECORD BELOW

iv. Joseph , bpt. at Otham, Kent, Aug. 8, 1633, bur. there Sept. 3, 1633.

v. Abraham , may have been the first born. May have been b. in Eng. as early as 1627, or at Hartford in 1640; d. Sayb. ± 1694; m. ± 1663, Mary Jordan, dau John and Ann of Guilford. He was prob. named for grandfather Abraham, and prob. 1st b.

THOMAS[2] POST (Stephen[1]) was bpt. at Otham, Kent, Eng., Nov. 1, 1631, and came to Newe Towne (Now Cambridge), Mass. with his parents in 1634 and removed with them to Hartford and Saybrook, Conn.

In January 1656 he m. Mary Andrews.

On June 6, 1659 three Mohegan chiefs deeded to the men of Saybrook, for £70, nine square miles on the Yantic (now Thames) River wherein was founded, that year, the town of Norwich, Conn. when 35 men and their families went there with their belongings in boats. THOMAS POST and his bro. John Post were among those settlers. The home lots were surveyed in 1659 and THOMAS POST had six acres by the river.

In March 1661 his wife Mary died, the first death in Norwich, and she was bur. in his home lot at "Bean Hill." On Dec. 16, 1661 the town purchased a burying place of THOMAS POST at the rear of his lot, "he is to allow a highway of six foot broad through his lott unto the said burying place." This, and an adjoining lot, became known as the Old Burying Ground and his wife was the first burial there. Near the Old burying Ground, in 1871, the Mason Monument was erected as a memorial to Major John Mason, one of the first settlers of Norwich. THOMAS POST and John Post are among the names of first residents inscribed on the monument.

He m.(2) at New London, Sept 2, 1663, REBECCA BRUEN, b. ± 1640, prob. at Marshfield, Plymouth Colony, dau. of OBADIAH[1] and SARAH ( ) BRUEN who were of New London, Conn. in 1663 (See Fam. 70 - BRUEN). This may have been the first marr. at Norwich.

On Oct. 8, 1663 he and his bro. John were accepted by the Gen. Assy. at Hartford to become freemen.

In the Town Records of Norwich dated Oct. 13, 1698, "Thomas Post is released by this court from the fyne that was imposed upon him for retailing liquor." The original charge, and fine, were not noted, but the remitting of his fine indicates that he proved his innocence. His occupation was not noted.

He and his wife REBECCA both d. in Norwich, he Sept. 5, 1701 and she April 15, 1721. They are doubtless both bur. in the Old Burying Ground in graves now unmarked.

His child by his first wife Mary, b. in Norwich.

i. Sarah , b. Nov --, 1657; m. ----- Vincent.

His children by his second wife REBECCA, all b. in Norwich:

ii. Thomas , b. Dec --, 1664; no further rec. in Norwich

iii. Hannah , b. Feb --, 1666; d. June --, 1667

iv. MARY , b. June --, 1669: SEE RECORD BELOW

v. Obadiah, b. --- ; d. ± 1703

vi. Joseph , b. ± 1681; m. Nov 20, 1733 Mary Post of Saybrook

MARY[3] POST (Thomas[2], Stephen[1]) was b. in Norwich in June 1669. She m. there, April 16, 1685, NATHANIEL[2] RUDD, b. in Saybrook, Conn., ± 1650, the son of JONATHAN[1] and ----- RUDD. (See Fam. 68 - RUDD).

70 - BRUEN

The BRUEN lineage is traced back to ROBERT le BRUN who was living in 1230 in Stapleford, co. Cheshire, England. OBADIAH BRUEN, the American immigrant, through his grandmother, DOROTHY HOLFORD, is descended from baronial and royal families of England and the continent. Several of these lineages have been published, some branches of which have been unproven or disproven.

The lineages which follow are those which have best stood the test of time and extensive research in England. The authorities used to construct the families in these lineages can be about as numerous as the families themselves, are not shown in these lineages but are shown in detail in the sources for these records which appear at the end of each lineage.

Lineage No. 3: ALFRED THE GREAT was the 15th generation of a line starting with CERDIC, King of the West Saxons 519-534. He founded a settlement on the coast of Hampshire, England, in A.D. 495.

MALCOLM III CANMORE, King of Scots 1058-1093, husband of MARGARET, No. 8 in Lineage No. 3, was the 21st generation of a line starting with ERCC, King of Dalriada, in northern Ireland, who d. A.D. 474.

Many of the persons recorded in these lineages are also descendants in other well traced lines. Among them, GEOFFREY V "PLANTAGENET", shown in No. 14, Lineage No. 1, descended from many noble and royal lines, and ISABEL DE VERMANDOIS, No. 5 in Lineage No. 2, has six lines of descent from CHARLEMAGNE.

WILLIAM I, The Conqueror, whose Norman soldiers conquered England at the Battle of Hastings in 1066, King of England 1066-1087, is an ancestor, No. 12 in Lineage No. 1. Of the nine noblemen stated to have been with him at the Battle of Hastings, called his "Companions", four are ancestors:

SIR ROBERT DE BEAUMONT, Earl of Leicester.	(See No. 5, Lineage 2.)
WILLIAM FITZ OSBORN , Earl of Hereford.	(See No. 6, Lineage 2.)
HUGH DE GRANTMESNIL	(See No. 7, Lineage 2.)
WILLIAM DE WARENNE, Earl of Surrey	(In an omitted lineage.)

MAGNA CHARTA, the "great charter" of English liberties, was forced from King John by the English barons and sealed at Runnymede, June 15, 1215. Magna Charta Sureties named in these Lineages are:

SAHER DE QUINCY, Earl of Winchester	(See No. 8 in Lineage 2)
ROGER BIGOD, 2nd Earl of Norfolk	(See No. 26, Lineage 1.)
HUGH BIGOD , 3rd Earl of Norfolk	(See No. 26, Lineage 1.)

Other noblemen named in the Magna Charta:

WILLIAM LONGSPEE, Earl of Salisbury	(See No. 16, Lineage 1.)
ALAN OF GALLOWAY, Constable of Scotland	(See No. 9, Lineage 2.)

THE BRUEN ARMS AND CREST:

Arms: Quarterly, 1, Argent, an Eagle displayed Sable; 2, Gules, a scythe Argent; 3, Argent, a fess dancettee between three cross crosslets fitchee Sable; 4, Sable, two bars Argent, on a canton of the first a garb between four Acorns Or.

Crest: An Oak tree eradicated proper.

The descriptions of the Arms and Crest are taken from the 3rd and 4th of the above sources for Lineage No. 5. A picture of the Arms and Crest appears in the 3rd of the above sources.

Coat of Arms of OBADIAH BRUEN, the American immigrant:

A biography entitled "The Very Singular Life of John Bruen of Stapleford" (No. 13 in Pedigree No. 5) by the Rev. William Hinde, Rector of the parish, was published in England in 1641 and again in 1799, and in New York in 1857, is that of a devoutly religious life of an English country gentleman.

The BRUEN American ancestry:

OBADIAH[1] BRUEN was bpt. at St. Andrews in Tarvin, co. Cheshire, Eng., Dec. 25, 1606, the son of JOHN and ANNE (FOXE) BRUEN of Bruen-Stapleford, co. Cheshire. (See Nos. 13 and 14 in the preceding Lineage No. 5.)

As a younger son he did not fall heir to the family estate. We find him of record in Shrewsbury, co. Shropshire, called a draper, by his admittance to citizenship there in 1633:

"30th day of September, in the 9th year of the reign of King Charles of England (1633) ..... Obadiah Bruen of the Vill of Salop draper, son of John Bruen of Stapleford in the county palatine of Chester is admitted a free burgess of the Vill of Salop aforesaid.....with full assent and consent to have enjoy and use all liberties and privileges of the same Vill, who says upon his oath that he has no issue before this session lawfully begotten and thereupon he is sworn in the manner of a burgess and pays for fine V li together with the due and accustomed fee ....." (Salop and Chester are shorter names for counties Shropshire and Cheshire.)

The above is a translation of the Latin entry in the Town Records of Shrewsbury, certified by the clerk.

He then had no children. He prob. m. about that time, and prob. in Shrewsbury, SARAH ----- .

Six men of Shrewsbury were owners of "The Shrewsbury Patent", of unknown date, called "Patents and plantation of Pascataquacke" to establish a plantation along the Piscataqua River in New Eng. None of these men ever emigrated to New Eng. By bill of sale dated Oct. 22, 1635, one of these men, Richard Percivall, sold his partnership to OBADIAH BRUEN of Shrewsbury, draper, and on May 4, 1640, in Shrewsbury, Obadiah Bruen was accepted as a partner by the other five men. (N.H. Prov. Papers, I, 162-4). This was probably shortly before his departure for New Eng.

Mr. Richard Blinman, a minister of Chepstow, Monmouthshire, Eng., came to New Eng. with several men of good note at the invitation of Edward Winslow of Plymouth Colony. They, with their families, settled at Green Harbor, now Marshfield, Mass. At a court held at Plymouth Mar 2, 1640/1 Mr. Blinman, Mr. OBADIAH BRUEN, and four others were propounded to be made freemen at the next court. As this was earlier than any vessel could have arrived that year, it makes it prob. that they came over in 1640. This is the first record of OBADIAH BRUEN in America. He brought his wife SARAH, his daughter Mary, and possibly his daughter REBECCA.

Mr. Blinman came into disfavor at Plymouth and, in the spring of 1642, removed with his countrymen across the Bay to Cape Ann in Mass. Bay Col. Soon after his arrival there, OBADIAH BRUEN, not having exercised his partnership in "Patents and plantation of Pascataquacke", sold it to Rev. Thomas Markham of Northam (Dover, N.H.).

At the Gen. Court of Mass. Bay Col. in May 1642, Cape Ann was established as a plantation and called Gloucester. On May 2, 1642, OBADIAH BRUEN was one of eight men chosen to manage the town's affairs, and on May 19, 1642 he was made freeman. Selectman in 1642 and several times later. Appointed repr. for Gloucester to Mass. Bay Col. General Ct on Sept. 27, 1642 and twice later. He was the first Town Clerk of Gloucester, chosen soon after arrival in 1642, and held that office throughout his stay in Gloucester.

He is thought to have lived in Glouc. on the s.w. side of the Meeting House Green. He had other small grants in different places. He sold all of his possessions in Gloucester in Sept. 1650.

His latest entry in Gloucester records was in Dec. 1650. Soon after this he had arrived at Pequot plantation, soon to be called the town of New London, in Connecticut where Mr. Blinman was engaged to be minister, and where he had already, on Oct. 19, 1650, received a grant of 30 acres of upland at Pequot in Robin Hood's Bay. He received a house lot on Meeting House Hill which covered a large part of what later became the town square.

He seems to have brought his pen and official duties with him as on Feb. 20, 1650/1, in a town meeting at Pequot, he was chosen a "townsman" and in the election of officers he was chosen "Recorder of the towne of Pequot." He continued in this office, and as Town Clerk, for 16 years, and was usually moderator at town meetings. Scarcely any record of deeds, votes, choice of officers, accounts, or copies of legislative acts, can be found belonging to that period in any other handwriting than his. During these years he was usually on all committees for the granting of lands, building meeting houses, and handling differences, and was perhaps more intimately identified with the public concern than any other man.

The first minute in his hand is on a scrap of paper dated July 1651 and affords a full list of the inhabitants of the town at that time. It listed 42 names, including his own.

On Apr. 25, 1653 he was one of those chosen to make a list of men in town 16 years old and older, with valuation of all real and personal estate of each, by order of the Gen. Ct., being the first such list, the inhabitants having been heretofore free from the Colonial tax.

At the Gen. Assy. at Hartford he was chosen Commissioner for New London Apr. 11, 1660, and annually thereafter to 1666. At the Gen. Ct. at Hartford, May 17, 1660, he was chosen Assistant for the ensuing year.

New London county was org. in May 1666. At the Gen. Ct. at Hartford, May 10, 1666, he was chosen Clerk of the County Court at New London.

In the Charter of Connecticut, signed by Charles II on Apr. 23, 1662, he was one of the original Petitioners and one of the "Body Corporate and Pollitique" of the new colony under the charter.

He had at least ten grants of land at New London, of two to 60 acres each. Also a grant of 200 acres in Sept. 1663 which he sold Dec.26,1665. Other properties were sold at various times, some in March and May 1667.

A company of planters from several Conn. towns on Long Island Sound, in 1666, formed an association to purchase and settle a township on the Passaic River in New Jersey. An advance party from Milford, Conn. arrived there in May 1666, reached agreement with the Indians for purchase of the land, and started the settlement which was at first called Pesayak Towne and later called Newark in compliment to their pastor, the Rev. Abraham Pierson, who came from Newark-on-Trent, Eng.

The contingents of planters came in 1667 from Milford, Guilford, New Haven and Branford, Conn. At Branford, Oct. 30, 1666, the inhabitants agreed that only members of the Congregational Church would be admitted freemen at Newark, nor shall any but such be chosen to Majistracy or to carry on any part of Civil Judicature, or as deputies or assistants, to have power to vote in establishing laws and making or repealing them, or to any chief military trust or office, nor shall any but such church members have any vote in any such election. These were called the "fundamental agreements" and were signed at Newark, June 24, 1667, by the settlers from the other towns, OBADIAH BRUEN being the second signer there.

He came with the Milford group in which were John Baldwin, Jr. who had married his daughter Hannah.

While the Hackensack Indians made the agreement to sell the lands to the settlers in May 1666, the bill of sale was not signed until July 11, 1667. On that day the prepared document, which confirmed and enlarged upon the May 1666 agreement, was read to the assembled tribal leaders, explained to them by a Dutch interpreter, was signed first (their marks) by Wapamuk and others, for the Indians, and then by OBADIAH BRUEN, Michael Tomkins, Samuel Kitchell, John Brown, and Robert Denison, in that order, for the town, and "with the consent and advice of Capt'n Philip Carteret, Governeur of the Province of New Jersey."

The lengthy bill of sale described the lands and defined the boundaries which included most of present day Essex Co. and part of Union Co., stated the Indian hunting and fishing rights, the settler's rights, etc. The bill of sale provided that the Indians would receive, in consideration for the sale of these lands: fifty double-hands of powder, one hundred bars of lead, twenty axes, ten guns, twenty pistols, twenty coats, ten kettles, ten swords, four blankets, four barrels of beer, ten pairs of breeches, fifty knives, twenty hoes, 850 fathom of wampum, two "Ankers" of licquers, or something equivalent, and three troopers coats. (A complete copy of the bill of sale is in "The Municipalities of Essex County, New Jersey 1666-1924", pages 31-32.)

In a town meeting June 20, 1667, highways were agreed upon, land was to be divided by lot beginning at Mr. Bruen's home lot in the River Spot, and Mr. Bruen was to maintain the second gate next to the Great River.

In the division of lands:

Feb. 6, 1667/8. He drew lot No. 21 which became his home lot. It was located on Market St., near the site of the later Penna. R.R. station.
Jan. 1, 1669/70. He drew 1st and drew Lot No. 42 in a div. of meadows.
Jan 25, 1669/70. He drew No. 9 for lot in the Great Neck.
Feb. 21, 1670/1. He drew No. 37 in 2nd div. of Salt Meadow.
May 26, 1673. He drew No. 57 in a div. of lands.

He was active in town meetings, chosen to serve on committees, but is not known to have held public office at Newark. On Nov. 14, 1671 he was one of the men appointed to make the rate (tax) list, and on Sept. 25, 1676 "Mr. Bruen hath a Grant to be rate (tax) free."

He seems to have had with him copies of records written by him while the Recorder at Gloucester. A copy of the grant by the town of Gloucester to Mr. Blinman 18:11:1643, made by OBADIAH BRUEN, recorder, in the year 1643, was sworn by OBADIAH BRUEN June 18, 1679 at Newark, N.J., before John Ward, justice. This copy was presented in court at Salem, Mass. Nov. 25, 1679 by ROBERT[1] KNIGHT (No. 1 in Fam. 1 - KNIGHT) in a lawsuit for trespass on his farm, formerly the Blinman farm, which he had bought in 1659 from a party who had bought it from Mr. Blinman. Knight evidently reached Mr. Bruen at Newark for this document which served Knight in his successful proof of ownership. (Essex Co., Mass. Quarterly Courts, Vol. VII, p. 297.)

On Oct. 11, 1679 he wrote a letter to "Deare and Loving Sonne and Daughter", his son-in-law THOMAS[1] POST and his dau. REBECCA, of Norwich, Conn. In it he refers to himself and wife, his son John and dau. Hannah and their resp. spouses, as all in good health, and he entreats THOMAS POST, when he goes to New London, to "make some inquirey for me about some Land I have in the General Neck, thirteen acres and six acres" on which he has learned of a neighbor's trespass, and to make sale of it to the neighbor if possible. It is signed:

Newarke, October 11, 1679 Your loving father, Ob. Brewen and mother, Sarah Bruen

Later a copy was made of the original letter for entry in the Newark Town Records on July 2, 1681.

Presumably a price for the two parcels was agreed upon and William Hough of New London was empowered to handle the sale, per letter to him:

"Deare and Loving friend Goodman Hough: Wee understand that Goodman Rogers doe profer a considerable price for some land of Father Bruen's, and having the oppertunity that your Sister .... may carry some pay that may doe Father Bruen a pleasure (prob. the proceeds of sale, to Newark) This is to interest you to make sale of it, and yor Father (in-law) Callkins & I, Thomas Post, doe ingage to stand betweene you & harme in the matter, as witness our hands, April the 8th, 1681.
Witness - Samuel Hough. (Signed) Thomas Post and mark of Hugh Calkins.

William Hough successfully handled the sale and, for his authority, had recorded in New London town records: The original letter of Obadiah Bruen to Thomas Post dated Oct. 11, 1679, the letter to himself by Thomas Post and Hugh Calkins dated Apr. 8, 1681, and the following statement:

By vertue of a power of attorney from Mr. Obadiah Bruen, of Newark, in New Jersey, with the consent and approbation of Hugh Calkins and Thomas Post, of Norwich, I sold to James Rogers, Senr, 24 acres of land in the General Neck; 16 acres in the 7th teare ....., 8 acres in the 5th tier, ...

These were the last records found concerning OBADIAH BRUEN in his lifetime. He was still living Apr. 8, 1681 but may have died soon after. He was a man of unusual abilities, was held in high esteem wherever he lived, and was usually recorded as Mr. or Esq., then titles of respect.

He did not leave a will. His widow, SARAH, was prob. still living in 1697, being mentioned as a landowner in that year.

Their children, b. as shown. The births of Hannah and John were recorded in Gloucester records in their father's handwriting.:

i. Mary , bpt at St. Julian's, Shrewsbury, Eng., June 12, 1634; d. Milford, Conn. Sept. 2, 1670; m. in Milford, Conn., Aug. 15, 1652, John Baldwin, Sr., his 2nd wife.

ii. Sarah , bpt. at Tarvin, Cheshire, Eng. May 1, 1636; d. Eng.

iii. REBECCA, b. Eng. or Green Harbor, now Marshfield, Mass. ± 1640; SEE RECORD BELOW.

iv. Hannah , b. Glouc., Mass., Jan. 9, 1643/4; m. in Milford, Conn., Oct. 30, 1663, John Baldwin, Jr., son of John Sr. who had m. in 1652 her sister Mary. Lived in Milford, went to Newark in 1667 and was still living there in 1680.

v. John , b. Glouc., Mass., June 2, 1646; d. Newark ± 1695; m. Newark, ± 1679, Esther Lawrence, dau. of Deacon Richard Lawrence of Branford, Conn. and Newark, N.J.

REBECCA[2] BRUEN (Obadiah[1]) was b. in Eng. or Green Harbor, now Marshfield, Mass., ± 1640, prob. in Mass. as there was no bpt. record in England. She removed with her parents to Gloucester, Mass., and then to New London, Conn.

Her father was a witness to the will of Mary Harris, widow, dated Jan. 19, 1655, in which she gave to Rebekah Bruen: "a pynt pott of pewter, a new petticoate and wascote wch she is to spin herselfe; also an old byble, and a hatt wch was my sonn Thomas his hatt." Her son Thomas, presumably betrothed to Rebecca, was lost at sea.

She m. in New London, Sept. 2, 1663, THOMAS[2] POST of Norwich, Conn., son of STEPHEN[1] and ELLEN (PANTON) POST of Saybrook, Conn. (See Fam. 69 - POST).

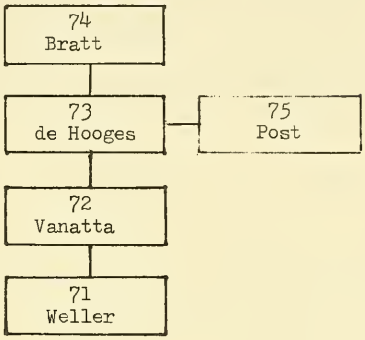
SECTION VII - ALLIED FAMILIES

This Section VII covers the families descending to MARY HELEN[4] WELLER who married ALDIS ROBERT[7] KNIGHT (No. 60 in Section I).

The descending families:



71 - WELLER

GERMAN ANCESTRY

PHILIPP WELLER was b. before 1617 and d. before Aug 8, 1685 at Diedenshausen, Westphalia, Germany. He m. bef. Aug. 1658, wife unknown. He is recorded as a courtmiller in Berleburg Sept 13, 1638 and as a mill owner and master miller at Diedenshausen from Sept 10, 1641. He had five children, his son

GABRIEL WELLER was b. at Diedenshausen ± 1651 and d. there between Mar. 20, 1692 and Oct. 15, 1694. He m. ± 1675 Anna Magdalena Spies ? who d. after Mar. 21, 1697. He was a mill owner and operator at Diedenshausen. He had five sons and three daus. all b. there. Among them were: Johann Georg, b. Dec. 7, 1677; Johannes, b. Sept. 6, 1681; Johann Philipp b. Sept. 20, 1689; and Samuel, b. Nov. 27, 1692. His son

Johann Philipp , who is called Philip in New Jersey records, was b. Sept. 20, 1689 and m. Apr. 8, 1725, Anna Schaferin. He came to America with wife and one child in 1730 and settled first at East Amwell, Hunterdon Co., N.J. On Apr. 30, 1742 he bought 280 acres on the Pohatcong River in Greenwich twp., Sussex Co., N.J. (now, after splitting of Greenwich twp. and Sussex Co., in Franklin twp., Warren Co.) He lived and d. there, survived by wife and seven ch.: Philip, John, Jacob, Catherine, Mary, Eleanor and Sarah.

Our ancestor, GEORGE WELLER, b. ± 1727, and Wilhelm Weller, b. ± 1733, thought to be brothers, came from Germany in 1753. GEORGE settled in what is now Washington twp., Warren Co., which adjoins Franklin twp., and also owned property in Franklin twp. He and Wilhelm both named sons "Philip". Their parentage is not identified but, by association, are believed to be nephews of Philip Weller and sons of one of his three brothers noted above.

The above is mostly excerpted from a multiple page genealogy entitled "Many Descendants from Philipp Weller (±1615-1671/85) Diedenshausen, Westfalen, Germany" prepared by Margaret (Mighell) Weller and Harry Charles Weller of Pullman, Washington, and found in the New Jersey Historical Society Records in the A. S. Alexander Library at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J. Another genealogy of the Philip Weller family of New Jersey, and descendants, was found in the D.A.R. records at Newark, N.J.

Wilhelm is prob. the Wilhelm Weller who m. at Second River, now Belleville, N.J. Aug. 2, 1757, Eva Phillips.

JOHANN GEORGE WELLER was a sponsor at a baptism, May 19, 1776, at St. James Lutheran Church, in Greenwich twp. Wilhelm Weller and his wife Eva were sponsors at baptisms, Apr. 15, 1787 and May 11, 1788, at the same church where we also find several records of members of the Philip Weller family. (Genealogical Mag. of New Jersey, Vols. 8 and 9.) This further evidences the association, and probable relationship, between the two families.

AMERICAN ANCESTRY

GEORGE[1] WELLER, b. ± 1727, believed to be a grandson of GABRIEL WELLER of Diedenshausen, Westphalia, Germany, and nephew of Philip Weller who came from there to New Jersey in 1730 as above stated, arrived in Philadelphia Oct. 2, 1753 in the ship Edinburgh from Rotterdam. He was accompanied by Wilhelm Weller who may have been his brother. They appear in the passenger list as:

Johann Georg Waller, age 26
Johann Wilhelm Waller, age 20

Only males of age 16 or over were listed. Females and boys under 16 were not listed so it is not known if GEORGE brought a wife with him. (From "Pennsylvania German Pioneers" by R. B. Strassburger and W. J. Hinke, Vol. I, pp. 576-581, also the same reproduced in "Pennsylvania German Society - Proceedings and Addresses", Vol. 42.). The names Johann, of common usage in Germany, were dropped in America.

On Nov. 3, 1762, in court at Burlington, N.J., GEORGE WELLER took the Naturalization oath and on Dec. 8, 1762 he received his Certificate of Naturalization. (Nat. records on film in Trenton, N.J.)

He purchased the following properties in Mansfield twp., Sussex Co., N.J. which, after divisions of twp. and Co., are now located in Washington twp., Warren, Co., N.J.

Apr. 26, 1764 - 261 acres from William Miller
May 6, 1764 - 32 and 1/2 acres from John Cain and wife
May 15, 1786 - 104 acres from Thomas Thatcher and wife

He also bought at a sheriff's sale, jointly with Mathias Colshutt, date unknown, a farm in Mansfield twp. of 236 and 1/2 acres. He soon after transferred his one-half share of 118 and 1/4 acres to his son Philip Weller who mortgaged it May 1, 1798. (Rec. May 23, 1798, Sussex Co. mtge rec.) The above information was stated in the mortgage.

He was a farmer. From the above we note that he at one time owned about 516 acres of land in Mansfield twp. The 261 acre farm purchased from William Miller became his homestead farm. It was in Pleasant Valley. In terms of modern geography, it was on the w. side of Pleasant Valley Road, ab. 3/4 mile n. of State Hwy. 57, ab. one or two miles w. of Washington, N.J. In 1769 he built a house there, partly of stone, which stood until ab. 1940 when it burned. This writer saw it in 1928.

He d. intestate bef. Oct. 17, 1788, the date an invt. was taken of his personal property which incl. bills owing to him of £460, household furnishings, farm implements and tools, grain crops, 27 hogs, 21 young and old cattle, 6 horses, 2 colts, 23 sheep, and sundries for an overall total of £832,10s,3d. On Nov. 12, 1788, his sons Philip and William were aptd. admrs. (No. 465S, Sussex Co. probate records.) No record of his wife was ever found.

In a three part deed dated May 21, 1801, PETER WELLER, William Weller and Philip Weller, the coheirs of GEORGE WELLER, deceased, made the following divisions of property of GEORGE WELLER, deceased:

1. To PETER WELLER: (1) one-half of the 261 acre tract of land purch. by GEORGE WELLER from William Miller on Apr. 26, 1764, being about 131 acres. This would be Peter Weller's homestead. (2) One-half of the 32 and 1/2 acre tract of land purch. by George Weller from John Cain and wife on May 6, 1764, being about 16 and 1/4 acres. These two parcels of land to PETER WELLER to be his full one-third share of the land.

2. To William Weller: The other halves of the two pieces of land of which Peter Weller was given one-half, consisting of the same acreages. These to be his full one-third share of the land.

3. Philip and William confirmed to Peter, and Peter and Philip confirmed to William as above. Three coheirs then signed the three part deed. (Rec. Sussex Co. Deeds, May 26, 1801.)

The 118 and 1/4 acres bought by George Weller at sheriff's sale and trans. by him soon after to his son Philip was considered to be Philip's full one-third share of his father's land.

On May 21, 1801. Philip Weller and Margaret his wife, William Weller and Mary his wife, and PETER WELLER and CATHERINE his wife, sold to Gerlack Lick the 104 acre tract of land purch. by George Weller on May 15, 1786 from Thomas Thatcher and wife.

There is reported a deed in 1799 wherein 130 acres of land in what is now Franklin twp., Warren Co., was conveyed by Philip, PETER, and William Weller and their wives to Christian Smith. This deed not found.

His children, b. in Sussex Co., (now Warren Co.), N.J.:

i. Philip , b. Apr 22, 1757; d. May 28, 1847; m. Margaret ----. She may have been Margaret Scharf who m. Philip Weller in 1781 at St. James Lutheran Ch. in Greenwich twp. (Geneal. Mag. of N.J., Vol. 9). (Philip[2] Weller, son of Philip[1] Weller, is also of record at that Ch.). Which she m. is uncertain. They are bur. in the cem. behind the Old Greenwich Presby. Ch., Rte 173, Stewartsville, N.J. Their gravestones read:
"Philip Weller/who died May 28, 1847/ aged 90 yrs, 1 mo, 6 da."; and,"Margaret Weller/ wife of Philip Weller/ born March 10, 1765/Died Decbr 28, 1840/ aged 75 yrs,9 mo, 18 days." Each year a flag is mounted at his grave by the Sons of the American Revol. His name is on a bronze plaque beside the church door on which are listed the Revolutionary soldiers bur. in the cemetery.

ii. William, b. -----; d. -----; m. Mary -----. He was found only as administrator of his father's estate in 1788 and as a coheir in deeds reported above.

iii. PETER , b. Jan 24, 1761; d. Mar 7, 1845; SEE RECORD BELOW

PETER[2] WELLER (George[1]) was b. in Sussex (now Warren) Co., N.J. Jan. 24, 1761. He m. there ab. 1783, CATHERINE WINEGARDNER, b. 1761, place and parents unknown.

He was a farmer and lived throughout his life on the Weller homestead farm, about 131 acres of which he received in a division by the coheirs in 1801 as stated above. He lived in the house built there in 1769.

ELISHA[3] WELLER (Peter[2], George[1]) was b. in what is now Washington twp., Warren Co., N.J., on the Weller homestead farm, July 23, 1800. He m. at the Presby. Church in Mansfield, now Washington, N.J., Nov. 14, 1822, MARIA VANATTA, b. in Philadelphia, Pa., June 13, 1802, the dau. of JAMES and SARAH (WEAVER) VANATTA. (See Fam. 72 - VANATTA).

In the spring of 1831 they, with three children, travelled by oxen and a covered wagon to Dunkirk, N.Y., then by lake steamer, either the William Penn or the Henry Clay which were the only steamers on Lake Erie, to Detroit in Michigan Territory, then journeyed northeast about 24 miles on Gratiot turnpike, then merely a wagon trail through the wilderness, arriving in May 1831, and settling, at a place ab. 4 miles n.e. of Mount Clemens, Mich. in what is now Chesterfield twp., Macomb Co., Mich.

Upon his arrival he built a log house with the help of some Chippewa Indians who then had a village on Lake St. Clair.

On April 29, 1833 he was issued two land grant Certificates by the Pres. of the U.S. through the General Land Office at Detroit, each granting to him 80 acres of Public Lands which adjoined each other, thus establishing him where he had settled beside the Gratiot turnpike.

He cleared the land out of the forest to plant his crops. In the 1840's he built a solid frame house which stood until ab. 1982when it was razed.

The first sermon preached in the twp. is recorded in 1832 and at Elisha Weller's house. When the Presby. Church was estab. in Mt. Clemens, they were among the original members and, regardless of condition of roads or weather, regularly wended their way to church by oxen and wagon. When the Congregational Church in Chesterfield was organized in 1847, the Weller's transferred to that church.

They d. at their homestead in Chest. twp. and are bur. in the Chest. Cem., locally known as the Hart Cem., located in the twp. on Chest. Rd., n. of 24 mi. rd. Their gravestones read:

72 - VANATTA

The name VANATTA evolved from the name VAN ETTEN, the evolution shown herein according to the spelling used by the respective generations.

MARINUM ADRIENSE and MARIA HENDRICKSEN lived at Etten, in the province of North Brabant, Holland, about eight miles from Breda. on March 23, 1597, their son JOHANNES MARINESSEN was baptized in the Protestant church there. He married WILHELIMINA HOANNES. Their son JACOB JANSEN was born in 1632 and was baptized in the same church October 22, 1634, and he would emigrate to America in 1658. Sons did not carry the father's surname in keeping with a Dutch custom of family naming.

JACOB[1] JANSEN van ETTEN, b. and bpt. as above, came to America in 1658 and settled at Wiltwyck (now Kingston) on the Hudson River in what would become Ulster County, N.Y. He took employment as a farm hand for Aert Pietersen Tack and is referred to in one record as "Head Farmer of Tack".

In early 1663 Aert deserted his wife, Annetje Arians, and returned to Holland where he m. another woman. Annetje had two children, the second b. in Aug. 1663 after Aert deserted her. She was granted a divorce from Aert Pietersen Tack at Fort Amsterdan August 21, 1664.

JACOB JANSEN's name appears in the Dutch court records in Kingston in nine civil actions as defendant, settlement and witness from Sept. 18, 1663 to Oct. 21, 1664. He was a tall man and was called "Jacob Jansen de lange" (the long) or "Jacob Jansen, alias long Jacob", in all but the last action, Oct. 21, 1664, when appears as Jacob Jansen van Etten.

On Jan. 11, 1665 he m. at Kingston, ANNETJE ARIANS, and the record appears in the Marriage Register of the old Dutch Church of Kingston, N.Y. as: "11 Jan. 1665, Jacob Jansen, j.m. (young man) of Etten, in Brabant, and Annetje Arians, of Amsterdam, deserted wife of Aert Pietersen Tack, both resid. here (Kingston). First publication of Banns, 28 Dec. 1664; second, 4 Jan.; third 11 Jan 1665".

When the English acquired the province of New Netherland in 1664, and called it New York, they encouraged use of permanent family surnames instead of the confusing old Dutch naming system. At the time of his marriage, JACOB JANSEN adopted the surname "van ETTEN" (from Etten), thereafter used by him and his descendants some of whom used, or were recorded, with spelling variations. "Jansen" was dropped by his children.

JACOB JANSEN van ETTEN was one of those who signed the petition for the control of local affairs on Jan. 26, 1684 which so angered Governor Thomas Dongan that all the signers were arrested and fined. He took the oath of Allegiance to England in 1689.

He lived in Marbletown where most of his children were born, and later in Hurley where his last child was born. Both of these towns are near Kingston.

He d. at Hurley ± 1693. His wife ANNETJE survived him.

Their children, most of them b. in Marbletown, the last b. in Hurley. The baptisms and marriages are recorded in the "Baptismal and Marriage Registers of the Old Dutch Church of Kingston, Ulster Co., N.Y. by Roswell R. Hoes:

EMANUEL[2] VAN ETTEN (Jacob[1]) called MANUEL in Raritan (now Somerville), N.J. church records, was b. in Marbletown, N.Y. bp. at Kingston, N.Y. Dec 29, 1681; m. at Kingston May 10, 1702, ANTJE de HOOGES, b. at Hurley, bp at Kingston Nov 19, 1682, dau of JOHANNES[2] and MARGARITA (POST) de HOOGES (See Fam. 73 - de HOOGES. They lived in Marbletown.

in 1712 he bought from Joseph Kirkbride 500 acres in Readington twp., Hunterdon Co., N.J. The property adjoined the Somerset Co. line and lay about two miles south of Readington and s.w. from Centreville. So far as is known, he was the second settler in Readington twp.

They attended the Dutch Reformed Church in Raritan (now Somerville), N.J.,where three children were bp., until a church was built in Readington in 1719, where he was elected elder Sept 6, 1721 to hold that office until 1727. This was the last record found of him.

He died before 1741 when his widow accompanied her sons to Oxford twp. in Sussex Co. She apparently lived with her son Benjamin until she died, prob. in March 1764. The will of ANN VANNATTA of Oxford twp., Sussex Co. was dated June 4, 1763 and pvd. Mar. 24, 1764. "To son Benjamin Vannatta all the money that may be due on bond that was given by my children for my support." Also mentions dau. Hannah Robart (bp Anna, called Annaetje in Raritan church records, sometimes Hanna, wife of Vincent Robert).

Their ch., bp at Kingston, N.Y. (KG), Raritan, N.J. (RT) and Readington, N.J. (RD), all recorded as Van Etten in these records; all m. in N.J. but m. records not found. The references for wills, showing Vol. and page Nos., are from "New Jersey Archives, Abstracts of Wills" and carry the variations in spelling that evolved after the families left the Dutch church and community.:

The records of iii. JACOBUS, iv. Johannes, vii. Thomas, viii. Peter, and x. Benjamin are supplemented by the following:

Their family records after they left the Dutch community at Readington are practically non-existant except for their recorded wills. The surname is spelled in old deeds: Van Etten, Vanatto, and Vanetta. Various other spellings appear in probate and other records.

On Dec. 31, 1740 JACOBUS VANETTA and his bros.: Johannes, Thomas, Peter and Benjamin, sons of EMANUEL[2] VAN ETTEN, purchased from the heirs of William Penn a tract of 1,735 acres along the Delaware River extending from the foot of Foul Rift to Hutchinson. It comprised all of the fertile farm lands north of Hutchinson and between the river and Scott's Mountain. The site of Roxburg was part of the Vanatta tract, being owned by Peter Vanatta. Johannes owned the farm at the foot of Foul Rift.

The farms of JACOBUS, Thomas and Benjamin were in unmentioned parts of the tract which lies within present day Harmony twp., Warren Co., N.J. Foul Rift is just below Belvidere, N.J. and is called the most dangerous quarter-mile on the whole river.

This land was in Oxford twp., Sussex Co. during their lifetimes and any records of them are in that twp. Warren Co. was created in 1824 by a division of Sussex Co. Harmony twp. was created in 1839 by a division of Oxford twp.

The Revolutionary Census of New Jersey by Kenn Stryker-Rodda, based on Ratables (tax payer lists), p.118, shows the following Vanattas in Oxford twp. in July 1773: John, Sr. (Johannes), Thomas, Peter and some of their sons, and ARON VENNATA of whom there is more later.

JACOBUS[3] VAN ETTEN (Emanuel[2], Jacob[1]) was b. in Marbletown, N.Y., bp. at Kingston Mar. 14, 1708. He rem. with his parents ± 1713 to Readington twp., Hunterdon Co., N.J. and m. prob. there, ± 1730, Elizabeth ----. He was in Somerset Co., N.J. in 1735 and 1737 as Jacobus Van Nette and Van Netter. They rem. after Dec. 31, 1740 to a farm within the tract of land which he and his brothers purchased from the William Penn estate, located in what is now Harmony twp., Warren Co., N.J.

The last record found of him was when he served as an executor of his bro. Arie's estate for which the will was pvd. Apr. 6, 1747. He d. bef. July 1773 when he was not on the list of Ratables in Oxford twp. He did not leave a will and the record of his children is incomplete.

His ch. of record, all bp. at Readington, all surnames Van Etten: Samuel, Oct. 10, 1731; Margriet, Aug. 5, 1733; Samuel, again, Mar. 20, 1736. As he was only 28 years old in 1736 it is believed that he had more ch. and, although unproved, that he was the father of AARON[4], of whom the record follows.

AARON[4] VANETTA (Jacobus[3], Emanuel[2], Jacob[1]) signed his name "Vanetta". He was prob. b. in Somerset Co., N.J. ± 1738 to rem. with his parents about 1741 to the farm purchased Dec. 31, 1740 from the Wm. Penn heirs.

He was on the list of Ratables in Oxford twp. in July 1773. His oldest son John was a Revol. soldier and lived in what is now Harmony twp. These facts tie AARON to one of the bros. who bought the Wm. Penn tract. Theodore F. Chambers in his "The Early Settlers of New Jersey", published in 1895, p.540, shows that AARON was prob. the son of Johannes but the wills of Johannes, Thomas and Peter do not mention a son AARON. Benjamin was too young to have had a grandson who was a Revol. soldier. Therefore AARON must have been a son of JACOBUS but lacks a proving record. Early deeds, which may have proved him as an heir, are incomplete.

He m. Elizabeth Wedge, prob. a 2nd wife, and prob. m. Catherine Lunger, a 1st wife. Neither are further identified. The mother of his ch. is unknown.

On June 10, 1794, for £320, he purchased from William Coxe 195 and 3/4 acres in Bethlehem twp., Hunterdon Co., N.J. This is the first land record found for him in Hunterdon Co. but he was living there earlier. He leased this land to his son Joshua on Oct. 23, 1801. He was living as early as 1791 at Charlestown, Bethlehem twp. near the Sussex Co. line, a short distance from Mansfield in Sussex Co. where he attended the Presbyterian church, was a pew-holder in 1791, a trustee in 1791 and 1792 and a member until he died in 1825. He was on the Town Committee of Bethlehem twp. 1798-1802.

He was living in Mansfield twp. before May 22, 1804 when he, of Mansfield twp., Sussex Co., purchased 165 acres in Greenwich twp., Sussex Co. which he sold in five parcels from 1807 to 1810, his wife Elizabeth also signing the four 1810 sales proving that she was his last wife. He owned other real estate. He lived in that part of the twp. which became Washington twp. when Mansfield was divided in 1849 and in the part that would become Washington boro. when it was later organized, now the town of Washington, N.J.

As all events throughout this record happened before 1849 they are shown as in Mansfield, as recorded, although the location is the same as the present day town of Washington, N.J.

He was one of the oldest residents of the twp., nicknamed and generally known as "granddad". He and his wife lived in a log house, said to be good old souls, fond of company and good cheer.

His wife predeceased him. He d. in Mansfield in Mar. 1825. His will dated Feb. 12, 1823, with a codicil dated May 21, 1824, was pvd. and an inventory taken Mar. 19, 1825. Sons Aaron Vanatta and Stephen Vanatta, executors (Warren Co. probate No. 22U, 1825).

The invt. covered mostly debts owed to him by his sons and others, and a few household items for a total of $715.34. It did not include his real estate.

In the will he ments. his sons John, of Ohio, and Samuel, both deceased, and sons Aaron, Joshua, Stephen, James, Elijah and Isaac. The codicil covered a change in regard to son Joshua who had now died. The will provided that his executors "sell and dispose of all of my real estate as soon after my death as they conveniently can" but provided that they could rent same year to year if holding was warranted for a better price.

73 - de HOOGES

Rensselaerswyck Manor

In 1623 the Dutch built a fort, called Fort Orange, on the west shore of the Hudson River at a point now within the City of Albany, N. Y. In early 1630 Kiliaen van Rensselaer of Holland became interested in the region and, on April 8, 1630, an agent for the West India Company at Fort Orange purchased from the Indian owners, at van Rensselaer's request, a tract of land lying on the west side of the river and extending from Bearn's Island northward to Smack's Island, and stretching two days journey into the interior. About the same time van Rensselaer sent out tenants who embarked at Texel, Holland, in the ship "Eendragt" (Unity). They arrived in a few weeks at Ft. Orange and began at once the settlement of Rensselaerswyck Manor.

A few weeks after the arrival of this ship, van Rensselaer secured a grant of land lying mostly north of Ft. Orange and, in Aug. 1630, he purchased more land east of the river and fronting on the river for about 12 miles. He passed part of these properties to others.

Ft. Orange and the surrounding area remained in the West India Company's hands. The surrounding area was known for some years as Beverswyck, for the extensive trade there with the Indians for beaver pelts and, on Sept. 24, 1664, it was given the present name of Albany by the British who now controlled the area.

The above is mostly taken from Sylvester's "History of Rensselaer County, N.Y." In Fried's "History of Kingston and Ulster County, N.Y." he states that the Rensselaerswyck Manor held a tract 24 miles x 48 miles on the Hudson River from Bearn's Island, below Albany, 24 miles to the mouth of the Mohawk River (above Albany) and 24 miles on each side of the Hudson.

Much information herein is taken from the records of Rensselaerswyck Manor, including letters by van Rensselaer to his manor personnel, ship records, journals, etc. which have been preserved by the Van Rensselaer-Bowier family of Amsterdam, Holland. These records have been translated and have been published in a book by the New York State Libray, Albany, N.Y.

ANTHONY[1] de HOOGES, parentage, date and place of birth unknown, may have been the son of Johannes de Hooges who was a shareholder and bookkeeper of the West India Company of Amsterdam. ANTHONY named his son JOHANNES.

On July 17, 1641, then ± 20 years old, he was engaged by Kiliaen van Rensselaer as an under-bookkeeper and assistant to Arent van Curler who was the Supt. and Colonial Sec'y of Rensselaerswyck Manor in New Neth.

On July 30, 1641 he boarded the ship "den Coninck David" at Texel, Holland and was responsible for seeing that all people going to the Manor were aboard ship. On that date he started a journal of the voyage to America. This journal is published in its entirety in the Van Rensselaer-Bowier Manuscripts.

The stormy voyage took four months. On Aug. 19th they reached Plymouth, Eng. and stayed there until the 30th when they set sail again. They passed the Madeira Islands on Sept. 16th and 17th, and on the 19th and 20th passed the Canary Islands. By Oct. 4th they were running out of water and it was necessary to go to St. Christopher Is. in the West Indies. They arrived there Oct. 18th, took on water, and stayed until the 23rd. On Nov. 29th they sailed past Sandy Hook and anchored in the afternoon in the East River off Smits Vly.

He stayed for a time in New Amsterdam and did not reach Rensselaerswyck Manor until April 10, 1642 when he became van Curler's assistant, was Commissioner and administrator of goods suitable for merchandise, and was to pay the laborers. When van Curler returned to Holland in Oct. 1644, he handled the business management of the Manor until van Curler's replacement arrived on March 22, 1648. From then until he died in 1655 he was Colonial Secretary, town clerk, and Comm. He was a reader in the church in 1653 and deacon in 1654.

He received a grant of a lot in Beverswyck (Albany) on Apr. 23, 1652. It was located on the north corner of now Beaver St. and Broadway.

In Oct. 1647 he m. EVA ALBERTSE BRATT, dau. of ALBERT ANDRIESSEN BRATT and ANNETJE BARENTSE von ROTMERS of Beverswyck, natives of Frederikstad, Norway. (See Fam. 74 - BRATT). He died on or about Oct. 11, 1655, the date to which his wages were paid.

On Aug. 13, 1657 his widow m. (2) Roeloff Swartwout with whom, on the same date, she entered into a marriage contract in which she reserves for the children of her and ANTHONY de HOOGES, for each of them, a hundred guilders, to wit, Maricken, Annekin, Catrina, JOHANNES, and Eleanora de Hooges. On the same day, guardians were aptd. for her children.

In 1660 Roeloff Swartwout was aptd. sheriff of Esopus (Kingston, N.Y.) where they moved and lived out their lives. They had three or four children b. at Kingston.

The children of ANTHONY de HOOGES and EVA, all b. at Beverswyck (Albany):

74 - BRATT

Also spelled BRADT. Earliest records show the name as ANDRIESSEN or ANDRIESZ. The added surname BRATT or BRADT does not appear in the records until after 1670, possibly to follow English custom for surnames. The origin of this choice of surname is unknown.

Contract dated August 26, 1636, in New Amsterdam

In the name of the Lord, Amen. On conditions hereafter specified, we, Pieter Cornelissen van munnicken, millwright, 43 years of age, Claes Jansz van naerden, 33 years of age, house carpenter, and ALBERT ANDRIESSEN van fredrickstadt, 29 years of age, tobacco planter, have agreed among ourselves, first, to sail in God's name to New Netherland in the small vessel which now lies ready and to betake ourselves to the Colony of Rensselaerswyck for the purpose of settling there on the following conditions made with Mr. Kiliaen van Rensselaer, as patroon of the said colony . . . . ., etc. (conditions are not shown).

The contract was signed at New Amsterdam, August 26, 1636, by the three settlers, Kiliaen van Rensselaer, and a Notary Public.

ALBERT[1]ANDRIESSEN, later recorded as ALBERT ANDRIESSEN BRATT or BRADT, was 29 years old in 1636 and a native of Fredrickstad, a town in s.e. Norway, as shown in the above contract. From this origin he was known in the colony in New Netherland as "de Noorman" (the Norman).

On Sept. 25, 1636 he, with his wife ANNETJE BARENTSE von ROTMERS and two children, and associates, sailed from Amsterdam in the ship "Rensselaerswyck" bound for the colony in New Neth. The ship's captain kept a log with entries made daily during the trip and from these we find that the ship arr. at The Texel, where the colony apparently had warehouses, on Oct. 1st and dep. Oct. 8th encountering heavy winds and rough seas.

On Nov. 2nd during a severe storm a child was born and named "Storm". The mother is ANNETJE BARENTSE. On Nov. 6th, because of severe gales, and having few provisions for 52 or 53 souls on board and to keep dry, the number of sick which increased daily with many hardships, and fearing that the storms might last a long time, it was decided to steer towards Falmouth or Plymouth in England.

On Nov. 16th, off course, they sailed into a harbor at Ilfracombe. On Dec. 8th, there, two of the crew got into a fight at a tavern and one of them died the next day. On Dec. 17th, this matter not yet cleared up, authorities took the rudder from the ship and took it to land. On Dec. 23rd the offender was taken away and the rudder was returned to the ship which was allowed to go free but did not leave until Jan. 9, 1637.

On Jan. 24, 1637 they saw one of the Madeira Islands (off n.w. coast of Africa) and on Mar. 4th they arr. at Manhattan where they stayed until Mar. 26th when they proceeded up the Hudson River to arr. at Ft. Orange (Albany) on April 7, 1637, the end of the voyage.

The trip from Amsterdam to Ft. Orange took 6 mo., 12 days, with 1 mo., 24 days spent at Ilfracombe and 22 days at Manhattan enroute.

ALBERT ANDRIESSEN's brother, Arent, also from Fredrickstad, on record in the Colony at about the same time, may have came on the same ship.

ALBERT ANDRIESSEN settled on a farm located on a stream which flowed into the Hudson River. Because he was known as "the Norman" the stream became known as "Normans Kill", a name it retains to this day and it now forms part of the southern city limits of Albany, N.Y.

Disagreements caused he and his co-contractors to go separate ways. He was a tobacco farmer for a few years but the quantity and quality of the tobacco was displeasing to van Rensselaer and by 1650 we find him operating two sawmills on his farm by which there was a powerful waterfall. For the farm and the mills he paid an annual rent of 250 guilders, they being leased instead of owned.

His wife ANNETJE died in or before 1662 and he m. (2) ± 1662, Geertruy Vosburg from whom he was divorced on Oct. 24, 1670.

He, ALBERT ANDRIESSEN BRATT or BRADT, died June 7, 1686. The recorder of his death said that he was one of the earliest dwellers in the Colony of Rensselaerswyck. He had 8 children, all by his first wife, the first two prob. b. in Norway, the third at sea, the others b. at his farm on Normans Kill.

i. Barent; ii. EVA ALBERTSE, SEE RECORD BELOW; iii. Storm, b. Nov. 2, 1636 at sea. He used the name "Storm Vanderzee" (Storm from the sea), being the progenitor of Vanderzee families in America. iv. Engeltie; v. Gisseltie; vi. Andries; vii. Jan; viii. Dirk.

EVA ALBERTSE[2] BRATT (Albert[1] Andriessen) was b. prob. in Norway and came to New Netherland with her parents in 1637. She m. (1) at Beverswyck (Albany) Oct. 1647, ANTHONY[1] de HOOGES (See Fam. 73 - de HOOGES). He d. Oct. 1655 and she m. (2)there, Aug. 13, 1657, Roeloff Swartwout.

75 - POST

The name was originally spelled POS and both spellings were found in earlier records.

CAPT. ADRIAEN[1] POS or POST is first found of record at The Hague, Holland, on May 18, 1650 when the men, in a group of about 70 persons, conjointly bought the ship Nieu Nederlents Fortuyn (New Netherlands Fortune) and the ship was equipped under his leadership. On June 30, 1650 the ship sailed from The Hague for the purpose of re-establishing a colony on Staten Island and landed there Dec. 19, 1650. CAPT. POST's wife, whose name is not found of record, and possibly three children came with him.

Soon after arrival on Staten Island (SI) he, as Supt. of the Plantation of Baron van der Capellen on SI, and with the leader of another colony there, became into dispute with Peter Stuyvesant, Director of New Netherlands, over jurisdiction. A sequence of events caused these two entities on SI to pass out of existence by 1660, lacking protection from Indians.

In Sept. 1655 a settler in New Amsterdam (Manhattan) fired his blunderbuss after dark at an intruder in his peach orchard. He killed a young Indian woman and on Sept. 15, 1655 the Indians, to avenge her killing, attacked Manhattan Island, setting fire to many buildings, but were repelled. A few days later the Indians attacked SI, killing people, burning buildings, taking many captives, and taking many cattle. This would become known as the Peach War. Among the survivors were CAPT. ADRIAEN POST, his wife and five children, and two servants.

After 1655 CAPT. POST exerted himself in negotiations with the Indians for the release of the captives and efforts with Director Stuyvesant and Council to provide military protection for SI and to encourage settlers, who had left SI, to return (which they did not). He was still of record there, with his family, in Nov. 1657 but soon after he removed to the settlement at Bergen on the west side of the Hudson River, opposite lower Manhattan, and nearer to military protection.

The British captured and occupied New Amsterdam on Sept. 8, 1664 and the Dutch colonies became British. New Amsterdam (NA) became New York (NY) city. The settlement at Bergen fell into Bergen Co., N.J. when established, and after a later division of Bergen Co., in Hudson Co., to finally become the present day Jersey City Heights section of Jersey City, N.J.

CAPT. POST, having had some military experience in Holland, was on Sept. 6, 1665 appointed Ensign of the militia at Bergen. He presumably took an oath of allegiance to the King of England as on May 12, 1668 he was able to buy from Governor Philip Carteret five lots of the Bergen common lands containing in all about 165 acres. He built and resided on lot No. 164 containing 55 acres. On July 19, 1672 he was appointed Prison Keeper for East Jersey, the first person to hold that position. On June 10, 1673 he was elected to represent the town of Bergen in the provincial assembly where he acquitted himself with distinction.

"CAPTAIN POST", by which title he always went, died at Bergen Feb. 28, 1677. His wife's name is not mentioned in records.

The change from NA to NY in 1664 is reflected in the following records of his children. The Reformed Dutch Church in Bergen started in 1664. Prior to that the Dutch settlers in Bergen worshipped in NA. His Ch.:

i. Adriaen, b. in The Hague; m. at Bergen Apr. 17, 1677, Catryna Gerrits. He had 4 ch. bp. at NY

ii. Elias , said to be of Amsterdam; m. (1) at NY May 6, 1671, Catalyntie Conincks; m. (2) at NY June 13, 1674, Marritje Cornelis. Had 8 ch. bp. at NY.

iii. William, b. unknown; m. (1) at NY May 18, 1679, Aeltje Theunis; m. (2) Aeltie Coevorst. Had 4 ch. bp at NY.

iv. MARGARITA, b. on SI; bp. at NA June 6, 1657. SEE RECORD BELOW.

v. Francis, b. on SI; bp. at NA Mar 17, 1659. As "Frans" he m. at Bergen Apr. 22, 1690, Maeyke Cobus. Also as "Frans" he was sponsor at bp. of ANTJE, dau of JOHANNES[2] de HOOGES and MARGARITA POST at Kingston, NY Nov. 19, 1682, and sponsor at bp. of Annetie, dau. of Adriaen Post and Catryna Gerrits at NY May 6, 1685.

vi. Gertrude, b. prob. at Bergen; bp. at NA Aug. 21, 1663

MARGARITA[2] POST (Capt. Adriaen[1]) was b. on SI and bp. at NA June 6, 1657. She removed with her father, prob. before 1660, to Bergen and presumably lived there until about the time of her marriage at Kingston, N.Y., Dec. 4, 1675 to JOHANNES[2] de HOOGES, son of ANTHONY[1] de HOOGES and EVA ALBERTSE BRATT. (See Fam. 73 - de HOOGES).

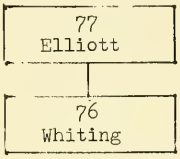
SECTION VIII - ALLIED FAMILIES

This Section VIII covers the families descending to RUBY M.[4] WHITING who married ROBERT ELISHA[8] KNIGHT (No. 68 in Section I).

The descending families:



This book, "KNIGHT, CHASE & ALLIED FAMILIES", is intended to cover a limited KNIGHT genealogy and, as fully as researching could discover, the author's paternal, KNIGHT, ancestors and and ancestral families.

If the author's maternal, WHITING, ancestors and ancestral families are published they will be published separately and more completely.

The ancestry of MONICA HUYET dit CHAMPAGNE (a.k.a. MARGARET CHAMPION), the wife of PETER H.[2] WHITING, would be included. They have been fully researched and consist of 29 French-Canadian family lines, all traced to their French immigrant ancestors to Canada, and merit special coverage.

76 - WHITING

JOB[1] WHITING was the first of our line of whom record was found. Extensive research in the records of New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and especially in Columbia and Schoharie counties in N.Y., and in published Whiting genealogies, failed to disclose any clues to his parentage or place of origin although he may have been related to other Whitings in Columbia Co., N.Y., particularly in the towns of Claverack and Hudson. John Whiting who m. Elizabeth Froer Jan. 1, 1798 at the Dutch Reformed Church in Claverack, had son Peter bpt. there Dec. 7, 1800, may have been a brother of JOB[1].

Nathan Whiting whose record and family are shown in NEHGR, Vol, 104, p.63, parents unknown, who resided in Schoharie and Albany counties, N.Y. had grandson Job Whiting who m. in Watertown, Jefferson Co., N.Y. in 1819, Sylvania Delano, making Nathan a possible brother of JOB[1].

Study was made of Col. William Bradford Whiting and his brother, Lieut. Gamaliel Whiting, Revolutionary officers, both of Canaan, Columbia Co., N.Y. They are of good record, desc. of William Bradford of the Mayflower, with no indicated relationship with the Whitings of Claverack.

JOB[1] WHITING was b. ± 1762, parents and place unknown, m. bef. 1790, wife unknown but possibly Dutch as there is tradition of Dutch blood in our Whiting family. He is listed in the U.S. Census of 1790 at Claverack, Columbia Co., N.Y. with wife and 3 children. No further record was found of him in Claverack although church, town and county records were researched.

Before 1800 he removed to Blenheim twp., Schoharie Co., N.Y. and appears in all U.S. Censuses there from 1800 to 1840, incl., his largest family of wife, 4 sons and 4 daus. appearing in the 1810 census. Some may have already left home. In the censuses of 1830 and 1840 there is a next following listing for Charles Whiting, prob. the son of JOB.

On June 11, 1836, JOB WHITING deeded to Charles Whiting (then in actual possession), both of Blenheim twp., Schoharie Co., N.Y., for $500, all of the south half of lot No. 53, Blenheim Patent, containing 107½ acres, and all appurtenances thereto. No other land records were found.

He d. Dec. 14, 1842. His gravestone in Beechwood Cem., near the South Jefferson Baptist Church in Schoharie Co. shows "AE 80 years". No record or identity of his wife was found.

Their several children, among whom were PETER H. and Charles (others unknown), were probably all born in Claverack and Blenheim.

PETER H.[2] WHITING (Job[1]) was b. in Claverack, Columbia Co., N.Y. Jan. 1, 1791 and removed with his parents to Blenheim twp., Schoharie Co., N.Y. before 1800. In 1815 he and (by tradition) two or three brothers removed to Venice, Ohio (now a part of Sandusky). One of the brothers is said to have settled in the Cleveland, Ohio area and the others went west.

PETER removed to St. Clair Co., Mich. in 1818 where we first find him in published records as one of 33 signers of a Petition to Congress by inhabitants of St. Clair Co., Territory of Michigan, dated Mar. 18, 1822, requesting that a law be enacted to provide for a circuit court to be established in each county. On May 31, 1825 he was a voter at an election held in Cottrellville, St. Clair Co. and, by early arrival at the polls, was elected an inspector of the election and was one of those who certified the results of the election which was for a Delegate to the U.S. Congress and for members of the Legislative Council.(The Territorial Papers of the U.S., Vol. XI, The Territory of Michigan, pages 230, 892, 893 and 913.)

Cottrellville was then about two miles south of Marine City on the St. Clair River so he presumably was living in that area.

On Nov. 6, 1825 by family records (Nov. 5, 1825 by published records of Wayne Co., Mich.) he m. at Detroit, Mich. MONICA HUYET dit CHAMPAGNE, b. in Ecorse, Mich. Apr. 6, 1805, bpt. at Ste Anne Church in Detroit, Mich. July 3, 1805 (Parish records), the dau. of LOUIS RAPHAEL HUYET dit CHAMPAGNE and MARY CROISETTE PINEAU dit LAPERLE (Wayne Co., Mich. Marr. Rec., Vol. X, p.135; "French Families of the Detroit River Region", pp. 223 and 1197; and family records.). She used the name "MARGARET CHAMPION" an anglicized version of her French name, is known in all family records by that name, is shown as"MARGARET CHAMPAIGNE" in Wayne Co. marr. record, and by her French name in bpt. records of her children at Ste. Anne Church in Detroit and at St. Fidelity Church in St. Clair, Mich. Her varying birth dates among family records are inconsistent and are not shown here.

About 1809 her parents removed from Ecorse, Mich. to the place then called Frenchtown on the River Raisin which now is Monroe, Monroe Co., Mich. The news of the Declaration of War between the U.S. and England reached Frenchtown in Aug. 1812. She was one of the children who were secured in a building there to protect them from the Indians who were then allied with the English. Soon afterwards, in 1812, the family with a large part of the residents of Frenchtown moved into Detroit for better security. The family never returned to Frenchtown but apparently resettled in Ecorse.

On Aug. 20, 1838, in Detroit, PETER H. WHITING was apptd. administrator for the estate of Antoine Champagne who was a brother of MONICA.

Soon after the marr. of PETER and MARGARET, in June 1825, they returned from Detroit by sailboat to Pt. Huron in St. Clair Co. to settle there on the Black River, being among the first settlers on the river, and with Indians for neighbors. He was a millwright and lumberman. He built the first steam sawmill in St. Clair Co. and on the Black River, and is said to have built the first frame building in Pt. Huron. He, with others, floated large log rafts down the Black River to Detroit, the trip taking six weeks.

He removed from the Black River, date unknown, and for several years was keeper of the light at the Fort Gratiot Lighthouse and lived in a duplex there, being asst. to the appointed Lighthouse Keeper, Postmaster, and Customs Collector, the light being kept by the assistant.

In "The Territorial Papers of the United States", Vol. II, The Territory of Michigan, it is noted that he was a signer of petitions to Congress: p.441 - Feb. 13, 1832, citing the need of a military road to be built across Mich. Territory from Fort Gratiot on Lake Huron to the mouth of the Grand River on Lake Michigan to open the land for settlement.
p.725 - Feb. 4, 1834, for a road from Fort Gratiot through Lapeer to Grand River and there connecting with the Detroit-Chicago road.

After 1833 the family went to Wadham's up Black River where he erected two sawmills, then to Burtchville where he built two water mills for Jonathan Burtch, then to Lakeport where a water mill was put up. After this they lived in Pt. Huron Twp. for several years and he is listed there in the U.S. Census of 1850 as an innkeeper. After 1850 they removed to a farm at Lakeport and lived there for 18 to 20 years. All of these places being in northern St. Clair Co.

The following is extracted from an item in the Port Huron Daily Times dated Dec. 22, 1876:

"The family of Peter Whiting .... numbers seventy-three children and grandchildren, all of whom are now living .... There are nine children, most of whom are married and have large families .... ". It shows that he was then living at Port Hope in Huron Co. They prob. were then living with one of their sons.

He d. Mar. 29, 1880, aged 89-2-29, in Ray Twp., Macomb Co., Mich. where they were then staying with their son George Whiting. She lived her last years with her children in Pt. Special appreciation is given to Mr. Joseph Hubert Champagne of Lincoln Park, Mich. who, when a young man, made visits with his cousin, Chauncey Whiting, in Port Huron, Mich. and in 1932, when elderly, visited this writer's mother, MRS. RUBY (WHITING) KNIGHT in Mt. Clemens, Mich. He provided the CHAMPAGNE family background, related events known in Whiting records and gave the correct French name of the wife of PETER H. WHITING who was French and b. in Detroit per family records. She is in family records as MARGARET CHAMPION which is an anglicized version of her true French name of MONICA CHAMPAGNE. Various Detroit records confirm that MONICA CHAMPAGNE married PETER H. WHITING, a native of New York. Her identity made possible the complete tracing, by this writer, of her ancestry back to her immigrant ancestors in Canada.

77 - ELLIOTT

JOHN[1] ELLIOTT is the farthest back that has been traced. He is listed in the 1860 census in Burtchville twp., St. Clair Co., Mich. showing him as age 88, b. in VT, and wife Polly, age 73, b. in Mass. His listing is the next following NATHAN B. ELLIOTT, age 49, showing JOHN to be living with or next to NATHAN, indicating the father-son relationship.

He m. (1) unknown, and they were living in Canada, place unknown, before 1810 when NATHAN was born there. He is prob. the John Elliott who m. at Morgan, Orleans Co., Vt. Polly Bartlett soon after the death of her father, Christopher Bartlett who died Dec. 27, 1842 leaving Polly who was over 50 years of age, and others. They lived on her father's farm for a while then moved into Morgan where they are lost to record. They are not in the 1850 census at Morgan, possibly to have moved to Burtchville twp., St. Clair Co., Mich. where NATHAN had settled in 1849.

Edmund Elliott came from N.H. with his family to Holland, Vt., near Morgan, in Orleans Co., the first settler there in 1800. Samuel Elliott bro. of Edmund, came from N.H. with his family to Morgan in 1805. Samuel was a pensioner from the Revolutionary War. Attempts to trace Edmund and Samuel to N.H. were unsuccessful. It is believed that they were kin to John, possibly uncles, and that the relationship of John to their sons prompted John, a widower, to come from Canada to Morgan ± 1840 where he met and married Polly. It is, however, unproven, and unproven that JOHN of St. Clair Co., Mich. is the same person as John who m. Polly Bartlett.

When and where he died is unknown. the son NATHAN B.[2] is the only child of whom we have record at this time.

NATHAN B.[2] ELLIOTT (JOHN[1]) was b. in Canada, prob in 1810, place unknown. He m. (1) in Canada ± 1835, MARY ARTHUR who was b. in Ireland but nothing further known of her origins. They lived in Zorra or Nissouri twps., or both, in Oxford Co., Ontario, Canada and, by family tradition, not far from Ingersoll, Ont. She d. there about six weeks after son William was b. in Nov. 1847. He m. (2) there, ± 1849, Fannie Sales of Buffalo, N.Y.

They removed to Michigan in 1849, locating in Burtchville twp., St. Clair Co. where he purchased 160 acres of wild land in the woods far from any road or habitation. He hastily constructed a shelter of brush. In time a log cabin was built which was the family home for many years. He, with his sons, cleared the forest and had a fine farm. When the town of Blaine was founded in Grant twp., then Burtchville twp., the farm fell within the town.

He was separated from his wife, Fannie, in 1855 and he m. (3) in the 1860's, Caroline Tutte.

He was listed in the 1860 census, Burtchville twp., St. Clair Co., age 49, b. in Canada, four ch., no wife. In the 1870 census, age 60, b. in Canada, wife Caroline, three ch. In the 1880 census, age 69, b. in Canada, father b. in Vermont, mother b. in N.Y., wife Caroline.

In the census of 1880, son William in Grant twp., St. Clair Co.; dau. Maria McKay in same twp., and dau. Jane Whiting in Ray twp., Macomb Co., Mich. all show their father b. in Canada, their mother b. in Ireland.

He was stricken with paralysis about 1885 and was an invalid until his death at Blaine May 3, 1892. He is bur. in the cemetery in Lakeport, St. Clair Co., Mich. His dau. Melinda and son John are also buried there.

He is said to have had 8 children by his 1st wife, MARY ARTHUR, but only 6 were identified, all b. in Oxford Co., Ontario, Canada. he had 1 son by his 2nd wife, Fannie Sales, b. in Ontario or Michigan.

His children by 1st wife, MARY ARTHUR:

i. Heman , b. Nov 29, 1836; d. in Blaine July 18, 1896; m. Jane McLay; bur. Lakeside Cemetery, Pt. Huron, Mich.

ii. Maria , b. ± 1838; m. Daniel McKay; res. Pt. Huron, Mich.

iii. JANE , b. Apr 1, 1840; SEE RECORD BELOW

iv. Melinda, b. July 19, 1842; d. Jan 21, 1889; m. in 1866 to Daniel J. Pray, Jr.

v. Benson , b. ± 1843; was living in 1860, nothing further.

vi. William, b. Nov. 16, 1847; d. Capac, Mich. Oct 13, 1921; m. (1) Clarissa De Frae (or Defo) who d. Mar. 6, 1884; m. (2) Feb 26, 1886, Clara Erb, dau. Christopher. William and his bro. John enlisted at Burtchville Dec. 23, 1863 in Co. C, 22nd Infantry, mustered Jan. 6, 1864; joined Regt. at Chattanooga, Tenn. Feb 18, 1864; mustered out at Murfreesboro, Tenn. Sept. 6, 1865.

His children by his 2nd wife, Fannie Sales:

vii. John , b. 1849; d. Nov. 15, 1880; m. Celia ---- .

JANE[3] ELLIOTT (Nathan B.[2], John[1]) was b. in Nissouri or Zorra twp., Oxford Co., Ontario, Canada, April 1, 1840 and rem. with her father to Burtchville twp., St. Clair Co., Mich. in 1849. ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS

Add to records on pages 94 and 95 for Sisson Chase and family in Oregon:
From the U.S. Census of 1860 in Spring Water Precinct, P.O. Oregon City, Clackamas Co., Oregon:
Sisson Chase, age 74, farmer: Dorothy, age 68: with son James W., age 24, farmer, and wife Sarah A., age 18, and son Ivan A., age 11 mo. (The places of birth in the listing is erratic but the identity is certain).
From the same Census, in Hardens Precinct, P.O. Oregon City, Clackamas Co., Oregon:
Chas. A. Chase, age 43, farmer, b. in Vt.; wife Susan, age 45, b.Vt.; Children: Stearns, age 20, b. Ill.; Sarah M., age 14, b. Ill.; Edward S., age 12, b. Ill.; Marshall C., age 10, b. in the plains; Emma, age 6, b. Oregon. (This evidences that the family moved to Oregon in or before 1854.)

Add to records on pages 30 and 31 for Robert Whiting Knight, the author of this Genealogy: In 1985 he became member 50541 in the General Society of Mayflower Descendants and in 1986 he became member 127942 of Sons of the American Revolution. A member for many years No. 40720 in American Veterans of World War II, general known as AMVETS.

Add to record on page 37: GAIL CAROLYN[10] KNIGHT m. (2) in Houston, Tex. June 12, 1987, Arthur Chester. They live in Houston.

Add to record on page 212. MIRIAM[5] EASTMAN was bpt. in the First Congregational Church, Bennington, Vt. before 1770. Also her bros. Calvin, Oliver and Justin. (Early Settlers of New York State by Janet Wethy Foley, Vol. II, p. 148.) Bennington was then claimed by New York State. Those baptized are shown as the children of Jonathan Eastman.

THE MAYFLOWER ANCESTRY

The eight Mayflower ancestors recorded in this book are:

Family No.	NAMES	Page No.
31	JAMES CHILTON, his wife SUSANNA and daughter MARY who married John Winslow	135
36	JOHN ALDEN	148
37	WILLIAM MULLINS, his wife ALICE and daughter PRISCILLA who married JOHN ALDEN	150
39	RICHARD WARREN whose wife Elizabeth and five daughters arrived in the Ann in 1623	154

The chart on the opposite page displays Mayflower descendants who, together with all of their children and many of their descendants, are of record in their respective families in this book. The line from JOHN ALDEN, who married PRISCILLA MULLINS, also provides the line from WILLIAM MULLINS.

You are a Mayflower descendant if you are descended from any of those whose names appear in BIG letters on the chart.

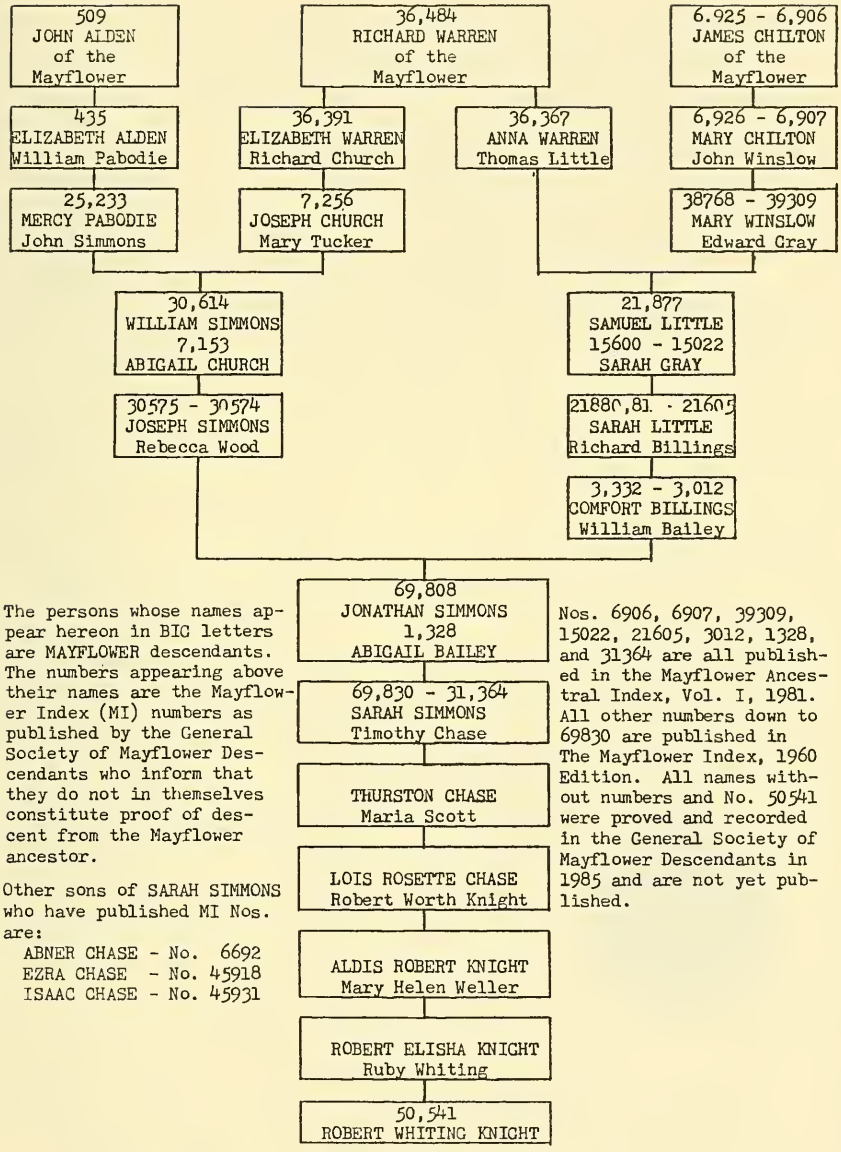
Record of Births, Marriages and Deaths in the Society of Friends at Lincoln, Vermont

An attested copy of this Record, showing the CHASE entries, is of record in the General Society of Mayflower Descendants for member No. 50541, Robert Whiting Knight. It provides proofs of births and parentage many of which have not otherwise been found. A typewritten copy of the Record appears on page 102 of this book.

The will of THURSTON[8] CHASE of Ferrisburgh, Vermont

A photocopy of this will, with certification, follows on pages 294-298. This provides record of his family. It is of record in the General Society of Mayflower Descendants for member No. 50541, Robert Whiting Knight. A typwritten copy appears on pages 98-99 of this book.

THE MAYFLOWER ANCESTRY



The persons whose names appear hereon in BIG letters are MAYFLOWER descendants. The numbers appearing above their names are the Mayflower Index (MI) numbers as published by the General Society of Mayflower Descendants who inform that they do not in themselves constitute proof of descent from the Mayflower ancestor.

Other sons of SARAH SIMMONS who have published MI Nos. are:

ABNER CHASE - No. 6692
ISAAC CHASE - No. 45931

Nos. 6906, 6907, 39309, 15022, 21605, 3012, 1328, and 31364 are all published in the Mayflower Ancestral Index, Vol. I, 1981. All other numbers down to 69830 are published in The Mayflower Index, 1960 Edition. All names without numbers and No. 50541 were proved and recorded in the General Society of Mayflower Descendants in 1985 and are not yet published.

INTERESTING KINSHIPS

There are 70 New England ancestral family lines in this book. Most of the founders came to New England before 1650. After many generations the descendants in each line may number in many thousands and each descendant of each founder has kinship to each other. These kinships cover persons in all walks of life, rich and poor. A few have attained well recorded places in history, their ancestries have been published, and their kinships to persons in this book are established. The Charts which follow show some of the interesting kinships:

No. 1: To Franklin D. Roosevelt, 32nd President of the U.S.
To Ulysses S. Grant , 18th " " " " To Sir Winston Churchill, Prime Minister of England
No. 2: To John Adams , 2nd President of the U.S.
To John Quincy Adams , 6th " " " "
No. 3: To Millard Fillmore , 13th " " " "
No. 4: To Calvin Coolidge , 30th " " " "
No. 5: To Franklin Pierce , 14th " " " "
No. 6: To Gerald R. Ford , 38th " " " "

In Chart No. 6, DOROTHY A. GARDNER, m. (1) 1912, Leslie Lynch King. They were divorced in 1915. They had one son, Leslie Lynch King, Jr. She m. (2) 1916, Gerald Rudolph Ford who adopted her son Leslie Lynch King, Jr. and gave him the adopted name of Gerald Rudolph Ford and under this name he became the 38th President of the United States.

The first two notes on page 3 of Chart No. 1 apply equally to all of the other charts.

The distance of their kinships is evidenced by their cousin relationships to the maker of the charts and to all others who are descendants in the same generation from the ancestors shown:

Name	Term of Presidency		Cousin relationship
John Adams	2nd		3rd, 7 times removed
John Quincy Adams	6th		4th, 6 " "
Millard Fillmore	13th		3rd, 3 " "
Franklin Pierce	14th		5th, 3 " "
Ulysses S. Grant	18th		6th, 4 " "
Calvin Coolidge	30th		8th, 1 " "
Franklin D. Roosevelt	32nd		7th, 1 " "
		and	9th, 1 " "
Gerald R. Ford	38th		9th, 1 " "
And
Sir Winston Churchill Prime Minister of England	No		10th.

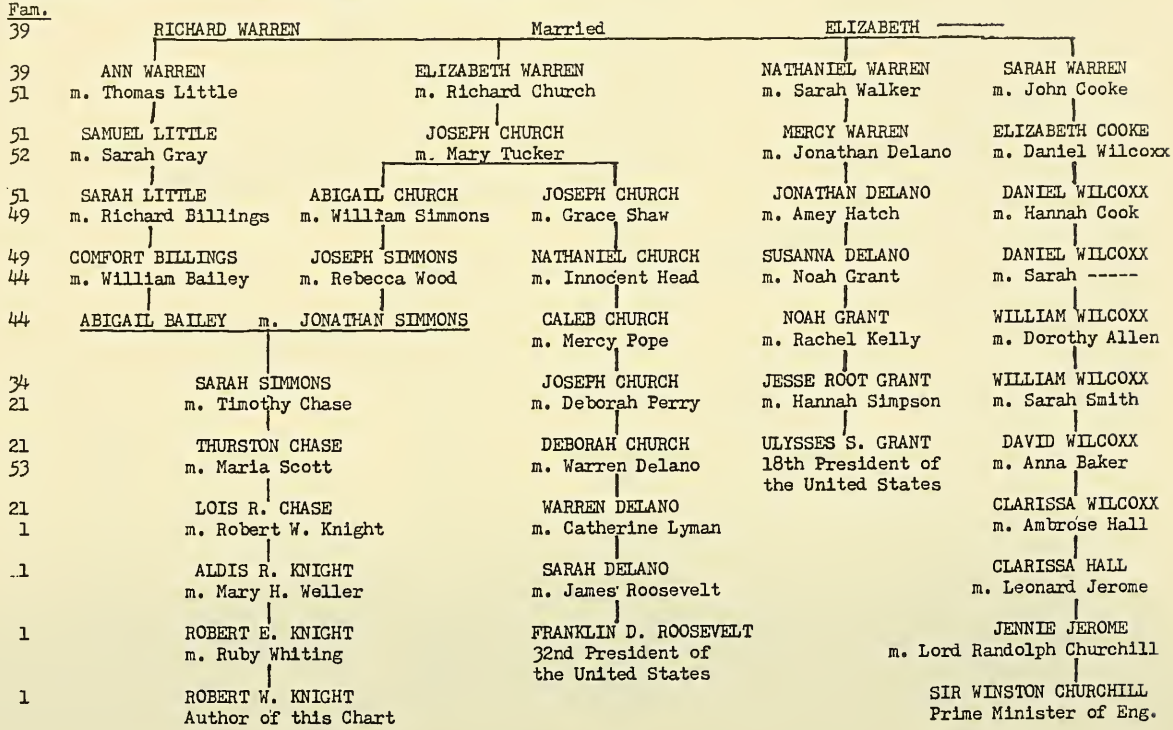
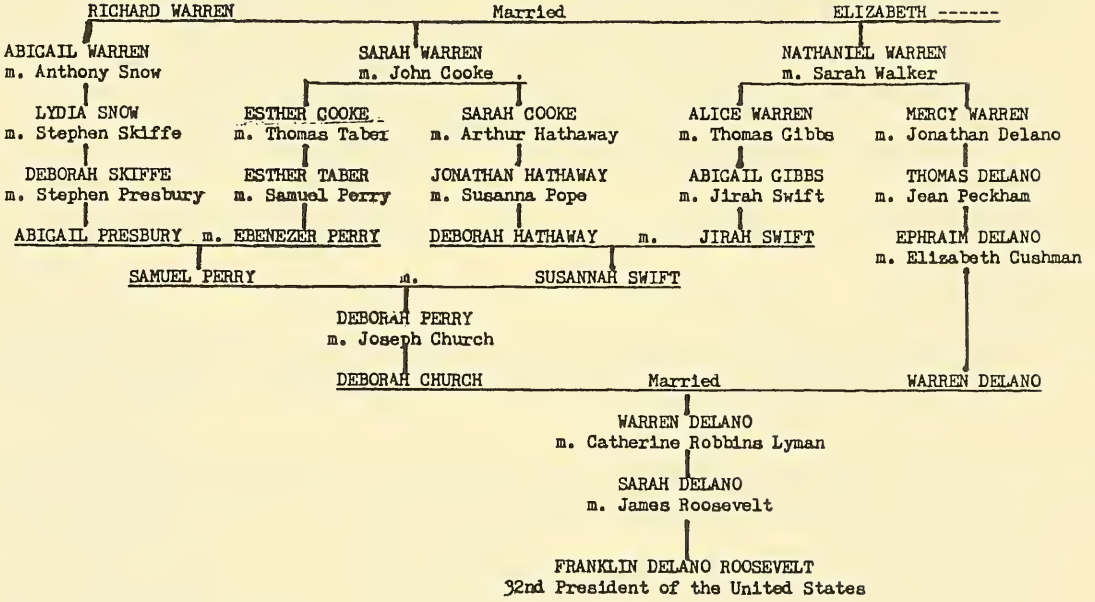
This chart shows the KNIGHT kinship to ULYSSES S. GRANT and FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, Presidents of the United States, and to The Right Honorable SIR WINSTON CHURCHILL, Prime Minister of England during World War II, showing their descents from RICHARD and ELIZABETH ( ) WARREN, the immigrant ancestors, he who came in the MAYFLOWER in 1620 and she who came in the ANN in 1623:



The KNIGHT kinship to FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, the 32nd President of the United States, traverses each and all of his six lines of descent from RICHARD and ELIZABETH ( ) WARREN. This part of Chart No. 1 displays five of his lines of descent. The sixth line is displayed on Page 1 of this chart.



NOTES:

Fam. The numbers in this column relate to the names in the first following column, each being the number assigned to that Family's record in the author's compilation of the ancestral family records.

The author has used his own line of descent for continuity in the chart. It can be noted that all persons whose names appear in LARGE TYPE in the chart, also their brothers and sisters and all of their descendants, are all descendants of RICHARD WARREN and all have kinship with the subjects of this chart and with each other.

The KNIGHT family has two lines of descent from RICHARD WARREN as shown on page 1 of this chart. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT has six lines of descent as shown on pages 1 and 2 of this chart. Thus there are twelve ways to trace the KNIGHT-ROOSEVELT kinship, and two ways to trace the KNIGHT-GRANT and KNIGHT-CHURCHILL kinships.

AUTHORITY:

KNIGHT ancestry: Sources are recorded in the individual family records, are many, and are not repeated here.
